Now here is a tip. Our influence is so great that next week we are going to stop all the railroads from running and the officials will all have to go on a vacation because we want it that way. If we can stop the roads from issuing passes—and while the lines are under government control at that—we should not have much trouble in stopping transportation altogether. Surely it must be plain to you that there is nothing we cannot do if we but make up our minds to try.

We are getting just a little tired of all this and an example is going to be made of someone—providing we can catch him, or her. We therefore make the following offer: The next time someone starts a story of this kind reflecting on our honor or honesty and calculated to injure our business, grab him by the collar and bring him to a member of this association. We will pay you ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for your trouble. AND REMEMBER, this offer holds good at any time as we are going to make the liars of Thief River Falls put up or shut up.

We have stood all this tomfoolery as long as we are going to. From now on we will prosecute every last one of these falsehood-spreaders until we have cleared the field of this kind of foul weed.

The business houses of Thief River Falls enjoy a reputation for square dealing that brings people from long distances here to trade. This reputation has been built up by years of the most careful kind of work and we do not propose to permit some disreputable ignoramus to injure our business by spreading broadcast lies of this character. We are entitled to better treatment at the hands of those whom we honestly try to serve.

If the merchants of Thief River Falls had ever been found wanting it would be a different thing. But they have not. Never has a worthy enterprise been presented that has not had their full support. It has not mattered what the object. If money is needed for any purpose we are the ones who contribute most liberally, whether it is for new buildings at the fair grounds, for aid to Fergus Falls, Cloquet or Mud Lake. The merchcants of Thief River Falls are the friends of the people of the neighborhood and not their enemies. This has been proven too often to need reiteration. They ask neither credit nor praise for this. They simply acted as do the merchants of other progressive American cities. On the other hand, they certainly should not come in for an avalanche of misrepresentation and abuse at a time when merchandising conditions leave them up against the hardest proposition of their lives.

LARGE CROWD HEARS ADDRESS TO SENIORS

Rev. Barackman Delivers Impressive Sermon at Auditorium Sunday.

An audience that nearly filled the auditorium listened to the baccalaureate address for the graduating class of the Thief River Falls high school delivered by Rev. R. L. Barackman last Sunday forenoon. The pastor took for his subject, "Vision," and showed how this must be applied to matters of every day life if one is to succeed.

The young man or woman starting out in life with vision and a determination to make that vision come true has already one of the great requisites for achieving success, said the speaker. For the most complete development of any life some sort of goal is absolutely necessary, he said, and the higher this goal is placed the greater will be its value and the more it is worth striving for.

Enumerating many of the greatest men the country has produced, Rev. Barackman called attention to their success in different lines and said that this could not have been possible were it not that they had a vision, combined with confidence and perseverance. In this country, said the speaker, nothing is impossible for the young man or woman who earnestly strives to make the most of whatever opportunities are presented, and cited instances to prove his contention. The mind can arrive at its full development only when a goal is visualized, whether this be in the direction of material or spiritual things.

The sermon was one of the best heard on an occasion of this kind in the city and the direct manner of its delivery should make a lasting impression on the minds of the young Americans to whom it was particularly directed.

HIGH SCHOOL PAGEANT BEAUTIFUL SPECTACLE

The senior class of the Thief River Falls high school on Monday and Tuesday evenings presented the pageant, "The Light," to large audiences at the auditorium. It is an elaborate presentation, requiring in the neighborhood of 200 participants. These were taken from the different school classes.

The aim of the pageant is to show the advance of education throughout the ages and is divided into eleven episodes and a prologue. The feature roles were taken by Miss Agnes Tandberg as Education and Roy Flattum as the doubter. The characters were handled in a manner that showed careful study of the meaning as well as keen appreciation of the possibilities of the parts. Their work was consistently good throughout and no little part of the success attending the entertainment is due to their fine impersonation.

A particularly pleasing feature of the performance was the representation of Greek and Roman statuary by young men students at the high school. The different methods of instruction employed at different stages of the world's progress were depicted with fidelity and an earnest endeavor to achieve historical correctness. Step by step the progress made in methods of education from the earliest stages was depicted until the last scene showed a modern school during one of the busy periods of its sessions.

An exhibition of soft-toned dancing with Miss Mary Vance in the solo part was very graceful and pleasing. The grouping was beautiful and the girls well trained.

The affair was a success from first to last and those in charge have every reason to feel gratified over the result.

THEY ARE INCONSISTENT.

While there is general satisfaction expressed over the fact that the business streets of Thief River Falls will be paved as soon as all the necessary preliminaries are out of the way, there are still a few who are attempting to throw a crowbar into the machinery and bring the entire works to a stop. A temporary injunction has been granted restraining the city from taking any further steps at this time, but this is not regarded as a very serious matter, as the courts have in similar cases invariably upheld the right of city councils to enter into such contracts.

The matter has been threshed out and considered for years. Every time that a question of paving has arisen the same people—to a large extent at least—have interposed objections that have brought proceedings to a stop. Things have never before progressed to their present stage, however, and it is not likely that anything that can be brought up now will in any manner affect the outcome.

These objectors are not sincere. They claim that they are taking this stand for the reason that it is to the best interests of the city that no paving be undertaken at this time. Prices are liable to go down, they say, and money can be saved by waiting.

Of course they do not know that prices will be lower. They cannot even guarantee that they will not be much higher. The figure at which the contract was let is admittedly very reasonable and below what was in many quarters expected. It is certain that there will be no chance of getting the work done cheaper for a long time to come.

But what appeals to the ord'nary observer most strongly is the glaring inconsistency of the stand taken. These same men at their meetings speak of doing things for Thief River Falls. They urge that steps be taken by our citizens to hurry the railroad extension to International Falls. They want roads built and improved in order that trade may be brought to the city from greater distances. They are boosting all the time for something or other and yet oppose the improvement most necessary for the city itself. Thief River Falls can do very little toward building additional country highways and even less toward extending railroad lines, although efforts to assist in both directions are praiseworthy. The city can, however, so fix its own streets that people will be glad to come here to trade, at the same time cutting down the cost of doing business for the merchant. It is the one essential improvement now easy of attainment and the one most grievously needed.

MAY SWING TOO FAR.

Everyone will be glad to see prices come down and there are strong indications that a movement in that direction has started. New York banks through credit restrictions compelled extensive liquidations and a cut was forced on business men in order to supply cash in the shortest possible time. The New York move was reflected throughout the country, and during the past week there has been a regular cyclone of price-cutting. Just how far the pendulum will swing in this direction it is impossible to foretell. There are those who maintain that the high-price era is at an end and that the decline will continue until a normal base is reached. Others are as strongly of the opinion that the slump is only temporary and that high costs will come back with a bang, soaring past even the present figures. The latter class back up their assertions with the statement that essential first costs, such as labor and material, have not been reduced and while these remain at their present level it is impossible for the final price to drop for any length of time. Manufacturers, they say, may find it necessary to lower the bars in order to meet pressing obligations, but that the demand still exceeds the supply and high first costs still prevail. Under these conditions they figure there can be no lasting reduction.

However that may be, this is probably a good time to buy. The effect of the cut is being felt even in the smaller communities and there is an effort to secure the cash early by a general reduction. Particularly is this noted in the wearing apparel lines. Retail merchants in this city are reducing stocks and the buyer can now supply his wants at a figure very much below that of a month ago. It is not likely that things will go much lower than they already are, at least not for some time. Any general break would prove a hardship on the retailer. He purchased his present stock at the top of the market and if forced to unload everything he carries at a heavy reduction it may mean disaster for many. This is realized and every effort is being made to keep things steady, at the same time forcing a gradual reduction.

The right time to buy is now. A person cannot lose much because of further reductions and he may be saving a great deal because of future increases.

IT WILL COME SOMETIME.

The plan proposed for putting the public utilities of Thief River Falls in the hands of a commission is a good one, but that providing for a commission form of government for the entire city is much better. Practically the same purpose would be served and the latter plan is the more modern and satisfactory.

It might be that the people would again vote down a proposal to change the system under which the city is governed, but it can do no harm to discuss it. Such at least is evidently the opinion of the council members. Some day this will be the plan adopted and any discussion as to the best means of bringing it about is of value even though nothing positive is accomplished for the time being.

Many persons who voted against the change three years ago would without question favor it now. They have had time to study the subject more thoroughly and have besides the example of a larger number of communities to go by. They know, if they have cared to look the matter up, that not in a single instance where the commission form has been tried out has a municipality gone back to the old way of doing business. The superiority of the later model is at once so apparent that nothing could induce people who have once experienced its benefits to change back to the old haphazard and cumbersome aldermanic plan.

But these things can not be brought about in a day—particularly in Thief River Falls. Our people are conservative—perhaps too much so at times—and seem adverse to making any changes so long as the old plan works out in any degree satisfactorily. For this reason they may occasionally fall behind their neighbors for a short spell but they are all the better prepared when the time comes for them to alter the order of things.

It is not likely that any real effort will be made to bring about this change at this time. The council members are talking about it, however, and as before stated, this is a good thing. The commission form is bound to come before very long and the more thoroughly our people are posted on its details the better it will work out.

IS ANYBODY'S FIGHT.

The Republican national convention is only eight days away and yet there is not the slighest indication of who will be nominated. Gen. Leonard Wood will probably receive the largest vote on the first ballot, although the supporters of Senator Hiram Johnson deny this. According to the general's backers he will have from 297 to 302 votes at the outset, which will be increased by from 12 to 20 votes on the second and that he will be nominated on the third or fourth ballot. The Johnson men set the same stage in the convention's deliberations for the nomination of their man but claim that he will have a total of 335 to start with.

Gov. Lowden of Illinois has 78 votes pledged and Senator Harding of Ohio has the 39 from his state. There are a number of contests to be decided but it is doubtful if these will result in material changes being made.

It is generally admitted that the chances of Wood will gradually dwindle if he cannot capture the nomination before the fifth ballot. Johnson's situation is not much better and the other two leading candidates are not anywhere considered in the race unless something altogether unforseen happens. And this is just what is very liable to happen. Many well-posted men in all sections of the country maintain that the next candidate for president on the Republican ticket is not to be found among the four high men at this time but that a dark horse will be the winner. There are different views as to who this will be, Ex-President Taft and Charles E. Hughes being those mentioned as the most likely parties. Governor Sproul of Pennsylvania is also regarded as a possibility as is Governor Coolidge of Massachusets.

No candidate is apparently going into that convention with the intention of quitting early. Because of the large number of uninstructed delegates there is likely to be a fight to the last ditch with the chances steadily growing less for the present favorites.

WHAT SHALL WE DO WITH THE LIARS

This fair city of ours seems to be afflicted with the presence of a few low-down liars who will stoop to anything in order to injure the reputation for honesty and decency built up by a firm or individual. This class of people start and circulate the most ridiculous and absurd falsehoods with no other intent than that of injuring their fellow-citizens. And the most surprising part of it is that we have people—and lots of them—so narrow minded that they believe these things and even repeat them with the evident intention of having them taken as fact. And as tongues waggle the lies grow.

Some time ago an insane story was started to the effect that we had attempted to have the passes taken away from the railroad men's wives (some power, we are) and many people swallowed the yarn—bait, hook and sinker. These stories were believed, as similar tales so often are. There is no trouble in finding people who will accept a thing as the truth so long as it is bad and rotten enough, and deals with the doings of their neighbors and does not apply to themselves. If it is something GOOD about anybody they hardly take the trouble to notice it. Start a scandal or something reflecting on a person's or concern's honesty or honor and it grows into a cyclone black as mud.

"Oh, yes. Did you hear so-and-so? It's very exciting! Why, all the LIVE merchants in the city and some of the DEAD ones were arrested for profiteering."

That is one of the stories. No one but the liars knew of it. Not a merchant in this city has ever been even approached by an agent of the government on the subject of profiteering. Not one is a profiteer and any government official who cared to make an investigation would be convinced of the fact before having been in the city an hour. But how the tongues did run and how that story spread!

Another example: It was reported that certain merchants in the city had made an attempt to have passes for the families of railroad men cancelled. The object of this presumably was to prevent their going out of the city for their goods.

Now here is a tip. Our influence is so great that next week we are going to stop all the railroads from running and the officials will all have to go on a vacation because we want it that way. If we can stop the roads from issuing passes—and while the lines are under government control at that—we should not have much trouble in stopping transportation altogether. Surely it must be plain to you that there is nothing we cannot do if we but make up our minds to try.

We are getting just a little tired of all this and an example is going to be made of someone—providing we can catch him, or her. We therefore make the following offer: The next time someone starts a story of this kind reflecting on our honor or honesty and calculated to injure our business, grab him by the collar and bring him to a member of this association. We will pay you ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for your trouble. AND REMEMBER, this offer holds good at any time as we are going to make the liars of Thief River Falls put up or shut up.

Here Is a Tip!

The man who s wise enough to put in his coal now will be the big gainer. The past two years have demonstrated what delaying this matter means. Conditions will likely be worse instead of better—at least such are the indications now.

By ordering your fuel supply at once it is possible for us to give you a choice of variety. If you hesitate you will certainly have to take what we happen to have and most likely at a much higher price.

We are now receiving coal in limited quantities and distributing it in the rotation in which orders are received. Protect yourself by ordering today.

Why Some Dealers Sell Private Brand Roofing

Any responsible dealer can sell Certain-teed, but some dealers prefer to sell private brands. Why? Because competition is not possible—nobody else has their private brand for sale—nothing regulates in any way the profit that they can take on a private brand if you'll buy it.

If they sell Certain-teed they must limit their margin of profit to a reasonable figure. They get enough, but they can't play the hog. Every reputable dealer has a free right to buy and sell it at fair prices.

Private Brands Are a Gamble

Where's the percentage for you in private brands anyway? You don't know what they will do for you. You don't know whether the little mills that made them know how to make good roofing or not. And even roofing experts can't tell much about roofing by just looking at it.

But you know the Certain-teed reputation for high-quality products and for fair dealing. You know that Certain-teed Roofing is guaranteed.

It's as easy as two and two. When you buy Certain-teed you know what you are getting. When you buy some private brand you don't.

And don't forget that any responsible dealer can get Certain-teed for you quickly from a nearby Certain-teed warehouse or jobber. He gets it when he wants it and he gets what he wants. He can afford to sell you at a fair price.

Certain-teed

Beware of the dealer who tells you he has Certain-teed, but tries to sell you a private brand. He probably wants a bigger profit.

Sugar Price Booster Hit By New Bill

Steenerson, Offers Measure Aimed at Profiteers in Necessary Staple.

Refiners and Importers Must File Price Charged with Trade Commission.

Also Introduces Bill Compelling Uniform Price on Newsprint Paper.

A bill intended to prevent profiteering in sugar was introduced in the House last Saturday by Representative Halvor Steenerson of Minnesota.

The measure is patterned after the act imposing an excise tax on trading in cotton futures. It requires all refiners and importers of sugar to file with the Federal Trade commission a list of the prices they charge for sugar. A tax of 5 cents a pound is assessed against either refiner or importer who does not adhere to the prices he submits to the commission. No tax is levied where the price schedules are followed.

Would Curb Prices, He Thinks.

Mr. Steenerson is confident that with a check such as he proposes on the refiner and importer there will be no boosting of prices by brokers and wholesalers. The public will be able to find out who is doing the profiteering and the government can prosecute the profiteers, he thinks.

"I am convinced that the sugar brokers are responsible for the present prices of sugar and the apparent shortage," Mr. Steenerson said.

"There is no real shortage of sugar. From New York I have received a long list of sugar brokers. Before the war a vast majority of them, I am sure, didn't know the difference between wheat and sugar. They have no place in the sugar business. But they are buying and selling sugar among themselves with the result the public is paying unheard of prices for sugar when it is to be had at all."

The cotton tax law was written originally to protect the producer, while the proposed sugar legislation is intended to protect the consumer from profiteering speculators. The cotton law fixes cotton grades in about the same way the grain standards act authorizes the fixing of Federal wheat grades. It provides that in future sales there must be a written contract, specifying the grade of cotton to be delivered. Failure to deliver this grade of cotton results in a Federal tax of 2 cents a pound being levied against the person or firm making the delivery.

Under the old system, traders by delivery of inferior quality of cotton, were able to depress the market and injure the producer. Mr. Steenerson said that the excise tax has done much towards eliminating this evil from the cotton trading centers.

Print Paper Bill Approved.

A week ago Mr. Steenerson introduced a bill to put an end in profiteering in newsprint paper by assessing a tax against manufacturers and importers who do not charge uniform prices. He said he has received letters from many sections of the country urging the passage of his print paper bill and also requesting him to present a similar bill to deal with the sugar shortage and high prices.

More From Moeller.

Editor Times: Just received my paper and see my letter—also a mistake. Butterfat was 77.50 per hundred pounds for March and 68.75 for April. We receive our checks twice each month, the last ones received by me being for the following sums: March 16 to March 31, 4026 pounds testing 3.6 makes $112.98; April 1-15, 3193 pounds testing 3.5 totals $67.52.

Milked seven cows in April; now we milk eight and get over 200 lbs. of milk a day. Just bought a registered bull calf from my neighbor so now I have two registered Holsteins and two registered Guernseys. Hereafter I believe I will breed Guernseys only. Mr. Koop saw the herd from which I secured this calf when it was three days old. I paid $50 for him and it was a bargain at that.

Finished planting my corn this week. We now have our Ford car and are all more at home. The neighbors gave us two big surprise parties.

Did not get all the silage fed up the past winter and have about three feet left in a 12-foot silo. Here are the prices that are charged in this neighborhood: Potatoes, $4.25; old hens, 28 cents; eggs, 40 cents; oats, $1.10 to $1.25 per bushel.

Have been too busy to go fishing but will soon find time. I saw the game warden take three big sturgeon out of the Big Wolf river and sell them for 50 cents per pound but I did not want any. There are quite a few sturgeon here but I shall not catch them. Suckers, pike, pickerel, catfish, bull heads, trout, sunfish—nearly all kinds are here. The suckers sometimes get to weigh 10 to 15 pounds apiece. WM. MOELLER.

Making the Shoe Fit the Foot

In 1919 there were 1,434,909 more motor vehicles in the United States than in 1918.

This enormous increase in automotive power made necessary a vast increase of distribution facilities in order that your car, wherever it might be, should never lose its usefulness because of an empty gasoline tank.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) anticipated this increasing demand and met it amply in the eleven states it serves with a fleet of 4306 motor trucks, a caravan of horse-drawn wagons, and a little army of 530,000 iron barrels, so that even in remote districts no tractor, truck or pleasure car, need be without fuel at any time.

Take into consideration the fact that of the 1,434,909 new motor vehicles put into service, in 1919, approximately 573,964 went to farms, and you will appreciate the necessity for this vast distributive system.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) appreciates that the automobile has passed from the realm of luxury and has become an essential, and that gasoline to run it has become an industrial necessity.

The Company takes pride in the fact that it has met this need in the spirit of service, that it has been keen in anticipating the wants of the public, and efficient in satisfying them through the most perfect distribution system in the world.

Fine Outlook For All Crops in the County

A Little More Rain Than is Absolutely Necessary, But No Damage Yet.

Low Spots in East End of County Slow in Getting Dried Out.

Best Outlook For Hay Reported in This Section For Many Years.

While the rains of the past week were not absolutely necessary to the welfare of growing crops in Pennington county, yet the precipitation was not sufficient to cause any annoyance except in very rare instances. Crops on the high lands to the west of the city never looked better at this time of year and even in the lower stretches the promise is for an excellent yield.

It is of course too early to make any prediction as to what the outcome will be, but so far as the season is concerned everything promises well. Cool weather and plenty of water at this stage is one of the best insurances against any retarding influence later in the season. Grain has stooled out well and the soil has absorbed a moisture supply against possible dry spells later in the growing season.

The wheat acreage of the county is cut between 40 and 50 per cent as compared with last year. This will be taken up largely by flax and barley. The late spring and high price of seed helped along the general tendency to fight shy of wheat this year, although the cereal is certain to be a good price.

Hay Outlook Best.

One of the most important crops in this section is hay and there is every indication that there will be a record-breaking production. The spring season has been just right for grass growth and the good effects of this are already evidenced by reports of receipts at the creameries. Spring pasturage has been excellent, altho a little late in putting in an appearance.

Still Wet in the East.

On some of the low lands in the eastern part of the county the wet weather has kept farmers off the fields and these will be far behind in their spring work. Unless things dry up so as to permit of barley and flax being sown within a short time the outlook there is not of the best. The situation emphasizes the fact that drainage is absolutely necessary in that region—the sooner the better. The many projects now on foot will undoubtedly relieve this backward condition but cannot do so in time to be of any help this year.

Time yet For Potatoes.

County Agent J. J. McCann reported a couple weeks ago that there would be a smaller acreage of potatoes planted this year, but this outlook in this direction has somewhat improved. There is still plenty of time for getting this crop into the ground and many who had at first concluded to keep out of spuds this year will plant a good acreage.

Sugar Beets Bounding.

This weather seems ideal for sugar beets. From all sections come reports to the effect that the outlook could not be better for this time of year. The beets are up and seem to be flourishing. This is a hardy crop and with the start it now has it is not likely that anything will happen to retard it.

As the situation now stands things look highly satisfactory to the farmers in most sections of the Northwest.

IT DID NOT FAIL SAYS VAN DOREN

"All My Wife's Troubles are Gone Since She Took Tanlac," He States.

"It has been many years since my wife enjoyed such fine health or felt so well generally as she does since taking Tanlac," said George E. Van Doren, a well-known machine designer residing at 294 West Albans St., St. Paul, Minn., in a statement the other day.

"Several years ago my wife suffered a general breakdown," he continued, "and since that time her health has been miserable. She had indigestion so bad that nearly everything she ate soured on her stomach and caused her to have heavy, nauseated feelings in her chest for hours afterwards. She suffered from constipation and constantly had to be taking laxatives. Her nerves were badly upset and little noises she had always been used to would startle her terrible. She was restless at night, got very little sleep and had lost so much strength and energy that she looked like she was almost ready to give up any time.

"I spent a lot of money on different medicines and treatments, but everything failed until she tried Tanlac. But Tanlac didn't fail and that is just the reason why her troubles have all left her and she is looking so well and strong today. She does not have to worry over what to eat now, because everything agrees with her and she does not suffer any bad after effects at all. She is free from constipation and her nerves are so steady she can sleep all night long like a child. Since her troubles have disappeared she is getting back her strength and energy and says she is feeling like a different person altogether."

Tanlac is sold in Thief River Falls at Lambert's Drug Store, and at Oklee by John H. Gassman.—adv.

How to Keep a Hired Man

When an old Arkansas farmer saw the comforts a neighbor was providing for his farm hands, he snorted: "Huh! I ain't a-goin' to carry no hired man round on a leaf!" . . . . But he didn't have a hired man and couldn't get one.

The COUNTRY GENTLEMAN has asked many hundreds of farmers, living in all parts of the country, how they get help and what they do to keep their men working and satisfied.

The answers make an article that is full of live-wire suggestions for farmers everywhere. Every idea in the lot—and they range all the way from bathtubs to bonuses and from hogs to hunting trips—is practical, is working today. Articles of this sort—helpful, hard-headed suggestions for the farmer—make up THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN every week. What would it be worth to you to be sure of a hired man the year round? More than a dollar, surely. Yet you can have this article and hundreds of other practical, friendly labor-saving ideas for just that $1.00. Subscribe today—through me.

HOW LONG WILL IRON MINING LAST IN MINNESOTA?

50 Years — (if there is a tonnage tax)

1250 Years — (if there is NO tonnage tax)

Minnesota has a comparative small amount of high grade iron ore—1,400,000,000 tons that is now commercially valuable, the state tax commission says.

But Minnesota has an enormous amount of low grade iron ore—variously estimated at from 35 Billions to over 100 Billions of tons (the Federal Geological Commission says 72 Billions of tons).

The Minnesota iron ore that is now commercially valuable will last about 50 years.

Its low grade ores, if they can be developed, will last from 1,000 to 2,000 years.

Minnesota's iron ore is now taxed higher than any other form of property—50 per cent higher than farm lands, 100 per cent higher than household goods.

A tonnage tax on top of the present high tax will make the development and mining of Minnesota's low grade ores impossible.

Shall we levy a tonnage tax and kill the iron ore industry in Minnesota in a few years or shall we develop the iron ore industry of the state and collect millions every year for CENTURIES?

Paint Value

Don't be misled by seemingly broad guarantees, into buying so-called "cheap" paints any more than you would invest in "wild cat" stocks on account of the wonderfully alluring prospectuses.

Good paints cannot be produced at a low cost. No ingredients have yet been discovered that will satisfactorily take the place of the combination of pure carbonate of lead, oxide of zinc and linseed oil, used in Minnesota Paints. Any other ingredients are simply cheapening agents.

Minnesota Paints

—have had ONE standard of quality for half a century. No promises of higher profits could induce us to deviate from our ideal of quality. When you buy Minnesota Paints you are getting the best that can possibly be made—the utmost in value for the money invested. They will cover more surface to the gallon than other paints—they will wear longer—and look better. Minnesota Paints do not blister—or flake—or chalk—when properly applied. They give satisfactory results ALWAYS.

There's a Special Minnesota Paint for Every Paintable Surface—Inside or Out —for houses, barns, roofs, floors, porch floors,—"Lumolite" combination stain and varnish for renewing furniture and woodwork—flat paints for interior surfaces—automobile finishes, etc. And every variety represents the best there is of its kind.

MAY BELONG TO GUARD AND OFFICERS' CORPS

Important Ruling is of Much Interest to Returned Service Men.

War veterans who desire may belong to the national guard and the reserve officers' training corps at the same time, according to a ruling from the War Department received this week by Sergeant Hunter, in charge of the local army recruiting station.

Secretary of War Baker has ruled that there is no objection to a man belonging to the national guard and serving in the reserve officers' corps simultaneously. They may attend the summer camps of the national guard and the reserve corps and receive pay for both, under this order.

There are 314 reserve officers training corps units, with a total enrollment of 114,674 men. Strength of the national guard of the United States was estimated 45,272 on May 1. This is 25 per cent of the authorized strength. Minnesota is third in the list of states, with 3,334 members.

Life is Give and Take Proposition

(Copyright.)

There was a time in the world when a man could do pretty much as he pleased. What one man did was of little concern to anyone else, for it had little effect on anyone else. Those days are gone, however, and they never will return. Today, no man can live entirely unto himself. Life is a complicated affair under modern conditions. No one man in any community is entirely independent of all others in that community.

Organized society, in the form of governments, national, state and local, have recognized the new conditions and have decreed that every man must observe certain rules in his relations with his fellow men. He must not do certain things that would endanger the health of other people in his community. He must not do such things as would disturb the peace and quiet of his neighborhood. He must remember that he owes a duty to his community.

Not Question of Right.

A man may say that he has the right to spend his money where he pleases; that no one can stop him if he wants to buy his groceries, his clothes and his furniture in some city miles away from where he earns the money to pay for them. He is right. There is no law to prevent him from doing so, unless it is the law of self-preservation. The man who has the right to send his money away to some distant city instead of spending it at home, also has the right to send his children to that city to be educated in the schools, which his money helps to support, but he doesn't exercise that right. He sends his children to the local schools, the maintenance of which is made possible by the men who spend their money at home.

Life in any community today is a give-and-take proposition. A man can not take everything and give nothing and get away with it for any great length of time. He can not take his living from any community and give nothing back to help the other fellow make a living. If he cuts off the other fellow's living, he is bound eventually to cut off his own, for unless the other fellow has money to buy his labor or his goods he cannot make a living himself.

You may say that what you buy doesn't amount to much and the money that you send away to the mail order houses in other cities can not have any great effect upon the general business conditions in your town. Maybe it doesn't amount to much and maybe it won't have any great effect upon the community's prosperity in itself, but what will be the result if every person in the community, or half of them, or a tenth of them, take the same view of the matter. Your business, in itself, may not amount to much, but taken together with the business of a hundred others in the community, it amounts to a great deal. It amounts to the difference between a prosperous community and a "dead" one. It amounts to the difference, in the end, between good times and bad times for yourself and your own family. If you lived on a desert isle, it would make no difference where you sent your money, because it would make no difference whether you had any money at all or not. But you are not living upon a desert isle. You are living in a modern community. To do everything possible to build up that community is not only a duty which you owe to the community, but—more important still—it is a duty which you owe to yourself.

Taxes Will Increase.

You have children to educate. You want your community to have good schools so that your children may have the same advantages that the children in the big city have. If you live on a farm you need good roads over which to haul your products to market. You may say that you pay your share of the taxes out of which the school houses are built and the roads constructed. Maybe you do pay your share in proportion to the value of your world's goods, but where is the other fellow to get the money to pay his share of the taxes if, after you pay your taxes, you send the remainder of your money to some other community to help build their schools and construct their roads. The merchants of any community pay a very considerable part of the taxes collected in that community. Go to the tax books and you will find this to be the case. When the business of the merchant falls off and he carries smaller stocks and has less money in the bank, he pays smaller taxes, and as the amount he pays in taxes decreases, the amount you pay must increase if the schools are to be maintained and the roads kept up. It may be a man's own business if he wants to send his money to help build up the big cities where the mail order houses flourish, but it's poor business for himself as well as for everybody else in the community in which he lives.

Homestead Entry Cancelled.

In a decision handed down May 24 in the homestead contest case of Herbert Carl Severson against Olaf Torger Ness, the entry of Ness is ordered cancelled, subject to appeal to the Secretary of the Interior. The decision is based on the ground that Ness is disqualified from making homestead entry on the grounds of citizenship, he having claimed exemption from military service because he was not a citizen of the United States. This case has been before the United States Land office for some time and has attracted a great deal of attention. The defense of Ness was that he misunderstood his questionnaire and withdrew his claim for exemption on the grounds of citizenship as soon as he discovered just what he had done. It is apparent, however, that the evidence submitted did not have the desired effect and the above ruling resulted.

Political Announcement.

(PAID ADVERTISEMENT—Written by and inserted for Thomas Keefe, 231 Endicott Bldg., St. Paul, Minn., for which $5.00 has been paid.)

There never will be a government FAIR to all the people until all the people have as good a chance to go to CONGRESS as the rich man and his lawyer.

The ONLY way to get a law-making body that will do what the people want done is to have a SAMPLE of the people to make the laws.

That sample will be as honest, intelligent and fair as the people. It will be interested as the people are interested, will want what the people want, and will do what the people would do.

However, that sample never can be had by picking and choosing, but only by taking at random, by chance, by DRAWING LOTS. Let all file, free of expense, who wish to; then draw lots. That's business: election is only politics.

More than 2300 years ago the people of Athens realized that election resulted in government by WEALTH, changed their method, chose their law-makers by lot, got a sample of the people, and had a business government, fair to all.

And the period which resulted is known to all historians as the GOLDEN AGE of Athens.

I stand for DRAWN DEMOCRACY.

Whooping Cough

"The disease I most dread is Whooping Cough, for children are often permanently injured by the awful straining of the cough. You should never neglect it, and treatment should be started at the first symptom. You cannot mistake the symptoms: protracted coughing, worse at night; peculiar whoop; labored expectoration of mucus; apparent suffocation after coughing.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy

is a positive remedy for this disease—repeat the dose frequently, for if given freely it liquifies the tough mucus, makes it easy to expectorate and counteracts any tendency toward pneumonia. There is no danger whatever from Whooping Cough when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is freely given."

No Contest In Primary For County

But One Candidate For Each Place to be Filled in Pennington County.

Eklund Tries for Re-election; Lars Backe Files for Probate Judge.

Three County Commissioners Will Have No Opponents in June Balloting.

So far as the primary election on June 28 is concerned the contest for offices in Pennington county is going to be decidedly tame. Only two officials outside of the county commissioners are to be elected this coming fall and there is but one candidate for each place.

Adolf Eklund, present clerk of court, is a candidate to succeed himself and will have to make no campaign before the primaries. Up to date there has not even been mention of a man to succeed him and it is probable that he will face no more trouble in the final test than in the preliminaries.

Backe a Candidate.

Judge of Probate Ira C. Richardson decided that he would not again enter the race and will retire after holding the office for two years. Lars Backe, former mayor of Thief River Falls, is a candidate for the place and will have no opposition so far as the primaries are concerned.

For County Commissioners.

There are three county commissioners to be elected this fall, A. W. Hanson of the First district, who is filling the unexpired term of the late G. W. Hunt, being required under the law to make the race if he wishes to retain the seat for the remaining two years of the term. In the Second district Robert McGinn has filed as a candidate to succeed himself, as has J. S. Roy in the Fourth. All three will be unopposed in the primaries and it is not likely that the situation will be any different in the finals.

Contestants in the State.

There will be sixteen candidates for governor on the primary ticket—eight each of Republicans and Democrats. The first named are Franklin F. Ellsworth, Mankato; Tom Frankson, Samuel G. Iverson and Thomas Keefe of St. Paul, J. A. O. Preus, Minneapolis; Julius A. Schmahl, Redwood Falls; Henrik Shipstead, Glenwood.

The Democratic list is as follows: Charles M. Andrist, Minneapolis; Robert W. Hargardine and L. C. Hodgson, St. Paul; Edward Indrehus, Foley; Alfred Jaques, Duluth; Oliver J. Quane, St. Peter; Julius Thorson, Benson.

The Democrats have no candidates for other state offices with the exception of secretary of state, for which place Frank C. Burmaster, Minneapolis, and B. M. Loefler, Albert Lea, have filed.

Lieutenant Governor—Louis L. Collins and George H. Mallon, both of Minneapolis.

State Treasurer—Charles A. Lund, Vining; Henry Rines, Mora.

Attorney General—Clifford L. Hilton, Fergus Falls; John C. Larson and Elmer C. Patterson of Minneapolis; Stelle S. Smith, Worthington; Thomas V. Sullivan, St. Paul.

Railroad and Warehouse Commissioner—O. P. B. Jacobson, Fergus Falls; Paul I. D. Ostby, Emmons.

It was continually rumored about the capitol right up to the last hour for filing that Julius Schmahl would withdraw from the race, but he permitted his name to appear. He declares that he will draw heavily from the Nonpartisan league and that 85,000 votes will be enough to nominate a candidate for governor.

Chimney Pulled Down.

On Tuesday afternoon Fire Chief Paul Midderigh in charge of a crew of men demolished the chimney of the burned Union block and removed a menace to life and property. The chimney was one of the tallest in the city and had remained standing since last winter when fire destroyed the building. The fire chief considered it dangerous and notified the owners. He was given full authority to act as he saw fit and it was not long until the landmark was leveled. After undermining the stack it was pulled toward the south with horses and dropped where it could hurt nothing.

Government Wheat Price Fixing Ends

Proclamation of President Withdraws Price Guarantee on Staple June 1.

Except in the Case of Contracts Wheat Value Will Depend on Conditions.

Probable That Corporation Will Show a Small Profit on Transactions.

Federal control of wheat and wheat products ended on Tuesday, the wheat director ceasing to function his office and the food administration control of President Wilson.

This means the passing of the government guarantees of $2.00 a bushel for wheat established to stimulate war production. Some existing contracts remain to be carried out by the United States Grain corporation, which has been the instrumentality of the government in handling wheat. As soon as the contracts have been executed the corporation will wind up its affairs and turn over its finances to the treasury department.

The licensing of dealers in wheat and wheat products has been in the hands of the wheat director and the food administration and this arrangement being ended those who have contracts at fixed figures are free to buy and sell at such prices as trade conditions may bring about automatically.

Officials said the corporation had operated at a slight profit but the exact figures would not be known until the corporation had wound up its affairs.

HAY AND WILSON AT FARM BUREAU PICNIC

The picnic to be held at Squaw Point on June 14, by the Farm Bureau association, will be the biggest and best in the history of that organization. The committees in charge are including more new features in the program than has ever before been attempted and the day will be one of genuine profit as well as pleasure.

J. H. Hay has consented to be one of the speakers. Having resided for years right here in Pennington county and being still interested in a material way in its progress and development, he is perhaps better qualified to address our people on an occasion of this kind than any other man in the state. He will be accompanied by A. D. Wilson, general manager of the extension division of the state university, a man well known in every section of the country for his advanced views on farm improvement and community building.

This being a picnic for all the people the women are to have an important part in it. Attorney H. O. Chommie will speak on behalf of the Woman's club and Community Girls and others will represent different civic organizations. Several songs will be given by the Community Girls and there will be the usual games and pastimes for the younger set.

City Made Headquarters For New Fuel Enterprise

Fred D. Haug, who previous to his enlistment in the army conducted a garage in this city and who has made Minneapolis his home since being mustered out, has returned and is preparing to put a new product on the market. It is the King Gas Maker, a device for generating gas from kerosene and providing fuel for heating and cooking. According to the circulars this substance is composed of 96 parts air and four parts kerosene. Numerous demonstration tests have been made and the reports are most encouraging. So certain is Mr. Haug that it will do all claimed for it that he has interested well-known citizens here in the matter and has secured the agency for the entire northwestern section of Minnesota, his territory embracing eleven counties. Headquarters for the district will be in Thief River Falls, arrangements having already been made for suitable quarters. Mr. Haug will shortly start on a trip for the purpose of making demonstrations and appointing sub-agents.

Annual Sale of Guernsey Cattle June 8

Breeders From All Sections of Valley Expected Here Next Wednesday.

Albert Johnson's Burr Oak Farm Will be Scene of Big Gathering.

Entries Not Numerous But Every Individual of Highest Quality.

The annual picnic and sale of the Red River Valley Guernsey Breeders' association will be held at Burr Oak farm, owned by Albert Johnson and located two miles south of Thief River Falls, on Tuesday, June 8. Harry Woolson, Thief River Falls, is president of the association, and Leonard Housko, Halstad, is secretary. These officials have been working hard to get news of this meeting to the members throughout the district and to secure sufficient entries to make the sale attractive. Up to date there are but few entries but these are of a class that should insure considerable attention.

Prof. Eckles Speaker.

C. H. Eckles, professor of dairy husbandry at the University of Minnesota, will deliver an address and other well-known speakers will be on hand. Prof. Eckles is one of the foremost dairy experts in the Northwest and it will be worth while for any person interested in the industry to hear what he has to say.

An added feature of interest will be an auto tour to nearby Guernsey farms where visitors will have an opportunity of viewing some of the best herds in this section.

Some Excellent Entries.

County Agent J. J. McCann states that to date five head have been entered and will be placed on sale at the meeting. More are expected to come in before the date of sale, but even this number is sufficient to cause considerable interest because of their high breeding and general excellence. The individuals thus far entered are as follows:

Pride Jasper First, born Feb. 23, 1919. Sweepstakes winner at Pennington county fair last year. Is son of Imported Robert Criterion of Bellview, first winner at New York State fair, 1915-1916 and second at national show in 1916. Consigned by W. J. Bell, Thief River Falls.

MINNESOTA WILL HAVE LITTLE VACANT LAND

Productive Power of State Can Easily be Increased Nearly Three Times.

Minnesota's productive power will be increased two and one-half times and it will be able to support 16,000,000 people when its resources are fully developed.

With hardly an acre of waste land, the state then will have 36 per cent of its total area under plow, compared with 16 per cent being tilled now, 30 per cent in meadows and 24 per cent in forests, while the cities and roads will continue to occupy two per cent and the present 57 per cent undeveloped now will be in other classifications.

Development of these resources to the maximum will be the argument in Minnesota's brief in support of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence tidewater project at a hearing opening Friday in Duluth before the international joint commission. The hearing will be directed to the possible benefits and advantages of the proposed waterway that would enable Atlantic vessels to dock at Duluth and connect Great Lake ports with ocean ports.

The foregoing excerpts are from the brief dealing mainly with agricultural phases of the project which is to be presented by Commissioner N. J. Holmberg and Hugh J. Hughes, marketing director, for the state department of agriculture.

Government Will Sell Certain Indian Lands to Help Cover the Cost.

The committee on flood control on Saturday favorably reported to the house the Red Lake bill with amendments suggested by the secretary of the interior. It now includes authority to construct controlling works at the outlet and to deepen and straighten Red Lake river and its tributaries which include Clearwater river, along which is some of the richest bottom lands in the state, half of them on the Indian reservation and half outside.

To Sell Indian Lands.

The bill carries authority to sell Indian lands to reimburse the United States for the sum expended on its part in the project and in carrying out this provision the department will offer for sale part of this valuable reclaimed land not required for allotments to Red Lake Indians which will mean an influx of desirable settlers and great development for that region in the near future.

The purpose is not only to prevent settlers and great development for floods but to provide drainage outlets for millions of acres in Itasca, Beltrami, Clearwater, Pennington, Red Lake and Marshall counties and to conserve and develop water power that will be made to pay about one-half of the cost of the improvement.

Congressmen Halvor Steenerson and Harold Knutson, who have charge of the bill, expect to call it up under suspension of the rules and have it passed at the first opportunity.

The reporting of this bill favorably is one of the most important steps in the program of securing flood relief for the Red Lake river drainage district. It is not anticipated that there will be any difficulty in securing its passage through the house while it is understood that the senate is also favorably disposed, Senator Nelson and Kellogg have both given the matter much study and it has their hearty support.

Candidate Was Formerly Resident of Thief River

Paul I. D. Ostby, candidate for railroad and warehouse commissioner, was in Thief River Falls the first of the week in the interest of his candidacy and also on a visit to old friends. Mr. Ostby was a former resident of the city and also farmed for awhile in Red Lake county. He took an active part in the county division fight, upholding the claims of the people in this neighborhood although he was at that time a resident of Red Lake. He is now farming in Freeborn county.

HOUSE FAILS TO PASS RESOLUTION OF PEACE OVER WILSON'S VETO

An effort to override President Wilson's veto of the republican peace resolution failed last Friday in the house. The vote was 219 in favor of overriding the the veto to 152 against or 29 less than the required two-third's majority.

Two republicans, Representative Kelley of Michigan, and Fuller of Massachusetts, voted to sustain the veto while 17 democrats joined the republican majority in an effort to override it.

Honor Paid To Soldiers of All Wars

Large Audience Attends Exercises at Auditorium on Monday Forenoon.

Business of All Kinds Closed Down and All Join in Observances.

H. O. Chommie pays Tribute to Those Who Answered War's Summons.

Memorial Day was appropriately observed in Thief River Falls, the audience at the auditorium exercises being the largest ever seen in this city on an occasion of this kind. Mayor John Bratrud acted as chairman and the invocation was pronounced by Rev. J. B. Smith of the Methodist church. Supt. W. A. Ziegler added a considerable interest to his impressive reading of Lincoln's Gettysburg address by making a short explanation of the circumstances under which the memorable oration was delivered. A quartet composed of Miss Zella Zeh, Miss Meta Kiland, Carl Sundahl and F. C. Niclai, sang "In Flanders Fields" in an acceptable manner.

Tribute to the Dead.

Attorney H. O. Chommie delivered the oration of the day. He paid an eloquent tribute to the soldiers of all wars in which the United States has engaged since its establishment as a republic and said that in every instance they have gone into battle in order that the principles of democracy might be upheld. This was the spirit behind the men who died at Concord and Lexington as well as at Shiloh and Gettysburg. It was the one great impulse animating those who drove Spain out of the western hemisphere and blossomed forth again when the country was called upon to uphold the banner of free governments in a foreign land.

Mr. Chommie did not, however, confine his remarks to the lauding of those who answered the call to arms and in many instances made the supreme sacrifice on the field of battle. He particularly admonished the men and women of the country to aim in a more unselfish manner toward bringing about the fruition of the things for which these soldiers fought. Two kinds of people in the United States, he said, stand in the way of its progress. One class is composed of those who for one reason or another obstructed the government in its prosecution of the war. The other class is made up of those who through selfishness are taking advantage of the conditions brought about by reason of its happening and an advancing of their own material interests at the expense of their neighbors. In his judgment the bolshevik is no more dangerous to the future peace and welfare of the nation than is the profiteer. The attitude of one is based largely on ignorance and that of the other almost entirely on selfishness, he said. It is the lesson of unselfishness taught by those who gave up everything to answer the call when it came that should be emulated in everyday life, said Mr. Chommie and he hoped that this would be the aim of all true Americans.

A Long Procession.

Headed by the band and the firing squad of the American Legion, a large number of ex-service men marched to Greenwood cemetery for the purpose of decorating the graves of soldiers buried there. Taps were sounded and the usual volley fired over the graves. A line of automobiles more than six blocks in length followed the boys in khaki to the last resting place of their comrades and paid a silent tribute to their memory while the exercises at the graves were taking place.

Business in the city was entirely suspended during the day and there were many visitors in from the country.

Would Discontinue Long Bridge and Change Road

The final hearing on a road petition signed by citizens of North township will be held at the commercial club rooms in this city on Tuesday, June 15, at 2 o'clock. The project also involves the discontinuing of what is known as the Long bridge and routing the road across the land owned by Nels Myron. There is considerable interest in this matter among the people of the township and a large turnout is looked for. The changing of this road would greatly benefit a large number of farmers without seriously affecting anyone.

SOLDIER BONUS BILL PASSES LOWER HOUSE

Carries Benefits Aggregating $1,400,000,000 For Ex-Service Men.

After an all afternoon battle, the soldier bonus bill, with benefits of more than $1,400,000,000 for approximately 4,300,000 former service men, was passed by the house and sent to the senate on Saturday.

It received a majority of more than 3 to 1, after a special rule was adopted blocking all amendments. The final vote was 289 to 92, or 35 votes more than the necessary two-thirds majority required under the parliamentary procedure to keep out amendments.

Additional taxes of approximately $1,300,000,000, the payment of which would be started next December and continue for three years, are imposed by the bill. None of the benefits granted will be available until June 1, 1921.

The service men are given the option of cash bonus, home aid, land settlement, paid up insurance or vocational training, and the taxes are imposed upon real estate transfers, stock and grain transactions, with increases over the present surtaxes and tobacco levies.

The charge was made frequently in the house today that it will be killed in the senate. It is virtually certain no action will be taken before the proposed adjournment or recess, the latter part of next week.

All Minnesota members with the exception of Congressman W. H. Newton of Minneapolis, voted for the measure.

Use Movies in Campaign Now Raging

Speaker For Good Government League Will be in City Tuesday Night.

Six Reel Film on Subject Will be Shown Free at Princess Theatre.

It is quite evident that the political campaign in this state is not going to lack excitement. Never in the history of the northwest has there been so much interest displayed in the outcome as at present and all sides are resorting to the most unusual methods for calling the attention of voters to their own outstanding virtues and the patent shortcomings of their opponents.

There have been speakers for the Nonpartisan League in Thief River Falls and now the opposition is sending representatives to counteract any influence the first comers may have exerted. One such address will be delivered at the Princess theatre on Tuesday evening when a speaker for the Minnesota Sound Government association will be present and give a short talk in connection with the running of a six reel picture purporting to show the damage done to North Dakota by Townley and the party of which he is the head.

Admission is free and it is urged by those instrumental in securing this picture for exhibition here that the people should make it a point to acquaint themselves with both sides in order that they may be able to judge impartially of the merits of each. Members of the Nonpartisan league will be made fully as welcome as those who are opposed to the program of that organization, say those in charge of the meeting.

FIRST CROP REPORT FOR YEAR IS ISSUED

Shows Spring Wheat Acreage in County Reduced 20%. Condition Good.

The first crop report for the 1920 season for Pennington county has been sent out by County Agent J. J. McCann under date of June 1. Mr. McCann exercised great care in the compilation of this report, he having found numerous revisions necessary as he proceeded with his investigations. As the season advances there will be more or less changes to note, but at this time the conditions are as closely in conformity with the report as it is possible to get them.

It is found that the spring wheat acreage stands at 65 per cent as compared with 85 per cent a year ago. This reduction of 20 per cent in the acreage is smaller than was expected, many predicting that the falling off would reach 50 per cent.

Oats are five per cent over the figures of a year ago, standing at 105, and 10 per cent over the usual average. Condition is placed at 97.

Barley is placed at 112 per cent in a comparison with the amount presented a year ago and 115 per cent when compared with the usual acreage. Condition 97. No acreage figures are given for rye but the condition of this grain is reported at 90.

Clover for hay is figured at 104 in a comparison with a year ago and 108 when compared with the usual acreage. The condition is 99.

Pasturage is given a score of 97 per cent and field and cow peas 90 per cent. Onions are placed at 96 per cent and sugar beets at 99.

Tractor Tips; Killing Man Riding Plow

Aug. Schnieder Meets Death in Peculiar Manner While at Work Plowing.

Machine Bogs in Wet Ground and Upends When Power is Applied.

Deceased, Whose Home is in Missouri, 27 Years Old and Single.

August Schnieder, 27 years of age, owner of a quarter section of land near Erie, was instantly killed Saturday afternoon while plowing a field with a gasoline tractor. No one was present when the accident happened but from all appearances the machine must have struck a low place in the field and gone down to a considerable distance. The supposition is that Schnieder turned on all the power possible, as the tractor was found up-ended with the unfortunate man pinned beneath.

He was discovered by Emil Grams, a neighbor, who was on his way home from Thief River Falls. Grams saw the front end of the machine sticking out of the low place in the field and investigated. Schnieder had been pressed into the mud so far that only his legs were visible and Grams was unable to do anything to release him. Hurrying to Goodridge he secured aid and the tractor was pulled away, Dr. H. W. Froehlich of this city having in the meantime been notified. The man had been dead for some hours when discovered, it would appear. The chest had been crushed in and death must have been instantaneous.

Home in Missouri.

The young man hailed from Missouri and had been in this neighborhood off and on for about two years. Two brothers arrived from his former home yesterday and took charge of the body. Besides these two sisters and a blind mother survive him.

Schnieder bore an excellent reputation among the neighbors, being industrious and accommodating in every way. The body will be taken to Missouri for burial.

MANY CONCERNS MAKE CHANGES IN LOCATION

Thief River Music Co., Bon Ton Millinery, and City Bakery Involved.

There will be quite a shifting around among the business houses in the city during the next few days. The Bon Ton Millinery will go out of business in Thief River Falls and the quarters now occupied by this concern will be taken over by the Thief River Music company. The rooms will be remodeled to accommodate the new line of business and will provide an ideal location as well as more sales and work space than at present. The music company has been located in the Meehan block since fire destroyed their store last winter.

Laird's Specialty Shop is crowded out of its present quarters by reason of M. L. Swanson of the City Bakery having taken a long-time lease on the quarters. He will remodel the room and devote it to the wholesale department of his business. Mr. Laird will temporarily move into the room immediately to the west. This is too small for his purpose but will be made to answer until the building now occupied by the Walker-Gesell company on Third street is vacated. This last-named concern is in turn waiting for the First and Peoples State bank to move into its new building directly opposite, after which the quarters now used by the latter will be taken over by the realty company. The bank building is rapidly nearing completion, the delay having been caused by the impossibility of having material delivered on schedule time.

Smash School Windows And Ruin Other Property

There are a number of boys in this town who need attention in order that certain destructive propensities now displayed by them may be discouraged. They have an utter disregard for the property of others and are headed straight for a large amount of trouble.

The other evening as Miss Cora Houghton, one of the teachers, was finishing up some work in her room she was startled to hear windows on the lower floor come crashing in. Hurriedly investigating she found that besides the windows there had been ink bottles broken and other damage done to the equipment in the room. She hurried to see what was causing the disturbance and was in time to overtake nine boys who were in the act of making their getaway. They were nearly all armed with slingshots and had deliberately fired at the windows. Miss Houghton secured the names of every boy implicated and has handed them in to the school board. Just what the developments will be is not yet known but they are quite sure to be interesting in a number of cases.

Farmers Warned Against Contracting Potato Crop

Reports are reaching the extension division at University farm that occasionally farmers are making contracts for the sale of their 1920 potato crop.

"Such a contract," says W. L. Calvert, farm management specialist, "is a very one-sided affair unless one is selling to a thoroughly responsible dealer. The farmer is a responsible party and must deliver his potatoes even if the market is higher than the agreed price. Upon the other hand, if the price at the time of delivery should be lower than the agreed price the grower may find it difficult to make the purchaser carry out his contract unless the seller has been given 50 to 75 cents a hundredweight.

"The plan being followed by a number of local co-operative associations of asking growers to pledge their crop to the local co-operative selling agency is to be highly commended, for in this way the grower is assured of the maximum market price at the time of delivery. This puts the business of the local co-operative selling association upon a firm basis."

The Screwdriver News is the name of a new publication at Strathcona. Morlan Bishop, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Bishop of this city, is editor, B. Olson, publisher and M. Spjut, business manager. This is quite a staff for a paper the size of the Screwdriver News, which is printed on one side of the sheet, five columns in width. Apologies are made for the appearance of the first issue but better things are promised for the future. At present the production hardly bears the earmarks of a serious undertaking and the publishers put the matter squarely up to the people of Strathcona. If the latter will support the paper it will be continued, if not, its early demise may be expected.

Serenade With Open Cutout Lands Joy Rider in Jail

Driving about town with the cutout of an automobile open is enough to make a peaceful citizen hostile at any time, but when the practice is persisted in at two o'clock in the morning it is enough to make a person wish to commit manslaughter at least. Night Patrolman Andrew Smith gathered in Harold Hall on Monday evening, charging him with disturbing the peace in this inexcusable manner. The next morning Judge N. W. Tarrant fined the culprit $1 and costs upon the solemn promise of the latter never to do it again. It is the first arrest made on this charge for a long time and it is rather to be hoped that the police department will continue the good work now that a start has been made.

Get Rid of Your Young Roosters Now

The wise poultry raiser will dispose of his young roosters now instead of waiting until the price goes down. In order to make it an object for him to do so, we will make the following offer for—

Old Roosters, per pound 12c

A Few Suggestions as to the Care of Eggs.

Provide plenty of clean, dry nests. Eggs should be gathered daily in cool weather and twice a day in hot or rainy weather.

Use dirty and small eggs at home. Do not wash eggs. Keep your eggs in a cool, dry place, free from odors. If kept in the cellar do not set egg case on a damp floor. Market eggs as often as possible. Keep eggs cool or out of the sun when taking them to town. Every farmer should have an egg candler and candle all questionable eggs. Kill or dispose of all old roosters. You will get just as many eggs and an infertile egg will keep much longer during hot weather.

A conservative estimate made by this department shows that the annual loss on eggs to the farmers and merchants of Minnesota is over $5,000,000.00, caused by improper care and handling. Is it not worth your while to consider this matter?

ARE WORTH THE PRICE.

Well might the valedictorian of the 1920 class of the Thief River Falls high school state that the graduates would always carry with them a feeling of deep appreciation for the many things done for them by the people of District No. 18 of Pennington county. To feel otherwise toward those who have for four years met without murmur the ever-increasing cost of maintaining this splendid school would indicate but a meager realization of what it has meant.

Not that the money spent is at all begrudged. It is realized that it could not have been devoted to a more worthy and important purpose, but it cannot be denied that the cost is reaching a point where it hurts. That is nothing, however, if the boys and girls will only in the future so make use of the education acquired in such manner that the vast sum shall not have been spent in vain.

Not all of the ninety graduates are actually residents of Thief River Falls or even of Pennington county, many coming from nearby communities, thereby paying the school a high compliment at the same time that they are saddling a heavy expense on the district. There is no way of preventing these students from taking advantage of the superior opportunities offered here without cutting the school off from the assistance given such institutions by the state. We do not wish to cut them off, but some system should be found that would permit of the district's being re-embursed to a greater extent than is possible under the law as it now stands. The cost of sending a boy or girl through high school is no small matter and when a class numbers in the neighborhood of a hundred the total is greater than most people realize. As the school must take all students who apply for admission, no matter from what section of the state they hail, it would seem only fair that the state as a whole should pay a greater share of the maintenance cost. Only a few cities in Minnesota are placed as is Thief River Falls in this regard, but wherever these conditions do obtain the situation as regards costs is similar.

The legislature should at the earliest possible moment take measures for the relief of districts such as No. 18 of Pennington county. The school is doing a wonderful work for the young men and women of a vast section and is bearing the cost almost alone. At least it is no more favored in the state aid distribution than are districts having a comparatively light burden in the shape of outside attendance. This is manifestly unfair to our taxpayers and there should be a way in which the situation can be remedied.

But the students are not to blame for this unequal distribution. No person could look at that fine, clean aggregation of northern Minnesota young men and women without being glad to think that he or she had been permitted to have a share in equipping them for the work they are to do in the world. No high school in the state is turning out a more promising bunch and no community anywhere takes greater pride in the quality of its product.

THE COMMUNITY PICNIC.

The one big event in which all the people, regardless of occupation or station, are interested is again at hand. The annual picnic of the Pennington Farm Bureau association will be held on June 14 and it is by far the most important gathering of the kind held in the county during the year.

The Farm Bureau association is greater in scope than its name would indicate. While matters connected directly with farm activities are naturally its first concern, yet its influence extends much farther and the value of its work embraces a much more extended field. It is the nearest thing to a county community club we have and the nature of its aims are such that every person, whether in the city or country, is directly interested in its success.

For this reason the annual picnic given under its auspices takes us all in. The banker and merchant should have as a lively interest in its success as the livestock raiser or potato grower. It concerns the manufacturer and laborer as much as it does the dairyman and general farmer.

Every person in the county should make June 14 a holiday and with his family journey to Squaw Point on the Thief River just outside the city limits of Thief River Falls. The location is as convenient as any to be found and the attractions are more varied than those at any other point. A splendid program is being arranged and well-known speakers will be present to hand out inspiration and instruction. Make it a point to be present.

NOON-DAY LUNCHEONS.

Alterations made in the interior arrangement of the Commercial club rooms will soon be completed and the suggested noon-day lunches started. A recommendation at the annual meeting advocating that the plan be tried was passed unanimously and the only reason that nothing further has been done about this matter before this is that the rooms were not properly equipped for the purpose.

The plan is a new one as far as Thief River Falls is concerned but has been successfully followed at Crookston, Bemidji and other nearby cities for some time. That the idea will prove popular and result in much good being accomplished is certain.

These noon-day meetings will be valuable principally for the opportunity they afford of informally discussing topics in which the club and city are interested. It is not the intention that any definite action shall be taken on matters coming up on these occasions but that subjects of general interest may be discussed with a view to finding out what each man thinks should be the method of their final disposition. The regular club meetings will be more interesting and have a more definite purpose if these things are considered before the time of actually determining what shall be done with them.

Specialists in different lines will make short addresses from time to time, outsiders being often invited here for the purpose. The sessions would be devoid of formality and all present would feel more like expressing their opinions than at a regular meeting.

The plan is decidedly worth trying and the club will soon have an excellent place in which to try it.

MINNESOTA CHEAP LANDS

(Minneapolis Tribune.)

The Department of Agriculture in Washington and the Iowa State College have been making an investigation of land values in 60 Iowa counties, prompted by the land boom which flourished especially during the summer of 1919. That boom is said to have forced prices of farm lands in Iowa up to a level at which it was impossible for any but the exceptional farmer to make more than three per cent on his capitalization and made it out of the question for a large proportion of the tenants to buy land with borrowed capital.

It appears that the high valuation was assumed on the basis of the actual sale of comparatively few farms—perhaps 10 per cent of the total number—and that it is not justified by the average earning power of the land. Data on farm incomes on some 400 selected farms, supplemented with facts derived from farm management surveys, afford much more accurate information as to actual values based upon producing capacity.

They also disclose the remarkable fact that the increase in the average value of farm lands in the counties in which investigation was conducted was greater during the single year of the boom than during the 50 years from 1850 to 1900. A comparison of the estimated values in 1915 and 1920 show the increase per acre for that period to have been $121.

Iowa farmers are supposed to be—as a matter of fact are—prosperous. It is a mighty interesting fact, however, that while improved farm lands are costing as much as $300 an acre in Iowa and Illinois, lands nearly, if not quite equally good, and perhaps for some purposes better, may be obtained in Minnesota at from $15 to $20 or $25 an acre. They require clearing, and in some instances clearing is expensive, the cost rising as high as $50 or more an acre; but, allowing $25 for the land and $75 for the clearing and bringing the ground under cultivation, the discrepancy between $300 an acre farming land in Iowa and $100 land in Minnesota ought to attract the attention of men who are really looking for ground for cultivation. And it seems to us that this fact must ultimately impress itself upon land seekers—men who are searching for lands on which to settle and out of which to make productive farms. Neither the state nor the federal government, nor private owners, are making of these lands all that might be made of them.

SPECIAL LAW FOR FARMERS

(St. Paul Dispatch.)

With the knowledge that existing conditions have imposed hardships upon the farmer class which may be catalogued, there is in addition a conviction that in a general way the agriculturist is a special victim of conditions and therefore a subject for special assistance. Such a conviction is at the root of the passage of the Volstead bill legalizing farmer combinations and the collective-marketing and sale of their own products. That it is a species of class legislation cannot be questioned, but that it is legislation justified by conditions is the argument which carried the measure through by an impressive majority.

Such legislation is the recognition of the importance of promoting the general agricultural industry at what is regarded as a critical period. The farm is at the foundation of national existence, to say nothing of national prosperity. Our supply of foodstuffs must be our first consideration. Conditions of late years have steadily militated against the farm and are culminating in a situation which makes field labor increasingly difficult to obtain and at costs steadily ascending. It is the result of a conviction, rather than of a clearly and logically worked-out theory, that legislation in the farmer interest meets approval rather than objection.

Labor was granted special favor in national legislation, but the suspicion was present that politics, rather than economics, was the influencing factor. In the farmer case there seems to be less of politics and more of economics; and there is an absence of evidence that Congress was subjected to coercion of the usual character.

It may be expected that the effect of the new legislation will be to increase the price of farm products; otherwise why enact it? But the far-seeing view must be that it is destined to prevent still higher prices and, by a promotion of the industry, guarantee the food upon which the national life depends.

This weather may not exactly suit everybody. No weather ever does. For general purposes, however, the northwestern farmer will find it answers the purpose. If it has a tendency to hold him back in one certain direction it will be found to help him along in half a dozen others.

:-:

Give and it Shall be Given.

(Bemidji Pioneer.)

There are many who seem to think that a farmer is not entitled to the same basis of profit on his produce as the manufacturer in the city, or the same interest on his investment as the banker.

It is a common opinion that the farmer cannot possibly be entitled to as much per hour for his labor as the mechanic, the plasterer, electrician or plumber. And why not? Certainly not because he does not have to serve his apprenticeship in learning his trade; not because his produce is a luxury and therefore his labor not so essential as his city brothers; not because he does not work as faithfully for his return. No, it cannot be so. One basis of wages, one set of working hours, one percentage of profit cannot be maintained for one class of laborers or tradesmen, and a lesser scale in another industry requiring equal skill and application.

The farmer plants his seed and cultivates his ground, leaving the rest to "Him who sendeth the sunshine and the rain." Very many times not only come the sunshine and the rain, but the grasshopper and potato bug, and then the farmers' war starts. He must be content with what he gets. He cannot go to his employer and say "I want a raise to meet increased expenses." The farmer accepts all chances but the workman gets his wages in full and in regular intervals.

The farmers' tools are many and expensive—farm machinery, horses or tractors, cows, and buildings—he has to furnish them all—he has no employer to furnish them for him.

His returns, if large, must be the result of large action. He cannot stop to argue whether he should start to work at 6 o'clock in the morning or 8 o'clock. If his wheat field is ready to be threshed he threshes it as fast as possible.

He is becoming organized, it is true, but not organized to stop working—rather to work more and into a greater degree of intelligence. Organized idleness results in increased cost for decreased production and supply of the necessities of life, and if organized capital shall ever develop into organized rapacity it will be but a boomerang returning upon itself for its destruction.

Standards on Wheat Grade Must Remain

Secretary Meredith Refuses to Comply With Request of Graini Interests.

Secretary of Agriculture E. T. Meredith has denied the request of the northwest grain interests, farmers, and others, to modify the present grain grading regulations.

The basis of his refusal was that changes proposed would reduce the price to the farmers, that the present grades have been in operation only during the war, under government price control, and that opportunity should be given to test the present grades under "normal competitive conditions."

Education of farmers is to be carried on so that the producers will learn the value of producing standards.

The northwestern men who appeared before Secretary Meredith asked for the following changes in spring wheat grades:

First—That the subclass "red spring" be eliminated.

Second—That the word "bright" be eliminated in the spring and durum grades except in the No. 1 dark southern spring and the No. 1 amber durum.

Third—That the percentage of moisture in the spring and durum grades be increased to 15 per cent, that this maximum percentage be the same in all grades from No. 1 to No. 5 inclusive, that wheat having more than 15 per cent be graded the same as that having less, except that in addition it be clased excessive moisture, and stating the percentage of moisture.

15 Per Cent Moisture Unsafe.

Secretary Meredith indicates the possibility of loss to the producer in increasing the moisture content to 15 per cent, in an allowance of 5 per cent on durum with spring; or an allowance of 1 per cent of rye with high-grade wheat.

"Wheat containing 15 per cent of moisture is unsafe for transportation or storage," he says. "Investigation by the department of several thousand carlot shipments of wheat shows that, as the moisture content increases, the percentage of cases in which deterioration occurs also increases. The department's standards are more liberal than the percentage of moisture recommended in 1916 by the chief grain inspector of the Minnesota Railroad and Warehouse Commission. His recommendation was a maximum of 14 per cent while the department allows 14½ per cent."

High Water Content Cuts Price.

The actual yield of wheat drops in proportion to the increase in moisture content," the secretary continues. "In an average carload of 1,200 bushels of wheat containing 14 per cent of moisture, there are 168 bushels of water. If the moisture content were increased to 15 per cent there would be an increase of 12 bushels of water and a decrease of 12 bushels of dry matter. On this basis at the present prices (say $3 a bushel) these 12 bushels of water would represent a difference in value of $36 in the carload and the buyer would consequently reduce his bid, whether it did actually contain this moisture or not, and the farmer would lose.

Secretary Meredith says that raising the moisture content for Nos. 1 and 2 to a point beyond that safe for transportation and storage will result in buyers specifying the moisture content, in addition to the grade, in their purchases from terminal markets, which will complicate business transactions, or it will lower the prices on all purchases of these grades in order to insure themselves against loss. The reduction in price will be reflected back to the farm and "the farmer with the dry wheat will receive a lower price, while the farmer with the wheat containing a slightly higher percentage of moisture will receive no more."

Regarding the proposed increase in permissible percentage of rye and of durum, Secretary Meredith says:

"The great bulk of wheat produced and marketed in the central northwest does not contain rye. Over 95 per cent of the wheat from this section as it reaches terminal markets contains either no rye at all or in such small amounts that it is not a factor of grade. Therefore the farmer would not be benefited by a revision of the wheat standards permitting more rye in wheat. On the contrary, inasmuch as the ultimate buyer of the wheat, whether the miller or the export shipper, will expect to receive wheat with the highest percentage of rye allowed, due to the mixing of the elevator man, he must make his price accordingly, thereby penalizing the farmer who has wheat free from rye. Because rye is cheaper than wheat, such a revision would serve only as an inducement for adulteration by elevator operators after the wheat has left the farmer's hands. The price to the farmer therefore will be lower.

Durum and spring wheats are utilized for the different purposes. Durum wheat mixed with spring wheat is detrimental to the milling and bread making qualities of spring wheat. On the other hand, spring wheat mixed with durum is detrimental to the qualities possessed by durum wheat for the purpose of macaroni and allied products.

Consequently, spring wheat mixed with durum will not bring the same price as spring wheat free from durum, nor will durum wheat mixed with spring command the same price as durum wheat in the pure state. A revision of the present standards permitting free mixture of spring and durum wheat will increase the opportunities for mixing in terminal elevators and will penalize farmers producing a superior product."

Concerning the lowering of grades one pound per bushel, Secretary Meredith says:

"The amount of flour obtained from wheat is the factor which largely determines its value. The milling yield or flour contents of wheat is directly proportional to the weight per bushel. More barrels of flour and more loaves of bread can be produced from 1,000 pounds of wheat testing 58 pounds a bushel than can be produced from the same amount of wheat testing 57 pounds a bushel, other factors of quality and condition being equal.

Weight For Bushel is Price Basis.

"Fifty-eight pound wheat is worth more and commands a higher price on the market than 57 pound wheat, all other factors being equal. Labeling wheat No. 1 which weighs only 57 pounds a bushel does not make it worth as much as 58 pound wheat. Quotations to the country elevator by commission men, track buyers, terminal elevator men, etc., who buy for export shippers or millers, are based upon the lowest quality of wheat permitted in the grade because the buyer cannot be sure he will get a better quality. In reselling by grade, the mixer will see that the miller or exporter does not get a better quality than the lowest permitted by the standard. Therefore, the price on grade No. 1 with 57 pound test weight will be less than the quotation would have been on 58 pound wheat. The farmer with 58 pound wheat who sells it to the country elevator man as No. 1 will have to take a 57 pound price for it. Normally, there is an abundance of wheat produced in the central west which weighs 58 pounds a bushel or more. To lower the test weight per bushel requirement for No. 1 to 57 pounds would deprive the farmers who produce this 58 pound wheat of the price to which they would be entitled, with no advantage to the producers of wheat weighing 57 pounds, as the latter would sell for 57-pound wheat in any event."

Some Figures Showing Cost Of Ad Work

Committee After Careful Investigation Finds Present Prices Much Too Low.

Shows Prices Charged by The Times to Be Far Below Value of Service.

Change of System Most Urgent Necessity For Majority of Publishers.

The special committee of the National Editorial association, which has had in charge the study of conditions so as to make recommendations to the members of the N. E. A. and all other publishers of papers with a circulation up to 5,000, has made its report and it is just given out by H. C. Hotaling, field secretary of the association.

The committee is composed of men who have had opportunities of study probably not equaled by the average publisher, and includes President Edward Albright, Gallatin, Tenn.; R. T. Porte, Salt Lake City; E. K. Whiting, Owatonna, Minn.; H. U. Bailey, Princeton, Ill.; George T. Haubrich, field secretary of the Colorado Editorial association, Greeley, Colo.; O. O. Buck, field secretary of the Nebraska Press association, Harvard, Neb.; G. L. Caswell, field secretary of the Iowa Press association, Ames, Ia., and H. C. Hotaling, field secretary of the National Editorial association, St. Paul, Minn.

The committee had also in consultation with them in an advisory capacity B. S. Herbert of the National Printer-Journalist, Chicago; Harry Hillman of the Inland Printer, Chicago, and N. A. Huse, vice president of the American Press association, New York.

Report of the Committee.

"The special committee of the National Editorial association appointed to study the selling price for advertising space in weekly newspapers based on known costs of production, recommends the following rates per inch:

"For newspapers of 500 or less circulation, 20 cents.

"For newspapers of 1,000 or less circulation, 25 cents.

"For newspapers of 1,500 or less circulation, 30 cents.

"For newspapers of 2,000 or less circulation, 35 cents.

"For newspapers of 2,500 or less circulation, 40 cents.

"For newspapers of 3,000 or less circulation, 43 cents.

"For newspapers of 3,500 or less circulation, 46 cents.

"For newspapers of 4,000 or less circulation, 49 cents.

"For newspapers of 4,500 or less circulation, 52 cents.

"For newspapers of 5,000 or less circulation, 55 cents.

"After a thorough study of the present situation, the members of the committee were unanimous in the opinion that the prevailing rates for advertising in community newspapers are much too low and that these rates do not compare with the increased cost of other commodities.

"After studying the costs of production as reported from newspaper offices in the different parts of the country the committee finds that only a small percentage of country newspaper publishers realize the perils which confront their future existence. In the mechanical departments labor costs have increased from 50 per cent to 150 per cent; machinery and materials have advanced in keeping with the rising costs and the newspaper publishers have not followed in the procession but have been deluding themselves into the belief that they are making a profit and that their future is as secure as their past apparently has been. It was found upon investigation that most publishers have a very inadequate idea of the cost of producing their publications. Most of them have considered that the increased price of paper stock was the one item which should principally concern them. It is the one subject over which they have been especially alarmed. Since the circulation of most country newspapers is from 500 to 2,500 copies per week, the committee has felt that although the item of increased cost of print paper should have serious consideration it is of minor importance as compared to the increased costs of labor, machinery, material, rent, insurance and the various other items of expense which are standard. It was found that a number of publishers who own their own building are not charging the item of rent in figuring what their publications are costing, nor have any considerable number been including interest upon the money invested in their plants as a part of the production cost of their newspapers. Others have been failing to put themselves upon their own payrolls for any adequate salary such as they might easily earn elsewhere, and from year to year have been laboring under the false delusion that they were making money. They have not taken into consideration the depreciation of plants and of the tremendously increased cost of replacement of machinery and still they have continued to sell space in their publications at rates which have prevailed for years.

"The committee is strongly of the opinion that disaster and ruin faces thousands of publications unless they immediately adjust themselves to the new conditions and rigidly adhere to the rates which the committee of investigation recommends."

Where Gasoline Prices Stand

OIL products have advanced in price more slowly than any other products. The U. S. Department of Labor, in a comparative statement of price advances between January 1913, and December 1919, says:

(In the following table 100 is taken as the normal base for 1913)

	Jan. 1913 From	Dec. 1919 To	Percentage of Increase
Cloths and Clothing	100	335	235 %
House Furnishings	100	303	203 %
Labor and building material	100	253	153 %
Farm produce	97	244	151.5%
Food	99	234	136.3%
Chemicals	101	179	77.2%
Fuel and lighting	103	181	75.7%
Metals and metal products	107	169	58 %

(Monthly Labor Review, Vol. X, No. 2)

On January 1, 1913, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) was paying $1.44 per barrel for crude delivered at the refinery at Whiting, Ind., and was selling gasoline for 14½c per gallon.

On December 31, 1919, the price of crude had advanced to $3.51 per barrel, f. o. b. Whiting, and the selling price of gasoline to 21c per gallon.

In other words this Company is paying two and one-half times as much for crude oil as it was in 1913, but because of its more efficient refining methods it is able to sell gasoline to you for less than one-half more than was charged at that time.

(Continuing the table:)

Crude Petroleum	100	240	140 %
Red Crown Gasoline	100	144.8	44.8%

It will be seen from the above tables that gasoline stands at the end of the list as regards price increase, and that crude petroleum stands sixth from the end, showing how effectually refining efficiency has operated in behalf of the motorist.

Every cost entering into the making of gasoline has risen immensely. The cost of crude, the cost of refining, and the cost of marketing are all greater than ever before.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) by superior efficiency in every process of refining and distributing has contributed in no small degree to hold the price of gasoline down to its present level. Every man in the manufacturing end of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is keenly alive to the pressing necessity for an increased output of gasoline at a minimum manufacturing cost.

The ideal toward which the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is striving, is to put Red Crown, a gasoline of known, standard quality, within the reach of motorists everywhere in the Middle West, at a price so low as to make possible the free use of that 25 percent increase in automotive vehicles which is anticipated for 1920.

Song of 10,000 Lines Being Written for India's Pariah Water Drawers

Missionaries encounter strange problems in their work of spreading the doctrine of Christianity. But generally they are able to work out a good solution. Doctor Walter F. Scudder, for years a missionary of the Dutch Reform Church in India, but now attached to the Foreign Survey of the Interchurch World Movement, tells of one curious problem well solved.

For centuries the Pariah water drawer of India has measured the number of buckets of water he draws by means of a song of 10,000 lines. Unable to count, much less to add or subtract, the water drawer had to be given some method of measurement. So this song was adopted. It runs:

"Three Hundred and Thirty Million Gods have I."

"Five Hundred Million Rishi have I."

and so on for 10,000 variations.

An East Indian Water Drawer at His Primitive Well Pump, Which Has Not Been Improved Since the Days of the Pharaohs

The employer desiring a certain number of buckets to be drawn, tells the water drawer to stop his song at such a verse or line. The drawer pulls up one bucket for each line of the song and stops at the appointed place. He will have exactly the number wanted.

Now that many of these humble laborers of India have been converted to Christianity, they are faced by the problem of how to count without chanting a song which no longer represents their religious belief. So the missionaries are writing a song of 10,000 lines dealing with the life and teachings of Christ to be substituted for the chant now used.

Labor Board Must Grant $2500 Wage

[illegible]ee Demands Presented Which Must be Granted to Satisfy Shop Men.

Chairman of Railway Board Objects to Implied Threat of B. M. Jewell.

[illegible]less the railway labor board [illegible] the demands of the shopmen [illegible] national minimum scale which [illegible] pay "a minimum wage of [illegible] a year with an eight-hour day [illegible]mmon labor" the employes' re[illegible]ntatives cannot guarantee that [illegible]oard's decision will be acceptable [illegible]e men, B. M. Jewell, acting pres[illegible]t of the railway employes depart[illegible] declared in testifying before [illegible]e board on Monday.

[illegible]r. Jewell's testimony brought a [illegible]rp question from Judge Barton, [illegible]airman of the board, who asked [illegible]hether he was "issuing an ultima[illegible]um to this board or trying to dictate to it as to the decision it should make?"

"We want all the information possible but we do not intend to let every one come in here and tell us what we should decide," Judge Barton said.

Mr. Jewell then explained the employes' representatives were not trying to dictate but felt it their duty to explain fully certain conditions.

Mr. Jewell, who was presenting the shop employes' rebuttal, said any award by the board that did not include the following stipulations would "not be a fair and just award."

1. A minimum wage of $2,500 a year with an eight hour day for common laborers.
2. Establishment of differentials according to training, skill, hazard and responsibility of the men affected.
3. Action by the board on the national agreement.

Commission Urges Advances For Carriers of From $150 to $250 Per Year.

Thief River Falls Among the Cities Whose Postmaster is Included in List.

Report Also Recommends an Eight-Hour Day For All Post Office Employes.

Increased salaries for postal em[illegible]yes amounting to approximately [illegible],000,000 for the first year, effective July 1, have been recommended in a report to congress by a joint congressional commission.

Increases of $150 to $250 annually for postal clerks and letter carriers with $400 for supervisory officers were recommended. No increase for first class postmasters receiving more than $5,000 a year was proposed, however.

Rise For Rural Carriers.

For rural delivery carriers, the commission recommended $1800 for a 24-mile route and an additional $30 for each mile in excess of that distance. Motor route carriers covering 50 miles or more would receive not in excess of $2,600. The pay of village delivery carriers would be from $1,000 to $1,200. Should the recommendations of the commission, based on hearings held in various parts of the country, be adopted, clerks at first and second class post offices, as well as city carriers, would be divided into five classes, with those in the first class receiving $1,400 annually and $100 added for each class. Substitutes and temporary clerks [illegible]ld receive 60 cents an hour, while [illegible]cial clerks would be paid from [illegible],900 to $2,000 annually. Watch[illegible]en, messengers and laborers would [illegible] divided into two grades, the first [illegible]ceiving $1,350 and the second [illegible]1,450.

Salvation Army Secures Permanent Quarters Here

The Salvation Army has maintained barracks in Thief River Falls for a quarter of a century but has not owned its home. Consequently moving has been the order of the day and this has in many ways interfered with the work. Permanent quarters have now been arranged for by the purchase of the Bean building at 317 Main avenue north, where the army officers will hereafter be found.

There will be a grand opening at the new barracks next Saturday and Sunday. Adjt. Charles Nelson of St. Paul, will conduct the meetings, assisted by Capt. J. C. Kelly and Lieut. Hibbard. Everyone will be made welcome at these housewarming meetings.

INJUNCTION HEARING AT WARREN ON JUNE 8

Motion to Vacate Temporary Restraining Order Will be Argued Before Court.

The paving matter is still somewhat up in the air although friends of the enterprise are not all alarmed over the outcome of the injunction proceedings to be heard by Judge Grindeland at Warren on June 8. The temporary restraining order has had no visible effect upon the preparations, the completing of the work started last summer being steadily carried on.

Practically the entire outcome hinges on the decision of the supreme court in a similar case brought in Dakota county. The trial judge there held that it is necessary for cities and villages to secure the endorsement of a majority of the voters at a special election before going ahead and awarding contracts for such public improvements. Officials of the village of Farmington, on the contrary, take the same position as the council of Thief River Falls, namely that the law enacted in 1917 expressly permits municipalities to issue their certificates of indebtedness to pay for work of this kind and that no vote of the people is necessary.

The matter has created a great deal of interest in this city and the supreme court decision is awaited with considerable anxiety. Just what the council will do in case the verdict is against the city is not known, but it is likely that before an election could be held it would be too late to accomplish anything this year.

MISTAKEN FOR WOLF, MAN IS SHOT IN ARM

Goes to Sleep in Hay Stack and is Discovered by Small Boy—Dad Shoots.

Halvor Williamson of Grygla, who last week was shot through the arm by a farmer named Calhoun and brought to the Physicians hospital here, is getting along first rate. His arm is naturally very painful but there is hopes of his being able to use it pretty much the same as ever within a short time.

Williamson, who it is claimed had been taking on a load of peppermint or some other concoction of a similar nature, fell asleep in the hay stack on the Calhoun farm. Small boys playing in the neighborhood saw something near the stack they took for a wolf. Upon being notified, Mr. Calhoun grabbed his rifle and let fly in the general direction of the supposed marauder. One shot only took effect, this being in the right elbow. The injured man was brought here at once and given medical attention.

Build a Home

Why continue wasting money by living in a rented home? Real happiness comes only through possessing a place you can call your own.

Notice the families among your friends--the happiest--those who get the most out of life, are the ones who own a home of their own.

And when you own a Home, you enjoy in addition to peace and contentment, a feeling of security against the world's troubles.

The first thing to decide is the kind of Home you want to build. Will it be a Bungalow, a Cottage, or of good old fashioned Colonial style? You have at your disposal all of the many plans in our office. And any of them may be changed to embody your own ideas of comfort and utility.

Build It Now

There is no reason for waiting until later to Build. Materials and Labor costs are not coming down—you don't want them to, for never was the country more prosperous. And even if they should, you will have saved more than enough in rent to make up the difference.

For a quarter of a century this concern has been supplying the material for buildings in this section. It makes no difference whether it is in the city or on the farm—we have plans for structures of all kinds and the experience of our experts is at your service. Do not cheat yourself out of the satisfaction and comfort of owning a home by thinking that it will be cheaper to build later on. Come in and find out what can be done about it NOW.

Stop paying rent. It is money wasted in the long run, no matter how cheaply you may think you are getting along at the present time. This is a good time to start. Drop in today and let us talk it over.

Crowds Hear N-P Speakers at 2 Meetings

President Townley Fails to Show Up at Goodridge Gathering.

Dr. Henrik Shipstead and Homer Cook Greeted by Packed House.

Candidate in Poor Voice But Companion Makes Vigorour, Telling Address.

Two well-attended meetings were held in Pennington county by the adherents of the Nonpartisan league yesterday. The weather was far from ideal, being cold and damp, but in spite of this fact people came from every section of the northwest to hear the speakers. A. C. Townley, president of the league, was scheduled to arrive by airplane in time for the meeting at the Urdahl place near Goodridge, but the wind and threatening rain must have served to keep him away. At any rate he failed to show up, much to the disappointment of many who had come long distances especially to see and hear him.

Present in Crowds.

The Goodridge meeting was a great success, however. One of the largest crowds ever seen in the county greeted Henrik Shipstead, candidate for governor, and Homer Cook, one of the speakers for the league. Both spoke, their remarks being along the lines generally followed.

The Auditorium Meeting.

The crowd at the auditorium in the evening taxed that large assembly room to the limit. Dr. Shipstead had contracted a cold and was consequently in poor voice, but his traveling companion, Mr. Cook, made up for any shortcomings in this respect. He is a whirlwind talker and had his audience with him from the start. Mr. Cook devoted considerable of his time to showing that the Nonpartisan league was not the kind of organization its enemies would make it out, but on the contrary a law abiding and constructive force. The speaker is evidently a man of wide reading, his remarks being thickly interlarded with exerpts and quotations intended to prove the correctness of his position. His address was perhaps the ablest of any yet delivered here in favor of the cause he espouses.

Outline of Republican Convention Next Week

Nominating speeches in the Republican national convention at Chicago next week probably will come on Thursday, with balloting on Friday, L. W. Henley, secretary of the arrangements committee, announced. Following the keynote speech of Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, temporary chairman, and appointment of committees on Tuesday, Mr. Henley said the convention probably would adjourn until Wednesday for committee work.

Permanent organization, rules and order of business are on Wednesday's tentative program. After the nominating speeches Thursday, Mr. Henley said the tentative program would leave Friday and Saturday and possibly part of Thursday for ablloting and consideration of platform.

On Monday preceding the opening of the convention, caucuses of many state delegations are scheduled to select national committeemen and make committee nominations.

LUND FUNERAL SUNDAY FROM CITY AUDITORIUM

Body of First Dead Soldier Sent From France to Receive Military Honors.

The body of Edward Lund, first Pennington county soldier to be transferred from European soil to his native land, will arrive in the city on Saturday morning, as near as can now be judged. The remains left New York on Wednesday over the Lackawanna and are scheduled to reach Thief River Falls over the Soo at that time. If this proves to be the case the funeral will be held from the auditorium at 2 o'clock on Sunday afternoon.

Lund will be given a military burial, the details being in charge of the American Legion. It is requested that the firing squad appear at the auditorium at 1:30 o'clock in order that everything may be in readiness at the appointed hour.

It is also desired that as many Legion men as possibly can do so will report in uniform. This will be the first burial in the county under these circumstances and the expectations are that our people generally will wish to show their respect by being in attendance.

The ceremony may be witnessed by anyone wishing to do so.

Political Gossips are Now Linking Knox and Johnson

Gossip along Presidential Row in Chicago linked the names of Senator Philander C. Knox of Pennsylvania for president and Senator Hiram W. Johnson, California, for vice-president as a possible compromise ticket. The proposal was considered by some national committeemen as indirect result of the senate investigation of campaign expenditures. It was explained as having arisen from a feeling that a presidential candidate who had not been mentioned in Washington testimony would be desirable.

At Johnson headquarters, attention was called to the senator's recent announcement that he would not be a candidate for vice-president.

High Facts on Hard Roads

The St. Paul Dispatch and Pioneer Press have been publishing a series of articles on the Babcock Good Roads program, showing how this applies to each of the counties in the state. These papers have the following to say regarding Pennington county:

"This county is also in the Red Red River valley and is said to be among the leaders in richness for farming values, it being more or less of a pioneer county, yet there are only 9,376 residents here.

"The proposed Babcock plan of hard surfacing nearly 7,000 miles of trunk highway will give Pennington county 37.5 miles of this road. Estimating the cost of construction at $30,000 a mile, there will be $1,125,000 spent here.

"Motor vehicles to the number of 1,000 are registered from this county. If the legislature fixes the average license fee at $18 a car, there will be only $18,540 paid into the state highway fund a year.

"But the savings, estimated by government experts at 2 cents a mile for every mile the motor car is run over hard surfaced roads, will amount to $20,600 for only 1,000 miles of running over these proposed boulevards.

"State highway department figures show 950 miles of roads already in the county. Taking the 37.5 miles of pavement leaves 912.5 miles of road to be graded, graveled and maintained out of the county road and bridge fund.

"Pennington county, therefore, will receive 37.5 miles of pavement, 912.5 miles of good gravel road, and the motor vehicles savings each year by seeing to it that Amendment No. 1 is approved by the voters at the November elections."

Minnesota Girl Winner In Breadmaking Contest

Andelia Swanson, Minnesota farm girl, was the state junior club champion breadmaker in 1918. Now she has been advised that her picture and story are to be widely circulated in the Argentine republic where agricultural leaders will try to introduce boys and girls club work as it has been developed in the United States. The news was broken to Andelia in a letter from the office at Washington of the Argentine ambassador to the United States. She was told that her picture was the one used to illustrate "Breadmaking in the Home," a publication of the United States department of agriculture which had been translated into Spanish for distribution in the South American republic. "Breadmaking in the Home" was based on a bulletin issued at University Farm by the state leaders of Minnesota junior club work.

Andelia won her championship in a war year, when the use of substitute flours become necessary and bread work was a real problem. Not only that, but she organized her girl friends into a breadmaking club and she helped to cut about 150 acres of wheat on her father's farm near Kenyon, Goodhue county.

"As I think of it now," she says, "I am happy in the thought that I was able to help Uncle Sam even in so trifling a manner." Now her work and example are to be an inspiration to youth in foreign lands.

Peak Prices Are Reached For District

Federal Reserve Bank States Advance in Commodity Costs Has Ended.

Tendency All Along the Line is to Unload Merchandise Stocks at Once.

Public Taking Advantage of Reduction Offered by Merchants Everywhere.

The steadily accumulating evidence of the month indicates that the peak of high prices has been reached, and that a general break has occurred. Retail trade has slowed down perceptibly, and the slowing down process has been marked by increased efforts to move goods, accompanied by price reductions and widely advertised sales. There seems to be good reason to believe that the steady advance in retail prices, which has continued since the early months of the war, has come to an end. While there will still be advances in certain lines and on certain classes of goods due to shortages, difficulties in securing delivery, and maintaining stocks, and while it will be some time before price adjustments have become sufficiently pronounced to alter the cost of living, the drift is in the right direction, and substantial changes are in progress.

Transportation Breakdown.

Several factors have contributed in an important way to the changes during the month. There has been a growing rebellion on the part of the public against excessive prices, and a gradual spread of the determination not to buy high priced goods or submit to further profiteering. This has resulted in part from gradual increases in money rates and in part from the lower quotations in Government securities, which have served to call the attention of the public to the fact that a general readjustment is under way. Another factor of great importance is the breakdown of transportation which is more serious than anything business has experienced in the United States at any previous time. The movement of all goods is abnormally delayed, and there has been, during the month, a slowing down of production in some lines as a direct result of inability to obtain materials. Most of the larger manufacturing concerns have scouts on the road endeavoring to trace and expedite the movement of materials which are essential to maintain current production.

Conservative Buying.

The slowing down in trade and the price changes of the month have not affected the price of food stuffs to any extent, but have left an imprint upon many lines of retail trade. There has been a noticeable reduction in prices on certain classes of women's wear, shoes and a considerable range of the higher priced goods. Price changes on medium grade articles are not yet so apparent. There is an inclination on the part of the public to buy conservatively, and retailers outside of the larger centers are cautious in accumulating stocks. They are working on hand to mouth policy and ordering to fill current requirements only, and many have cancelled outstanding orders.

Is Reflected Locally.

The general tendency is reflected in the action of Thief River Falls retailers, particularly in the women's wear and clothing lines. All of the larger stores are making bargain offerings in order to reduce present stocks and notable price cuts are made. In some cases this means an immediate loss to the merchants, the goods having been purchased at the top of the market, but they prefer to forego profits at this time rather than hold large stocks under the present uncertain conditions. The public generally is taking advantage of the situation and stocking up, feeling no doubt that there is no guarantee against things advancing again at a later date.

The strain upon all banks in this district has been heavy due to the double burden imposed by carrying the remainder of the last crop and the demands arising out of spring planting operations. Due to the policy of conservatism and prudence, the banking situation has recently shown some slight signs of improvement and there is nothing unfavorable in the present outlook other than the fact that it may be necessary to carry the present burden for some time in order to take advantage of the prospective liquidation.

Crops are Promising.

Crop conditions are promising. The seeding of spring wheat which represents the bulk of the Northwest's production has progressed rapidly and is completed with the exception of some of the poorer lands and fields that have been too wet. The acreage will be approximately 15 per cent less than a year ago, owing to the shortage of farm labor, the high price of seed, the lateness of the season, and the shrinkage that is inevitable after the intensified production of the war period. The reduction in acreage will not be important if the present favorable crop conditions continue and a good average yield in the acreage seeded will give a very satisfactory total production. The shortage of acreage will be largely overcome by increased seeding of flax, barley and oats. Corn shows indications of being an unusually large crop this year. Winter wheat, which is less important from the standpoint of its proportion to the total production, is making slow progress owing to cold weather and unusual rains. Different estimates indicate that from 75 to 90 per cent went through the winter without damage.

Bemidji Concerns Request Protection Against Mobs

Thief River Falls people who came through Bemidji the first of the week stated that there is a serious labor situation in the neighboring city. They were informed that men were being intimidated and that the destruction of the mills was threatened. An influx of I. W. W. agitators from all sections of the country was reported on Monday to Governor Burnquist. Major W. C. Garis, assistant to Adjutant General W. F. Rhinow, was sent to Bemidji on the first train to investigate and promptly report his finding to the governor.

Sheriff Andrew Johnson and Mayor L. E. Johnson made an official report of threatening conditions in advance of the opening of the mills Tuesday. They requested the national guard company at Bemidji be ordered to remain there to assist in protecting lives and properties and be excused from attending the national guard brigade encampment to open next week at Fort Snelling.

Two Bemidji manufacturing companies sent telegrams to the governor confirming the officials' statements and joining in the request that military protection be maintained in the town.

The only requirement is that the answer shall be in form of a letter addressed to Mildred Harris Chaplin, 6 West 48th street, New York City, and that the letter shall be not more than three hundred words in length. The award will be given to the letter which in the opinion of the judges is the best argument to upset the time-worn tradition that woman is man's inferior and proving that woman is not the inferior of the sexes.

Mildred Harris Chaplin will send an autographed photo of herself to each person entering the contest immediately upon receipt of his or her letter.

The date on which the contest ends will be announced later.

Those who wish to enter this contest may get some ideas by attending the play when is it presented in Thief River Falls next Sunday and Monday.—J3.

SUMMER WEATHER AN ASSURED FACT; FIRST STRAWS OUT

It has been a little slow in coming but it is finally here. We have had a few real warm days but official recognition of the fact that summer has arrived was not general until last Thursday when Dr. G. A. Penney appeared in his Panama. For years the doctor's has been the first straw lid to make its appearance and until he felt safe in setting the pace no person dared take the momentous step. There have been times when he has been a little too previous and has found it necessary to resort to earlaps for protection, but this year there is no doubt about his being right. The next day F. H. Herrick was found under a new straw sailor and this settled the question. Both these gentlemen would hardly be guilty of making the same kind of a mistake at the same time. Those who have sufficient credit to procure a new one as well as those among us compelled to make the old one answer, are now justified in going ahead.

Get Busy Pennington.

(Red Lake Falls Gazette.)

Several complaints have been registered the past week with regard to the condition of the Pennington county road this side of St. Hilaire. One party of tourists coming from the north over the road Monday announced their intention of making the return trip by way of Wylie and up the Pembina trail to Warren, thereby saving themselves the discomfort of traveling over this short stretch of bad road as well as several miles in distance.

Important Shorthorn Sale Near Euclid on Wednesday

An outstanding event in live stock circles will take place at the Palmer farm near Euclid on June 9 when 56 head of milking Shorthorns will be sold. They are consigned by A. E. Palmer, Euclid, and R. R. Wheaton, Thorndale, Ontario, Canada. There will be buyers present at this sale from at least ten states as world record animals of the milking Shorthorn strain are offered. It will be the occasion also for the gathering of Red River Valley breeders from all counties as no event since the Holstein sale at the Schroeder farm near Moorhead last June equals this in importance.

"SPENT A LOT OF MONEY," HE SAYS

St. Paul Railroad Man Got No Relief Until He Took Tanlac.

"I have spent a lot of money trying to get rid of my troubles, but nothing ever did me any good until I started taking Tanlac," said Otto Selbitschka, 553 Edmond street, St. Paul, Minn., who is employed in the Great Northern Railroad shops.

"For three years," Mr. Selbitschka continued, "I suffered from stomach trouble, my appetite was so poor I could not eat any breakfast at all, only drinking a small cup of coffe, and I often became so nauseated I could not even retain that, and at my other meals I hardly ate enough to keep me alive. The little I did manage to force down would puff me up until I would be in misery for hours afterwards; I also had dreadful sick headaches and at times I would get so dizzy I could barely keep from falling. My right shoulder hurt me all the time and was so stiff I could not raise my hand above my head. I could sleep hardly at all and in the mornings felt so tired and worn out I could hardly get out of bed and just had to force myself off to work.

I certainly wish I had started taking Tanlac sooner, for I began to get better on the very first few doses. First the neauseated feeling left me and my appetite begun to return and I was troubled less with gas. I continued to improve until now I am completely over all my troubles. I eat anything I want without feeling the slighest bad after effects, my headaches have stopped and I never get dizzy any more. The pains and stiffness have left my shoulder. I sleep well and always get up in the morning feeling simply splendid. In fact, I feel just fine all the time and I owe it all to Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold in Thief River Falls at Lambert's Drug Store, and at Oklee by John H. Gassman.—adv.

Important School Meeting.

To all School Boards of Pennington County:

Upon request of the Board of Directors of the Association of Pennington county school officers and with the approval of the County Superintendent of Schools, I hereby wish to announce that a general meeting of all school officers of the county will be held at the auditorium of the Lincoln high school at Thief River Falls on June 5, 1920, at 1 o'clock p. m.

The purpose of this meeting will be to hear the report of the delegates sent to the school officers conference held at St. Paul, Minn., during the month of April, to make provision for the payment of the expenses and to hear their reports on the teacher shortage and teacher salary situation in the state and our county.

At this meeting it is also proposed to meet in a joint meeting with the committee of teachers elected by Pennington County Teachers' League; to hear their report on the minimum salary schedule adopted at their meeting held on April 24.

We urge that every member of every school board make special effort to be present at this meeting as it is the desire of the directors to retain as many as possible of this last year's teachers.

This conference is also called for the purpose of maintaining our school board organization by increasing its membership and together with the committee elected by the teachers' league, agree upon a minimum wage schedule for the coming school year. If such an agreement cannot be entered into it will be your duty as school officer to suggest a remedy for the teacher shortage and salary schedule or the County Organization of School Officers may, at this meeting, adopt their own minimum wage schedule for teachers' salaries for the coming school year. If no action, in regard to this matter is taken by the school officers of our county, it will be an impossibility for the county superintendent or anyone else to supply teachers for our county for the coming year.

A register of all school officers in attendance will be kept and all schools represented at the meeting will be given the first opportunity of engaging teachers through application now on file at the superintendent's office or in the hands of the directors of our association.

With the hope that every school officer of Pennington county will avail himself of the opportunity of securing a teacher for our next school year by attending this meeting, I remain,

Yours truly,
THOMAS H. BJERKE.

PUBLIC FORUM

The Tonnage Tax.

Editor Times: The Minnesota Fair Tax Association (emphasis on fair) is spending large sums of somebody's money to help educate the ignorant voters of this state about the tonnage tax on iron ore. It is the last card played by the Steel Trust, for it feels itself slipping with the men who will dictate the future policy of the state. It dares not trust to the old method of corrupting lawmakers and lawenforcers and so it is making a gigantic effort to mislead the voters and throw dust in their eyes. It uses the same worn out arguments against the present form of proposed tonnage tax as it did against the first bill ever offered, and the two are as different as night and day.

It states that iron ore is now paying a higher tax than any other kind of property. Let us see.

If you are to read the Statute and not go any further this would be true, for iron ore is there taxed at 50 per cent of its full and true value, which is higher than other property. But what of it? Is there any human mind or human ingenuity keen enough to deduce the true and full value of the iron ore deposits in this state buried hundreds of feet below the surface of the earth? Of course not, the protestations of the Tax Commission to the contrary notwithstanding.

Their own dope handed to the public for swallowing without hesitation disproves their own contention. The Tax Commission states that for 1917 (an average year) the iron ore interests were taxed for 1,386,291,000 tons. It also states that in the same year there was shipped out of the state 42,975,000 tons of ore. From the above figures of the Tax Commission and upon which the Steel Trust actually pays taxes, you will see that the supply would be exhausted in little better than 42 years.

The advocates of a tonnage tax claim the supply will be exhausted in some 50 years and for that reason a tax should be paid upon the actual number of tons removed in addition to the ad valorem tax. To this the Fair Tax association replies that the argument of exhaustion is foolish and the supply will last 2000 years. If that is true, it proves conclusively that the steel trust and ore interests do not pay one small part of the amount of tax they should. If the supply should last for 2000 years there ought to be some 86,000,000,000 tons. And taxes are paid on 1,286,000,000 tons, or less than 1½ per cent of the total amount. Of course they can afford to pay at the rate of 50 per cent on less than 1½ per cent of the ore.

These are their own figures and this is the state of affairs the Minnesota Fair Tax association seeks to maintain.

What's become of the prejudice against automobiles because they frightened the horses

Now cars are everywhere. The horses have gotten used to them—and so has everybody else. Think of it! This year the American people will spend nearly a billion dollars on tires alone.

II

Hardly a Saturday, when you motorists drop in to "tune up" for a Sunday trip, that one or more of you doesn't tell us something of value to our business. Sooner or later it comes back to you in Service.

Service is what the car owners of this community are looking for nowadays.

And especially the small car owners, who put service first in figuring their motoring expenditures.

III

Just because a man has a moderate-price car is no reason why he should get any less service out of his tires.

We believe that the man with the small car is entitled to just as good tire service as the man with the big car—and both are entitled to the best tire service they can get.

That's why we represent U. S. Tires in this community.

IV

Come in and talk to us about tires. We're here to help you get the kind of tires you want.

Select your tires according to the roads they have to travel:

In sandy or hilly country, wherever the going is apt to be heavy—The U. S. Nobby.

For ordinary country roads—The U. S. Chain or Usco.

For front wheels—The U. S. Plain.

No Change in Membership Plan of Farm Bureau Now

The farm bureau board of directors holding meeting last evening to discuss the membership status of the bureau. County Agent Leader F. E. Balmer of St. Paul, explained the life membership plan which was very favorably received by the directors. It was thought, however, best not to adopt that ruling at the present time but to continue the drive under the old plan for the present year.

Mr. Balmer also explained the state federation of farm bureaus and the benefits to be derived from having a membership in that organization.

The Dollar You Spend in Thief River Falls Will "Come Home To Boost."

The Times "TRADE-AT-HOME" Campaign

Read these articles with care. They may present something you hadn't thought of before. Patronize the people who's ads. are here. They are your neighbors and will treat you right. The money you spend with them stays in circulation in Thief River Falls.

Unsight-Unseen is Gamble

(Copyright.)

When you were a youngster, did you ever make a trade, "sight unseen?" Of course you did. What boy has not risked his jackknife or his choicest marble on such a proposition and how often has he repented of his rash deed when he discovered what he got in the trade? He generally found that the deal turned out to the advantage of the one who made the proposition.

There is a little of the gambling instinct in the blood of nearly every man, woman and child, but even the hardened gambler likes to get a "run for his money." The "sight unseen" proposition doesn't appeal to him in the least. There are thousands of people, however, who would be properly indignant if they were accused of being gamblers, who every day take a chance on the greatest gambling game in the world. And worse than that, they are risking their money on a "sight unseen" proposition.

When one of the thousands of persons who build up and keep up the great mail order houses of the country sends his money away to pay for some article that he has selected from the mail order catalogue, he is taking a chance on getting what he expects to get. The mail order house may be perfectly honest and still the purchaser stands a good chance of not getting what he expects to get. The mail order catalogues are filled with pictures that catch the eye. The descriptions are brief, as they must be when thousands of articles are to be described within the confines of one book. No matter how hard the mail order house might try to tell the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth, it would be an impossibility. The buyer is simply taking a chance.

Buying "Sight Unseen."

How much more satisfactory it is to walk into a store in your home town and ask to see an article which you may have seen advertised in your home paper. What would anyone think of your business ability or your common sense if you walked into a store at home and said: "I saw a picture in the paper today of a suit which I liked very much. Please wrap up one for me. Here's the money." The merchant would think that you were crazy, but that is exactly what you do every time you send an order to a mail order house. You buy "sight unseen" and you haven't a ghost of a chance of getting your money back if the article is unsatisfactory when it reaches you.

How different is the proceeding when you go into the store in your own home town to buy a suit or clothes, or a stove or a yard of ribbon. You may have seen a picture of it in the merchant's advertisement in the home paper and you know that, as the merchant is reliable, you can count on the goods being as he represents them in his advertisement. But does he ask you to take his word for everything? Does he hide the article behind the counter and tell you that you can't even see it until you buy it and pay over the money for it? Hardly. If the article is not already in plain sight on the counter, the merchant produces it for your inspection. If it does not exactly suit you, he has others that are a little different and that he is glad to have you inspect.

Get Merchant's Guarantee.

Then, if it is a suit of clothes you are buying, or a piece of dress goods or a pair of socks, you may ask if the merchant will guarantee that it will wear as long as an article of that kind could be expected to wear and he will tell you either that he will guarantee it or that he will not. If he tells you that he will guarantee it you will know that you will get your money back or another suit or another pair of socks in its place if it doesn't wear like it should, for the merchant, besides being an honest man in most cases, cannot afford not to make his word good. He is dependent upon your business and that of others in his own community and he cannot afford to misrepresent his goods.

After having all this opportunity to see what you are buying, you take your suit or your stove or whatever it is you buy home or it is sent home for you without any delivery charges and after you get home and take another look at it and decide you don't want it after all, you send it back.

You are not buying something "sight unseen" when you buy from your home merchant. You don't look at a picture of an article in a newspaper, read a short description of it, go to the postoffice and buy a money order and send it to the merchant with the instructions, "send me a suit of clothes"—or a stove or whatever it may be—"and I'll pay your delivery man 50 cents for delivering it to me."

There is a world of difference in the two methods of doing business and it's not hard to figure out which is the best for the man who is doing the buying.

Appropriate Exercises at End of Term

Auditorium Packed With Relatives and Friends of Graduating Class.

City's Possibilities as Educational Center Touched Upon by Supt. Ziegler.

A audience that tested the capacity of the auditorium gathered to witness the commencement day exercises for the senior class of the Thief River Falls high school on Friday evening. The spacious stage was crowded to make room for the 86 young men and women who on this occasion bid farewell to school life so far as Thief River Falls is concerned and closed four years of study with most appropriate ceremonies.

Two Salutatorians.

Rev. J. B. Smith delivered the invocation. The singing by the class under the direction of Miss Ella Evans, principal, was greatly enjoyed, particularly the number given by the octette. Misses Mollie Hermanson and Vivian Gabrielson were salutatorians, having exactly the same percentage standing in the class. The former voiced the appreciation of the seniors as a whole for the conscientious efforts in their behalf exerted by the teachers in particular and the public in general, while Miss Gabrielson spoke on the importance of thrift. Both addresses were well delivered while the subject matter was appropriate and of interest.

Changes are Coming.

W. D. Reeve, head of the college of education of the university of Minnesota, delivered the commencement address. The principal burden of his remarks went to show that the schools as at present conducted are not as efficient as they might be made and that a new order of things in matters educational is due to come within a very short time. The methods followed in school work at present are practically the same as when the republic was in its infancy, he said, and it is time something different were tried. Particularly did he assail the plan followed by placing a certain number of children in the same class just because they have attended school for the same length of time, regardless of their natural ability to learn. Mr. Reeve said that his idea would be to divide the students into three degrees, placing those particularly bright in one division, the large intermediate class of ordinary abilities in another, while those who find it hard to maintain the pace would be so placed that special attention could be paid to them and in this manner assist them in keeping up with the rest. Mr. Reeve's remarks, while not in line with what is generally expected in a commencement address, were perhaps all the more interesting on this account.

Keep Interest Alive.

Henry Stengelsen was valedictorian of his class. He spoke of obligations resting upon the students to make good now that the people and teachers have done so much for them. Stating that the only way in which the debt could be repaid was for each and every graduate to conduct him or herself in the future that their accomplishments would be a source of gratification and pride to their relatives, friends and neighbors, he hoped that they would strive to make the most of the opportunities presented. Particularly did he admonish them to become interested in the furtherance of education wherever their lot might be cast.

Dr. O. F. Mellby, president of the school board, after a short presentation address, distributed the diplomas. He said that he hoped the class members would particularly remember the admonition of the salutatorian and not allow their interest in education to drop merely because they themselves were about to take up the more serious problems of life, as on their shoulders must fall the responsibility of maintaining the standing of our schools in the future.

Supt. W. A. Ziegler, in closing, said great things were in store for Thief River Falls as an educational center, providing the people were alive to the value of their position. A junior college will without doubt be established in this section before long, he said, and the chances for the city's becoming the favored site were exceedingly good. He thanked the people of the district on behalf of the faculty for the hearty co-operation at all times extended and bespoke its continuance in the future.

Francis Burns motored to Grand Forks on Friday. On his return trip he was accompanied by his sister, Miss Evangeline, who has been engaged in teaching in East Grand Forks and Mrs. Lucy Ures, who came for the purpose of attending the commencement exercises.

Miss Kathleen Ures left the first of the week for Grand Forks where she will reside with her mother. During the past winter she has made her home with her aunt, Mrs. V. McKinney, in order to remain with the class that was graduated from the local high school on Friday evening. It is Miss Ures' intention to enter the University of North Dakota next fall.

State Agricultural Commission is Performing Great Work for Farmers.

Will Take Over Grading of Potatoes Where so Requested by Grower.

In the establishment of the separate Department of Agriculture, Minnesota, in 1919, took a forward step which is already redounding to the credit of the legislators responsible for the action, says George E. Akerson in the Minneapolis Tribune.

This department has now been operating about 15 months and the results are showing in a big way. With a practical farmer at its head, N. J. Holmberg of Renville, the department has accomplished many big things for the benefit of the agriculturists of Minnesota. J. H. Hay, formerly of Thief River Falls, is the assistant commissioner.

Under the statute, the commissioner of agriculture, the head of the department, is called upon to encourage and promote the development of agricultural industries, investigate marketing conditions affecting the marketing of farm products, and assist farmers, producers and consumers in the organization and management of co-operative enterprises and the co-operative marketing of farm products whenever the commissioner of agriculture determines that public necessity and public welfare requires such markets.

One of the important duties of the commissioner is to provide for a farm census at least once every two years and he may do so annually if deemed advisable. In this census, data in regard to the agricultural products of the state and industries is to be gathered.

The Department of Agriculture provides for the inspection and grading for the purpose of sale, of eggs, fruits, potatoes, vegetables and other farmer products not now provided for such as grain, hay, straw and livestock.

Grading of potatoes is one of the duties of the commissioner if he deems it advisable. This is something which potato growers of Minnesota have long demanded.

Problems of Farmers Solved.

One of the great evils farmers have complained of in the shipping of products of the farm to commission men and brokers has been the disputes arising as to the condition of the products upon arrival. Under the new law, any broker or commission merchant finding produce spoiled shall have an inspection made by an inspector of the Department of Agriculture unless the consignee waives such inspection.

The commissioner is also authorized to receive complaints against any parties dealing in, shipping or selling farm produce except hay, straw, grain and livestock which is already provided for under another state department. He has full authority to make complete investigations of these complaints. If he finds that state laws have been violated he is authorized to institute court actions in the name of the state.

Scientific tests of samples of wheat gathered from all parts of the state as early in a crop year as possible are provided for under the new law. The Department of Agriculture, with its manifold functions, is destined to prove a boon to the farmers of Minnesota.

Co-operative Code.

At the same time that the bill creating the new Department of Agriculture became a law, the Legislature passed several bills having to do with co-operative organizations. The farmers of Minnesota, in many sections, have formed co-operative enterprises. The Minnesota co-operative code is a model of its kind in the United States.

The passage of this co-operative code is just one more example that the farmers of Minnesota can get what they want and deserve from men having faith in the Republican form of government under which the state now operates.

KARLSTAD AIMS FOR PLACE ON SPORT MAP

Big Wrestling Match Will be Staged in That Village on June 9.

Cal Farley, of Humbolt, champion wrestler of the American expeditionary forces and Henry Kolln, of Greenbush, winner of more than 50 matches with men of his class the past two years, were at Karlstad Saturday and signed contracts for a match to be held at Karlstad June 19, says the Karlstad Advocate.

The match has been in the making the past six months, Kolln wanting to meet the champion. Farley has agreed to meet him provided Kolln will make the weight of 148 pounds and Kolln has signed the contract to make that weight on June 19 or forfeit $200 which has been placed on deposit in the State Bank of Karlstad.

This will be one wrestling match that will be absolutely on the square. Both parties have deposited $300 as a guarantee to appear and wrestle. So far there is over $4000 involved in the deal. Farley's backers having deposited at Karlstad $1500 which has been covered by Kolln's followers.

The match will be staged by the Karlstad Athletic club, who will build an open air ring with plenty of seating capacity and they have deposited a purse of $500 of which $400 goes to the winner of the match and $100 to the loser.

Farley is known all over the United States, pictures and writeups appearing some time ago in all the leading dailies of him as the winner of the A. E. F. championship.

Kolln has been wrestling the past two years, here, in Iowa and North Dakota, and has never lost a match, often wrestling men much heavier than he is. It is expected that Jimmy Potts, well known boxer and wrestler of Minneapolis, will referee the match.

Instant Death Meted Out by Thunderbolt

Asbjorn Stenberg is Killed While Seated at Table Tuesday Afternoon.

Death-Dealing Messenger Followed Telephone Wire Into House.

Deceased Leaves Family of Grown-up Children—Long in County.

Asbjorn Stenberg, 53 years of age, was instantly killed by lightning while seated at a table in his home at the east end of Bridge street during the electric storm which passed over this section on Tuesday afternoon.

The Stenberg family had just finished supper and most of the members had left the table. The father and one son remained behind, retaining their seats. The senior Stenberg was seated directly under the telephone instrument, which fact is no doubt responsible for his receiving the full force of the shock. He toppled over and was dead before anyone reached his side.

Entire Family Stunned.

None of the others were injured in any way but all were more or less stunned. As soon as they could gather their senses, Dr. A. J. Paulson, deputy coroner, was notified. He gave it as his opinion that death had been instantaneous. No mark of any kind was found on the body.

Deceased leaves besides his wife a family of five grown children. They are Arthur, Alfred, Martin, Otto and Inga, all residents of Thief River Falls. The funeral will probably take place on Friday, although no definite arrangements have yet been made.

The deceased was born in Norway and settled in Norman county upon coming to this country. The family has lived in Pennington county for the past ten years, six of which were spent on a farm near St. Hilaire. Since leaving the farm they have made Thief River Falls their home.

HOME FOR NURSES AT SANATORIUM FAVORED

Commissioners From Three Counties Approve Plan of Institutional Board.

All the commissioners from Pennington county, a number from Marshall and Roseau counties and one who had been especially invited from Red Lake county, although the latter is not a unit in the Tri-County Hospital association, met with the sanatorium board yesterday afternoon for the purpose of inspecting the hospital and talking over matters pertaining to its welfare. The visitors were taken out to the institution and everything connected with it was explained to them. The need of a home for nurses was pointed out and the county representatives admitted the necessity without argument. A resolution will be presented to the respective boards at an early meeting providing for a tax levy of one mill for this purpose. This will insure in the neighborhood of $25,000, to which a similar amount will be added by the state. The total will be ample for the purpose intended.

Every representative present praised the work thus far done by the institution very highly and complimented the commission as well as Dr. G. M. Milan, the medical director, and the superintendent, Miss Karen Knudsen, on the record made.

WOMEN VOTE IN FALL BUT NOT AT PRIMARIES

The women's votes at the November election will be completely segregated pursuant to the state election law as interpreted by Attorney General Clifford L. Hilton in an opinion addressed today to the secretary of state. Women will not vote at the state primary election June 21 nor are they entitled to vote for candidates for state officers, the secretary said.

There will be separate registers for women voters, also separate presidential election ballots, boxes and tally sheets and the women vote will be made in separate return and canvassed apart from the male vote in the November vote under Mr. Hilton's direction.

"The secretary of state must furnish separate presidential ballots for women," says the attorney general's opinion with reference to the 1919 law which permits women possessing male qualifications as male voters to vote the same as men for the presidential electors. "The presidential ticket for male voters will appear on white ballots immediately preceeding the state ballot. The women are not entitled to vote for candidates for state offices and it would be misleading and confusing to present them with ballots containing the names of candidates for whom they were not entitled to vote."

Ask Injunction Against Further Ditch Contracts

Attorney H. O. Chommie, representing K. K. Austin, Stephen Singer and Albert Hanson, who in turn are acting for a number of farmers affected by the decision to repair ditches No. 39, 45 and 53, this week applied to the court for an injunction restraining the county commissioners from letting the jobs. The order is returnable before Judge Grindeland at Warren on June 19.

The petitioners claim that the cost of doing the proposed work would be from 25 to 145 per cent of the cost of originally digging the ditches and that the benefits do not warrant any such outlay.

LOCAL BUTTERMAKER GOES TO N. D. PLANT

Lars Haselrud Leaves in Short Time to Assume New Position.

An important change will soon take place at the Thief River Falls cooperative creamery. Lars Haselrud, for years buttermaker at the plant, has resigned his position and will shortly leave for Werner, North Dakota, for the purpose of taking charge of one of the state-owned creameries soon to be put in operation. Werner is located a short distance from Bismarck.

Mr. Haselrud has given the very best of satisfaction to both patrons and stockholders of the creamery during his employment here and makes the change only because he is offered considerable more salary as a state employe. He is a fine business man as well as buttermaker and stands high in the estimation of every person with whom he has come in contact while a resident of the city.

North Dakota is planning on operating 10 or 12 creameries and the one at Werner will be the first one to get under way.

A successor to the retiring buttermaker has already been selected in the person of Harold Olson, at the present time connected with the Bridgeman & Russell branch at Grand Forks. He is said to be a man who understands his business thoroughly and comes with the highest recommendations.

ATTACKS ON LEAGUE LEADS TO HECKLING

Sound Government Speaker Plied With Questions by Large Crowd.

Whoever is responsible for the sending out of the "Sound Government" speakers who are now touring the state and addressing the people in opposition to Nonpartisan league candidates and principles would have served their cause better if they had kept the speakers at home. Such at any rate is the general impression in Thief River Falls after hearing one of them speak his piece.

O. N. Verenius spoke to a good sized audience at the Princess theatre on Tuesday evening, supplementing his remarks by moving pictures. The movies purported to show just how Townley operates in pulling the wool over the eyes of farmers, but the exhibition failed to bring forth any enthusiasm on the part of an audience made up in about equal parts of city people and farmers. The statements made were generally of such nature as to make the hearer angry, particularly if he happened to be a supporter of the league program, while even those who in no way agree with Townley or the party of which he is the head admit that a great deal of what was said and shown was in poor taste, failed to be convincing and did no good whatever. Mr. Verenius was asked innumerable questions by those in the audience and his answers were not always satisfactory. That he was out of sympathy with the majority of his hearers was early apparent and he would have done better to quit before presenting his pictures.

G. C. Selvig, superintendent of the Northwest School of Agriculture, Crookston, who was in the city attending the picnic and sale of the Valley Guernsey breeders, spoke briefly while the audience waited for the principal orator to put in an appearance. Mr. Selvig devoted his time to making an appeal for better farming and more livestock. He is a fine fluent talker and what he had to say was received with every mark of approval.

Delegates to be Given Auto Rides Next Sunday

President George S. Streeter of the Pennington County Automobile club requests all members and other auto owners to be at the commercial club rooms at 4 o'clock on Sunday afternoon for the purpose of taking out such of the Lutheran Free church delegates for spins through the surrounding country as may wish to go. Many of these people have come a long way and it will be well worth our while to see that they have a good time, and receive a favorable impression of this section of the state. An auto ride covering an hour or two will be a mighty welcome change from attendance at meetings and listening to committee reports.

Decision on Injunction is Postponed

Judge Grindeland Declines to Hear Arguments Until After June 19.

Will Give Supreme Court Time to Reach Decision in Warren Appeal.

Matter of Special Attorney's Fee Also to be Taken Up on Same Date.

The motion for a restraining order enjoining the city of Thief River Falls from proceeding with the paving of its business streets was scheduled to come up for hearing before Judge Grindeland at Warren on Tuesday. City Attorney H. O. Chommie appeared on behalf of the city and Theo. Quale represented the petitioners. Mayor John Bratrud was also present to assist in looking after the city's interests, while Olaf Rumstad and M. V. Evenson were the only signers of the petition for an injunction who were present.

Matter is Postponed.

Judge Grindeland stated that inasmuch as a case brought in the city of Warren and covering practically the same ground is now pending before the supreme court, he considered it useless to render a decision in the Thief River Falls case. It is understood that the supreme court will render its decision on Friday, June 18, and that this will practically dispose of the matter for both municipalities. Should the court hold that the city council is not authorized by the law of 1919 to issue bonds without submitting the matter to a vote of the people it will hold up paving proceedings in many Minnesota cities and towns until special elections can be held. If, on the other hand, the higher court finds that the law empowers city governments to engage upon this kind of undertaking without further authorization it will in all probability mean that work will at once be resumed. The objection raised as to streets of the city being at the present time unfit for the laying of pavement, this is not considered a matter for judicial interpretation.

Special Attorney's Salary.

The injunction brought to prevent the payment of $140 as special attorney's fees to E. M. Stanton will also come up on the same date. The council allowed this bill but its payment was stopped by a temporary injunction.

Resumes Business.

The Brumund hotel dining room, which has been closed during the past two weeks while workmen were repairing and redecorating the place, was on Tuesday morning reopened for business. The appearance of the room has been greatly improved and it now presents an even more inviting appearance than was the case formerly. Mr. Brumund found that closing the eating department of his hotel was not a popular move with the trade and hastened the completion of the renovating work more on this account than would otherwise have been the case.

CLEARWATER COUNTY MAN SHOOTS FATHER

Jess Porter, 27, Holds Gun to Elder Man's Head and Fires.

While the family were enjoying the Sunday afternoon at home near Ebro in Clearwater county, Jesse Porter, age 27, took a shot gun and holding it within six inches from his father's head, pulled the trigger and literally blew the top off.

After firing the shot, he took his knife and slashed the body, leaving it in a horribly mangled condition. The young wife of the father, Mrs. Scott Porter, rushed from the room. It was then that young Porter barred the door and did the slashing.

He was taken to Bemidji on the train yesterday noon by E. D. Barnes, sheriff of Clearwater county, and lodged in the county jail.

Porter admitted killing his father, when questioned by deputy sheriff O. M. Skinvik and when asked why, he said: "I had a talk with my father Saturday morning and he said something which hurt my feelings very much. This is not the first time he has hurt my feelings."

The nature of the conversation was not disclosed by Porter.

Sheriff Barnes states that as soon as he had committed the crime, Porter made his get-away, and that he was caught at Pine Bend, Mahnomen county, about 10 o'clock Sunday night.

LAST HOPE OF WETS SHATTERED BY COURT

Supreme Tribunal Upholds Prohibition and Enforcement Acts in Entirety.

Both the federal prohibition amendment and the enforcement act, passed by congress, were held constitutional on Monday of the United States by the supreme court.

Injunctions restraining prohibition officials from interfering with the Manitowoc Products company, a Wisconsin corporation in the manufacture of beer containing more than one-half of one per cent of alcohol were dissolved by the court.

The court upheld federal court decrees dismissing proceedings brought to enjoin the prohibition amendment from being enforced against Christian Feigenspan, a brewer of Newark, N. J.

The court also dismissed injunction proceedings brought by the state of New Jersey to prevent enforcement of prohibition within that state.

The court dismissed the petition filed by the state of Rhode Island to have federal officials enjoined from enforcing prohibition in that state.

Federal court decrees denying similar injunctions sought by the St. Louis Brewing association likewise were affirmed.

The court's opinion was very short, setting forth only the court's conclusions. The court's opinion on the main issues involved was unanimous. Associate Justices McKenna and Clark, however, dissented in part.

Permission to file motions asking for a rehearing of the cases was given by the court, at the request of the attorneys in the various prohibition cases.

Future Dark For Leaders at Chicago

Latest Report is That Johnson and Lowden Are Both Eliminated.

Wood Has Largest Number of Delegates But Far From Nomination.

Knox and Johnson Combination is Hinted at as a Solution.

The Republican national convention has been in session at Chicago since Tuesday morning but might as well have started today as far as any indication of what is going to happen is concerned. No convention in recent years has been so completely in the air.

Wood, Johnson and Lowden.

The three leaders are probably out of it entirely. General Wood is the only one who seems able to hold what he came to Chicago with and it is freely predicted that after a few ballots his support will dwindle. Senator Johnson, while perhaps the most spectacular figure at the convention, cannot be nominated; the Old Guard refusing absolutely to have him considered. Disclosures of the use of money by the Lowden managers in Missouri has hurt the Illinois governor and the convention seems to be shying away from him.

A New Combination.

Reports this morning are to the effect that there may be a combination formed whereby the presidential nomination will go to Philander C. Knox of Pennsylvania, with Senator Johnson as his running mate. The latter has repeatedly said that he will not form the tail of the kite, but even the fact that such rumors secure a foothold goes to show that the situation is pretty much at sea.

Hoover Not Mentioned.

One surprising thing about the convention so far is the small amount of noise made by the Hoover men. There are those who profess to see clever politics in this, believing that the Hooverites are satisfied to let the others tire themselves out and then to spring their candidate with a rush.

Dark horses are looming up everywhere but the one with the most promising following is Governor Sproul of Pennsylvania. Newspaper men on the ground say they would not be surprised to see the convention turning to him if there is prospect of a long fight.

Governor Henry Allen of Kansas is another who is standing directly in the path of the lightning.

It is not likely that the balloting will be begun until tomorrow morning and the best judges say there is very slight possibility of a selection being made before Saturday.

CITY PAYS RESPECTS TO SOLDIER'S REMAINS

Edward Lund Buried Sunday With Military Honors. First to Arrive Here.

The body of the first soldier to be exhumed in Europe for return to Pennington county was laid to rest in the plot set aside for the purpose in Greenwood cemetery on Sunday. The remains arrived over the Soo in the morning and the services were held in the afternoon.

The auditorium was crowded with people wishing to pay their last respects to one who lost his life while in the service of his country, even though he did not reach the actual battlefield. Lund died while in training camp at Ramsey, England, on Oct. 12, 1918, and was buried in Westminster cemetery.

Rev. I. T. Aastad of Trinity Lutheran church delivered the funeral sermon, and H. O. Chommie spoke on behalf of the American Legion. Both addresses were of a fine patriotic order and brought home again to many a realization of the sacrifices made by those who went out to offer themselves for their country when the call came.

Preceded by a firing squad the casket was taken to the cemetery where a volley was fired as the grave received the remains, taps sounded and the Lutheran burial service read.

Many Arrive For Meet of Free Church

Sessions Begun With Three Meetings Yesterday at Auditorium and Church.

Annual Election of Officers Will Take Place at This Afternoon's Session.

Young Peoples' Rally and English Conference at Trinity Church

The twenty-fourth annual session of the Lutheran Free Church of America began its deliberations at the auditorium in this city yesterday morning with an opening sermon by Rev. E. E. Gynild. A considerable number of the delegates had not arrived in time to take part in the opening ceremonies but they kept arriving from all directions during the day and it is expected that this morning practically every accredited delegate as well as a large number of persons interested in the work of the church will be on hand. Those in a position to know state that the replies to notices sent out indicate that the attendance will be the largest in the history of the church, it being expected that in the neighborhood of 2000 will be on hand before evening.

After the sermon by Rev. Gynild there was a short business meeting for the purpose of deciding upon the time for the different sessions and the naming of certain committees.

Last evening church services were held with addresses by Rev. E. O. Larson and Rev. Arevik.

Today's Program.

This forenoon will be given over to reports by chairmen of the different permanent committees. These will be continued as long as necessary during the afternoon, after which the annual election of officers will be held. In the evening there will be discussion, the topic being Eph. 6, 10-20, with Rev. Lillehei leading.

Friday all day will be taken up in general discussions and these will be continued throughout the evening. There will also be a meeting of the pension association in Trinity Lutheran church. The congregation of the latter church has tendered the visitors the use of the building, which is the largest of its kind in the city and best adapted to the purpose.

There will also be meetings during the day of the Woman's Missionary society, special programs having been arranged for these sessions.

Grand Concert Saturday.

Saturday morning there will be a meeting of the English conference. The unfinished business of the Bible school committee for the previous year will at this time come up for discussion, after which committee designations will be made.

In the evening there will be a grand concert at the auditorium by the Ladies' Choir of Oak Grove seminary, Fargo. This is one of the most famous women's singing societies in the West and presents a program of religious music such as is seldom heard. Most of the songs presented will be in English with only a number or two in the Norwegian language. An admission fee of 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for children will be charged.

Services on Sunday.

Services with Lord's Supper at 9 o'clock. At 10:30 o'clock Rev. Elias Pedersen will make a short address after which the regular sermon will be preached by Rev. Ytrehus. An offering for the home missions will be taken up.

In the afternoon there will be ordination of pastors if any candidates appear. This may be changed to a foreign missions meeting with sermon by Rev. Dyrnes. The evening will be given over to a general meeting of the young people.

The Closing Day.

Monday will be devoted to committee appointments and the instructions for the newly appointed committee members. In the evening there will be an address on the subject of "Mission Work in the Larger Cities," by Rev. Tollefson. "Christian Instruction," will be the subject of an address by Rev. O. Swenson.

Tuesday will see the committee appointments completed while the evening will be given over to addresses by a number of the pastors present.

Two Evening Meetings.

There will be two meetings each evening during the convention, Norwegian being the language used at the auditorium while English will be employed at the Trinity church meetings. The program arranged for the last named sessions is as follows:

Wednesday evening—Singing and devotions. "Whom Can Christ Save?" J. M. Halvorson; "God's Call," P. W. Erickson.

Thursday evening—Singing and devotions. Introduction of the topic, 30. 6, 10-20. I. Hovland, leader. Discussions and testimonials.

Friday evening—Singing and devotions. "Praying Christians," C. J. Nestvold; "Working Christians," C. E. Norberg; "Victorious Christians," L. Pederson.

Saturday morning—Business session of the English conference.

Sunday evening—Young Peoples' Rally. Singing and devotions. Addresses by O. H. Sletten and Claus Morgan.

Monday evening—Singing and devotions. "Servants of Christ," M. L. Hostager. "Increased Faith," A. Lien; "Full Consecration," J. S. Paulson.

Securing Sleeping Quarters.

Rev. George Larson, pastor of the local Lutheran Free church, and a committee have been working hard for weeks in order to have everything in readiness for the visitors. The problem of securing lodgings for such a large number was a vexing one but it was solved in a large measure by the offer of the school board to permit the use of the Central building for the purpose. Cots will be arranged in the halls and recitation rooms and a large number will be taken care of in this manner. Many citizens have also offered to give accommodations to such visitors as they can find room for and the general inclination on the part of everybody is to make the delegates most welcome and as comfortable as is possible.

STORM UPSETS TIMES SPECIAL CONVENTION TELEGRAPH SERVICE

From now on there will be a greater interest in the telegrams received from the Republican convention at Chicago. The preliminaries are always rather lacking in exciting features but something lively may be expected to break.

The Times office is the only place in the city where these dispatches are being received.

Good Prices Secured For Prize Cattle

Best Price, $350, is Paid For Six-Year-Old Cow—Heifer Brings $300.

Crowd Not Large But Good Time Was Had by All Who Were Present.

The first annual picnic and stock sale, held by the Red River Valley Guernsey Breeders' association at the farm of Albert Johnson on Wednesday, was very successful even though the attendance was not large nor the number of animals offered very imposing. Everybody present had a good time and as the outing was more for the purpose of getting acquainted than to break any selling records the aim was well accomplished.

Five Purebreds Sold.

Only five head were consigned but the quality of these was very high. L. Jensen of Clearbrook placed on sale a six-year-old cow for which $350 was paid by Stuart McLeod of Goodridge. Mr. Jensen also offered a young heifer which was secured by F. B. Conklin of Thief River Falls for $260. The latter in turn sold a yearling heifer to E. A. Uggen of McIntosh for $280, while a bull consigned by W. M. Bell of Thief River Falls was bid in for $115 by Eli Peterson of Hazel. Mr. Peterson also paid the highest price of the sale for a heifer, giving $300 for a splendid specimen consigned by Harry Woolson of Thief River Falls.

Two Good Addresses.

C. H. Eckles of the University of Minnesota gave a fine talk on dairy animals and complimented the breeders of the valley on the fine showing at their first sale. Supt. C. G. Selvig of Crookston also addressed the crowd and encouraged them to keep on with the good work they had started. Mr. Selvig pointed out the progress that has been made in the Red River valley during the last few years and prophesied that advancement would be much more rapid in the near future.

SONS AND DAUGHTERS OF NORWAY TO PICNIC

District Outing Will be Held at Squaw Point on Sunday, June 20.

The annual picnic of the Sons and Daughters of Norway will be held at Squaw Point, Thief River Falls, on Sunday, June 20. For some years past this event has been celebrated at Maple Lake but by common consent the banks of Red Lake river will this year form the playground for the day.

If the weather is favorable will be present one of the largest gatherings ever seen in the city. Lodge members from Crookston, Twin Valley, Halstad, Grand Forks and other nearby cities will be on hand and the picnic will be of the kind that sticks in the memory.

There will be a number of speakers from out of town present and the local lodge will be represented in this division by H. O. Chommie. It is the intention to invite some of the best known men of Norwegian birth or descent in two states to be present and there is no doubt that many will accept. The complete program has not yet been announced but a committee is at work and it will appear in full next week.

All Is Ready For Picnic on Monday

Indications Are For Greatest Community Turnout in History of County.

J. H. Hay, Assistant Commissioner of Agriculture, Principal Speaker.

Program of Games the Best and Most Varied Ever Presented Here.

Practically everything is in readiness for the big Community picnic to be given at Squaw Point on Monday, June 14—Flag Day. The grounds have been fixed up, the sports arranged and the program of speeches and songs selected.

Without a question it will be the greatest event of its kind in the county's history. It will be the fourth picnic given under the auspices of the Pennington County Farm Bureau association and it is certain to be the best.

Three addresses will be delivered during the afternoon. J. H. Hay, for years a resident of the county and now assistant state commissioner of agriculture, will be the principal speaker—and there are none whom our people would rather hear. They figure Mr. Hay as one of themselves in spite of his having changed his place of residence and he in turn has never lost the warm spot in his heart for our citizens.

H. O. Chommie will speak for the women's organizations of the county, while Stuart McLeod of Goodridge will address the gathering for the farm bureau association.

The community singing will be in charge of Mrs. G. Halvorson and the men's chorus led by V. C. Noper.

After the close of the program there will be an athletic contest on the grounds with good prizes for the winners. A number of the races are listed below but more are being added. It is desired that the boys who wish to enter the canoe race leave their names with County Agent J. J. McCann on or before Saturday. Here is a list of the sports thus far decided upon:

Committees have been appointed to look after the different features connected with this jollification and the crowd will be well taken care of. These committees are made up as follows, the first named in each case being the chairman: Sports, B. O. Norby, L. A. Lampert, Ben Rosenthal; refreshments, Fred Beerbower and Harry Woolson; finance, R. J. McKercher, I. A. Rolstad, R. Moran; program, V. C. Noper, Elev Aakre, F. A. Tripp; reception, W. J. OPPOSE ANY CHANGE IN PRESENT HIGHWAY

Discontinuing Long Bridge is Also Meeting With Decided Objection.

When the proposition to discontinue what is known as the Long bridge and change the highway of which it forms a part comes up for consideration by the town board of North township on June 15, it is going to meet with strenuous and well-organized opposition. The past week has disclosed the fact that a large number of farmers in the township are going to fight the suggestion to the limit of their power and on a number of seemingly excellent grounds. A petition has been circulated in opposition to the one presented when the hearing was granted and it contains more than three times the number of signatures found on the original. Those signing this last petition maintain that the abandoning of the road would leave a number of families stranded entirely and that the discontinuance of the Long bridge would leave others without means of crossing the river except by making wide detours. It is claimed that 10 families now use the Long bridge regularly; that the new program would mean a large expenditure of money unnecessarily, and that a number of those signing the first petition did not thoroughly understand its purpose.

Perdzock-Werstlein.

A pretty wedding was solemnized at St. Bernard's Catholic church, Monday morning, June 7, at 9:30 o'clock, when Miss Elfa Rosella Werstlein of this city and Joseph Perdzock of Grand Rapids, Wis., were united in holy bonds of matrimony, Rev. Father Noesen officiating. They were attended by Miss Theresa Geifer, bridesmaid, and George Werstlein, brother of the bride, best man. The church was beautifully decorated with bridal wreath and ferns. A sumptuous wedding dinner was served to relatives and immediate friends at the home of the bride's mother. Mr. and Mrs. Perdzock left the same evening for a short wedding trip after which they will take up their residence in Grand Rapids, Wis., where the groom is auditor of the Northwestern Drainage Co. The newlyweds are highly esteemed and well known by local people and they have a host of friends who wish them all the joys of a happy wedded life. Out-of-town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. P. J. The young couple were attended by Miss Belle Hermanson, sister of the groom, and Bert Ostvolden. Only the immediate relatives were present at the ceremony which was performed by Rev. I. T. Aastad. Immediately afterward the newlyweds left on the flyer for Mahnomen where they visited over Sunday with the bride's parents. Both bride and groom are well and favorably known in this city. The former is a popular young lady and for the past year has been employed in the office of Dr. G. W. Booren. The groom has spent practically all of his life in this vicinity and was graduated from the local high school with the class of 1915. At present he is employed as teller in the First and Peoples State bank. Their many friends extend congratulations.

Peterson-Dahlstrom.

The Dahlstrom home in Black River was the scene of a pretty wedding last Friday when Miss Lydia Dahlstrom became the bride of Martin J. Peterson of Hazel. To the strains of the wedding march, played by Mrs. O. J. Lundell, the bridal party entered, and beneath the large white wedding bell, Rev. Lundell of Thief River Falls performed the marriage ceremony in the presence of about fifty relatives and friends of the bride and groom. Miss Hattie Dahlstrom and Miss Lena Peterson acted as bridesmaids, while George Peterson and Elmer Dahlstrom attended the groom. The bride was attired in a gown of pussy-willow taffeta and georgette. She wore a veil, caught up with lilies of the valley. Her bridal bouquet was carnations and maiden hair fern. She wore a string of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom. The bridesmaids were gowned alike, in pale blue crepe de chine, and wore corsage bouquets of pink carnations.

A bountiful three-course dinner was served. Mr. and Mrs. Peterson will make their home on the groom's farm near Hazel, and have the best wishes of their many friends for a long and happy wedded life.

Hanson-Oftedahl.

On Friday afternoon, June 4, at the home of the bride on LaBree avenue, occurred the marriage of Olaf Hanson of St. Cloud and Miss Tillie Oftedahl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Oftedahl of this city. Mendelssohn's wedding march was played by Miss Palma Langseth. The bride was beautifully gowned in a gown of blue georgette crepe over satin. The out-of-town guests present were: Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Jones of Fargo, N. D.; Mrs. Jack Hawkins of Foam Lake, Sask.; Mrs. J. Hedstad of Badger and Ole Johnson of Holt.

Mr. and Mrs. Hanson left on Monday morning for St. Cloud where they will reside. Mr. Hanson is manager of a department store in that city. Their many friends will wish them much joy and happiness in their journey through life.

Lodge Notes

To Attend Convention.

J. L. Gasrow left Monday evening for Mankato as a delegate from Lone Pine lodge to the state meeting of Odd Fellows. Mrs. J. F. Farr and Mrs. F. C. Dablow left at the same time to attend the Rebekah convention, the former as delegate from Lion lodge of this city and Mrs. Dablow to act in her official capacity as grand chaplain of the state.

No Flag Day Exercises.

Monday, June 14, is Flag Day, an important event for all members of the Progressive and Benevolent Order of Elks. It will be impossible to hold the usual services in Thief River Falls this year for the reason that no hall is available. The auditorium will be used by those attending the Lutheran Free church convention and the Masonic hall has also been engaged. Besides this it is the day of the community picnic and it would be a hard matter to get people to turn out. It has therefore been decided to abandon the program prepared by a committee and await a more suitable time for the observance.

Initiation and Dance.

The Elks will hold another big initiation on the evening of Friday, June 18 at Masonic hall. There are about 25 candidates in waiting and there will be a big time. Out-of-town members are particularly invited to be present at this ceremony. There will be a reception and musicale at the auditorium beginning at 7:30 o'clock for the ladies, with cards for those who wish to pass the time in this manner. At the close of the initiation ceremony, which will begin at 7:30 promptly, the Elks will also betake themselves to the auditorium to put in the remainder of the evening at dancing. It will be one of the great parties of the season and all members are urged to be on hand.

Masons Finishing Up.

Northern Masonic lodge expects to complete its work for the summer in another week and will take a vacation during the hot months. The past season has been unusually busy, there having been special meetings with degree work every Monday evening for the past four months. Last Monday the third degree was conferred upon five candidates and next Monday the second will be given to another class. The officers hope to finish up during the present month with the candidates now on hand, after which there will be a recess until about Sept. 1.

Big Encampment Meeting.

Riverside Encampment No. 30, I. O. O. F., will hold a big initiation on the evening of Wednesday, June 30. Grand Patriarch J. V. Dexter of Detroit, with the degree team from that city, will be on hand to put on the work, there being some 35 candidates in waiting. This is the youngest lodge in the city but is growing very rapidly, a large part of the regular Odd Fellow membership having already taken the degree and more intending to do so within a short time.

Odd Fellows Work First.

The first degree was worked on a class by the Odd Fellows on Tuesday evening. This lodge has adopted the plan of putting on one degree each Tuesday night of the month, beginning with the initiatory and closing with the third.

Why Exclusive Agencies Cost More to Operate

A roofing dealer who has an exclusive agency has no competition on his private brand. As a result he can charge a large profit if you'll buy.

In addition, he is usually a long distance from his little manufacturer and must invest more money to keep his stock up.

Now look at the Certain-teed way. Any responsible dealer can sell Certain-teed. Each dealer carries a small representative stock. If he needs more he orders from a nearby Certain-teed warehouse or jobber. It usually takes only a day or two to get it.

The result is small investment, small storage-cost, light insurance, and no slow-moving articles.

Certain-teed Saves You Money

That's why Certain-teed dealers operate at less expense. And it's also why Certain-teed saves you money because they can afford to sell at close margins and there are enough of them to insure you a fair deal.

Now let's see what you get when you buy Certain-teed Roofing.

It's roofing that has never been known to wear out on the roof. It is guaranteed for 5, 10 or 15 years, according to weight. It is weather-proof, fire-retarding and spark-proof.

There is nothing else you want from roofing. And since you get this highest quality roofing at a saving, it's the logical buy.

Any responsible dealer can get Certain-teed for you quickly from a nearby Certain-teed warehouse or jobber. He gets it when he wants it and he gets what he wants. He can afford to sell you at a fair price.

Beware of the dealer who tells you he has Certain-teed, but tries to sell you a private brand. He probably wants a bigger profit.

K. C. Lodge Initiation.

Polk County Leader: The Knights of Columbus initiated a class of seventy candidates at their hall last Monday afternoon. Representatives from every Catholic community in northwestern Minnesota were present. Three degrees were conferred, the Winnipeg team assisting in the work. The day's program began with 8:30 Mass in the morning, all members of that order attending in a body. Following the initiation, an elaborate banquet was served by the ladies at 7:30 o'clock, there being in the neighborhood of five hundred guests. I. A. Hamel, of this city, acted as toastmaster. Among the prominent speakers were Right Reverend Bishop Timothy Corbett, T. A. Sullivan, of East Grand Forks, Fathers McNeil and McDonald and J. H. O'Conner, district deputy of Winnipeg. Following the speeches, vocal selections were given by Misses Desrochers and Ross R. Chesterman, which were heartily applauded. At half past ten, the Knights and their ladies were entertained at Fournet hall, where a social time was enjoyed. Music was furnished by Olson's orchestra.

COST OF THE TONNAGE TAX

Will Not Profit Minnesota but Will Kill the State's Iron Ore Industry.

The following article is a paid advertisement prepared and published by the Minnesota Fair Tax Association, an organization of the people of Minnesota whose aim is to save the state from the evils which will follow the enactment of a tonnage tax measure:

What the people of Northern Minnesota are trying to do is to talk with their neighbors and fellow-citizens of Southern Minnesota—to talk to them STRAIGHT, and without the use of mediums that confuse and distort and create mutual antipathies and misunderstandings.

The people of Northern Minnesota are trying to talk straight to the people of Southern Minnesota about the tonnage tax on iron ore—trying to talk WITH them—trying to talk it all over fairly and squarely.

In the past a high wall of misunderstanding has been built up because there was no effort to get the people of the two parts of the state to talking straight to each other.

So it was that a lot of people in Northern Minnesota got to talking as though the people in Southern Minnesota were a bunch of highbinders and highwaymen bent on ruining the people of the North.

So it was that a lot of people in Southern Minnesota got to talking as though the people in Northern Minnesota were a bunch of corporation tools who were trying to help the steel trust dodge their taxes.

It isn't so. Neither end of it is so. North and South, they are just people—the same kind of people, interested in the same sort of justice, helped by the same things and hurt by the same things. If tonnage tax is good, it will help Northern Minnesota at the same time that it helps Southern Minnesota. If tonnage tax is bad, it will hurt Southern Minnesota just as surely as it hurts Northern Minnesota—just as surely, if less vitally.

The Story of Tonnage Tax.

This is the story of the tonnage tax in Minnesota:

When the tonnage tax was first introduced in the 1907 legislature its primary purpose was to compel the manufacture of iron and steel in this state, and its secondary purpose was to compel the iron mining interests to pay their fair share of the expenses of the state government.

The first tonnage tax bill was for a tax of 25 cents a ton, 20 cents to be rebated on all iron smelted within the state; this shows the primary purpose of this proposed legislation. This being obviously an attempt to tax exports from the state, which the Federal Constitution forbids, this first measure was dropped, and the straight tonnage tax bill, followed later by a "supertax" bill, came in.

While the tonnage tax was pending in the 1907 legislature efforts theretofore made by Duluth citizens to induce the United States Steel Corporation to begin the manufacture of steel in this state were brought to a head, and when the bill was defeated, there was a promise from that company that a steel plant, to cost $6,000,000 to $7,000,000 would be built in Duluth.

Today there is in Duluth a great, up-to-date steel plant of the United States Steel corporation, costing $30,000,000 instead of the promised $6,000,000 or $7,000,000, and plans are drawn ready for immediate extensions costing $10,000,000 more.

Though happily the tonnage tax has failed, this aim of the original tonnage taxers has been met—to the great benefit of all Minnesota.

How about the taxes? In 1907 the total assessed valuation of all the iron mines of Minnesota was $64,486,409, on which the state in that year got a total of $179,272.

This year, 1920, the assessed valuation of the iron mines of Minnesota is $288,937,230—more than four times that of 1907—and the state's direct tax from this wealth will be $2,340,403—more than thirteen times that of 1907.

So the secondary purpose of the original tonnage taxers has also been met.

The tonnage tax agitation, therefore, has given the state a monster steel industry, and has compelled the iron interest to pay taxes on a just valuation multiplying the state's revenue from this source by twenty-two.

It has served both the purposes for which it was started. Why should it be continued, when the threat of it jeopardizes the creation of a great industry that cannot fail to benefit every part of the state?

Politics vs. Business.

The tonnage tax had served the purpose for which it was proposed. It had reached its climax, had dwindled, and had all but died—as it should, since its purposes had been served—when Townleyism, carpet-bagging from North Dakota, exhumed it as a vote-getting issue. This is proved by the history of the tonnage tax in the legislature.

The first tonnage tax bill was introduced in the 1907 legislature by Representative R. H. Jefferson of Cottonwood County. It provided for a tax of 25 cents per ton, 20 cents to be rebated on every ton smelted within the state. That being declared unconstitutional, a straight five-cent tonnage tax bill was offered by Representative Jefferson, joined by Representative H. O. Bjorgo, and was defeated.

But the issue came back still stronger in 1909, and the bill passed both branches of the legislature. But it was vetoed by the late Governor John A. Johnson in a ringing message which did so much to clear the public judgment on this measure that as an issue it began from that time to dwindle.

A tonnage tax bill was introduced in the 1911 legislature, but it was beaten in the house, never reaching the senate.

The bill was again introduced in the 1913 legislature, and again it was beaten in the house, this time even more decisively.

So far had this issue paled in public interest that in the 1915 session no tonnage tax bill was even introduced—the tonnage tax was dead; dead because it had served its purpose and because people had become convinced that it was wrong.

That seemed to be the end of the tonnage tax, which had threatened to divide the state into two hostile sections, and it WOULD have been the end of it if Townleyism had not come into the state.

In 1916 Townley, flushed with triumph from his North Dakota victories, reached out for Minnesota. Seeing a plausible vote-getter in the tonnage tax issue, Townley dug it up and made it one of the principal planks in the Nonpartisan platform. Nevertheless, it was defeated in the 1917 legislature and again in the regular session of 1919; but it was rushed through in a panic by the special session of September, 1919, and vetoed by Governor Burnquist.

It will be an issue in this campaign only because Townley has made it an issue.

Is Minnesota, having produced the results it sought with this issue and then dropped it, ready to risk deadly injury to the people of the entire state by adhering to this issue in order to help the carpet-bagger Townley pull political chestnuts out of the fire?

Facts Undisputed.

The people of Northern Minnesota, thru the Minnesota Fair Tax Association have conclusively proved the following pertinent facts and no attempt has been made by the proponents of the tonnage tax to disprove them:

That no state levies a tonnage tax.

That every state or country that has ever had a tonnage tax has abandoned it as unjust, unwise and unprofitable.

That the iron mines are now paying taxes on a higher valuation than any other form of property in the state, that they are paying a higher rate on this high valuation than is paid by any county in Southern Minnesota and that the total revenue of the STATE ALONE this year from the iron ore business is more than $5,000,000.

That the "steel trust" owns or controls only 32 of the 132 iron mines of the state, that it does not own or operate a single mine on the Cuyuna range, and that it does not control ONE-HALF OF ONE PER CENT of the iron ore known to exist in Minnesota.

That the Cuyuna range, Minnesota's newest iron range, a field of low grade ores, is languishing today because of excessive iron ore taxation and that any further mineral tax, no matter what its form, tonnage tax, profits tax or other super tax, will completely put it out of business—and this is a sample of what such penalizing taxes will do to all low grade iron ore development in Minnesota.

That Minnesota has only 1,400,000,000 tons of commercial ore, but that it has hundreds of billions of tons of low grade ore; that tonnage tax will kill the iron ore industry in Minnesota in the next 30 to 40 years, but that if the development of the state's low grade ore is encouraged iron mining in Minnesota will last for many CENTURIES.

That the iron ore industry brings the STATE ALONE this year over five million dollars in cash as well as an abounding prosperity that affects every portion of the state—a yearly cash payment and an annual prosperity which will continue unabated, and probably increase if the industry is encouraged, but which will cease entirely in a few decades if the tonnage tax prevails.

The issue today in Minnesota is whether we shall greedily grab a few millions each year for a few years while our high grade ore is being taken out or whether we shall bend our energies to developing our enormous deposits of low grade ore and so maintain Minnesota's supremacy in the iron ore industry for more than a thousand years. In our greed for ready cash shall we tear down the greatest iron ore business in the world, or shall we develop it to its utmost and continue the wonderful prosperity it brings the state practically forever?

"We want this tonnage tax money now. We want to spend it today. We don't care anything about the future," declared a tonnage tax advocate. If that is the way we manage the state's business and our own prosperity, we might, if we care nothing for justice, be for a tonnage tax, but if we do care for the future, if we want Minnesota's vast iron ore prosperity to continue and to increase for many centuries to come, then we ought to be against the tonnage tax with all our might.

STICK TO THE OLD RELIABLE.

There are six candidates in the primaries for the nomination for congressman from the Ninth district of Minnesota—two under the Republican banner and four with the Democratic label. It is likely that the former are all the people need concern themselves over although to judge by the number seeking the Democratic nomination there must be those who believe they see a chance for whoever is selected by that party.

The Republican aspirants are Halver Steenerson and N. E. Thormodson. Mr. Steenerson has spent 18 years on the job and is conceded one of the biggest and ablest men on the Minnesota delegation, of which he is now the dean. He is chairman of the committee on postoffices and postroads, one of the most important in the lower house. His standing with the leaders of his party is high and his influence a factor to be reckoned with in any matter that comes up.

During the past two years Mr. Steenerson has been particularly busy with problems in which the people of Pennington county are interested. At the head of the list stands the improvement of the Red Lake river and the drainage project which forms the major portion of that program. For 16 years Mr. Steenerson has worked steadily toward bringing this great project up to the point it now has reached and the end of the present term sees success in sight. One of the very first things the new congress will take up, in all likelihood, is this matter of drainage for northwestern Minnesota. The subject is one of such far-reaching importance to the entire Northwest that it cannot longer be put aside. Mr. Steenerson's untiring work will at last be rewarded and his commanding position in the house will insure its favorable consideration.

Other matters of almost as great importance are on the program for early settlement. Mr. Steenerson has been on the job through all the different stages of their progress and knows just what there is left to be done in order to bring them to a successful conclusion. That they will have his whole interest until such time as he can report success is certain.

Is there any good reason for supplanting Mr. Steenerson with an untried man at this time? The next congress will without doubt be Republican. It will be controlled by the men who have been Mr. Steenerson's companions in the house for many years. Can the Ninth district afford to throw away the prestige this situation gives it?

There is perhaps nothing to be said against the men who are seeking the place held by Mr. Steenerson, either Republican or Democratic. As a matter of self-interest, however, can the people of the Ninth afford to make the change? It must be remembered that another man will have to go over the same path in order to reach the place now occupied by Mr. Steenerson and that it will take years to do so. Leaving everything else out of the consideration, is any man on either ticket so well equipped to serve the district during the next two years as is Mr. Steenerson? That is the only question to be answered by the voters.

During the past quarter of a century only three Minnesota congressmen have reached the chairmanship of a major committee in the house of representatives. Mr. Steenerson is one of these. Can the people of the district afford to throw away the prestige this insures?

OUR VISITORS THIS WEEK.

The people of Thief River Falls welcome the delegates to the Lutheran Free church annual convention and hope that their visit may be pleasant and profitable. It is one of the largest conventions to which Thief River Falls has ever acted as host and our facilities are being somewhat taxed. Everyone is anxious to do his utmost in order that there shall be no inconvenience, however, and with the visitors willing to accept things with allowances and the citizens anxious to put forth the best they have there should be little trouble in getting along.

Many of these people have come from long distances and to a large number this will be the first opportunity of seeing a north Minnesota city for any length of time. It is important that a good impression be made and there is no doubt but that every possible effort will be put forth to make it. It would be a fine thing to have 2,000 enthusiastic men and women scatter to all corners of the United States singing the praises of Thief River Falls and it will be our own fault if they do not do so.

The best we have in the larder and in the way of entertainment is none to good for such a delegation.

THE DEPORTATION PROGRAM.

It is probable that when all the strange proceedings of the past few years are viewed by persons who have had time to weigh their purpose and effect it will be found that the deportation program of the department of justice can least easily be explained. Having the support of practically every person in the country when first put into effect the plan has steadily dwindled in popularity until at the present time there are few who can find anything in it to defend.

The fuss made over a handful of cranks has been such as to give them exactly the advertising they wanted. The attitude of the government clothed them with an importance to which they were never entitled. These same people had been spouting the same kind of doctrine for half a century and nothing had come of it except in cases where forcible suppression had been attempted. So long as these warped and misguided propagandists were permitted to holler their heads off no well balanced person paid any attention to them. Now there are many who regard them as martyrs and believe that their deportation was due to the fact that they were telling the truth. Other governments have the same thing to contend with but it must be admitted that in most cases a more sensible policy is followed in combatting the trouble.

A recent writer in the New York Times, a paper that certainly cannot be accused of radical leanings, says that these deportations and "Compulsory Americanization" are an indication of the country's periodic attacks of Know-Nothingism. He incidentally ridicules the idea that our Near-Eastern, and particularly our Russian, emigration is in any manner dangerous to the safety of the country. Enforced Americanism, he says will prove of no value whatever. It takes time to make a good American out of a certain class of Europeans and the job cannot be hurried. He is of the opinion that the Americanization of the foreigner can only be wisely and safely accomplished if the process is spread over a period of about three generations.

However that may be it is certain that one cannot deport an idea nor imprison a principle. These propagandists and spouters are misguided but most people will have a stronger faith in the stability of American ideals and purposes than to think that anything they can do or say will upset our institutions or imperil the Republic.

A FINE EXAMPLE.

William M. Wood, head of the American Woolen company, known also as the woolen trust, has been indicted on 11 counts for profiteering. The concern is said to have made a profit of $15,000,000 in six and a half months on a capitalization of $6,000,000. This would indicate that the investigators did not unearth all the facts, the complaint claiming only that a profit of 35 per cent was made on certain transactions.

But what will make the ordinary American most disgusted in connection with this case is the attitude of this same man Wood toward those whom he himself assailed as profiteers only a short time ago. It will be remembered that as boss of the city of Lawrence, Mass., where many of the company's mills are located, Wood issued an ultimatum to the retailers stating that unless they cut their prices he would open retail stores, sell necessities at cost and drive them out of business. He was going to stop the crime of charging a cent more than was necessary for a pound of butter or a loaf of bread while his own concern was gouging the American people to the tune of 250 per cent, if the report of the government investigators is to be believed.

To add to the feeling of general good will toward Mr. Wood and his company the records show that the mills over which he has control have been idle five and one-half months during the past year because its operators were on strike for an advance in wages. This is nothing unusual, there being but few concerns in this country having had a greater amount of trouble with its employes.

Mr. Wood is not the kind of American that can be pointed to with pride these times.

THE LAST APPEAL.

The supreme court of the United States has decided that both the federal prohibition amendment and the enforcement act are constitutional and all avenues of appeal on the part of those who were trying to find a loophole through which to escape their application have been closed. All injunction proceedings were dismissed and the verdict is that one-half of one per cent alcohol is the limit that any beverage may contain.

The decision was expected and will be accepted without much objection so far as its general intention is concerned. The prohibition act itself is all right but some of the methods employed for its enforcement are proving unpopular. There is decided objection to having an army of men on the government payroll whose sole duty seems to be the preventing of making dandelion wine. They cost too much for the amount of good they accomplish. If the thing goes much farther we may soon expect to see official inspectors of mince pies and our jails full of housewives whose winter supplies of preserves unexpectedly develop a kick.

There is a suspicion that there is a plan on foot to see just how ridiculous and irksome the proceedings can be made in the hope that the people will get mad enough to demand a sensible enforcement of the prohibition act. Very few persons will wish for the return of the American saloon and its abolishment is perhaps the best thing that has ever happened to the country, but a little judgment in the carrying out of the new law will be welcomed.

GO THERE YOURSELF.

Do not permit yourself to get so busy that you will have to depend upon a neighbor's version of what happened at the community picnic. Be there yourself. It is your picnic as much as anybody's. The things that will there take place concern you as much as they do the man across the road or in another section of the county. Let nothing keep you away. The family needs the outing.

The picnic at Squaw Point on Monday is going to be the biggest thing of its kind ever pulled off in Pennington county. So many matters of interest to every man and woman will be discussed that any person who fails to be there will be missing something of real value. Arrangements have been made for providing the children with all the wholesome fun they can stand. There will be something of interest doing every minute and anyone not present will have cause to regret it for a long time.

The Crookston Press has been sold by Egley & Crawford and the name of the paper changed to the Polk County Leader. The purchaser is a corporation made up of some 500 Polk county farmers and the paper will espouse the principles of the Nonpartisan League and support the candidates of that organization for office. It is understood that the Leader will be a semi-weekly, for the present at least.

How Farm Bureaus Help.

(Minneapolis Journal)

The county farm bureaus are adding remarkably to the agricultural efficiency of this Northwest by the promotion of co-operation among farmers in the production and sale of livestock and livestock products.

For example, in South Dakota, these bureaus have organized a hundred and twenty breeders' associations, mostly county-wide, and a hundred and fourteen livestock shippers' associations. Seventeen counties were induced to pool their output of wool, and thereby made a saving of twenty-five thousands dollars. The shippers' associations saved to the farmers of the state in 1919 more than a million dollars.

This co-operation is not only a matter of trade but of education in farm methods. A survey of the State showed that but one-fourth of the sires in cattle herds are desirable purebred stock. It showed also that in an average herd of twenty grade cows the use of a purebred sire adds an annual profit of $4.50. At this rate the saving to the whole State by the use of such superior sires would be more than twenty million dollars annually.

One instance is noted of a farmer who shipped five fat steers to the Omaha market, from five grade cows of equal merit. Two of the steers were sired by a scrub and three by a purebred. The latter sold for $147.80 each, the former for $95.05. Probably the poorer two were produced at a loss.

Boys and girls' livestock clubs are fostered by the bureaus. More than twenty-five hundred purebred sows are owned by these junior farmers. Last year 1,109 boys and girls of South Dakota made a profit of $335,618 on pigs. The best record was made by a girl who in 1919 marketed $2,425 worth of pigs from one Poland China sow.

This work of the bureaus is not alone interesting. The margins between cost and income in haphazard farming have now grown so narrow, that some such general spread of farm education and such co-operative work must be done to keep the balance of the farm business on the right side of the ledger.

Mussey Objects.

Grygle Eagle: Considerable agitation has been going on in Thief River Falls on account of a few wanting to give a new name to the east side school house which is to be built in the place of the old Knox school building. As the location was donated to the district in an early day by C. J. Knox, and the building given the name as an honor to him, it would be an insult, not only to him, but to all the old settlers especially to those living on the East Side to call any school building erected on this site anything but the Knox School just to satisfy some jealous whim.

FARMERS' REFERENDUM ON STRIKES APPROVED

—Trade at Home—

Farm Bureau Federation at Chicago Favors Compulsory Arbitration.

Sentiment for a referendum among farmers of the country on the compulsory arbitration of strikes was strong at the sessions of the executive committee of the American Farm Bureau Federation held at Chicago. The March convention of the federation adopted a resolution to this effect, and officers said that they expected a farmers' referendum to be ordered by the executive committee.

Membership in the federation now is 900,000, secretary J. W. Coverdale reported. "There is a great movement among farmers in every section of the country and a demand for reliable information and co-ordinated effort," President Howard said.

Referendums on the repeal of the Adamson law and on the Townsend federal law also have been recommended it was announced. Results of the first farmer referendum, in which 359,626 farmers voted, were officially reported to the committee today. It resulted in an overwhelming majority against the bill of Congressman Nolan for a tax of 1 per cent on the ownership of land in excess of $10,000.

FARM BUREAU TO TAKE SURVEY OF LIVESTOCK

Attempt Will be Made to Steady Flow of Supplies to Marketing Points.

Minnesota is among the eleven corn belt and north central states in which under the auspices of the American Farm Bureau Federation, a quarterly or semi-annual survey of meat animals on farms of the live stock growing section of the United States will be taken. The object of this great co-operative undertaking, which will be farmer-owned and farmer-controlled, will be to steady the flow of stock to markets and thereby avoid violent price fluctuations, to protect the producer against losses through unreasonably depressed markets and to assure the consumer of good meat and meat products at fair prices.

Such a survey has been in the minds of farm leaders for years and they have repeatedly pointed out the necessity of such data, but it remained for the farm bureau movement to get away from the talking stage and really do something. The program was launched at a meeting in Chicago recently.

W. A. McKerrow, secretary of the Minnesota Central Live Stock Shippers' association was the Minnesota delegate, he having been authorized to represent the Gopher Farm Bureau Federation because its regular officers were devoting all their time to membership work.

The plan, briefly stated, involves the sending of a questionnaire to every farm bureau member in the section to obtain from him a confidential report on the number of meat animals he has on hand, the number of feeders he expects to buy, when he expects to sell and where. These blanks, when returned to the state headquarters, where the data will be recapitulated and carefully guarded, will enable the farm bureau chiefs to give well founded advice on the general live stock situation. Plans for regulating the live stock flow have not been devised as yet, as it was the opinion of the conference that perfection of the machinery for gathering the data was of greatest importance.

Pull Together for an American Merchant Marine

The war resulted in the creation of a great merchant marine—10,000,000 tons of American ships which cost us $3,000,000,000.

Everybody agrees that we must keep this fleet on the seas.

If we fall back to pre-war conditions—when only 9 per cent of our foreign trade was carried in American ships—

We shall be in the position of a department store whose goods are delivered in its competitor's wagons.

Congress is considering legislation which will perpetuate our war-built merchant marine.

Until this is done the ships we have should not be sold to face conditions which, prior to the war, resulted in the decline of our merchant marine to insignificance.

This Committee calls attention to these facts because a right solution of our shipping problem is vital to the future prosperity of shipbuilding, but equally vital to the safety and prosperity of the nation.

COAL FOR NEXT WINTER.

(Editorial in Minneapolis Journal.)

Coal dealers agree that the situation would be greatly relieved and steadied, if householders would order their coal as early as possible. To delay unnecessarily will only increase the congestion at the advent of winter and throw the heavier burden on coal transportation at a time when the conditions of delivery are not so propitious as in summer or early fall. To order now means a continuous and dependable demand. It is a form of individual and national economy.

There is a lot of good advice contained in the above. Order now and be sure of your supplies. Delay can only mean one thing—delay—and may mean higher prices as well. Our predictions regarding coal have always come true. Do not disregard them at this time.

Food—the Problem of the Hour

THE need for food has the world in its grip. To produce more food we must depend upon gasoline power on the farm to multiply the efficiency of the man-power available.

Crop (1 acre)	Man-Hours By Hand	Man-Hours By Machine
Barley	64	4.25
Corn	39	7.70
Cotton	168	79
Hay	21	8.45
Oats	66	4.25
Potatoes	109	38
Rice	62	17
Rye	63	4.25
Wheat	61	4.25

The United States has changed from an agricultural into a semi-industrial nation. Never again will it see the day when 97 percent of its population dwells on farms. Yet the fact remains that the United States must feed itself, and the only way this can be done is through intensive soil cultivation, made possible by automotive machinery.

On the farms of the Middle West the gasoline tractor, truck, and automobile are multiplying the productiveness of man-power, and are doing their part in furnishing an adequate supply of food-stuffs.

Throughout this great section the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has developed a system of distribution which insures the farmer an adequate supply of gasoline and lubricating oils. This system is based upon huge storage depots, fed from three large modern refineries.

Anticipation of possible difficulties is but one of the many burdens the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) assumes in order that consumers of the Middle West may have their wants supplied.

Congressional Candidate Visits Old Friends Here

Frank Jeffers of Red Lake Falls, candidate for the congressional nomination on the Democratic ticket, was in the city on Tuesday calling on old friends and also to attend the Guernsey men's picnic at the Albert Johnson place. Mr. Jeffers is one of the best known of all old-timers in this section and one of the most highly regarded. Were it possible for a Democrat to secure the election for congress from this district it is more than likely that Frank would be the man, but it looks like a hopeless proposition.

A delightful affair of the evening was a Leap Year dancing party given by young ladies in this city at the Masonic hall on Saturday. Streamers of green and white crepe paper formed a canopy under which the guests danced to elegant music furnished by Miss Theone Walker, pianist and Alfred Dybvik, drummer. Baskets of flowers also added to the attractiveness of the hall. At the conclusion of the evening a light lunch was served by the Misses Ruth Kiland, Harriet Anderson and Luella Peterson. Croup

"I don't think there is a more anxious time for parents than when their children have croup. Without they are prepared with Chamberlain's Cough Remedy they must wait for the doctor and listen to the choking, metallic cough and watch their little one gasping for breath.

You know the great danger of croup is the formation of a false membrane in the larynx, and until this is expelled relief cannot be obtained, and the spasmodic choking continues. Give Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in frequent doses. It will loosen this membrane and cause the child to expel it by vomiting.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy

is an absolutely safe and certain remedy for croup, and if given as soon as the child becomes hoarse, or even after the croupy cough appears, it will prevent the attack."

Yours for Health—"Granny" Chamberlain

Church Body Will Report Great Work

Norwegian Lutherans to Meet For Seven Day Session at Minneapolis Today.

Progress Made Since Union Was Affected Regarded as Very Satisfactory.

Missionary Feature Will be Accorded Special Attention by Delegates.

The most important convention ever held by the Norwegian Lutheran Church of America will be that beginning today and ending next Thursday. It is being held in the auditorium building, Minneapolis, and representatives from every state and territory will be present. Trinity congregation, Thief River Falls, has voted to send Olaf Ramstad and Olaf Tessum as its delegates. Besides these the city will be in a measure represented by Rev. I. T. Aastad, president of the Northern Minnesota district of the conference, whose home is here.

Since the union of the three Norwegian Lutheran church bodies of America in 1917, the new organization has accomplished much toward the founding of needed churches throughout the Middle West and other parts of the nation where their fellows have settled. Many handsome new churches and homes have been constructed and the work of the denomination carried on with great activity in every department.

Adopting English Language.

Very rapidly the church has been adopting the English language in its services. At the time of the last report there were 146 purely English congregations and this number will have been greatly increased by the time the account for the present period is rendered. The congregations in which the English language is used in at least half of the services, such as is the case in Thief River Falls, number 437. This is a feature of the work that will receive special attention at the Minneapolis meeting.

The Missionary Work.

In the $1,000,000 budget of the church foreign missions take the leading place, being responsible for an outlay of $300,000. The work in this direction has been characterized by exceptional breadth and magnitude. The field covered is China, South Africa and India. To China alone the denomination sent out 76 missionaries. Nearer home most excellent work has been done in Alaska and among the Indians. During the past year the Wittenberg Indian school at Wittenberg, Wis., has been purchased for the purpose of carrying on this work.

Women Also Meet.

The Women's Missionary Federation of the church, will also meet in Minneapolis on the same dates. An advance in the position of the women in the church is indicated by the fact that the president and secretary of the Woman's Missionary Federation are advisory members of both the board of foreign missions and the board of charities.

Heavy enrollments, increasing endowments and the pleasant satisfaction that the world is coming to know something of the great educational work of the church will be high points made in the report to be submitted to the convention.

Congress Has Good Record Says Member

Expects to visit All Sections in Interest of Candidacy For Re-Election.

Blames President Wilson For Failure to Reduce High Cost of Living.

Congressman Steenerson Returns After Long Session At Washington.

Congressman Steenerson returned from Washington yesterday afternoon and will spend a short time going over the Congressional district in the interests of his candidacy for re-election, says the Crookston Times.

Owing to the fact that Mrs. Steenerson has been ill for the past two months she did not feel equal to the journey at this time but Mr. Steenerson expects to return to Washington about July 1st and bring her back with him.

In speaking of the political situation in this district and of the work done by the last congress, Mr. Steenerson said:

"Through letters from friends in various parts of the district and from reports received from local committeemen I have kept in fairly close touch with the sentiment in the district and have been unable to find any serious dissatisfaction or disaffection with the manner in which I have represented the district. The impression seems to prevail that there has been some growth in radical sentiment throughout this section of the state but I cannot find that this is the case. On the contrary I believe the people are keeping better posted and are taking a wider view of governmental affairs than ever before. This is a good sign and cannot fail of being beneficial in bringing support to those who are honestly striving to better conditions.

Much Work Accomplished.

"I expect to visit various parts of the district during the next few weeks. Tomorrow I have been invited to speak at a farmers' picnic in Clay county, and other engagements have been made for me at other points in the district."

In speaking of the accomplishments of the last congress Mr. Steenerson said:

"While not as much was done as we could have wished, still [illegible] with the opposition of a hostile administration much beneficial legislation was enacted.

"The most important measures were those connected with the telegraph and telephone service, the law returning to their owners and the regulation of the railroads, the prohibition enforcement law, the postal salary act, the budget law and the repeal of war legislation. The two latter measures being vetoed by the president at the last minute.

President Was to Blame.

"I notice the President's answer to the letter of railroad brotherhood chiefs stating that Congress has done nothing to check the evil of profiteering or to punish the evil doers. The answer is that it is not the function of Congress to punish evil doers because the Congress can do no more to put people in jail than can the state legislature. All that it can do is to make laws for punishing offences but the enforcement of this law is with the president. We gave the president war powers which he still holds and refuses to give up. Under these he has complete control of the necessaries of life, including food. We gave him special power to control the price of sugar and provided him with the necessary agencies to buy up the supply so as to resell it to the people. This was done for a year but last year he refused to continue to do so. He was asked by his own advisors and also by Mr. Hoover to buy the Cuban sugar crop which could be bought for 6½ cents, but he failed to act and instead allowed that crop to go over to Europe. If he had used the power we gave him it is probable sugar would be now selling at retail to the public at not above 10 cents which would have been a saving of more than a billion dollars a year."

Clash With Strikers.

As the result of a fracas at the gates of the Crookston lumber company's mill, 10 persons, three women and seven men, have been arrested, charged with interfering with workers at the mill.

The trouble arose when workers leaving the mill after work, were accosted by strike sympathizers. An argument developed into a fight, in which the women took a hand. Police and deputy sheriffs arrested 10 of the strikers' friends.

Other fights developed later in the day, in one of which Charles Lindahl one of the men who returned to work was beaten up.

After the trouble occurred the Crookston Lumber company obtained an injunction from Judge C. W. Stanton in district court, restraining 16 union men from intimidating workers in any way.

Storm Brings Great Picnic to Quick End

After Promise of Fine Day Weather Man Proves Most Treacherous.

Large Crowd Disappointed and Had to Scurry to Escape Drenching.

Train Wreck and Storm Combine to Put Speakers in Good Humor.

The intention was to make it the greatest picnic in the history of the Pennington County Farm Bureau, and it was nobody's fault that the affair turned out otherwise.

Monday started out with every promise of behaving itself as befitted the occasion, but made a slip somewhere. At that, neither wind nor rain was of enough importance to make much difference, but the outlook was sufficiently threatening to make most folks wish they had remained at home. The picnic broke up early in the afternoon, but not before those present had an opportunity of listening to some mighty good speeches.

Hay Leads Off.

J. H. Hay, assistant commissioner of agriculture and formerly a resident of this city, was the first speaker. His remarks covered the subject of community gatherings in general, pointing out particularly the value and necessity for having people get together for a better undertsanding of each other's purposes. Mr. Hay made his remarks brief as it was already evident that the threatening weather was making the large crowd restless and apprehensive.

Congressman Steenerson, who arrived in the city without having been notified of the picnic, was asked to address the gathering. He stated at the outset that he would not attempt to make a speech under the circumstances and confined himself largely to calling attention to the significance of Flag Day, which fell upon the date selected for the picnic. He did, however, refer to the passage of a bill by the last congress permitting farmers to form associations for their own advancement without running counter to the Clayton anti-trust bill. Co-operation, he said, had done much for the farmer to date and if permitted to go unhampered in its operation, would prove of greater benefit in the future. He also referred briefly to the bills now ready for consideration looking toward the improvement of drainage conditions in this district.

Is Keen Disappointment.

President Stuart McLeod of the Farm Bureau association and County Agent J. J. McCann were particularly disappointed in the outcome of the picnic. For weeks they had, together with the committees appointed for the purpose, been working to make this the greatest picnic in the county's history. Everything pointed to their being successful. They had an unusually interesting array of good speakers, the sports program was the best ever put forth and interest throughout the county all that could be wished for.

And we did not need the rain.

NORSEMEN PLANNING FOR GREATEST OUTING

Speakers and Singers From Many Cities Here For Norway Son's Picnic.

Assurances received from Sons of Norway lodges in nearby cities justify officers of the local organization in believing that the district picnic to be held at Squaw Point next Sunday will be one of the most widely attended of any in its history. Favorable answers have been received from Crookston, Halstad, Twin Valley and Detroit, promising large delegations from these cities, while lodges as far away as Cass Lake have signified their intention of showing up in force if the roads are passable.

Hans O. Chommie will be the speaker for the local lodge. Other speakers of note will be on the platform but the only lodge sending in the name of its orator is Bjarne of Grand Forks, which will be represented by Dr. Olav Fortin. Bjarne men's chorus from the same lodge will be among the singing societies furnishing music, and as this is one of the most famous in the United States there is a treat in store for all those attending.

Braga men's chorus of Thief River Falls, an organization that in years past has been able to hold its own with the best, will again be in evidence. War activities and other matters have engaged the attention of its members during late years but there is a strong movement on foot to again bring the chorus back to its one-time prominence.

Bernhard Knudsen is chairman of the program committee of the local lodge and his efforts to provide something of unusual interest is being backed by every member of the organization.

ANNUAL MEETING OF "SATESDALS STEVNE"

Famous Norwegian Society Will Make Merry Here For Two Days.

President Bj. Bjornarna of Wanke, of Saeteldal Stevnet, a society of persons who hail from Saetersdalen in Norway, will hold their annual convention in Thief River Falls on June 23 and 24. The membership is scattered over quite a large section of country and if traveling conditions are favorable there is likely to be a considerable crowd present. The organization held its meeting here about three years ago at which time about 1000 persons attended.

"Thief River Falls is a fine place to visit at all times, but especially so when the Saetesdals have their 'stevne' there," writes Mr. Bjornarna. He further states that on June 23 and 24 it will "braka laust" with amusements of various kinds. The best Norwegian speakers, violinists, declamators and singers will be in attendance and the intention is that all shall enjoy themselves in regular old country fashion.

Wednesday evening will be "rosinen i polsa," according to the president. At that time there will be a real "Satesdals kveld," an event none who witness it will forget. There will be speeches, "skroner," and readings. Among the features will be "Halling," "gangar," and "springdans." Spectators are warned to step out of the danger zone when the boys do their "rundkast."

The stevne will be held at the auditorium and the hope is expressed that the building will be "smekkande fuld."

On Thursday there will be "Satesdals Messe" in Trinity church, where Rev. I. T. Aastad will deliver a sermon on "Sandsmaal."

All Norwegians and others interested are cordially invited to be present and join the festivities.

CREAMERY PICNIC AT HAZEL ON SATURDAY

Entire County Invited to Join People There in Annual Jollification.

"Lay off your daily toil on Saturday afternoon, June 19, and come to Hazel for the purpose of listening to instructive speeches and joining in all the frolic and fun."

Such is the invitation issued to the people of the rest of the county by patrons of the Hazel Co-operative Creamery association. This is the youngest organization of its kind in the county and the parties responsible for its being in existence want all the neighbors to come and observe how well they are getting along down there. The creamery has made a great record for the short time it has been in operation and the patrons are justly proud of the fact.

Six different committees are at work on the arrangements and program and reports are to the effect that something different than the usual order will be given.

Everybody is invited and it is certain that those who attend will find the time both pleasantly and profitably employed.

Road to Lake at Early Date is Promised

Congressman Steenerson Says Indian Department Realizes Its Importance.

Part of Federal Highway Aid May be Expended on Its Construction.

River Improvement Bill Due For Early Passage by Congress, He Says.

Congressman Halvor Steenerson has been taking advantage of the opportunity presented by the adjournment of congress to make a tour of this section of his district during the past week. He arrived in Thief River Falls unheralded on Saturday afternoon after having appeared at a picnic at Plummer, where he spoke briefly by invitation, following his opponent in the primaries, N. E. Thormodson. Mr. Steenerson explained several acts of congress during the late session that had been called into question, and from all reports managed to present things in such manner that his hearers received a new viewpoint.

On Monday afternoon Mr. Steenerson spoke briefly at the picnic of the Pennington County Farm Bureau association. A threatening storm forced him to cut his remarks short and he did not touch upon politics in any manner. It was Flag Day and he devoted what time he had to remarks appropriate to the occasion.

Visits East End.

The principal object of Mr. Steenerson's visit at this time was to explain to the people residing in eastern Pennington county just what has been done in the matter of improving the Red Lake river so as to prevent the lands along its course from being overflowed. Also to give information concerning the steps taken to provide a road for the Indians westward through the reservation.

Two meetings were held, one at Highlanding and one at Goodridge. Both were well attended and the information the congressman was able to present was received with much favor.

Indians Await Action.

Drainage of the reservation lands must be an accomplished fact before the lands are finally alloted to the Indians so as to give them their choice. When this matter is finally attended to the remainder of the reservation will in all likelihood be thrown open to settlement. Mr. Steenerson is hopeful of securing favorable action on the drainage bill at the short session of congress which convenes in December.

Road to the Lake.

Mr. Steenerson has been able to convince the department that in order to give the Indians an outlet to civilization, a road should be constructed across part of the reservation to connect with the county highway reaching the eastern terminus of Pennington county. Indian officials admitted that such road would be of great value to the Indians but doubted their right to appropriate monye from tribe funds for its construction. Mr. Steenerson suggested that the Indians furnish one-half of the necessary money and that the other half be taken from the federal road aid allotted to Minnesota. The state will have, in the neighborhood of $7,000,000 to its credit from this source within a short time and by securing legislation placing the Indian reservations on the same footing as counties it will be possible for the former to share in this distribution. The plan as now mapped out presents no grave difficulties, according to Mr. Steenerson, and he is hopeful of getting the matter under way in a short time.

Is Natural Playground.

"Opportunity should be given the people of western Minnesota and the Dakotas to visit this fine body of water," says Mr. Steenerson. "It is one of the great natural beauty spots still remaining untouched by the tide of modern commerce and every means should be employed to keep it in that condition."

Mr. Steenerson was very much pleased in being able to meet old friends again after having spent the past two years in Washington without much of an opportunity to get away, his duties as chairman of the committee on postoffices and postroads as well as the importance of the general legislation in which he is interested keeping him closely chained to his office.

LOST BATALLION HERO RAPIDLY RECOVERING

Andrew Senum Has Been in Hospital Since His Return From the War.

According to reports received by his parents and County Auditor T. P. Anderson, who has taken a good deal of interest in the matter, Andrew Senum, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Senum of Agder township, will soon be back in his old haunts. This lad left Thief River Falls to join the army in May, 1918, and must have been rushed to the front as he was in a number of actual engagements. He went over the top twice with his command and was with Major Wilkinson and the lost battalion in the spectacular performance of that unit. For 24 days the batallion was lost during the great Argonne offensive and were given up by the army authorities. A remnant finally showed up, however, after incredible hardships and at the close of one of the most sensational episodes of the war.

G.O.P. Rally Friday Night As a Windup

J. F. Jacobson and Fred W. Putnam Will Wind Up Primary Campaign.

Appearing on Behalf of the Regular Republican State Candidates.

Both Good Speakers and Will No Doubt Be Greeted by Large Crowd.

ANTI-SOCIALIST SPEAKER WITH WIDE REPUTATION SPEAKS HERE TONIGHT

Tonight at the auditorium the people of Thief River Falls and vicinity will have an opportunity of hearing one of the most famous opponents of socialism in the United States. F. G. R. Gordon, formerly a shoe cutter and a man who has been identified with organized labor for the past 25 years, will speak under the auspices of the American Anti-Socialist League.

For 14 years Mr. Gordon acted as an organizer for the American Federation of Labor and became convinced that the salvation of labor in this country is not over the socialistic route.

Because of his previous connections and the prominence he has gained as an opponent of the more radical division of organized labor, Mr. Gordon's addresses have been attracting considerable attention.

The last political rally of the preprimary period so far as Pennington county is concerned, will be held at the courthouse in Thief River Falls on Friday evening. Speakers advancing the cause of the candidates favored by the elimination convention last month will give their reasons for believing that the state will be best served by the selection of these men as standard bearers.

J. F. Jacobson of Lac qui Parle county, one of the wheel horses of Republicanism in Minnesota for many years and at one time candidate for governor, will be one of the speakers. "Jake" is regarded as a hard-headed and hard-hitting citizen and generally manages to make things interesting. He is a good speaker and has a wide following. Many years service in the legislature has made him acquainted with conditions in every part of the state and what he has to say is generally worth hearing. Mr. Jacobson is not a candidate for office this year but is lending his energy and influence toward securing the election of the ticket headed by J. A. O. Preus.

The other speaker is Fred W. Putnem, at the present time a member of the state railroad and warehouse commission and candidate for re-election. He has made something of a record while in office and will tell the people of this neighborhood the reasons he has for thinking he should be retained for another term. Mr. Putnem is opposed for the nomination by P. I. D. Osthy, formerly a resident of this section.

Harding and Coolidge are Final Choice

Former Nominated on Tenth Ballot by Chicago Convention Saturday.

Deadlock Seemed Certain When Leaders Decided to Choose Ohio Senator.

Wood, Lowden and Johnson Were Leaders in Early Part of Contest.

Warren G. Harding, United States senator from Ohio, was nominated for president, and Calvin Coolidge, governor of Massachusetts, was named for vicepresident by the national republican convention at Chicago on Saturday evening.

The choice of Senator Harding was effected on the 10th ballot of the convention, and the sixth rollcall of the two session for the day, early in which the impossibility of nominating either General Leonard Wood or Governor F. O. Lowden was demonstrated.

General Wood went down fighting desperately to the last, but overwhelmed by the coalition of all his opponents under the Harding banner. Governor Lowden though he had forged ahead of Wood at the morning session, found his strength, like that of the general, receding, and, realizing his continuance in the contest only would prolong the deadlock, released his delegates, most of whom went to Harding and accomplished his nomination.

Harding received the necessary majority of 493 votes at 6:14 p. m., when Pennsylvania swung 60 delegates to his support, making his total at that point 520. The result of the complete rollcall on the 10th and final ballot was: Harding, 674; Wood, 157; Johnson, 80; Lowden, 12; scattering, 58.

Harding Virtual "Dark Horse."

Traditions were shattered in the choice of Harding. For the first time in the history of the nation a member of the United States senate was nominated for the presidency. In other respects the selection also was unusual. Harding started as one of the leading contenders for the nomination months ago, but he participated in only two primaries, Ohio and Indiana, and was widely regarded as having been eliminated by his failure to capture the solid delegation of his own state, and by the fact that he ran fourth in Indiana.

Wood Starts Strong.

Brig. Gen. Leonard Wood was a leader in the vote during the first five ballots. He started out with 287 delegates in his favor, reached his highest point, 312, on the seventh, and ended with 157 after the nomination of Harding was practically assured by the breaking to him of a number of large eastern states.

Lowden reached his highest point in the sixth and seventh, when he had 311 and was even with Wood. At no time up to the seventh ballot did Harding have over 100 votes, Senator Johnson leading him steadily until that time. The Hoover vote was negligible, he having five or six on each ballot and ending up with 9½. The total number of candidates receiving votes at one time or another during the convention was 22.

Coolidge on the First.

Calvin Coolidge received the vicepresidential nomination on the first ballot. Senator Lenroot of Wissonsin, was placed in nomination by Senator McCormick of Illinois, but received only 146 votes against 674 for Coolidge.

The Wisconsin delegation came to the convention with instructions to vote for LaFollette and stayed by him to the last, refusing even to make the nomination of Harding unanimous.

How Minnesota Voted.

The Minnesota delegation generally stuck to Gen. Wood, he receiving 19 votes on the first ballot, Johnson receiving 2 and Lowden 3. There was not much change in this lineup until the tenth ballot when 22 were cast for Wood. Coolidge received the state's 24 votes for vicepresident.

$400 APPROPRIATION GIVEN COUNTY FAIR

Commissioners Refuse to Include Goodridge Show Resolution.

The majority of the board of county commissioners are evidently of the opinion that one agricultural fair is enough for Pennington county and do not feel justified in dividing the appropriation so as to cover any more. At their meeting last week the board members voted an appropriation of $400 in aid of the fair, first voting down an amendment to give a part of the money to the East End fair at Goodridge. Commissioners Hanson and Peterson favored a division but Roy, Naplin and McGinn voted against such action.

While this will no doubt prove something of a disappointment to the people in the eastern section of the county, the general opinion will be that the commissioners acted for the best interests of all. The Goodridge fair is a sectional proposition at best and those residing in other sections of the county receive practically no benefit from it. The commissioners who voted against the proposal felt that whatever encouragement that might be extended should go to the enterprise in which all the people have an interest.

DULUTH MOB LYNCHES THREE NEGRO FIENDS

Victims Accused of Attacking Young White Girl—Jail is Stormed.

Three negroes were lynched at Duluth Tuesday night by a mob estimated at 5,000 persons, which overpowered the police, took possession of police headquarters and seized the negroes, who were held in connection with an attack on a young white girl.

Not a shot was fired in the attack on the police station, the members of the mob using bricks and other missiles, and in the final stages of the fight, streams of water from the fire hose taken from the police themselves.

A mock trial was held by the mob in the station and three negroes were found guilty while three others, also held in connection with the assault, were acquitted and turned back to the police.

Eight policemen and a newspaper reporter suffered minor injuries in the attack on the police station. They were hit by bricks or other missiles, or were swept off their feet and severely bumped in the water fight.

The negroes hanged were Isaac McGhie, Elmer Jackson and Nate Green, all about 22 years old. They were lynched in the order named at 11:30 p. m., 11:38 p. m. and 11:45 p. m., respectively. All professed their innocense.

The negroes were roustabouts with a circus that appeared in Duluth on Tuesday and the attack on the 17 year old white girl took place on the circus grounds that night. The circus was in Virginia on Wednesday, and it was said eight negroes were taken into custody there, but only four held.

ELKS PLANNING BIG TIME FRIDAY NIGHT

Initiation, Musicale and Dance Included in Elaborate Program.

Thief River Falls lodge of Elks is arranging for one of the biggest parties of its history tomorrow evening. There are about 30 fawns to be initiated into the order and something special in the way of entertainment has been arranged. The initiation proper will take place at Masonic hall and will begin at 7:30 sharp.

In the meantime the wives and daughters of Elks will be entertaining the ladies of the out-of-town members at a card party held at the auditorium. Mrs. L. G. Larsen is at the head of a committee which has arranged an excellent program for this part of the evening's entertainment, which will begin at 8 p. m. sharp. As soon as the initiatory ceremonies are over the men folks will join the ladies at the auditorium and dancing will be the order of the evening.

It is particularly desired that the out-of-town members of the order be present at this entertainment, the affair being largely gotten up for their benefit. They are urged to bring their ladies along on this trip and particular efforts will be made to see that the latter have a good time.

Free Church Closes Great Convention

Delegates From All Sections of Northwest in Session Here For Week.

Resolution Denouncing Radicalism Passed Practically Without Opposition.

Increased Budget Voted For Support of Home and Foreign Missions.

The twenty-fourth annual convention of the Lutheran Free church of America came to a close in this city on Tuesday evening after the most successful session in the history of the organization. The convention began on Wednesday, June 9.

These meetings were held in the auditorium and at times there were more than 1500 people in attendance. Delegates were present from all northwestern states as well as most provinces of western Canada. The meetings were harmonious throughout and much good work was accomplished. The visitors were loud in their praise of the manner in which the local congregation, under the leadership of Rev. George Larson, the pastor, had arranged for their comfort and appreciated greatly the general welcoming attitude of our people.

Church is Progressive.

There were delegates from 475 congregations present and almost without exception these reported the work of the church in their neighborhoods as progressing in a very satisfactory manner. The institutions, both educational and charitable, associated with the church, are prosperous and growing in popularity. The English language is supplanting the Norwegian at an amazing rate, fully 45 per cent of the churches employing the former in at least one-half of the services, while 60 per cent of the young peoples' work is carried on in that language. A resolution was passed by an almost unanimous vote condemning all radical political movements.

Besides the auditorium and the Zion church building, other edifices were offered the visitors for their use. Night sessions in the English language were held at Trinity Lutheran and on Sunday a number of pulpits in the city were filled by visiting clergymen.

Exerpt of Transactions.

As it would be impossible to give anything like a complete record of the transactions of the convention, a summary has been placed at the disposal of The Times. Following are some of the outstanding features:

Voted to establish a Bible school in the fall. This school will be a co-educational institution.

Four permanent professors were added to the faculty of Augsburg Seminary, Minneapolis, namely: Prof. R. B. Nell, chair of natural science; Prof. Elmer D. Busby, professor of mathematics; Prof. L. Lillehei, formerly of Luther Bible school, chair of church history on the theological faculty. Rev. C. E. Norberg was elected to fill the vacant professorship in Norse.

Two thousand persons were present at morning worship on Sunday, when Rev. C. Ytrehus, chairman of the board of home missions, delivered the sermon.

Dr. and Mrs. J. O. Dyrnes, missionaries in Madagascar for 17 years, were among the most interesting delegates at the convention. Both gave valuable accounts of the present work.

On Sunday evening a young peoples' rally was held in the auditorium, the hall being packed to capacity. Rev. O. H. Sletten, president-elect, was the principal speaker.

Corporation board of Oak Park Lutheran Ladies' seminary at Fargo announced that work on the erection of a new $60,000 school building will be commenced next month. This is the fourteenth year of the school and a considerable increase in attendance was reported for the past season.

New Augsburg Members.

The board of corporation of Augsburg seminary elected S. O. Severson, at present principal of Simmons school, Minneapolis, and S. Hovland of Sauk Creek, Wis., as members and also re-elected Otto Hanson of Minneapolis as a member of the board of trustees.

Following are the officers elected by the Women's Mission league of the church: President, Mrs. M. Mattson, Minneapolis; vice president, Mrs. A. Olson, Morris; secretary, Mrs. J. Mortensen, Fosston; corresponding secretary, Mrs. C. Carlson, Wanamingo; treasurer, Mrs. A. Oftedal, Minneapolis. The league voted to build a new mission station at Honan, China, and to increase the church extension fund.

The minister's pension society reported a surplus of $12,000.

Fair Profits For Weekly His Subject

Chairman of Committee on Newspaper Production Costs Makes Statement.

Publishers Must Have 20 Cents Per Inch Even With 500 Circulation.

The Times Has Twice Number of Readers Necessary to Justify Its Schedule.

The cost of producing a weekly newspaper under present conditions has lately been the subject of exhaustive investigation by the American Newspaper Publishers association, and some of the findings are startling. They prove that in but few instances are publishers receiving anywhere near the returns to which the service they render entitles them and it is only a matter of a very short time until they will go to the wall unless they employ modern methods in the conduct of their business.

E. K. Whiting of the Owatonna (Minn.) Journal-Chronicle, was chairman of this committee, and has given the newspaper men as well as the public the benefit of a few observations of his own at the same time as he submits the report, which, by the way, was approved unanimously. The investigation was made for the purpose of finding a basis of procedure that would be fair to both publisher and advertiser and the result represents the work of months and an investigation covering a large section of the country.

The Times Rate Low.

It will be noted by Mr. Whiting's article that any paper having a subscription list of 2000 should make a charge of 35 cents per inch for advertising. The Thief River Falls Times has a list of more than twice this number, yet this is the price made on contracts. If the ratio were carried out so as to cover papers in The Times class the price would be nearer 50 cents per inch, than 35 cents.

Mr. Whiting's report is interesting to any person interested in advertising costs and is absolute proof that the per inch cost for space in The Times is low when its standing and circulation is taken into consideration.

Two Examples Cited.

A part of the schedule recommended was published in this paper last week. Following are the recommendations and suggestions and made a part of the report:

"In the formulation of a schedule of advertising rates for country newspapers the committee appointed by the National Editorial association indorsed the accompanying schedule only after careful study of all cost data obtainable. The cost data of two well-known mid-West home print weeklies with circulation of 2,200 each was used as a basis upon which to build the proposed schedule. Both of these newspapers operate with Standard cost systems and the papers are very similar in makeup, size and number of pages issued during the year. The total cost of production, including ad composition, news composition, presswork, makeup, mailing, print paper, editorial department and all direct expenses chargeable to the newspaper, was $11,212.42 for one and $11,119.03 for the other.

Cost Steadily Advancing.

"In order that publishers of this class of papers may net themselves 20 per cent profit on the gross receipts of their newspapers it was shown by cost data presented that a basic rate of 35 cents an inch must be charged. This rate provides for 15 per cent agency commission for all plate contracts and a similar discount to local advertisers making yearly contracts. In this connection attention of doubting Thomases is called to the fact that the average hour costs on the two newspapers taken as a basis upon which to formulate the schedule of advertising rates, are considerably lower than the national average for 1919.

"The committee was thoroughly convinced by cost data presented that no publisher could produce an inch of advertising for less than 20 cents and for that reason papers of 500 circulation or less are given that rate. In stepping up and down from the basic rate of 35 cents for papers of 2,000 circulation one member of the committee suggested the heretofore accepted rate of one-half cent per hundred circulation. This rate was quickly rejected when it was found that print paper costing 10 cents a pound, which is the average price these days, and carrying 50 per cent advertising and 50 per cent reading matter actually costs 1 cent an inch per 500 copies for white space alone. It was found possible to decrease this "spread" slightly with papers of over 2,500 circulation due to the possibility of distributing the overhead charges over a greater volume of business.

Serious Times Ahead.

"These are indeed serious times for country publishers and few seem to have really analyzed the true reasons for the startling increase in cost of production. The prevailing prices of print paper, that by many seem to be largely responsible for increased cost of newspaper production, are in reality, but a nominal factor with the country publisher with limited circulation. Pay rolls have mounted startlingly the past few years and the day of $15 printers is fast coming to the $45 mark. The little old drum cylinder that used to cost around $800 or $900 erected in your shop, now costs three times that amount F. O. B. factory. The 10 by 15 jobber that some of us have bought in the past as low as $165 now costs the modest sum of $530. Same way with type, ink, and everything entering into the cost of printing. Why, even the "devil" now starts his profession in Minnesota with a minimum wage of $7.20 and in nine months draws down $11 a week.

"Country newspaper advertising rates have been ridiculously inadequate in the past and in order that the country publisher may survive and function in his community as he should, he must draw adequate compensation for himself and in addition make a profit from his business. In no other way can the country newspaper effectively serve its community and the nation as a whole."

There was a light frost in certain localities last week, but it did no damage to the blossoms, and prospects of anything indicating small crops are very much wanting. The cool weather will assist in making the berries larger than ever and altogether this should be a banner crop.

Free Church Closes Great Convention

addressed the convention on the Bible school movement.

English Conference.

The Oak Grove ladies' choir from Fargo, arrived at the convention from an extended tour of North Dakota and appeared in a concert on Saturday evening. The auditorium was filled and the entertainment the best of its kind ever given in the city.

The English conference of the Lutheran Free church, organized in 1905, held its convention at the same time. It was recommended that greater activity be shown in the work among young people and that a Sunday school training course be instituted.

Rev. Claus Morgan, Minneapolis, chairman of the convention, reported extensive work on the part of the field secretary.

At the Sunday morning devotionals Rev. Chr. Ytrehus, traveling secretary for the board of home missions, made an appeal for the support of more extensive work in the Northwest.

Rev. O. H. Setten, representative of the Lutheran Free church to the National Lutheran council, reported on the progress of European reconstruction work.

The question of moving Augsburg seminary to another location was discussed but no action taken.

In Aid of Institutions.

The committee on the board of organization delivered a report presenting 83 resolutions to the assembly. Suggestion for a plan of action in dealing with the following institutions were included: Norwegian Lutheran Deaconness institute at Minneapolis; Zion society for Israel; Ladies' Auxiliary league, and Minister's Pension society. Bethany college at Everett, Wash., was voted moved to Seattle. The convention also voted to consolidate the 17 church treasuries to facilitate the handling of funds.

It was recommended that the independent corporation of Oak Grove seminary at Fargo be incorporated as an integral part of the Lutheran Free church.

The only subject calling forth anything in the nature of a heated argument was the question of moving Augsburg seminary from its present location in Minneapolis. No decision was reached but the assembly seemed inclined to favor the removal of at least the deaconness department of the school to some site in the vicinity of Minneapolis where a more spacious campus could be provided.

H. Jackson of Minneapolis was elected to fill a vacancy on the board of directors of the Lutheran Free Church Messenger.

Committee Elections.

The following members were elected as a parochial educational committee: Prof. J. L. Nydall, Rev. A. Oftedal, Mrs. P. W. Erickson. A board of directors for the Bible school of the church, the establishment of which was authorized, was chosen as follows: Three year term, Rev. J. Mattson, Minneapolis; Rev. Amund Ostmo, Grand Forks. Two year term, Rev. Andrew Olson, McIntosh, Minn.; Gilbert Severson, Sand Creek, Wis. One year term, Prof. Gustav Norberg, Fargo; Prof. L. Lillehei, Minneapolis.

A music committee was appointed, composed of the following: Prof. M. Bjornson, Fargo; Rev. I. Hovdal, Hatton, N. D.; Miss Julia Brekke, Aneta, N. D.

Rev. O. H. Sletten was appointed to fill the vacancy on the organization committee made vacant by the resignation of Rev. Claus Morgan. The latter was elected transportation secretary of the church.

The following were elected as officers of the English conference: President, Rev. T. O. Burntvedt; Minneapolis; vice president, J. M. Halvorson, Northwood, N. D.; secretary, Rev. John Huiom, Madelia, Minn.; treasurer, Prof. T. A. Sneegen.

Young Peoples' Federation.

A federation of all the young peoples' societies of the church was discussed at length and a resolution authorizing establishment of such federation passed. A committee to arrange the preliminary steps was appointed as follows: Bernhard A. Helland, Minneapolis; Rev. H. A. B. Winthers, Climax; Rev. Elmer Huset, Rochester; Alfred Adsen, Minneapolis; Rev. L. M. Hostager, Brainerd. The new federation will have a membership of 7,000.

The assembly voted its unqualified approval of all steps taken to enforce national prohibition.

The Closing Sessions.

The final day brought a rush of business. Resolutions to the number of 75 were entertained but in spite of this fact the convention finished its work on schedule time. Rev. Johan Mattson, Minneapolis, the retiring chairman, proved himself a master parliamentarian and carried the business of the afternoon along at a good pace.

The committee covering the report of the board of home missions recommended a budget of $50,000 for the coming year. More extensive evangelistic work in the English language was decided upon.

A more strict observance of Sunday was advocated and the closing of the Minnesota state fair on that day recommended. The following were appointed as a committee to have charge of this matter: Rev. O. H. Sletten, Prof. G. Sverdrup, Hon. O. O. Sageng.

As a final act the board of trustees of Augsburg seminary were instructed to purchase grounds for a campus on the outskirts of Minneapolis and to establish a co-educational academy on the new site.

The convention closed with an address by Rev. I. Tollefson of Ferndale, Wash.

THANKS CITIZENS FOR COURTESIES EXTENDED VISITING DELEGATES

The Lutheran Free church has just closed in this city the most successful convention held during its 24 years of existence. It is no small undertaking for a place the size of Thief River Falls to assume the role of host to a gathering of 1,500 strangers and the fact that these were all taken care of with so little confusion and inconvenience speaks well for the co-operation extended by all our people.

I wish at this time particularly to thank the congregations and pastors of other churches in the city for the many kindnesses shown in assisting to make this even the great success it undoubtedly proved. Also the members of the school board for placing at our disposal the Central building, the city council for the free use of the auditorium and the many who without cost to them provided quarters for visiting delegates.

How Farm Production Is Geared to Demand

SINCE the discovery of petroleum, the per capita production of wheat in the United States has more than doubled, and this in the face of a constantly decreasing percentage in our farm population. The products of petroleum have been largely responsible for the increase.

In 1850, 90 percent of our people lived on farms; in 1919 only 33 percent of the population was listed as rural.

In 1850 the per capita production of wheat was 4.4 bushels, while in 1919 it was almost 9 bushels.

On the farms of the Middle West—the bread-basket of the nation—the gas engine is best known. And here this engine is plowing, seeding, and harvesting by the square mile instead of by the acre, and it is doing the work better, quicker, and cheaper than it could be done by horse-power.

These engines must have gasoline, and they must have oil, both products of petroleum.

That is why the U. S. Government declares that "petroleum is a basic necessity, as much so as wool or wheat".

The manufacture and distribution of gasoline, lubricating oils, and other petroleum products, have been developed to a high degree of efficiency by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana).

This organization, trained by years of experience to anticipate unheralded conditions, has been able to foresee and prepare to meet problems, which, unsolved, might have proved disastrous.

Even transportation and other troubles in allied industries have failed to make an appreciable interruption in the steady flow of products from the refineries of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) to the consumers of the Middle West.

Wilson-Rank.

The C. M. Wilson home, Markley avenue north, was the scene of a very pretty wedding Thursday evening, June 10th when their daughter, Miss Agnes was united in marriage to Theron L. Rank of Dover, this state. The bride looked charming in a gown of white organdie. She wore a beautiful corsage bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. There were no attendants. Directly after the ceremony a sumptuous three course wedding supper was served to the guests who included only the immediate relatives and intimate friends of the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Rank left on the flyer for the twin cities and Chicago where they will spend a two weeks' honeymoon. The bride wore a handsome traveling suit of blue taffeta with hat to match. They will be at home to their many friends at Dover where the groom is connected with a bank. The bride is one of the highly esteemed and popular young ladies of this city and has spent practically all of her life in this vicinity. She was graduated from the local high school with the class of 1912, after which she completed a course in English at the University of Minnesota. During the past two years she has been engaged as instructor of English in the local high school. Their many friends wish them all the joys of a happy wedded life.

LOCALS WIN IN GOOD GAME FROM RED LAKE

Wound Up Strong After Being Held Down During Eight Frames.

A batting rally in the eighth inning, coupled with a number of errors on the part of the visitors, gave Thief River Falls the edge on the ball game played against Red Lake Falls last Sunday. The score at the wind-up was 6 and 5, but until the eighth inning the boys from the lower town had the best of it. Then something happened to change things around. Timely hitting started a last-minute spurt which ragged fielding helped along. Five scores were gathered during this session and this proved to be just enough. The game was a good one throughout.

Thief River Falls did not score at all until the sixth inning, while the visitors secured one in the first, three in the fourth and one in the seventh, the game standing five to one in their favor at the opening of the eighth.

A return game will be played at Red Lake Falls on Sunday and the probabilities are that a large number of fans will accompany the team from here.

Following was the lineup in Sunday's game here:

T. R. F.		R. L. F.
Graden	c	Healy
B. George	ss	Breastan
L. George	2b	Duchaim
Brazel	p	Keifenheim
Herron	lf	Zens
Jonas	3b	Swaboda
Prugh	cf	Guchmitt
Millar	1b	Letendrens
Eggerud	rf	B. Duchaim

Score by innings:—
T. R. Falls 0 0 0 0 0 1 0 5 x—6
R. L. Falls 1 0 0 3 0 0 1 0 0—5
Umpire, Busse of Red Lake Falls.

O'Neill Coming to Vote; County is Still His Home

D. P. O'Neill, former state senator and at present a member of the state board of grain appeals, regards Pennington county as his home in spite of being located in Minneapolis for the time being. In a letter to County Auditor T. P. Anderson he asks that his name be registered as a voter here, but this will not be necessary as no such proceeding is required except in the large cities. "D. P." says that this is still his home and that he is coming to do all his voting where he has done it for many years past. Also that at the end of his term he is coming back as a permanent fixture.

LET COMMON SENSE DECIDE.

There really is only one good reason for retaining Halvor Steenerson as congressman from the Ninth Minnesota district. There may be a larger number in the opinion of personal friends, but so far as the people of the district are concerned there is but one and it is this: The district will be better served by his remaining where he is than by the election of any other man.

A great deal might be said concerning the things he has accomplished for the district during the eighteen years he has served as its representative, but even this would weigh but little in his favor if another were now available who would or could do more in the future. The people are to elect a man for his future usefulness, and past performances, even when these are of the highest order, are a secondary consideration.

Does any man in the district really believe that his interests could be so well looked after in Washington if another were to supplant the present congressman? If so he has a very limited knowledge of workings and processes at the national capital. A new man would be an apprentice. He would be at the bottom of the committee lists. Neither ability nor exalted purpose would get him anywhere for years to come. There are certain rules and methods of procedure connected with being a congressman that none escape. Nothing has ever overcome the priority rule. The valuable representatives are those permitted to remain on the job year after year.

Steenerson knows the ropes. He has reached a point attained by but few Minnesota congressmen before him. He and Volstead are at the head of major committees while those from the other districts are for the most part far down in the ranks.

Supposing that one of Mr. Steenerson's present opponents could be elected. No matter how hard he might try to force himself forward he could not reach the eminence now occupied by the Ninth district member inside of fifteen or eighteen years, even though the party to which he belonged remained in power continuously during that time.

Re-elect Steenerson. To do otherwise would be like discharging a tried and valued servant merely because another might at some time make just as good a man. Your own personal interests demand that just a little judgment be displayed in making this choice.

A RECORD OF ACHIEVEMENT.

There is an organization functioning in the Red River valley to which the people residing in that garden spot owe a good deal. This debt is not recognized as clearly as it should be but it is there nevertheless.

The Minnesota Red River Valley Development association is the most helpful organization of its kind in the state. Nothing in any manner pertaining to the welfare of the district escapes its attention and its work in behalf of the people residing there is carried on with intelligent persistence at all times. Secretary Charles H. Zealand of Crookston, to whose excellent work much of the success of the association is due, has just published a list of the subjects in which it has interested itself. It will be noted that in nearly every instance the work undertaken has had to do with the improvement of agricultural conditions in the section. Other activities have from time to time engaged the attention of the members, but better farming has at all times been the object towards which its energies have generally been directed.

Mr. Zealand has issued a short summary of the achievements of the association and it will be seen that they have invariably been worth while. Here they are:

For the past six years has helped in the promotion and conduction of the Red River Valley farm crops and live stock winter shows through which ported that could not extend relief the agricultural and live stock development of the valley has unquestionably received much impetus and the valley derived much good, widespread publicity.

Has continuously agitated activities toward the control of floods. Sent delegation to Washington which was successful in interesting federal authorities. Was instrumental in the formation of various of the flood control boards under the new Cliff act.

When wheat price guarantee matter was up at the opening of war, maintained constant communication with representatives at Washington in efforts to insure a fair and equitable price to the grain growers of the Red River Valley.

Has expended a considerable sum in the fight against the barberry bush as a producer of rust. Sent one member of a delegation from western states to Washington and got federal government active.

Has actively concerned itself in the matter of the sow thistle and is hopeful of being instrumental in the early eradication of this insidious and too lightly considered pest.

Before and during last potato shipping season sent numerous telegrams in efforts to increase available supply of cars for movement of Red River valley potatoes. Though the shortage remained acute, information is that the association's efforts were not without effect.

Sent telegrams in protest against proposed increase in rail-and-water transportation rates on grounds of such increase being detrimental to producers of northwest.

At time of fuel shortage last winter, sent vigorous telegrams to Washington in protest of proposed diversion of coal from head-of-lakes.

Took up with all larger publications of northwest the matter of incorrect and injurious news reports of crop conditions, storms, floods, etc., in the valley.

When relief commission of state reported that it could not extend relief to flood sufferers to the extent of seed grain loans, hurriedly arranged for delegation which succeeded in getting decision reversed and loans extended. Action which will possibly mean hundreds of thousands of dollars in production in the affected areas.

Arranged for delegations from all parts of valley to hearing at Grank Forks on Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Tidewater project. Presentation made by representatives from this side of valley said to have been of exceptionally high order, and to have materially furthered this great project which can mean so much to the northwest in the matter of transportation.

Has endeavored at all times to asculture to carry forward the great work that it is doing for the agricultural development of the section—and the perhaps greater work it is doing in the development of the rising generation of the citizenry of Minnesota Red River Valley.

HARDING AND COOLIDGE.

Republicans generally profess themselves as well satisfied with the ticket nominated at Chicago. The Democrats say that nothing could possibly have happened to suit them better. Everybody seems pleased and things are lovely.

It is certain that the nomination of Harding is something that but few Republicans in this section expected and not many wished for. An able man and most excellent citizen in every way, the general impression in this neighborhood is that he represents the old standpat element of the Republican party and is not in sympathy with the progressive wing. He prides himself on being a conserva- sist the Northwest School of Agri- tive, makes no bones of it and is one of those most violently opposed to any and everything with which President Wilson and the Democratic party has had anything to do. He is "regular" to the last degree, his friends declaring him safe, sane and dependable.

Just how traits of this character will hit the voters remains to be seen. All signs point to a Republican victory in the coming elections and while Harding is not by the majority regarded as the strongest man that could have been put up the probabilities are that he will be the next president of the United States.

Calvin Coolidge of Massachusetts, the candidate for vice president, is the more spectacular figure of the two. There are many who believe that the ticket would have been better with the candidates transposed, but the convention evidently thought differently. Coolidge is strong with certain elements but may be found weak with labor. The very act that brought him prominently before the country—that of ousting the striking policemen in Boston—may not act as an asset when it comes to attracting votes.

Present indications are that the ticket will be elected, however, whatever its shortcomings or strong points. The platform on which it is placed before the people lacks the vigor and ring of Roosevelt's days and opponents will claim that it is a compromise and a straddle. How successful they are in convincing the country of this remains to be seen.

The Democrats meet at San Francisco on the 28th for the purpose of making nominations. When this detail is completed the country will be fairly launched on another presidential campaign. That it will lack interest is not likely.

VOTE NEXT MONDAY.

The primary election in the state of Minnesota takes place next Monday. At that time the adherents of the different political divisions have the privilege of deciding upon the candidates to be voted for at the general election in November and it is as important that they indicate their choice as it is to cast their vote in the finals. In fact it is more important.

Pennington county is spared the ordeal of a county primary, something for which the people are no doubt thankful. That there will be any less interest taken in the matter than would have been the case had there been a county fight is very doubtful, however. Interest in the outcome among those who are seeking the higher places to be filled is perhaps more keen than at any other time in the state's history. The issues are sharply drawn and the voters generally have ere this decided upon their course.

The Times has no advice to offer as to how anyone should vote. That is his or her business and it is not likely that a newspaper's views would now materially affect the outcome. It is to be hoped, however, that every man in the state will give serious consideration to the duty confronting him. If this is done and the voter then casts his ballot in accordance with the conviction reached there is small danger of our doing anything very far out of the way.

It is the duty of every good citizen to go to the polling place in his precinct on Monday next and pick out the candidates of his party. Unless he does so he has but small right to roar afterwards if things do not go to suit him.

STEENERSON'S PLATFORM

Many of the people of this country, or their ancestors, came here to escape militarism. Let us keep the nation free from it. I am opposed to compulsory training or service. I believe in adequate preparation for defense, but am not for aggression or entangling alliances.

I favor raising as much as possible of the national revenue by income and inheritance taxes on the great fortunes; in using the taxing power to keep them leveled down so they will not become a menace to the freedom of the people.

There is need for much improvement in the marketing channels of the country. I believe co-operative organizations, under government encouragement and regulation, the most hopeful means toward better condition.

We should exercise the greatest possible toleration for the opinions of the individual on political, religious and other subjects. Freedom of speech may sometimes be abused, but it is one of the fundamental principles on which the nation was built, and one of the things we must be careful to preserve.

The greatest need of the nation at present is economy in government expenses. There has been spent more money during the war period than in all the years from 1776 to 1914. We must put the country back on a solid financial foundation, which can only be achieved by economy and increased production.

Elopers Caught.

Spooner News: Brooks, the blind piano man of Baudette, who eloped a week ago with a young woman from that village, leaving his wife and children behind, was arrested at Butte, Mont., this week, in company with the young woman. Both are being held awaiting extradition papers.

It seems that since leaving they had visited at points in Iowa and at Aberdeen, S. D., having registered as husband and wife while enroute.

PUBLIC FORUM

Tonnage Tax and Other Taxes.
Minneapolis, June 15.

Editor Times: In your Public Forum of June 3, I see an article from Senator Naplin on taxation, I also noticed Articles from the Minnesota Fair Tax association, whoever they may be. It occurred to me that neither party was giving all the facts, that the public might want in order to arrive at a fair decision in the matter.

The commission only gives figures friendly to its side of the argument, while the senator draws wrong conclusions from the facts as they exist today. In the first place, by what reasoning does he arrive at the conclusion that iron ore will be all mined in 32 or 50 years, as 42 was a misprint. According to figures given by the Minnesota Tax commission, from which he quotes, there was a steady increase in tonnage from 1,191,969,757 in 1907 to 1,397,717,105 tons in 1914, with a gradual falling off to 1917 when the remaining tonnage was 1,386,291,353. But what about 1919? We find that it has again jumped into the lead at 1,399,835,854 tons or 2,118,749 more tons than 1914, the high year. We also find that although there has been shipped 366,902,948 tons in the last ten years, there still remains 204,528,146 more tons on the tax books than there was ten years ago.

I am inclined to think, Senator, that the association has rather the best of the argument on that point, and that does not take into consideration the 173,473,348 tons of non-merchantable ores which are not taxed. Because of their poor quality and expense of mining they have no commercial value today, but they will have some day and then they will be taxed.

Experts estimate that there are billions of tons of low grade ore extending from Cook county in the northeast to Traverse county in the west-central part of the state, and as they are discovering more ore every year there is no reason why there will not be ore mining 500 years from now. They are just skimming the cream at the present time.

The tax commission has no set price per ton that they follow, but put a valuation on from year to year in accordance with the quality of the ore and its monetary value. As you find in the years from 1914 to 1918, although there was a decreasing tonnage each year, the assessed value was increased on account of the increased value of the ores. Your statement, Senator, as to the amount of tax paid by the iron ore people, while practically correct, was misleading to people not thoroughly acquainted with the situation as they might draw the inference from it that it was the total amount of tax paid by them. You did not give the gross earnings taxes on the ore roads, nor on the three million ton of stock pile which is assessed as personal property, so that when you take into consideration the increased value in connection with the increased rate for state purposes, you will find that if it does not quite reach $5,000,000 for 1920, it will approximate it. Add the royalty paid for state leases and you will have your five million paid into the state treasury for the year 1920. In addition their local tax for county, school, township, roads and bridges has been raised from about $9,000,000 to over $12,000,000, making a total in all of about $17,000,000, and while the state and public have been trying to get more taxes out of the steel trust, as they call it, the trust has kept on increasing its dividends and about all the farmers get out of it is increased cost of machinery.

But even at that I am in favor of a super-tax or an additional tax for the difference in the value of the ore on the surface as against its value in the ground. If the senator wishes to do something that will redound to his glory he will join in the preparation of a bill, which of course must be introduced in the house, that will provide for an advalorum tax for local purposes and a graduated tonnage tax according to the value of the ore for state purposes. I am of the opinion that he would have the support of the tax commission for such a bill.

Just a word relative to the cry: "North Dakota as It Is; Minnesota as We Would Make It." In the first place there is nothing more misleading than figures when not explained. While Minnesota has a tax levy of about 4 mills more than North Dakota, that is explainable by the fact that North Dakota bases its levy on One Hundred percent valuations of land and income property, while in Minnesota the levies are on forty percent valuation for city property and 33 1-3 percent for land. The total valuation of all property in Minnesota today is about five billion dollars. Two mills on that valuation would raise all and more than needed. We have a tax of one mill for roads which North Dakota has not and which is divided among the counties. In fact 83 of the 86 counties pay practically $4,000,000 annually less into the state treasury than they draw out.

Take Pennington county for example. We pay, in all taxes, into the state treasury in 1919 $17,208.46 and received from the same treasury $69,144.74, Pennington county receiving $51,936.28 more than it paid. The Senator's district pays a total of $41,970.75 and received $171,013.37, or $129,042.62 more than it pays. The responsibility for a part of this I plead guilty to myself.

Now let the friends of the North Dakota system show some agricultural counties that even get back as much as they pay. Then they can with some justice recommend their system to the tax payers of Pennington county.

I do not wish to tresspass on your space to go into detail as to the different items that the state of Minnesota raises the money for as against the levies in North Dakota, but might state that Minnesota at its last session of the legislature appropriated over three times as much for education and the building of educational buildings as the total tax levy of the State of North Dakota. Besides $20,000,000 for soldiers' bonus, $2,000,000 of which is levied annually for a 10 year period to be paid in cash.

D. P. O'NEILL.

Another Royal Suggestion

PIES and PASTRIES

From the NEW ROYAL COOK BOOK

CHEER up! There is no further reason for worrying about table variety. The new Royal Cook Book gives new suggestions for every meal every day. The book is so full of surprises there will never be another dull meal in the home. Here are a few suggestions from the new Royal Cook Book.

Plain Pastry

This recipe is for one large pie with top and bottom crust

- 2 cups flour
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 2 teaspoons Royal Baking Powder
- ½ cup shortening
- cold water

Sift together flour, salt and baking powder; add shortening and rub in very lightly with tips of fingers (the less it is handled the better the paste will be). Add cold water very slowly, enough to hold dough together (do not work or knead dough). Divide in halves; roll out one part thin on floured board and use for bottom crust. After pie is filled roll out other part for top.

Rich Pastry

- 2 cups pastry flour
- ½ teaspoon Royal Baking Powder
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ⅔ cup shortening
- cold water

Sift flour, baking powder and salt; add one-half shortening and rub in lightly with fingers; add water slowly until of right consistency to roll out. Divide in halves; roll out one half thin; put on in small pieces half remaining shortening; fold upper and lower edges in to center; fold sides in to center, fold sides to center again; roll out thin and put on pie plate. Repeat with other half for top crust.

Apple Pie

- 1½ cups flour
- 1½ teaspoons Royal Baking Powder
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 2 tablespoons shortening
- 4 apples, or 1 quart sliced apples
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 1 teaspoon milk

Sift flour, baking powder and salt; add shortening and rub in very lightly; add just enough cold water to hold dough together. Roll half out on floured board, line bottom of pie plate; fill in apples, which have been washed, pared and cut into thin slices; sprinkle with sugar; flavor with cinnamon or nutmeg; wet edges of crust with cold water; roll out remainder of pastry; cover pie, pressing edges tightly together and bake in moderate oven 30 minutes.

"Bake with Royal and be Sure"

What a lot of argument there used to be about a woman driving an automobile

TODAY she can "make a train" or fix a tire as well as anybody.

As soon as a luxury becomes a necessity the point of view changes.

Two or three years ago you would have listened to more varying opinions about tires than you could shake a stick at. Mileages, construction, treads and whatnot.

It's different now. Tire users are working towards a unanimous feeling.

You express it one way—the man down the street another. But sifted down it amounts to this:

That the only way to settle your tire problem is to get a tire of known value and stick to it.

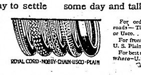
There's no guess about it.

It was the U. S. quality policy which led to the perfection of the straight-side automobile tire, the pneumatic truck tire—two of the greatest additions to tire value that have ever been made.

As representatives of the oldest and largest rubber concern in the world, we are in a position to tell you something about tire values. Come in some day and talk to us.

Select your tires according to the roads they have to travel:

In sandy or hilly country, wherever the going is apt to be heavy—The U. S. Nobby.



ROYAL CORD · NOBBY · CHAIN · USCO · PLAIN

For ordinary country roads—The U. S. Chain or Usco.

For front wheels—The U. S. Plain.

Outstanding Features of Republican Platform

The substance of the platform adopted at Chicago provides for: Farmer representation in the appointment of governmental officials and commissions; for the right of farmers to form cooperative associations for marketing their products and protection against discrimination; the study of agricultural prices and farm production costs with a view to reducing abnormal fluctuations; better transportation facilities for receiving, handling and marketing of food; an end to price fixing which arbitrarily reduces the price of food products; amendment of the farm loan act to facilitate the acquisition of farm land by those desiring to become owners and to furnish such long time credits as farmers may need to finance their larger and long time production operations.

In the matter of the relation between capital and labor the platform favors collective bargaining and proclaims against the strike or lockout which may be minimized by a properly equipped tribunal to arbitrate differences, although it does not advocate the principle of compulsory arbitration in private industries. It favors a legislative budget in governmental affairs and retrenchment in the expenditure of public money by the elimination of unnecessary officials and the raising of the standard of industries efficiency; it advocates a thorough investigation of the present organizations of federal departments and bureaus with a view to securing consolidation on a more business like basis; it promises a reduction of taxation by substituting a simple in place of the present complex tax laws, and a simplified form of income tax returns. It proclaims against the inflation of currency and credit and demands the exercise of public economy by a revision of all war imposed taxes, unusual to peace time economy, and enforcement of the antiprofiteering laws.

It opposes government ownership and operation or employe operation of railroads and indorses the transportation law enacted by the last republican congress.

It favors the encouragement and development of water transportation services in connection with commerce of the United States. It approves in general of the present law against advocates an amendment which will provide business men better means for determining in advance whether a combination is or is not lawful.

It favors the application of the workmen's compensation act to the merchant marine and of re-elevating the standard of immigrants coming to the country by adequate laws or a better enforcement of the present laws. It pronounces for free speech, free assembly and free press but favors the deportment of aliens who are a real menace to the country's peaceful existence.

It favors liberal appropriations and cooperation with the states for construction of highways and for the development of natural resources.

It favors liberal appropriation for maimed and disabled soldiers; the establishment of a women's bureau in the United States department of labor; equal pay for equal service in government positions in which women are employed and a federal law limiting the hours of employment for women in intensive industries the product of which enters into inter-state commerce.

It opposes the acceptance of a mandate for Armenia or any other country in America or Asia. It stands for an agreement among the nations to preserve the peace of the world if same can be done without depriving the people of the United States in advance the right to determine for themselves what is just and fair when the occasion arises and without involving them as participants and not as peacemakers in a multitude of quarrels the merits of which they are unable to judge.

It repudiates the policy of the present administration as relating to Mexico and says we should not recognize any Mexican government unwilling to give guarantee that life and property of American citizens be respected and protected.

HAD SUFFERED SINCE A CHILD

Life Was Made Miserable by Indigestion and Rheumatism—Tanlac Proves Merit.

"I cannot begin to express my appreciation for what Tanlac has done for me," said Mrs. D. J. Alford, 394 Van Buren street, St. Paul, Minn., recently, while telling of the remarkable benefits she has received from Tanlac.

"I had been in a more or less rundown, weakened condition as long as I can remember," continued Mrs. Alford, "but after undergoing an operation I was worse than ever. My appetite was extremely poor and after every meal I was troubled with gas on the stomach. I suffered terribly from nausea and there were only certain things and a very limited quantity of these, I could eat and retain. At times I had the worst kind of dizzy spells, when everything would just turn round and round before me and I would have to sit down to keep from falling. I woke up every morning with a severe headache which gradually wore off during the day only to return again the next morning. I also suffered with intense pain in my back and the pain in my right shoulder was so bad I could not raise my right arm. I had no energy and felt so tired and wornout all the time I could hardly manage to do my house work.

"I had noticed several statements in the newspaper from friends of mine praising Tanlac and decided I would try it myself and am glad to say I am about entirely rid of all my troubles. I have splendid appetite and can eat anything I want and as much as I want without a sign of gas or becoming nauseated afterward. Those headaches have entirely gone and those dizzy spells have about stopped. The pains in my back and right shoulder disappeared shortly after I started taking Tanlac and I can use my arm as freely as I ever could. That tired, wornout feeling is all gone and I can do my housework with the greatest ease. I have been benefited so greatly by Tanlac I am only too glad to join others who are praising it."

Tanlac is sold in Thief River Falls at Lambert's Drug Store, and at Oklee by John H. Gassman.—adv.

Winter Rye Outlook in Northwest is Very Good

With the indications now pointing to $3 or $4 wheat because of short acreage throughout the country the prospects now point to the harvesting of a very profitable rye crop in the Red River Valley counties this summer.

The reports are of an increased acreage in many of the counties and the present indications are for a heavy crop.

Winter rye is already headed out in most of the fields and it shows a heavy stand, healthy color and long well developed heads.

The recent rains came just in time and the cool weather that followed was just what was needed during the heading process.

With a fair price which seems assured the rye crop will add many thousand dollars to the income of Valley farmers this year.

Fine Shorthorn Stock Will be Offered at the Jens Letnes Farm.

Decendants of One of Most Famous Sires Ever Brought Into Section.

Fine Opportunity to Secure Purebred Animals For Foundation Stock.

The most important live-stock sale ever advertised for Pennington county will be the purebred Shorthorn dispersion sale at the Jens Letnes farm on Friday, June 25. Thirteen head are to be disposed of and among them are cows of fine breeding and good records as well as a number of particularly fine heifers.

Village Garnet, the sire of most of the individuals offered, is one of the finest Sshorthorn bulls ever brought to the Northwest. He was bred at the North Dakota Agricultural college and his decendants, both male and female, have been in the prize winning class for some time. All the young stock offered is from this strain.

Other great sires whose decendants will be represented in the offerings are Shamrock, Redbud, Scotch Hero, Empire Ray and Hoosier Count.

Registry certificates and full pedigree will go with each purchase. All the animals are in good condition and will afford purchasers just the opportunity sought for going into the purebred business.

Further information regarding this sale may be had by applying to County Agent J. J. McCann. The sale will be cried by W. J. LaBree and clerked by H. S. Dahlen. There will be a free lunch at noon.

POTATO MEN HOLD MEETING SATURDAY

Further Details Connected With Organization Will Be Discussed.

The first annual meeting of the Pennington County Potato Growers' association will be held at the office of County Agent J. J. McCann on Saturday afternoon next at 1 o'clock. The new organization has now progressed to a point where its success is assured and every man in the county who expects to go into the growing of this staple to any extent should make it a point to be present at Saturday's meeting.

Last Friday President Ludvig Mosbaek of the Minnesota Potato exchange met with members of the local association and explained further the advantages to be gained through having the local association a member of that body. Affiliation means the assurance of the crop being sold to the best advantage and at the lowest possible cost for handling. Mr. Mosbaek told of the success of state associations elsewhere and said they had proven of the greatest value to the grower.

The new association already has a large membership and it is certain that others will be glad to join when its purposes are understood. Applications may be made to be considered at the meeting Saturday and members will be admitted at once and given an opportunity to take a hand in the proceedings of the annual session.

WANTS INDEPENDENTS TO GET OFF TICKET

Committee of One Hundred Believes They are Hurting Prospects.

All independent gubernatorial candidates claiming affiliation with the republican party were requested to withdraw immediately from the field by the state Committee of One Hundred at a meeting held in St. Paul Saturday. The resolutions adopted by the committee said:

"We call on all independent candidates who claim allegiance to or presume to affiliate with the republican party, to refrain otherwise than as supporters of the republican ticket selected at the state convention of May 8.

"On behalf of the republicans of Minnesota we request that those gubernatorial candidates who have thus far permitted their supposed personal interests to replace the welfare of this party, immediately to withdraw in favor of our republican convention candidates."

THIEF RIVER CITIZEN MISTAKEN FOR KENTUCKY COLONEL AT CONVENTION

While it is possible that someone else may have been referred to, it is hardly probable. Irvin Cobb, in one of his stories of the Republican convention at Chicago, says that he has amused himself by trying to judge where a man came from by his appearance. He was not very successful. If the following description does not apply to the well-known citizen of Thief River Falls who attended the convention as an alternate, then there must have been two of them. However well justified Mr. Cobb may have been in one respect, he is away off in another—most Kentucky colonels are Democrats. Here is his story:

"Guessing by his looks where a delegate hails from is a game with which the brethren of the press stands while away the dragging hours while waiting for the convention to do something. Out of four tries I scored three misses and one bullseye. I identified a person with gray side whiskers and tan gloves as being a member of the New York delegation. He came from New Mexico. I figured that a tall weather beaten stranger in a wide white hat, with his shirt open at the throat, must inevitably belong in Texas. It turned out that he was from Maine. The only true to form Kentucky colonel in sight proved to be an alternate from Minnesota. In these days types are misleading. But I won my bet when I said a dark brown brother wearing gold rimmed spectacles hailed from Georgia. As a matter of fact, I had inside information. I knew the person. He is a power in republican politics down his way, and shaves practically all the leading democrats."

MAKER OF DANDELION WINE MAY BE FINED

Minneapolis Judge Says Decoction Must Contain Only Stipulated Percentage.

Your dandelion wine must not contain more than half of 1 per cent of alcohol, or prosecution and conviction will follow—if you are caught.

So ruled Judge H. D. Dickinson in Hennepin county district court when he sentenced Harold O. Ness to pay a fine of $100 or serve a term of three months in the workhouse. The charge to which he pleaded guilty, was manufacturing intoxicating liquor.

Ray M. Hughes, attorney for Ness, argued that his client had merely been following the usual custom of making dandelion wine for use as a spring tonic and was not strictly guilty of breaking the law, but the court failed to make any distinction.

"I will issue this warning to the public," said the judge, "that no matter from what source the dangerous juice is extracted, be it dandelions or what not, if it contains more than half of 1 per cent of alcohol there has been a violation of the law and I shall find the manufacturer guilty. The fine in this instance will be $100.

Ness paid the fine. He said he never again would make any more of the "dangerous juice."

BONUS PAYMENTS ARE TEMPORARILY HUNG UP

No More Funds Available at This Time; Will be Resumed Next Month.

Available cash exhausted, the state soldier bonus board announced no bonuses will be paid until additional funds can be raised through new sales of bonus bonds. Suspension of bonus payments during the next few months is virtually certain, bonus board members said and barring the remote possibility of a relaxation of the money market enabling the sale of the five per cent securities more bonus bonds will be paid only after the 1921 state legislature has increased the maximum interest rate to make the bonds marketable.

Bonus application will be prepared in the meantime for payments as soon as more funds are available. The bonus board has expended approximately $10,000,000 and has paid about 45,000 claims to date. More than 60,000 applications are unpaid.

A later report states that the payments will be resumed next month when more than $500,000 will be available for the purpose from current tax collections. The report is confirmed by State Treasurer Henry Rines.

La FOLLETTE MAY BE THIRD PARTY LEADER

Rumors Are Rife Tending to Show This is Program of Radicals.

A declaration by Amos Pinchot, member of the committee of forty-eight, that there possibly would be a new party presidential candidate in the field, rumors that Senator LaFollette would head the ticket as presidential candidate and the announcement that the campaign in behalf of Senator Warren G. Harding, republican presidential nominee, would be started promptly were the outstanding developments following the republican national convention which ended in Chicago Saturday evening.

The statement by Pinchot declared that the republican party had driven out of representation in its councils millions of voters who followed Roosevelt, Johnson and LaFollette" and the new party would represent these voters and "present a definite and constructive program." Reports concerning LaFollette's possible candidacy were less clearly defined and in some instances were linked with declarations made in behalf of the committee of forty-eight.

Denounce Red Flag.

The editor of the Bemidji Pioneer last week received the following communication from M[illegible] Morse, respectively p[illegible]retary of Masons' a[illegible] Union No. 6:

"We also withdraw Plasterers' Un[illegible] No. 6 of Minnesota from Central Body, for this reason: At the meeting Sunday of the Labor League the chairman made a statement why 'we' adopted the Red Flag, and what it meant. Polk County Leader: Lynn F. Frazier, governor of North Dakota for two terms and considered candidate to succeed himself to that position, has been invited to speak to the people of Polk county at the forthcoming fair, which will be held July 7, 8, 9 and 10. The invitation has been extended to Governor Frazier through the courtesy of Secretary Geise, who says that if Governor Frazier comes to Crookston, one day of the fair will be set apart for the farmers. Other political parties will also be extended the same privilege.

Back to Old Home.

Baudette Region: Thoughts of boyhood days—memories of more than a century ago—and visions of fish sparkling in the waters of extreme northern Minnesota, have proved an irrestible lure for Ga-Be-Nah-Gwan-Wonce, the 130-year-old Indian of Cass Lake.

"Old John" Smith, as he is familiarly known, today packed his rods and line and with his family departed for the Rainy River country to try again his piscatorial prowess on the waters he has not visited for nearly 115 years.

Women on a Hike.

Gonvick Banner: Mrs. D. A. Clark and sister, Mrs. Olaf Berglund, left Tuesday on a hike to Fosston. Some time ago the two women bet that they could make the trip on foot and early Tuesday morning they set out upon the 12-mile journey. Members of their families were betting that they would swing aboard a passing car before they covered the distance and are anxiously waiting a report from the walkers.

Appelants Get Damages.

Warroad Pioneer: Clerk of Court A. O. Hagen received the findings of Judge Watts on the Roosevelt road damage appeal cases this week with orders to enter judgments against the county for amounts as stated.

The findings are in accordance with the testimony presented by the appellants which tended to show that the lands were worth $100 per acre. In addition the memoranda attached show allowance for fencing at $1.00 per yard and also considers inconveniences.

Enlarging Light Plant.

Greenbush Tribune: At the special election held Tuesday the voters decided by a vote of 35 to 3 to issue bonds to install an additional unit at the electric light plant. It was a foregone conclusion that an additional unit was necessary for next winter's load, and there was no particular opposition to the bond issue. The bonds were also voted to take up the floating indebtedness by the same vote.

Good Man to Keep.
(Warroad Pioneer.)

There are many men who would make good congressmen, but it would take half a generation for them to get into position of influence in the national councils. We have a man from this district who has already arrived at leadership in congress. He is a good man, and truly represents the ideals of the agriculture of the northwest. Vote for Steenerson.

We have driven five cars across country and not a single mishap or trouble of any kind. You will appreciate the Brisco value if you make this trip. To see the Brisco factory will be worth more than the time you spend, saying nothing about the interesting trip.

What One Dollar Will Do

Imperfect Page

(Copyright.)

It is a rather wonderful thing when you stop to think about it what one lone dollar will do, if it is kept at work. This has been illustrated in a striking manner on several occasions by means of a very simple experiment. If you want to see just how important a role a silver dollar or a dollar bill plays in the life of a community here is the way to do it. Just attach a tag to the dollar and turn it loose, with the request that every person who receives the dollar make a note on the tag as to how he received it. The result will be an eye-opener.

Here is the way it works: Smith, the lumber dealer, who first possesses the dollar, buys some groceries from Brown and pays for them with the dollar. About that time Jones, the plumber, who had done some work for Brown, sends his collector around and Brown pays the bill with this dollar. Jones owes Green, the printer, a small advertising bill, so he sends this dollar with possibly some others, to Green to pay his bill. Green had just put the dollar in his cash drawer when in comes Black, the milkman, to whom Green owes a dollar for milk delivered at his home. Green takes the dollar out of his cash drawer and pays Black. For some time Black has owed White, the carpenter, for some work done on his dairy house, so now he takes the dollar that Green has paid him and pays up what he owes White. White still owes for some lumber that he bought from Smith, the lumber dealer, so he takes the dollar and squares up his account with Smith. Smith now has his dollar back. Brown has been able to pay his plumbing bill, Jones has squared up with the printer, and so on, all around the circle.

What Might Have Happened.

Now suppose that Smith, instead of buying his groceries from Brown, had purchased them from a mail order house in a far distant city and sent his dollar to pay for them. Brown would not have had that dollar to pay Jones, the plumber; Jones could not have paid his printing bill; the printer would have had to stand off the milk man; White, the carpenter, would not have got the money for the work he had done for the milkman and Smith would not have got the money which White owed him for lumber.

This is all so simple that it requires no student of accounts or professor of mathematics to figure it out. Anyone can see that when Smith sends that dollar to Chicago or some other city where the mail order houses flourish, that dollar is gone so far as Smith and Jones and Green and the rest of the people in Smith's town are concerned. That dollar will never come back to pay any bills in Smith's town, and the thing that stands out most striking, but is most often overlooked, is that Smith, the man who first spends the dollar, is hurt just as much when he sends that dollar out of town as is the home grocer from whom he might have bought his groceries.

Now just multiply this one dollar by a hundred or a thousand or ten thousand. One dollar may not seem to make much difference in the average town, but a thousand dollars or even a hundred dollars does make a difference. Just as one dollar will pay a dozen or a hundred small bills, a hundred or a thousand dollars will pay a dozen or a hundred big bills. When Brown, the grocery man, owes a thousand dollars and can't pay it, he is headed for the bankruptcy courts. When Jones, the plumber, can't collect the money which is due him from Brown or maybe a dozen Browns, he is headed in the same direction as Brown. And so it goes all around the circle until it hits Smith or a dozen Smiths who have sent their money out of town to add to the fortunes of the mail order men.

Buyer One Who Is Hurt.

Thus, it will be seen that this buy-at-home proposition is really a selfish one with the man who buys the goods. He is not hurting the home merchant when he sends his money out of town, any more than he is hurting himself.

Every sensible man knows that his livelihood depends upon whether business in his town is good or not. If business is not good, he cannot make a good living for himself and his family, no matter how hard he may work, and business cannot be good if the business men in the town are not making money. This is a plain business proposition for every man and woman in the community. By spending their money at home they are helping the home merchant only incidentally. They are buttering their own bread. When they send their money to the mail order house, they are not only hurting the home merchant incidentally but—a thing more important to them—they are likely to be taking the bread out of the mouths of their own children.

RETURNS SATISFIED FROM G. O. P. MEETING

Daniel Shaw Says He Believes Ticket Selected is a Strong One.

The probabilities are that all delegates to the Chicago convention were thankful when the battle was over and they were permitted to return to their homes. Such was the case with Daniel Shaw of this city, who attended as an alternate from the Ninth district.

"While to a man who had never been present when a major political convention held its sessions the proceedings were full of interest," said Mr. Shaw upon his return Monday, "yet the discomforts rather outweigh the advantages quite largely." While favoring Gen. Wood as the candidate himself, Mr. Shaw believes that the Harding-Coolidge combination will prove particularly strong, an opinion shared by practically all the delegates at the convention, he said.

Asked which particular speech he considered the best of all those made Mr. Shaw replied without hesitation that the effort in this respect of Mrs. Roosevelt Robinson of New York in seconding the nomination of Gen. Wood was in his judgement far ahead of anything of the kind attempted by the others.

Soldiers May Get Bonus Money Now; Discount Small

The proposed plan to enable Minnesota service men to cash their bonus claims at once by taking small discounts was declared feasible Wednesday by M. J. Desmond, superintendent of accounts in the office of State Auditor Preus.

The superintendent was first to announce that bonus payments would be temporarily resumed with funds from current tax collections which he estimated would make a total of $1,325,000 available for bonuses in thirty days, and to raise the question of whether payments cannot soon be made in anticipation of November tax collections.

"I believe the plan would prove successful and that the great majority of service men will prefer to discount their bonus claims for cash than to wait for the full amount," said Mr. Desmond.

The proposal briefly, is that the bonus board issue certificates on each claim, stating that payment will be made at a certain date, that the holders discount the certificates at fixed rates to Minnesota banks, and then that the board redeem them indirectly with regular bonus bonds.

May Decide to Celebrate Fourth Here After All

Is Thief River Falls to have a Fourth of July celebration this year? That is a question being asked by many. Because of numerous celebrations in the smaller town in the neighborhood there has been a sort of implied agreement that this city is not to bid for a crowd, but there are many who believe that this is not just the right way to feel about it.

A self-appointed committee started out this afternoon to sound out the business men on the subject and if there is interest enough evinced in the proposition to make it look like a success a big time will be staged.

One of the reasons for holding off is the general impression that a big blow-out so near the dates of the county fair might act as a damper on the latter event, but this reasoning does not seem sound to many of those who believe that the Fourth is the one day of the year on which our people should make a special effort to put on something of an appropriate character.

The committee has not yet reported but will no doubt do so at once as but a short time remains in which to get things in readiness if it is decided to go ahead with the matter.

Storm Passes Us Up.

The weather on Monday afternoon was just threatening enough to spoil the community picnic but did not get around to a point where any rain fell. Pennington county escaped almost without a wetting but in Red Lake and Polk there was the heaviest rainfall of the season and considerable damage to crops was at first reported. The weather turned cool and the water drained off rapidly, however, and it is likely that the first estimates were in excess of the actual damage.

To Keep American Ships on the Seas

For the first time since the Civil War we have a real merchant marine. It cost us $3,000,000,000 to get it.

The farmer, manufacturer, laborer—every American is interested in holding our position on the seas.

As a first step in this direction it is necessary to modify those articles of existing commercial treaties which have operated to thwart the upbuilding of our merchant marine—

By giving the notice of termination for which the several treaties provide.

Which declares it to be the policy of the United States "to do whatever may be necessary to develop and encourage" a merchant marine.

This policy deserves the support of every American.

Lacking this support the present effort to maintain our merchant marine may suffer the fate of many ineffective attempts of the past.

THERE are a few features you ought to know all about. One of them is the eccentric bushing that keeps the cutter bar lined up with the pitman.

You know how the cutter bar will get to sagging, no matter how careful you are. It bumps into clods, ant-hills, stones and stumps that you don't see until too late, and first thing you know it's hard to pull and you begin to break knife heads and have trouble.

An E-B Osborne cutter bar can be kept in line all the time—without fail—by the simplest, surest, easiest arrangements you ever saw. It won't take five minutes for you to see it and that may be a very profitable five minutes for you. Drop in on your way by.

Court Ruling Fails to Settle Paving Status

Decision Applies Only to Cities Having Home Rule Charters.

Points Raised in Thief River Falls Case Not Touched Upon.

Action Before District Court on Injunction Probably Next Move.

The expected decision in the case brought by Warren citizens for the purpose of clearing up the law regarding the paving of streets in cities of the third and fourth class was handed down on Thursday by the supreme court. So far as the matter concerns Thief River Falls, however, not much of anything has been gained one way or another.

The supreme court holds that cities operating under home rule charters in Minnesota are not permitted to enter into contracts for public improvements such as paving without first having submitted the matter to a vote of the people. As Warren is operating under a charter of this kind the decision effectively puts a stop to paving proceedings in that city until such time as an election authorizing a bond issue can be held.

It has been the prevailing impression that the decision in the Warren case would cover all actions brought to test the validity of the 1919 law, but such is not the case. The court specifically refers to cities "having home rule charters" as being prevented from proceeding under this statute, but fails to say whether or not such municipalities as may be organized under a different statute are included. Thief River Falls is not a home rule city, being organized under a different provision. There are but two other cities in the state now operating under the same statute—Cloquet and Red Lake Falls. Neither of these are parties to the action now pending having no paving campaign under way.

Up to District Court.

City Attorney H. O. Chommie, on behalf of the municipality, and Theo. Quale, attorney for the petitioners for the injunction, both state that the matter will now have to come before the district court on the regular calendar in order that a separate decision may be rendered. This will undoubtedly mean another appeal to the supreme court, no matter how the question is decided. This means that the paving program is dead for the present year. It is not likely that the case could be brought before the higher court even by stipulation before the October term and by the time the matter could be determined it would be too late to do anything until the following spring.

The contentions of the objectors, as submitted by Mr. Quale, as their reasons for asking an injunction are four in number and cover the following points: 1. That the act is unconstitutional because it places a burden upon property without due process of law. 2. That certificates of indebtedness for improvement of this kind cannot be issued without the authorization of the voters. 3. That the city council exceeded its authority in contracting to pave before having provided for the payment of such work through a tax levy. 4. That the streets of the city are not in proper condition for paving.

None of these points were touched upon by the supreme court.

Banks to Close Earlier on Saturday Afternoons

Beginning on Saturday, July 3 and continuing throughout the months of July and August, all Thief River Falls banks will close at 1 o'clock on Saturday afternoons. An advertisement signed by all four banks and announcing this change will be found in this issue of The Times.

This is a plan followed generally during the hottest weather of the year by all banks in the state. As a rule the closing hour is made 12 o'clock but in order to provide somewhat greater accommodation to the public the Thief River Falls institutions decided to extend the time an additional hour.

NORWAY SONS PICNIC GREATEST EVER HELD

Estimated That 2500 Were Present—50 Autos From Grand Forks.

Taking advantage of the ideal weather conditions, many members of the Sons and Daughters of Norway lodges in this neighborhood gathered at Squaw Point just north of the city for their annual picnic on Sunday afternoon. Grand Forks, Crookston, Twin Valley and other nearby points at which there is a large population of Norwegians were well represented, a number coming also from as far away as Devils Lake on the west and Cass Lake on the east.

Bernhard Knudsen of Snore lodge, Thief River Falls, was general chairman and addresses were made by Dr. Fortun and Prof. Aakre of Grand Forks, and H. O. Chommie of this city. The general trend of the speakers' remarks had to do with the reconstruction work now necessary all over the world in order that the effects of the war may as quickly as possible be overcome. It was urged that while it is perfectly proper to cherish a feeling of appreciation and high regard for the land of one's nativity, the first and foremost duty of all at this time is to prove worthy American citizens.

The picnic was admitted by visitors to be the best ever held by the society. Excellent singing by Braga Men's chorus, Thief River Falls, added interest to the proceedings. The games and sports furnished amusement for everybody and all had a good time. Lunch was served on the grounds and refreshments were plentiful. A tug of war between members of the local lodge and representatives of the Grand Forks organization resulted in a victory for the latter. In the ladies' contest, however, the result was transposed, the locals hauling their rivals all over the lot.

Petitions For Big Drainage Job Received

Red Lake District Commission Orders Work Along Two Streams Begun.

Marks Inaugural Step in Flood Control Plan For This Section.

Members Will Make Personal Inspection of Territory Involved.

The Red Lake Flood Control and Conservancy district commissioners held an important meeting in the court room in this city yesterday. The entire board was present—Chairman G. C. Selvig of Crookston, Frank Nelson, Holt; William Paskewitz, Grygla; August Johnson, Clearbrook, and Ed Aubol, St. Hilaire.

Petitions were received covering drainage and flood control operations on the Red Lake and Clearwater rivers and the engineer, George W. Walker, was instructed to proceed with the survey. When this is completed assessments will be made by a board of viewers who will estimate the costs and fix the amount of benefits or damages.

This means that the work will be taken up in earnest and carried out as rapidly as possible. The preliminaries have been most carefully attended to and the commissioners have at every step made certain of their ground. The proceedings mark the first step in the most important drainage undertaking ever engaged upon in this state.

To Make Personal Visits.

On July 1 the commission will begin a tour of personal inspection which will include the greater part of the drainage district. They will meet at Red Lake Falls and work northward for the purpose of securing first-hand knowledge of conditions.

Chairman Selvig says the matter will be taken hold of with enthusiasm and a determination to remedy once for all a condition that has held back the development of northwestern Minnesota for years.

While in the city Mr. Selvig also took occasion to get in a good word for the livestock pavilion to be erected on the grounds of the Northwestern Fair association at Crookston. The quota of Pennington county has been placed at the low figure of $750 and he thinks that when the importance of the matter is fully understood there will be no trouble in raising this small amount. It is a most worthy undertaking and one in which our people are as deeply interested as are those of Crookston.

REJECT ALL BIDS ON NEW SCHOOL BUILDING

Found to be About $25,000 Higher Than Estimated by Architects.

Bids for the erection of a new school building on the site of the present Knox school were opened by the board of education on Monday. There were four bidders on the general contract and about 15 who bid on some particular part of the work. Most of the contractors were present in person.

It was found that the lowest price at which the building could be erected was $104,300. Architect A. B. Dunham, who was present, stated that this was $25,000 more than had been calculated on and he recommended that all bids be rejected. Uncertain labor and transportation conditions had much to do with the high price asked, said the contractors.

The board will probably wait until spring and then re-advertise the job. Conditions may at that time have so adjusted themselves as to give contractors a more secure cost foundation to work from. This will delay the final opening of the new building but little as it would be impossible to secure material now in any event.

THE TIMES WILL HAVE SPECIAL REPORTS FROM DEMOCRAT CONVENTION

The Democratic National convention will convene at San Francisco on Monday, June 28, and The Times has made arrangements to receive special telegraphic reports of its doings through the agency of the Western Newspaper Union. This organization will have its own reporters right on the convention floor and the reports will be sent to its patrons over leased wires. There will be no better service received by any paper in the country.

During the progress of the Republican convention in Chicago The Times office was the busiest place in the city. The bulletins were found absolutely reliable and so up-to-the-minute that practically every movement was known in Thief River Falls as soon as it was announced on the streets of Chicago.

Aerial Stunts Are Featured For the Fair

Art Williams, Dare-Devil Performer With Plane, is the Headliner.

Minneapolis News Flying Circus Secured For one Day and Evening.

The Savages, Comedy Aerialists, in Sensational Performances.

A glance at the program of amusement attractions for the Pennington county fair which will be held in Thief River Falls on August 4, 5 and 6, indicates that an unusual number of the stunts will take place in the air. Secretary G. Howard Smith has completed the bookings and they are by far the most interesting and unusual ever offered at a fair in this section of the country.

Heading the list is Al. Williams, perhaps the most sensational of all air pilots. He performs unbelievable acrobatic stunts while his machine is in the air, walks out on the wings and makes a drop of 5,000 feet by the aid of a parachute.

The Flying Circus.

Arrangements have been made with the Minneapolis Daily News for the exhibition here of the flying circus staged as an advertising feature by that publication. The circus is different from anything ever seen before and is attracting a great deal of attention. Among the features to be offered by Lieut. Wilbur Larrabee, formerly of the United States Aircraft company, and an army aviator, who is with the circus, are barrel rolls, spirals, tail spins, vertical eights, loops and the latest and greatest of all aeronautical performances, "The Falling Leaf," in which Lieut. Larrabee will make a sheer drop of 5,000 feet, stopping and righting his machine when only 800 feet from the earth.

The fair association secures this circus by agreeing to see that 100 subscribers to the Minneapolis News are secured at $5 each. A popularity contest, the details of which will appear later, will enter into the arrangements for this wondrful show.

The Great Siegfred.

A ski-jumping performance in midsummer is certainly sufficiently novel to excite the interest of everyone. Siegfred, the champion ski jumper of Sweden and also the holder of the Canadian cross-country championship, will ride down a greased incline and land in a net. This is a hair-raising performance and brings out great crowds when offered as a lone attraction.

Blondin and his dog will prove the great attraction for the kiddies. Blondin is a slack wire performer and the dog is also an artist in this line.

The continuous performance division will be in charge of the Little Giant company, reputed to be one of the best in the business. This concern guarantees, under penalty of being ejected from the grounds if the agreement is not carried out, to under no circumstances permit anything in the nature of a "forty-nine" show, immodest dances or other exhibitions to which objections have been raised in the past.

There will be the usual ferris wheel, merry-go-round and a new devise known as an airplane carousal.

The coming fair is going to be the greatest ever staged in this county, which means the greatest in the Northwest.

BOY'S NECK BROKEN BY KICK OF HORSE

Lad Instantly Killed While Feeding Animal on Sunday Evening.

Edward Phelps, 14 years of age, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Phelps, was instantly killed Sunday evening by being kicked in the head by a horse on the farm of his parents in Excel township. The body was brought to this city, where the family formerly lived, and buried in Greenwood cemetery on Wednesday afternoon, the funeral being held from the Methodist church. Rev. J. B. Smith officiated.

The boy was sent to feed the horses on Sunday evening about 8 o'clock, his father being away at the time working as a member of a dredging crew. The horse struck the boy in the head, breaking his neck. Dr. A. W. Swedenburg was summoned from this city but death had been practically instantaneous.

Deceased was the eldest of eight children and was the man of the house during the time his father was away. He was a dependable and industrious boy and highly regarded in the neighborhood. He had reached the age where his assistance was of great value to his parents and the loss will be felt more keenly than usual by the large family.

STRANGE RESULT OF ELECTION IN SEVENTH

Rev. O. J. Kvale, for about three months pastor of Trinity Lutheran church in Thief River Falls, was on Monday nominated for congress in the Seventh district, defeating Andrew J. Volstead, who has held the office for 16 years. Mr. Volstead is at the present time chairman of the judiciary committee of the house, one of the most important in congress.

The result presents perhaps the strangest situation in connection with Tuesday's election. Mr. Kvale, while a minister of the Gospel, received the support of all factions who are opposed to the Volstead act for the enforcement of the bone-dry law. The fact that Mr. Volstead himself is not a teetotaler and only submitted the completed law as chairman of the committee framing it failed to make any difference. The measure is obnoxious to those who wish for a more liberal interpretation of the eighteenth amendment and they evidently hold Mr. Volstead responsible for its present drastic conditions. His opponent, being a pastor, might be expected to be even more severe in his condemnation of the liquor traffic, but this was lost sight of and the present congressman punished for something he could not help.

Rev. Kvale's home is at Benson.

Coin Stuck in Throat.

The three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William Asop, who are here from Alexandria on a visit to friends, had a narrow escape on Sunday evening when he managed to swallow a five-cent piece. The coin went part way down and became lodged. The treatments generally employed in such cases were of no avail and the little fellow was in grave danger of chocking to death. Dr. A. J. Paulson was called and located the obstruction with the aid of the X-Ray. Its extraction presented no great difficulties and the boy was all right in a short time.

Ticket Headed by Preus Winner in Primary Contest

Candidates Endorsed at Republican Elimination Convention Successful in Every Instance, Defeating Those Supported by Nonpartisan League.

Congressman Steenerson Re-elected by Majority Expected to Reach 1200. Indications Are Kvale Has Defeated Volstead For Re-election in Seventh.

Pennington County Gave Every Candidate on Nonpartisan Ticket a big Majority, City of Thief River Falls Joining in the General Stampede.

With only a few scattering precincts yet to hear from the nomination of Jacob A. O. Preus as the Republican candidate for governor by a majority variously estimated at from 12,000 to 18,000 is indicated. The entire state ticket endorsed at the elimination convention on May 8 was successful and the following will appear as the party's candidates at the election in November:

Governor, J. A. O. Preus.
Lieutenant governor, Louis L. Collins.
Secretary of state, Mike Holm.
State treasurer, Henry Rines.
Attorney general, Clifford L. Hilton.
Railroad and warehouse commissioner, O. P. B. Jacobson.

Steenerson Wins Out.

Congressman Halvor Steenerson was nominated over N. O. Thormodson by a majority of about 1200. The regular organization candidates were successful against their Nonpartisan opponents in every district except the seventh. While the returns are not yet complete the indications are that Andrew J. Volstead has been defeated by O. J. Kvale in that district. The latter is a Lutheran pastor and served the congregation in Thief River Falls for a short period during the past winter.

Steenerson carried a number of the counties which went against him two years ago but in others his lead at that time was cut down in the voting Monday. Pennington county turned against him hard, giving his opponent even a larger majority than was the case two years ago.

Democrats Choose Hodgson.

Lawrence W. Hodgson, mayor of St. Paul, was chosen as the Democratic standard bearer. But few votes were cast for the party's candidates in Pennington county, the total number being 52 of which Thorson received 18, Hodgson 10, Hargadine 8, Andrist and Indrehus 4 each, and Quane 3. Two years ago there were 72 ballots cast by the party's adherents in the county.

Jeffers For Congress.

Frank Jeffers of Red Lake Falls received the Democratic nomination for congress in the Ninth district. The vote was very light, there being but 50 votes cast in Pennington county for candidates for this office. Of these Jeffers received 36, Kellson 4, Ringborg 10 and McLennan 2.

The county gave Siegel, candidate for supreme judge with Nonpartisan endorsement, 1004 votes as compared with 225 for Judge Dibell, present incumbent and choice of the convention. Vanderbugh received 119 and Johnson 470.

Consistent Throughout.

Preus carried but one precinct in Pennington county, this being the old dependable Democratic Third ward in the city of Thief River Falls. Steenerson also carried this ward, together with the villages of St. Hilaire and Goodridge. He broke even in the First ward of the city, lost the Second by 22 and the Fourth by 18. The total vote in the city was Steenerson 285, Thormodson 317. The congressional vote in the county was considerably less than two years ago and Mr. Steenerson was the heaviest loser. Monday's result was as follows: Steenerson 606; Thormodson 1178. In 1918 the result was Steenerson 886, Barton 1159.

The vote in the county was 282 below that of two years ago. Lindbergh, the Nonpartisan candidate at that time, received 1606 as compared with 553 for Burnquist. The candidates on Monday lost about in even proportion, Preus receiving 377 and Shipstead 1479.

Preus carried but one ward in the city—the Third—where the vote stood 51 to 43 in his favor.

Tommeraasen-Moscow.

The following, taken from the columns of the Northfield News, will be of much interest to Thief River Falls readers, the groom being well known through his work at the Lincoln high school and most highly regarded by the people of the city:

"A pretty wedding occurred Thursday at high noon in the Christiana church, when Miss Mildred Moscow of this city became the bride of Albert N. Tommeraasen. The simple ring service was used with Rev. Mr. Skavland officiating. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Clary Moscow as maid of honor, and Misses Elva Schonning and Selma Slette as bridesmaids. Oscar Tommeraasen, brother of the groom, acted as best man, Minnie Grove of this city and Clara Skreen of Minneapolis were the ushers.

"The church was beautifully decorated in green and white. The bride's maid of honor sang, "Calm as the Night", just preceding the ceremony and "At Dawning" immediately after the ceremony. Minnie Fanno played the wedding march, using MacDowell's beautiful "To a Wild Rose."

"The bride's gown was a combination of white satin and georgette with crystal trimming. The bride carried a shower bouquet of white bride's roses and sweet peas. Her veil was arranged in coronet fashion with crystals and maiden hair ferns. The attendant's dresses were of pale pink, pale green, and pale blue organdie respectively.

"Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. The house was very prettily decorated, the living room in green and white, and the dining room in pink and white.

"Mr. and Mrs. Tommeraasen left for a short wedding trip to Albert Lea and Lake Mills. They will be at home after August first at Thief River Falls, where the groom is director of physical education and coach in the high school. The groom is a graduate of St. Olaf college, in the class of 1919. The bride has been employed at the Ellingboe dry goods store for several years and has many friends here."

Bakke-Suitor.

A pretty wedding was soleminzed at the bride's home in Fosston on Wednesday, June 14, when Miss Ida Bakke was united in marriage to Frank Suitor of Cass Lake. The rooms were effectively decorated in pink and white. The bridal couple entered unattended to the sweet strains of Lohengrin's wedding march played by Mrs. Evan Corrington, a friend of the bride. Mrs. Suitor was beautifully gowned in white organdie and carried a handsome corsage bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley. The ring ceremony was used. Immediately following the ceremony a four-course wedding dinner was served to the guests who included only immediate relatives. The newlyweds left the same afternoon by played by Mrs. Shelland. A corner of the living room, heavily massed with greens and banked with lilies, was turned into an improvised altar, where the officiating clergyman, Rev. J. C. Shelland, father of the bride, met the couple and read from the beautiful Ring Service. Little Hildred Shelland acted as ring bearer.

The bride wore a gown of smoke grey crepe de chine and georgette crepe, and carried a boquet of orchid colored lilies and pink roses. The groom wore the conventional black.

At the conclusion of the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served, after which the bride and groom left by auto on a trip to Salt Lake City where Mrs. Williams speaks before the National Educational association next month.

Mr. and Mrs. Williams were the recipients of many beautiful presents.

Out of town guests were: Miss Esther Larson, St. Paul; Mrs. Pernilla Williams, Margarite Mae Williams and Norman Williams, all of Rollis; Mr. and Mrs. David Johnson of Warren, and Rev. and Mrs J. C. Shelland of St. Paul.

FINE CROP OUTLOOK IN MINNESOTA GENERAL

Potatoes Hit Hardest by Wet Weather But Are Recovering Rapidly.

Crops throughout the northwest are the best in years, according to a survey made by scores of persons thruout Minnesota, Montana, North and South Dakota, says the Minneapolis Journal. In some sections, their reports show, small grains and potatoes have suffered from unusually heavy rains, but districts in which these conditions are found are scattered and not widespread enough to affect the general condition.

Although a late spring caused many farmers to decrease their acreage of spring wheat, the amount of corn and flax planted brings the acreage up to virtually the same amount as that sown in 1919. The cool weather of early spring gave the grains an exceptional opportunity to stool, with the result that recent general rains and hot weather have brought the grains along to a point estimated to be at least a week in advance of last year's crop at this time of the summer.

Damage done by tornadoes, cloudbursts and floods, reported during the past month, although heavy in some sections, is reported offset by splendid conditions generally. The Minnesota potato crop has been hit harder than others in the state by the rains of the past two weeks. Potato growers estimate that the yield will be less than it would have been with more perfect weather conditions, and predict that the tubers may not be of highest quality. In the lowlands, the heavy fall of rain has caused some loss, which cannot yet be estimated. In the western section of the state, and in some parts of the central section, as well as southeastern Minnesota, this condition is found. With favorable weather during the coming week, much of the damage which might result may be corrected.

Discharge Papers May be Recorded in All Counties

An inovation by the federal government that should be of interest and importance to discharged army and navy men is that whereby the register of deeds of each county is authorized to formally record army and navy discharges.

The matter of the safe keeping or recording of discharge papers may not appear to be of much importance at this time, but possibly a few years later they might be of great consequence to a man, and if he has not already got them placed away in a safety deposit box no time should be lost in recording them or putting them where they will be safely kept or both.

SMALL PROFIT FOR FARMERS IN WHEAT

Cost is $2.15 Per Bushel, According to Government Farm Bureau.

Cost of producing wheat of the 1919 crop averaged $2.15 a bushel, according to a survey made by the department of agriculture. At this price, the department says, half the farmers would have lost money. The government guaranteed price was $2.23.

The survey included a compilation of statistics from 481 farm. Nine representative winter wheat areas in Nebraska, Kansas and Missouri and five spring wheat areas in Minnesota, North and South Dakota were visited by field men of the office of farm management.

For winter wheat 284 records were taken and for spring wheat, 197.

On two farms the cost was as low as $1 a bushel. On 20 farms it was $5 or over. There was one farm in the winter wheat area where the cost reached $2.80. The average cost of producing winter wheat was $1.87. In the spring wheat areas the average cost was much higher—$2.65—the range running from $1.10 for one farm to $5 and over for 17 farms. If the price received had equaled the average cost, between 50 and 55 per cent of these spring wheat growers would have failed to break even.

Yields averaged 14.9 bushels an acre for the winter wheat farms, and 8.4 bushels for the spring wheat farms. The cost per acre was $27.80 for winter wheat, as against $22.40 for spring wheat.

Department specialists state that to allow a profit of 80 per cent of the wheat produced on the farms covered, the price should have been about $2.30 as compared with an average cost of $2.15. At a price covering the average cost plus 10 per cent, 85 per cent of the crop would be covered, but 40 per cent of the growers still would fail to break even.

The Work of Hoodlums.

Grand Rapids Herald-Review: A number of the pupils of the Grand Rapids high school, in an effort to show disrespect for their former principal, Mr. Cook, proceeded late Monday evening to the Chas. Chalberg home, where Mr. Cook roomed, and threw a choice collection of rotten eggs at the windows of his room. A window pane was broken, and the house and windows smeared with the eggs.

Mr. Chalberg declares that he knows a number of the boys who engaged in this outrage, and that it included a number of members of this year's graduating class. The boys were apparently afraid to perpetrate this indignity on the person of Mr. Cook himself, as he was out about the town during the evening, and no attempt was made to molest him. The action taken was evidence of contemptible cowardice.

Saving 3 Hours 53 Minutes on Every Bushel of Corn

MR. Frank D. Gardner in Successful Farming says that, with man power, from plowing to feed trough it takes four hours and thirty-four minutes work to raise one bushel of corn. The use of power machinery has reduced this to forty-one minutes, thus enabling one man to do the work of six.

The importance of this saving of time may be realized when we learn that for 1920 Iowa is short 50,000 farm hands. Similar conditions are reported from the Middle West generally. This presents a serious problem.

The answer is gasoline power used in tractor, truck and automobile. The food supply of the future depends upon gasoline.

Last year the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) provided the Middle West with power for 16,438,000 motor miles a day. Much of this went to the farms to help multiply the crops. Much of it was used in motor trucks to help the farmer get his crops to market.

The demand for gasoline was great, and the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) was ready with the supply. That silent, watchful readiness was based upon the foresight and resourcefulness of an organization trained to its task through years of experience.

The manufacture of gasoline is not the sole function of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana). Equally important is its service of placing the gasoline where the consumer can get it easily and quickly.

More than 1,300 Service Stations and over 7,000 tank wagons and trucks are operated by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) to make gasoline and lubricating oils constantly available for increasing the 1920 crops.

NO PAVING THIS YEAR.

The decision of the state supreme court holding that the law of 1919 permitting municipalities to undertake public improvements without submitting the matter to a vote of the people does not apply to villages and cities of the third class will have the effect of forcing a postponement of the paving program mapped out by many cities in the state. Thief River Falls is probably among these.

The paving program here had advanced to a point where everything was in readiness. The contract had been let and much of the preliminary work done. The people of the city were practically unanimous in their demand that paving be undertaken at once, what difference of opinion there developed being over the question of the best methods to be employed.

It is to be regretted that the matter must now be delayed. In order to pave it will now be necessary to submit the question of a bond issue to a vote of the people. While there is not the slightest doubt as to what the outcome would be in such case, the season is now so far advanced that it would be impossible to get the work under way this year.

Another feature of this decision hits Thief River Falls hard. The money with which to pay for this improvement had been contracted for at a very attractive rate of interest—5½ per cent to be exact. Interest rates are now soaring and it is doubtful if a loan of this kind could be placed for less than 7½ per cent. The difference would fall on the property owners and bring the total to a point that would prove burdensome in many instances. Money may become cheaper later on but there is small prospect of the city's getting so good a price for some time to come.

By rushing the matter it might still be possible to hold an election and get paving started early in the fall. In such case the present agreement as to the interest charge on the loan would hold good, the expiration date being Dec. 31. It is not likely that the council will take this way out of the difficulty, however, and the paving matter will probably be dropped for the time being.

Dissapointment among business men will be particularly keen. For years they have fought to have Thief River Falls lifted out of the mud and l and centered its work on the selection of one man. An energetic campaign was made for him and even Preus' staunchest supporters feared for the outcome. That he won not only shows superior political management on the part of his advisers but is a decided tribute to his own popularity.

The entire state ticket endorsed as "regular" at the elimination convention in May won out. This proves that the party organization is still in good working order and able to deliver when it comes to a showdown.

The farmers stuck to Shipstead, there can be no doubt of that fact. Had the expected support been forthcoming from the laboring men of the cities there would have been but slight chance of defeating the combination. As is generally the case when fusions of this kind are attempted the combination would not stick.

The Democratic vote was a negligible quantity and Mayor Hodgson of St. Paul received the endorsement for governor. The probabilities are, however, that these two will not be allowed to fight it out at the polls. Although defeated in the primaries the League made a sufficient showing to prove that it will be a contender in the wind-up. Cyrus M. King of Deer River, is already a candidate on the farm-labor ticket and it is expected that the Nonpartisan support will swing to him. If such should prove to be the case there is another red-hot campaign in sight.

DULUTH'S DISGRACE.

The lynching of three negroes in Duluth last week is an act passing the understanding of our people generally. Here is a northern city with a population made up generally as are others of its class in this section. The citizenry is composed largely of second generation Scandinavians, Germans and British Islanders with a good representation of Canadians. There are decendents of good old New England families and many from the Central states of the Union. It is a hard-headed, law-abiding and straight-thinking outfit. No community on earth has been louder in its condemnation of mob violence in other places.

When a populace of this description suddenly goes unbalanced there must be a reason, although in this case it does not seem to have been very clearly defined. A number of negro roustabouts connected with a circus were accused of having assaulted a white girl. Many suspects were arrested and the mob began forming. From all accounts the police must have been lame in their protection of those placed in their charge; there being evidently no determined opposition to the purpose of the lynchers. A mock trial was held, three of the negroes found guilty, taken a short distance from the jail and hanged to electric light standards. The authorities claim to have every reason for believing that two of the men executed had nothing whatever to do with the original crime.

There is nothing much to be done about this matter now except to try and find who were guilty of this outrage and make them face the penalty of the law. Duluth and St. Louis county owe it to the rest of the state to set every agency in motion to apprehend those principally responsible and there is a promise that this will be done.

The North has for years pointed the finger of accusation at the South for permitting crimes of this kind. This occurance shows, however, that under certain circumstances there is not much difference between the white men residing in Atlanta, Macon, Chicago, Omaha or Duluth. It would also seem as if negroes of a certain class are incapable of learning anything anywheres. They know that the penalty for a certain class of crime is death in a most horrible form, but these things happen just the same.

Duluth's action places a blot upon the state's name. Disregard for the orderly processes of law are not to be countenanced under any circumstances. Two wrongs will not make one right and one crime cannot in any way be expiated by the commission of another.

NOT QUITE PLAIN SAILING.

According to all signs, pottents and indications, this should be a Republican year. The candidates and platform do not suit all the voters of that party it is true, but they never do. To nominate a ticket pleasing to everyone on a platform even measurably satisfactory to all would have been out of the question under the most favorable condition, let alone where a compromise was forced.

With none but the candidates of the two parties contending for the office of president it is more than likely that Warren G. Harding would be the choice. The Democrats are being blamed for most of the things that are now happening to upset the country and the people seem determined on a change. Whether the present administration deserves to be thus accused has nothing to do with the matter. The ordinary voter does not look into these things very closely and the Republicans are making the most of the situation as they find it.

But another factor will enter into the final result. The Committee of Forty-eight, composed of representatives of the mild radicals in every state, will meet on July 10 to place a ticket in the field. They claim that the recent Republican convention played into the hands of the reactionaries and standpatters and that those who followed Roosevelt, Johnson and LaFollette in an effort to liberalize the organization have been left out in the cold.

The candidates of this third party will not be elected. No third party candidates have ever been successful in the United States. They may, however, draw enough votes from the regular ticket to again make the outcome decidedly doubtful. There are a number of states in which these ultra-progressives are rather strong and as their members have been drawn largely from the Republican party that organization will be the sufferer. It is easily conceivable that in states like the two Dakotas, Minnesota and Wisconsin a man of LaFollete's stripe might secure support enough to throw the electoral vote to the Democrats. It would make the outcome in Illinois even more doubtful.

All these are normally Republican states and if they should fall out of the party column the story of four years ago might easily be repeated.

While the third party's support would not all come from the Republicans, yet the G. O. P. would be the greatest sufferer from its entry into the field. Its activities might even spell disaster for the regular candidates. The experience of 1912 is a recent reminder of what can happen under such circumstances.

The Bemidji Pioneer says that Beltrami county is the "richest" in the state in peat lands. That is the way to feel about it. When peat is regarded as an asset most of the counties in this neighborhood are in the multi-millionaire class, Pennington being quite prominent among the top-notchers. Peat lands have not to date been considered particularly valuable property but the time is coming when this order will be changed. Billions of dollars in actual wealth is represented in the peat bogs of this section and at no distant date plans for getting the money out of it will be launched. It all takes time and in the meantime there seems to be no danger of the supply getting away.

MODIFICATION OF DRY LAW IS DEM. INTENT

More Liberal Application of Volstead Act May Be Platform Plank.

Postmaster General Burleson's statement Monday at San Francisco regarding Democratic platform issues drew particular attention among party leaders because of its frank declaration for modification of the Volstead prohibition act. Mr. Burleson's demand for repeal of "drastic and absurd" provisions of the act expressed in more direct fashion views which some of the party leaders now there previously had voiced privately. Coming from a member of President Wilson's cabinet the statement was regarded as a possible intimation of the administration's attitude on the prohibition issue before the convention.

Senator Glass of Virginia is understood to have been entrusted with the formal expression of President Wilson's views as to the platform. On other occasions, however, the postmaster general has been the direct spokesman of the president on important issues, and Democrats were inclined to take his expression as to the prohibition plank as more than a statement of his own views.

HOLD OPPONENTS FOR 8 INNINGS, THEN LOSE

Local Base Ball Team Has Hard Luck Sunday at Red Lake Falls.

It is tough luck for a baseball team to hold its opponents scoreless for eight thrilling innings and then throw the game away. That is just what the Thief River Falls nine did last Sunday at Red Lake Falls. Until the ninth frame was reached not a Red Laker had managed to get to third base. The boys from this burg played air-tight ball and absolutely had things their own way. The other lads were playing some ball at that, as is evidenced by the score, which was 5 to 4 when the session ended.

Thief River Falls had the game won right along. The fielding was excellent throughout and the battery worked like a veteran organization.

In the eighth the slaughter began. It was not because of errors on the part of one or two men that the disaster befell, the entire outfit seeming to go to pieces at once. The Red Lake boys began hitting but this would not have mattered if the bunch from this city had maintained the fielding form shown earlier in the game. The grounds were not in good shape for fielding, it is true, but even at that a better showing should have been made. Nothing doing in the sympathy line.

Next Sunday the locals play Grygla on the grounds here. They are putting up a fine quality of baseball and deserve all the support our people can give them. On July third they meet the Forest River, N. D., team at Warren on the grounds at the latter city. Warren has no team this year and a game is wanted to enliven the fair. In the Forest River outfit the locals will find the fastest-playing and hardest-hitting bunch they have yet encountered and if they can hang the scalps of these Flickertails on the fence, they will have accomplished something really worth while.

T. R. F.		R. L. F.

B. George	ss	Bristow

Given Store Robbed.

Bemidji Pioneer: The Given Hardware company store was robbed last night, approximately $25 in cash being taken from the cash register. No merchandise has been reported missing and it is believed that the robber confined himself to the drawers of the cash register.

In taking the money the robber overlooked a $5 bill in one of the drawers and considerable small change, and it is believed that while in the act of extracting the money from the drawers in the register, he hid behind the register and reached up into the drawers, fearing that by looking into them he might be discovered from the outside.

MOB WARNING SENT TO DULUTH POLICE

Lynching of Negroes Will be Probed to the Bottom Says Greene.

The special grand jury, called to investigate the original crime committed by circus Negroes against a young white girl at Duluth last week, which led to the lynching Tuesday night of three Negroes and the wrecking of the Duluth police department building and jail is continuing its investigation.

The investigation disclosed that the police department had been warned early Tuesday afternoon that a West end mob would come up to the city and make an attempt to lynch the six Negroes then held at police headquarters.

Subsequently, it was testified, firemen came to the aid of the police, but the mob cut the hose, leaving the police armed with only their night sticks. The police had been instructed by Safety Commissioner Murnian not to shoot.

It was testified that the mob was prepared to use dynamite to force an entrance into the jail. However, sledge hammers, rails and heavy bers were used and proved succe in breaking down jail doors and

WAS HARDLY ABLE TO GET HIS BREATH

[illegible] Auger Was Almost [illegible] Going When He Began Taking Tanlac. [illegible] Feels Fine Now.

"[illegible] I started taking Tanlac I [illegible] past going, but since taking [illegible] work all day without getting half as tired as I did in two [illegible] before," said E. A. Auger, R. R. No. 1, Box 12, Eagan Town, Minn. [illegible] from St. Paul, when telling of the remarkable benefits he had received from Tanlac. Mr. Auger is a farmer, and was born and raised on the farm on which he now lives. Continuing he said:

"For the past year I had been in a general run-down condition, my appetite was very poor and when I did force down a little food it would sour and I would bloat something awful. I would have intense pains in the pit of my stomach, and gas would press against my heart so bad I could hardly get my breath. My nerves were in such bad condition I could get but little sleep and I had severe spells of headaches and dizziness every few days and such awful pains in the small of my back they would nearly drive me wild. Rheumatism in my arms and shoulder blades finally got so bad it was all I could do to raise my arms. I was in such bad shape that when I started out in the morning I just had to force myself to go. I would work from one or two hours, then have to rest one or two before I could go on again. In fact, it was all I could do to keep on my feet at all.

"I saw so many statements in the newspapers from people right here in St. Paul praising Tanlac that I decided to try it. Well, sir, I have taken only three bottles so far, but it proved to be exactly what I needed. I began to get better before I had taken half a dozen doses. My appetite soon returned and I eat everything I want and everything agrees with me perfectly. I never have a headache or dizzy spell any more and the pains have entirely left my back. The rheumatism in my arms and shoulders is so much better that I believe I am about entirely over it. I am only too glad to say a good word for Tanlac, for I certainly appreciate the benefit I have received from it so quickly."

Tanlac is sold in Thief River Falls at Lambert's Drug Store, and at Oklee by John H. Gassman.—adv.

County Agent Resigns.

Warren Register: John Husby, who has been County Agent for Marshall county since the organization of the Marshall County Farm Bureau Association two years ago, has tendered his resignation to the association. Mr. Husby has been offered the position as superintendent of the animals husbandry division at the Northwest School of Agriculture at Crookston. This position will not only bring a considerable increase in salary but offers great opportunities for still further advancement.

Through Mr. Husby's efforts and his interest in the live stock industry, the breeders of Marshall county have made great strides in the development of their herds during the past two years. His good work in this line will be in evidence for years and will show greater results as the years pass by.

Last year Mr. Husby rendered valuable services to people in the eastern part of the county when he took charge of the relief work in the flooded district, which task he accomplished in a fair and equitable manner.

GOOD CATTLE STEADY; PORKERS SCORE GAIN

—Union Stock Yards, South St. Paul—It was a week of ups and downs on the hog market but at the close, best porkers had scored a net gain of 30c over last week's finish. Closing top was $14.60 with few sales below $14.25. Light and mixed hogs are quotable at $14.50@$14.60; heavy mixed $14.40@$14.50; heavy packers $12@$13; pigs $8@$13.50 and boars at $5@$8.50. Receipts were about 45,000.

The range on the cattle market widened with good dry-fed steers holding about steady while plain, between-grades and grassers declined anywhere from 50c to $1 and more. Packers wanted the good cattle and were willing to pay the price but other kinds were draggy and hard to move promptly. Loads of best steers sold at $15@$15.50, with small lots up to $16—last week's top. Bulk of other kinds sold at $8@$11 with plain, light steers down to $6. Butcher cows and heifers ranged from $7@$9.50 mainly, with choice dry-feds up to $12 occasionally. Canners and cutters were weak and lower with sales at $4@$5.50 while bulls suffered a sharp decline, selling at $6@$8 mostly. Vealers ruled steady with a $13.50 top. Stocker and feeder trade was slow and draggy with feeders going at $8.50@$10.50 mainly, and she stuff at $4.50@$7.50. Receipts were 20,000.

Best lambs advanced 50c last week but sheep ruled steady. Good spring lambs are salable at $15.50@$16 with lighter weights at $10@$12 and with culls down to $6. Ewes are selling at $2@$7 with wethers at $5@$7.25 and yearlings at $8@$11.25. The run totaled 2500.

You Don't Have to Gamble When You Buy Roofing

Trying to fill a four-flush may be good poker, but you can't afford to apply the same principle to buying roofing. And you don't have to.

Certain-teed Roofing offers you a fair and square buy. Its merits are on the table—all above board—everybody knows them.

Certain-teed Roofing is guaranteed for 5, 10 or 15 years, according to weight. That guarantee is backed by the largest manufacturers of prepared roofing in the world. In no case has Certain-teed ever been known to wear out on the roof.

Certain-teed Means Known Value

There's no gamble in that proposition. What do you get when you buy private brands? What will they do? You know nothing about them.

If you are willing to buy cheap roofing, get it at a fair price. We make a third-grade roofing, called Guard Roofing, which is satisfactory where long life is not required. It looks as good as any roofing. It is priced and sold strictly on the basis of third-grade roofing.

Any responsible dealer can get either Certain-teed or Guard for you quickly from a nearby Certain-teed warehouse or jobber. He gets it when he wants it and he gets what he wants. He can afford to sell you at a fair price.

Certain-teed

Beware of the dealer who tells you he has Certain-teed, but tries to sell you a private brand. He probably wants a bigger profit.

A Substantial Drop and A Sudden Stop

Lumber prices are down considerably from the prices of a few weeks ago. For a short time the tendency in all commodities was downward, but the decline was short-lived. Building material can today be purchased for considerably less than was the case in the spring, but there is no telling just how long this condition will continue.

The Wise Man Will Do His building Now

Everything points to an advance before fall. When this hits us it may force the prices up past the high point previously reached. One thing is certain: material cannot drop much farther under present conditions. Mills are now selling at an actual loss in order to reduce stocks. Take advantage of this condition. Do your building now. If you are too busy at this moment, at least order your supplies while the present favorable conditions prevail.

Our Experts Will Help Make Your Selections

Building plans of all kinds are also at your disposal. Service is the watchword of our business today as it has been for a quarter of a century.

IF YOU TRADE OUT OF TOWN AND I TRADE OUT OF TOWN, WHAT WILL BECOME OF OUR TOWN?

The Dollar You Spend in Thief River Falls Will "Come Home To Boost."

The Times "TRADE-AT-HOME" Campaign

Read these articles with care. They may present something you hadn't thought of before. Patronize the people who's ads. are here. They are your neighbors and will treat you right. The money you spend with them stays in circulation in Thief River Falls.

(Copyright.)

When you spend your money you naturally want to get all you can in return. No one can criticize you for having that desire. Only those who are commonly referred to as having "more money than sense" throw their money away. All others are careful to see that they do not get the worst of any bargain. But one has to be able to look farther than the end of his nose if he is to be sure that he is getting the most that he can get for his money.

That is the defense of the man who buys from the mail order house instead of patronizing the merchants in his own town. He says he can get more for his money when he buys from the mail order man than when he spends his money at home. But in arriving at that conclusion he certainly has not been able to look farther than the end of his nose.

In most cases the man who buys goods from a mail order house does so because he thinks he is getting the goods for less money than he would have to pay for them at the store in his own town. He thinks he is looking out for No. 1 and he says it is not his fault if the merchant in his town cannot make any money and is forced to go out of business. He overlooks the fact that he is likely to be as hard hit as anyone else when that merchant closes his doors but, leaving that probability out of consideration, the chances are about 10 to 1 that the buyer has really lost money on his deal with the mail order man.

Price Not Only Consideration.

If buying an article of any kind, whether it be a house and lot or a paper of pins, the price is not the only thing to be considered by any means. You are not in the habit of going into a store when you want to buy a suit of clothes and saying to the storekeeper: "Give me the cheapest suit of clothes you have in the house." You want the best suit of clothes you can get for the price you pay for it, but you don't usually want the cheapest thing you can find.

A man may delude himself into believing that when he buys a suit of clothes from a mail order house for $10 he is saving money, but what is there to justify him in such a belief? The mere fact that he is getting a suit for $10 does not mean that he is saving money. The chances are that if he should go to the man who runs the clothing store in his own town and ask for it he could get a suit of clothes for $10 and the chances are also that it would be just as good if not a better bargain than the suit which he could get from the mail order house for the same sum. It is not the price he pays that shows whether he is getting a bargain or not. It is the quality of goods that he gets for his money that counts.

Can Undersell Mail Order House.

The home merchant can sell as cheaply as the mail order man if he sells as cheap goods as the mail order man sells. His expenses are not as heavy as those of the mail order man. He pays less rent in proportion to the business he does, his taxes are less in proportion to the capital invested. His advertising bills are less than those of the mail order man in proportion to the volume of his sales. He can undersell the mail order man any day in the year if he wishes to sell only goods of the same quality and style of those sold by the mail order man, but he doesn't do this because he knows that the majority of the people in his town do not want that quality and style of goods. Therefore he keeps in stock goods of all qualities and all prices. He has the $10 suit for the man who thinks that he can get more for his money by buying a suit at that price than he can by buying a better one for $20, but he tells the customer just what he is buying.

The next time you think about buying something from a mail order house, if you ever do think of such a thing, go first to your home merchant and ask to see the article which you are thinking of buying.

Ready to Compare Prices.

Your home merchant is a business man. He gets the best values he can for his money when he buys goods, and he does not expect his customers to do anything else. All that he asks, in return for the favors he does his customers and the things he does for the good of the community is that he be given an opportunity to meet the insidious competition of the mail order house. He is perfectly willing to have his prices and his values compared to those of the mail order house, but he has a just complaint when he is not given a chance to make this comparison.

If all buyers would take the value as well as the price of the article they are buying into consideration the mail order houses would all go out of business.

Lutherans to Preserve Old Church Title

Decide by Vote of Two to One Against Eliminating "Norwegian."

Budget Providing $1,338,000, Adopted at Minneapolis Meeting.

Rev. I. T. Aastad of Thief River Falls Given Vote of Confidence.

The retention of the nationality designation in the name of the church, the endorsement of the National Lutheran council, and the adoption of a budget of $1,337,807.94 were the outstanding points in a great mass of business transacted by the Norwegian Lutheran Church of America at its general convention in Minneapolis, which closed last Thursday.

Great Budget Adopted.

Dr. J. N. Kildahl was unanimously re-elected vice president of the synod. The term is for three years.

The proposed budget for 1920-1921 was approved. It calls for appropriations of $1,337,807.94, distributed as follows:

Home missions	$310,198.81
Foreign missions	487,133.21
Charities	246,658.38
Schools	245,819.54
Administration	28,000.00

The budget was adopted following a prolonged discussion. Objection was urged against what to some appeared to be unnecessarily large administration expenses. In reply it was pointed out that on account of the large business of the church it was now necessary to employ salaried executive secretaries devoting their entire time to their work. It was also pointed out that the value of the dollar has been considerably reduced as compared with pre-war times.

Judge Andrew Grindeland of Warren, presided during the discussion of the finances, which were conducted largely in the English language.

Receives Vote of Confidence.

At the meeting of the delegates from the Northern Minnesota district Rev. I. T. Aastad of Thief River Falls who became district president following the resignation of Rev. J. M. Sundheim, was given a vote of confidence by the district. Rev. J. H. Stenberg of Duluth was elected to succeed him as vice-president. Rev. Sundheim was elected as a member of the mission committee, and Rev. H. O. Svare of Granite Falls, was elected financial secretary. The district's quota of the general budget for next year is $149,672—about $1 for each confirmed member.

Was Greatest Meeting.

Rev. Aastad, Olaf Ramstad and Olaf Tessum, the two last-named attending the convention as lay delegates from Trinity Lutheran church in this city, returned the last of the week. They all agree that it was without question the greatest gathering of Lutheran churchmen ever held in the Northwest if not in the entire country. The church is progressing at a wonderful rate and the work is being most successfully carried on in every department.

Postmaster Morgan Assists In Capturing Wolf Whelp

While making an inspection of the rural mail roads to the west of the city on Saturday Postmaster John Morgan picked up a somewhat unusual souvenir. With Albert Swenson as chauffeur Mr. Morgan was returning to the city when they observed a small animal which they at first took for a gopher in the road ahead of them. On getting closer Mr. Swenson decided that it was either a wolf or a fox and stopped the car. The men had no trouble catching the little fellow, which proved to be a wolf whelp, apparently about four weeks old. The youngster was brought to town in a gunny sack and a pen has been provided for him. Up to date he does not seem to be any the worse for his change of environment.

Miss Granum Reappointed Librarian at Present Pay

The library board has appointed Miss Gena Granum as city librarian and the city council has approved the selection. A recommendation accompanying the notification of Miss Granum's selection urging that her salary be raised from $75 to $85 per month was turned down for the present. The council felt that as salaries for the present year had been fixed it would be better to allow things to remain as they are until the first of the year when it is probable that a readjustment will have to be made in the case of all city employes.

Important Meeting of Fair Directors Saturday

There is a plan on foot to make use of the auditorium during the coming fair for the purpose of housing the boys' and girls' exhibits and the women's department. The idea is to get the assistance of the merchants, asking the latter to put in booths for the purpose of advertising and demonstrating the wares handled by them. The idea is appealing strongly to the business men, according to Mr. Smith, particularly as it is realized that the buildings on the fair grounds are inadequate for the purposes to which they are put during fair time. The auditorium would provide ample room and make the exhibit secure against damage by rain.

A meeting of business men will be held in the commercial club rooms at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon for the purpose of further discussing the matter.

Returns From Convention.

Rev. and Mrs. Albin A. Larson returned last week from attendance at the annual meeting of the Swedish Augustana synod at Johnston, N. Y. Rev. Larson was the delegate from the district conference while Mrs. Larson represented the Women's Home and Mission society. The meetings were held in the largest church of the synod in America and the building was often filled.

A great many propositions of much interest were taken up, some of which cannot be determined until next year. It was decided that the minimum salary for pastors should be placed at $1800 per year and free house rent. The Indian and foreign missions were voted continued with greater attention to be paid to the work in Porto Rico and the Soudan.

McAdoo Still Refuses Dem Leaders' Plea

Asks That Name be Not Presented as Candidate at Frisco Convention.

CONFLICTING REPORTS ON NORTH DAKOTA PRIMARIES

The result of the primary election held yesterday in North Dakota is still in doubt. From Non-partisan sources comes the information that Frazier has carried the first precincts heard from—those in the Red River valley—by a majority of 2,500 votes. Langer's supporters claim, however, that their man has a lead of 9,000 in the 295 precincts heard from up to 9 o'clock this morning.

It is not likely that any ballot on a candidate for the Democratic nomination for president will be taken until this afternoon. This is the latest word from San Francisco.

There are almost as many candidates mentioned as was the case at the Republican convention in Chicago. Yesterday was the time for entries and the following were placed in nomination: Senator Owen of Oklahoma, Homer Cummings of Connecticut; Ex-Governor Schallenberger of Nebraska; A. Mitchell Palmer of Pennsylvania; Secretary of Agriculture Meredith of Iowa.

W. G. McAdoo's name was not presented, he having requested that it be withheld. By many this move is looked upon as a maneuver to force the convention to "draft" him when it finally comes to a show down.

Moderately Wet.

Several hours of debate yesterday failed to bring the platform committee into agreement on the prohibition issue. Secretary of State Bainbridge Colby is leading the fight for light beers and wines, with President Wilson's support, it is understood. Bryan is making the fight of his life against the incorporation of any such plank in the platform.

League of Nations to Fore.

The League of Nations plank approved by President Wilson has been made a part of the platform. It states among other things:

"The democratic party favors a League of Nations as the surest, if not the only practicable means of maintaining the permanent peace of the world and terminating the insufferable burden of great military and naval establishments.

"It was for this that America broke away from traditional isolation and spent her blood and treasure to crush a colossal scheme of conquest.

"It was upon this basis that the president of the United States in prearrangement with our Allies consented to a cessation of hostilities against the imperial German government and upon this basis that the armistice was granted and a treaty of peace was negotiated.

"The honor and integrity of the United States are involved in ratification of this agreement, which brought war to an end."

425 Pledged Against McAdoo.

After a careful checking up of the delegations, it was stated by one of the authors of the measures of common defense that approximately 425 delegates were pledged to stand pat against McAdoo as long as his name is before the convention. If these hopes should be realized McAdoo would be left at best about 100 votes short of the two-thirds majority.

DECLINE RE-ELECTION AS SCHOOL TRUSTEES

H. S. Dahlen and F. F. Haynes Soon to Retire From Board.

The annual school election this year falls on Saturday, July 15. Calling attention to this fact thus early is at the request of the retiring members, H. S. Dahlen and F. F. Haynes. As neither of these gentlemen will be a candidate to succeed himself it is the wish of both that this fact be made known in order that the people of the district may have ample time in which to decide upon their successor.

Mr. Dahlen has served six years as a member of the board of education and feels that he should now make room for another man. He positively declines to stand as a candidate for re-election, giving as his reason the fact that his private business affairs will not permit of his devoting the necessary time to the work. He has been a most capable and conscientious official and there is no doubt of his being retained for another term if he could be prevailed upon to accept. Mr. Dahlen states that he deeply appreciates the many kindnesses shown him during his term of office and regrets that it is impossible longer for him to continue in a service that has proven most pleasant.

The same holds good in the case of Mr. Haynes. He is serving his first term and has given the duties of the office all the time his varied business interests permitted. He feels that this has at times been insufficient and has decided that someone who can devote more attention to the constantly growing needs of the district should be chosen. Were it not that he expects to be away from the city a good share of the time he would be pleased to again offer his services but he says conditions are such that he must decline.

Pioneer Clergyman Leaves Next Week With Family For New Residence.

Rev. and Mrs. I. T. Aastad and children will leave in a few days for Detroit, Minn., which city will be their home for the present at least. Rev. Aastad is president of the Northern Minnesota district of the Lutheran church and finds that his territory can be served somewhat more conveniently from the Becker county city. Besides the conference has purchased a home for the president in that city which fact also makes his residence there an object.

Rev. Aastad is the oldest pastor in point of service now residing in Thief River Falls. He served the congregation of the former Synod church for more than 22 years previous to his taking up his present post. No other clergyman has ever become so closely identified with the varied interests of the community and his departure will take from our city one of its most prominent and popular residents.

Coming to Thief River Falls immediately upon having completed his theological studies at the seminary, Rev. Aastad has never held another charge since that time although calls to other churches have been numerous. His record in this respect is somewhat unusual there being very few pastors in the entire conference who can show a longer term of service in one place. It also perhaps testifies more strongly than anything else to his general worth and character. Church people of every denomination will miss him almost as keenly as those with whom he has served directly during the past quarter of a century and will wish him and his excellent family every success in their new home.

NO CELEBRATION HERE ON FOURTH OF JULY

People of City Will Go to Nearby Points to Make Eagle Scream.

It has definitely been decided that there is to be no community celebration of the Fourth of July in Thief River Falls this year. It was for some time thought that the band or the base ball boys might wish to take hold of the matter but they have evidently decided that it will be better for everyone concerned if the bigger town does not cut in on the celebrations planned by its neighbors at this time.

Many citizens have already made plans for spending the day at other points. Middle River will receive a large contingent, there being a regular old-fashioned celebration planned for that town. Grygla will also be a point of interest. In some instances a trip will be made to nearby lakes for a two-day sojourn, there being no business houses open in the city on Monday.

One reason for this action on the part of the people of Thief River Falls is that they wish to remain on the best possible terms with their neighbors. The Pennington county fair will be held about the first of August and that event is sufficient in the way of a general celebration for some time to come. Giving the smaller neighbors a chance to hold a jubilation without any counter attraction on the part of the larger town has been found to help the general good feeling. At that there are many who believe that we should have a celebration of some kind. It is now too late to undertake anything of this kind, however.

Ball Game at St. Hilaire is Attraction For Fourth

The Thief River Falls base ball team goes to St. Hilaire Sunday with blood in its collective eye. A couple of Sundays ago they made a trip to the neighboring town and were beaten by a small margin. They are determined to wipe out the disgrace in Sunday's game or be brought back in an ambulance.

As there is no other celebration of the Fourth until Monday there should be a large delegation go to St. Hilaire with the ball team. The boys will need all the encouragement they can get as the bunch in the south end of the county are a fast, husky lot. If nothing of greater importance occurs to prevent your being present it will prove a most interesting way to spend the afternoon.

Hopper Pest Threatens to Lower Yield

Menace Reported Serious in Certain Sections of Pennington County.

Devoting Attention to Grasses at Present But Must be Checked.

Farm Bureau Opens War and Issues Instructions For General Combat.

The grasshoppers have been reported a serious menace in many parts of Pennington county during the last few days. They are feeding mostly on the timothy and other grass crops at the present time but if not checked will move to rye and grain fields later in the season.

C. Jensen of University Extension Division worked with County Agent J. J. McCann on Tuesday, preparing the bran mash poison for fourteen farmers in the eastern part of the county. In places where this had been tried a few days ago many hoppers were found dead on the fields.

Are Easily Poisoned.

The large locust has not appeared in the county up to the present time. They do much more damage in a shorter time than is done by the small hopper.

Either the locust or the small hopper can be successfully eradicated by the use of poison bran mash as follows: Four pounds of paris green, one-hundred pounds of bran, two gallons of molasses, twelve lemons, four pounds of salt, sixteen gallons of water. Mix paris green and bran dry on a floor. After mixing molasses, lemons, salt and water add slowly to paris green and bran and mix with a shovel until all bran is moist. This should be mixed in the morning and covered with a blanket until five o'clock in the afternoon so that the poison may soak into the bran. Then spread the mixture on the field broadcast by hand where the hoppers are the worst. It is not necessary to cover the entire field as the lemons and molasses attract the hopper to any part of the lot. One hundred pounds will cover twenty acres of grain.

Delay is Dangerous.

It is important that steps be taken for the eradication of this pest as soon as it puts in an appearance. Apply the above mixture to infested fields at once and notify Mr. McCann, who is not taken unawares by this invasion and is prepared to help anyone whose crops are threatened. If the hopper can be stopped before getting into the grain the work of eradication will be much easier.

Has Sleeping Sickness; Is Slowly Recovering

Herman Carlson, 18 years of age, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Carlson, South St. Paul avenue, is slowly recovering from an attack of the sleeping sickness of which he has been a victim for three weeks. The attack followed a siege of the flu and his is one of the few cases reported from this neighborhood in which there has been any hope of recovery. For three weeks he has been in a state bordering on unconsciousness so far as appearances went and seemed unable to rouse himself. Lately, however, he has improved and there is now every hope of his ultimate recovery. There have been three or four similar cases reported in the county within the past two years and in none has a recovery resulted.

TRI-COUNTY FAIR AT GOODRIDGE IN SEPT.

Second Event to be Greater in Every Respect Than First Attempt.

Goodridge has again been decided on as the place for holding the Tri-County fair and the dates are set for Sept. 20 and 21. This fair is intended particularly to be an exhibition of the products raised in the eastern end of Pennington, southern Marshall and western Beltrami counties. Last year, because of poor road conditions and the late start, the two last-named communities were not very strongly in evidence but it is hoped that this season there will be a better representation.

The Goodridge fair last year was the talk of Northwestern Minnesota. The products displayed were as fine as any produced any place in the state and the variety fully as great. It proved that the section around Goodridge is wonderfully well adapted to diversified farming as well as stock raising and the region received a lot of invaluable advertising. Conditions during the present season are an improvement over last in every way and the fair will be correspondingly greater. Thoroughbred livestock of all classes will be more prominently featured, large numbers of fine animals having been shipped in during the past twelve months. The officers and division heads are enthusiastic workers and from now on until the first day of the fair they will make its success the great object of whatever work is undertaken. It is certain that other sections of the county will take a much greater interest in the event than was the case a year ago.

CITY STORES WILL CLOSE ALL DAY ON THE FOURTH

The closing committee of the Merchants' association has notified all business houses to remain closed during the entire day on Monday, July 5. It is requested that all store patrons bear this fact in mind so as not to be inconvenienced. The merchants and clerks are all planning to celebrate the nation's natal day in some manner and the fact of its coming on Monday gives them an opportunity for a two-day outing.

Do not neglect to secure enough of everything on Saturday night to last until Tuesday morning as there will be no way of breaking into a Thief River Falls store except with a crow bar until that time.

Auto Stalled on Crossing; Four Injured

Soo Train Hits Machine Containing Entire Family at Karlstad.

Mother Still in Serious Condition at Hospital in This City.

One Daughter Jumped For Safety and Escaped Without Injury.

Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Lyon, farmers residing in the neighborhood of Karlstad, a daughter Eva, and two sons Earl and Richard, had a narrow escape from instant death when an automobile in which they were riding stalled on the Soo crossing near their home Sunday afternoon. Four members of the family were more or less severely hurt, but the one most dangerously injured was Mrs. Lyon. She was brought to this city on a special and placed in the hospital where she showed no signs of regaining consciousness for more than 36 hours. Reports this morning are to the effect that she is somewhat improved and that there is every reason for expecting her recovery.

Jumped Just in Time.

The daughter, Eva, who is here with her mother, had the presence of mind to jump when she saw that it would be impossible to get the car started in time to avoid the train, and escaped unhurt. Mr. Lyons and the two boys were taken to Karlstad where they received attention. The former has several broken ribs and is badly bruised about the head and body.

Mrs. Lyon has a number of scalp wounds but no scull injury is evident. Two fingers on the right hand were torn nearly off and the left is badly crushed. Amputation of the mangled fingers was found necessary, but Dr. A. W. Swedenberg, who is in charge, believes that the remainder may be saved. The injured woman is also suffering from the shock and is conscious only at short intervals.

Saw Train Coming.

According to the story told by the daughter as well as the train crew, the family had ample time to cross the track ahead of the train. In climbing the slight grade along side of the track the engine was killed and instead of jumping to safety four of the occupants stayed in the car while Mr. Lyon, who was driving, vainly attempted to get the machine going. The train, which was a fast freight, struck the car square and the wonder is that every person in it was not killed outright.

Train Crew Not Blamed.

It is stated that those injured are not disposed to blame the train crew in any way. When it became apparent that the car could not be started in time to avoid an accident it was too late to bring the heavy train to a stop.

Appropriation by Council As Aid to County Fair

Following the usual custom the city council will appropriate a sum at its next meeting to assist the county fair management in putting on the annual exhibit on August 3, 4 and 5. Secretary G. Howard Smith waited on the councilmen at the last meeting and asked that the matter be not neglected as it is the intention to have the greatest fair in the history of the county and it is going to cost money. He explained that there was objection to going among the business men and asking for donations outright, as this plan has been followed until it no longer possesses any charm.

Last year the council appropriated $400 for this purpose and it is probable that this action may be repeated, although Mr. Smith did not insist upon it and one or two of the councilmen were inclined to the opinion that the county should stand rather the heavier donation. Assurance was given, however, that an appropriation would be forthcoming.

Arrange For Biggest Fair Held to Date

Attractions the Most Wonderful Ever Seen in This Entire Section.

Judges and Committee Chairmen Appointed Are Already at Work.

Merchants Enthusiastic Over Industrial Exhibit at Auditorium.

Pennington county has always had good county fairs, the last three having without question been the best held in Northern Minnesota. Particularly is this true as regards the amusement attractions that have been offered.

This year the aim of the fair management is to eclipse all former efforts so far that when a county fair is mentioned any place in this neighborhood it will be taken for granted that the big show at Thief River Falls is referred to. Every detail connected with the arrangements is on a larger and more elaborate scale than ever before and the only thing that can prevent its being the greatest of all successes is a freakish spell of weather.

Amusements Featured.

It is realized that it takes something besides fine cattle, fat hogs, heavy grain and premium butter to make up a county fair that will satisfy the people these days. They want features that will help take their minds off business affairs, whether these be of the farm, the workshop, profession or trade. They get enough of these things throughout the year under any circumstances and are only too glad when something a little out of the ordinary is provided for them.

Much of the entertainment furnished at the fair this year will take place in the air. Some of the acts provided are sensational in the extreme and will be seen at no other fair in this section.

Al Williams, the premier airman of the West, alone would be drawing card enough for most fairs. Besides him, however, there is the Flying Circus, concerning which more information is given in the fair association's advertisement in this issue. Miss Edna O'Brien is the first to enter her name as a contestant. Future advertisements will acquaint our people fully with the acts of the different dare-devils as well as the other free exhibitions.

Division Judges Named.

The judging particularly in the livestock division, will be in the hands of the most competent men in the state. W. A. McKerrow of University farm, will judge the dairy cattle, horses and sheep; W. M. Morris, also a member of the University farm faculty, will decide in the cases of beef cattle and hogs; C. E. Brown, the Crookston poultry expert, will be the aviator in that division. Perry Johnson of Thief River Falls, will also be a judge in the beef cattle class.

Concessions Available.

It is the desire of the directors that the concessions at the grounds be taken over by local people as far as possible. Numerous requests have been received from outsiders asking that they be permitted to offer their wares during the fair, but these will be held off until all local organizations have had an opportunity to express their wishes. Lodges, church societies and others have heretofore gathered in considerable money by catering to the needs of the crowd and they will doubtless wish to do so again.

The premium list is now in the hands of the printer and will be ready for distribution in a short time. Large numbers will be mailed out but those not receiving them in this manner may secure any number by applying at the office of The Times, the farm bureau office or at the banks in the county.

MUSIC HOUSE OPENS FINE NEW QUARTERS

Grand Public Reception to be Held on Saturday Evening.

The Thief River Music company will on Saturday evening formally open new quarters in the Christo building at 215 East Third street. This concern has been handicapped for space ever since its stock and equipment was destroyed by fire last winter and was only recently able to make arrangements for a store and workroom suitable to its purpose.

Traveling men who have inspected the new store say that there is nothing finer in the state outside the twin cities. The salesroom is finished in ivory enamel against a dark brown background, making a rich and striking combination. Demonstration booths for phonograph records have been installed making it possible to run at least three pieces at one time without causing any confusion of sound. Every detail has been most carefully looked after and when everything is in readiness there will not be an item missing.

T. J. Hagen, F. S. Ebert and Roy Halseth, owners of this beautiful store, have decided to give a public reception and general opening on Saturday evening. There will be vocal and instrumental music and each visitor will be presented with a souvenir. Gentlemen visitors will receive cigars and there will be flowers for the ladies.

The Thief River Music company's store is one in which the entire city takes pride and there is no doubt but that a large crowd will be present to assist the enterprising proprietors in their housewarming.

DESPONDENT, TRIES TO END HER LIFE IN RIVER

Young Woman on Tuesday Tuesday Jumps Into Stream With Suicidal Intent.

Mrs. Josephine McClelland, a waitress, 17 years of age, on Tuesday afternoon made an unsuccessful attempt to commit suicide by jumping into the Red Lake river just below the dam. She was fished out apparently dead but had shipped but little water and was within a short time sufficiently recovered to warrant her release from the hospital.

The young woman, who is only 17 years of age according to acquaintances here, has had considerable trouble during the past two years and this is responsible for the mental state which brought about the desire to do away with herself. Married when only 15 years of age, her husband left her without means of any kind shortly after the wedding day and has not been heard of since. Her own people, who reside near Strathcona, it is understood, treated her anything but kindly because of her early marriage and she has had altogether too hard a time of it for a youngster.

Yesterday morning Sheriff W. J. LaBree took her to the home of her parents where he is prepared to make such explanations as are necessary.

BREMER MAKES GOOD GRYGLA BANK DEFICIT

St. Paul Man Personally Takes Loss of Depositors and Stockholders.

Creditors will lose nothing through the closing of the Farmers' State bank of Grygla. Otto Bremer, St. Paul banker, having sent them his personal check for an amount in excess of $10,000 for the difference between their claims and the first and final 55.55 per cent dividends paid last week by F. E. Pearson, state superintendent of banks. Mr. Bremer refused to give the exact amount.

Mr. Bremer besides being a stockholder was also the largest depositor in the bank and lost accordingly, in addition to the cost of personally making good on the claims of other depositors.

"I have complied with all legal demands under our laws on account of being a stockholder," said letters accompanying Mr. Bremer's check. "Regardless of this, I still feel a moral obligation to local depositors of the bank, as some may have intrusted their money to it on account of my name appearing as one of its officers."

The Grygla bank closed June 22, 1918.

FINE CONCERT TROUP HERE SUNDAY EVENING

Gustavians to Present Varied Program Under Swedish Church Auspices.

There is an unusual treat in store for the music lovers of Thief River Falls and vicinity. On Sunday evening there will be a concert by the Gustavians, the famous musical organization from Gustavus Adolphus college. While the attraction is brought to this city under the auspices of the Swedish Lutheran church the concert will be given in Trinity Lutheran. The latter edifice is the larger of the two and besides contains a particularly fine pipe organ, an instrument which plays an important part in the concert.

Besides the organ recital there will be selections for voice, violin, cello, viola and piano.

The troup is making a tour of Northwestern cities and has everywhere meet with the most pronounced approval. It is not often that our people are given an opportunity of listening to an organization of the first rank and it is certain that the size of the crowd will only be limited by the capacity of the building.

An admission fee of 50 cents will be charged and tickets may be had at the Thief River Music company's store.

Big Award In Personal Injury Case

Lost Foot in Yards While at Work as Fireman in Fall of 1918.

Asked For $25,000, Claiming Defective Equipment Was Cause of Accident.

A jury in district court here last evening brought in a verdict of $11,000 in favor of Fred Brendecke and against the United States Railroad administration. Brendecke sued for $25,000 as damages for the loss of a foot while at work as a fireman on the Great Northern during the time the road was under federal control.

The accident happened on October 24, 1918, at which time Brendecke was firing an engine at work in the yards in this city. The complaint alleged that while in the pursuit of his duties he descended from the cab and on again attempting to get aboard he stepped on a defective car step which swung away under his weight with the result that one of his feet was caught under the front wheel of the tender and so badly crushed that amputation was necessary.

Sam A. Anderson of Minneapolis and Hans O. Chommie of this city were attorneys for Brendecke, while the government was represented in court by A. L. Janes, counsel for the Great Northern, and E. M. Stanton of this city.

Verdict Quickly Reached.

The case occupied two days, being the first called on the June term calendar. The taking of testimony was completed yesterday afternoon and the jury retired shortly after 7 o'clock in the evening. The verdict was sealed and the result was not known until the opening of court at 9 o'clock this morning.

Calendar is Short.

The June term of district court promises to be a short one. There are but eight other new cases on the civil calendar, while there are 17 left over from last term. The new causes of action are: John Bratrud vs. A. T. Hauge; Joseph F. Kokosh vs. Rose Morin; A. J. Lawrence vs. G. C. Williams et al; Julius Zwer vs. Carl Zwer; Thena Rustad vs. L. A. Lampert; Peter Nelson et al vs. Board of Supervisors Township of Smiley; Belle Iverson vs. Henry Iverson; Nels Fountain et al vs. City of Thief River Falls.

No grand jury was called for this session of court and there is only one case continued from last term. This is the petit larceny charge against Earl Long which has been on the calendar for nearly two years.

ELSWORTH MAY TRY AGAIN; VOLSTEAD TOO

Nothing in Primary Election Law to Prevent Their Going on Ticket.

Although defeated for nomination in the recent Republican primaries, Franklin F. Ellsworth of Mankato may run for Governor by petition, and Congressman Andrew Volstead by the sticker route in the November election for the offices they seek, according to informal opinion given Monday in the office of Attorney General Clifford L. Hilton.

It was pointed out that a 1913 amendment of the 1905 primary election law omitted, perhaps inadvertently the words, "defeated candidate at the primary election shall be ineligible for nomination for the same office under the provisions of this section."

By way of precedent it was recalled that Fred E. Tilquist of St. Paul, after being defeated for the Republican nomination for state railroad and warehouse commissioner in the primary, ran as a farmer-labor candidate for the same office at the general election.

Will Make War on Rats At Incinerator Grounds

Councilman O. L. Ihle offers to fix 'em. Complaint has been made to the city council that rats in the vicinity of the incinerator plant are multiplying at an astounding rate and will soon be a menace to life and property. The condition is one for which those dumping refuse at the plant are in a great measure to blame, but measures for protecting the public will have to be taken nevertheless.

Councilman Ihle stated that he would secure the necessary help and drench the places where the rodents have their quarters with kerosene and set fire to them. He says it will take in the neighborhood of 500 gallons but that rats will be scarce when he is through. The fire will also clear up a whole lot of rubbish that has been permitted to accumulate, consisting mostly of tin cans and other containers. These make excellent hiding places for the pests.

One of these days when the wind is just right there is going to be a cleaning out at the incinerator and the death rate in the rat colony will be something fearful.

Entered as second-class matter at the Postoffice at Thief River Falls, Minn.

THIS IS THE BUYERS' TURN.

For four years the consumer has watched the things he must have in order to live steadily advance until they reached a point where many of them were practically unattainable. He has been promised relief through one source or another every so often only to find that the upward trend continued. He sees a rift in the cloud of gloom and is rejoicing accordingly.

Prices of necessities are on the downward path—there can hardly be a doubt of it. This condition may not continue, but it surely is most welcome while it does last. The reductions are not yet so startling as to cause heartfailure on the part of the public, but there is a difference nevertheless.

A glance at the pages of The Times today will convince any person interested of the fact that there are great bargains to be had on articles of quality right here in Thief River Falls. The situation in this city reflects the feeling everywhere. Merchants do not wish to be caught with heavy stocks. There is no indication of an immediate break of sufficient magnitude to warrant anyone in believing that the bottom is going to fall out of things but it is a fact that right at the present moment goods can be bought for less than at any time within the last three years. This is particularly true of wearing apparel. Clothing and shoes for both men and women are cheaper today than for some time past and, it is to be feared, cheaper than they may be for some time to come. Replacements are still being made at very high prices and wholesalers state that even these will increase. The desire to cut down on stocks carried is responsible for the decline in a much greater degree than are reduced first costs.

For this reason the wise man and woman will buy now. The saving is very real at the present moment but conditions may at any time make it necessary for merchants to withdraw the opportunity. Just now most of them need the money worse than they do the stock. Should they later need stock worse than they do money and still be unable to get it, prices will again bound. The safe way is to buy now. It is not probable that things will go much lower with the present undercurrent, while the next high cost wave may swing them up away past their former level.

GO AFTER THE HOPPERS.

County Agent J. J. McCann has sounded the warning. He states that the grasshopper menace is very real and that it behooves every farmer in Pennington county to be on the lookout for the pests. As yet the visitation is not general and only grasses in a few places are attacked. Unless every precaution is taken, however, it will be but a short time until the rapidly heading rye will fall before this marauder, after which other grains may follow.

Grasshoppers have done but little damage in this section for a long time. Last year there were places where the insects were responsible for a small amount of loss, but prompt action at that time doubtless saved thousands of dollars worth of crops. The same promptness will have to be displayed again. Mr. McCann states that in a few places the grasshoppers have appeared in sufficient numbers to make the situation alarming and he calls upon every person to assist him in waging the war.

In another section of The Times today more detailed attention is called to this threatening plague. Read the advice as to what to do when the hoppers first put in an appearance—and do not wait. Do not even wait for them to appear on your premises before preparing. Secure the ingredients for dosing them now. If you do not need anything of the kind, so much the better. If you do need it, the fact of your having it ready will save you hundreds of dollars.

There is nothing to be alarmed over particularly. Common sense, however, dictates that every precautionary measure should be taken. Give them the bran mash the first thing and then notify Mr. McCann. He will help you make the fight.

WE'LL ALL GO AGAIN.

The people of Goodridge have decided to hold another Tri-County fair in that village despite the fact that but little encouragement in the way of outside support has been secured. The county commissioners very properly figured that as matters now stand appropriations for two different fairs are hardly justified. They have some such arrangement down in Polk county, one fair being held in Crookston and the other at Fosston and the plan seems to be working out fairly well. Polk is a large county, however, being nearly four times the size of Pennington, and what is advisable down there might not prove a good thing for the people here.

The fair at Goodridge last year was a hummer. For a first attempt it had anything beaten ever seen in this section. No one can blame the people residing in the neighborhood for wishing to show the world the really wonderful products that can be raised there, and as the county fair dates are now arranged there is no other way of making a show except by holding an exhibition later in the year. On the other hand the county commissioners cannot be blamed for refusing to appropriate public money for something that at best will benefit only a small portion of the community and in which but a small percentage of the population are directly interested.

It may be that some day when there will be a strictly agricultural fair held in the county and when that time comes the claims of Goodridge as its location should be most carefully considered. For the present what little money is available for such purposes might better be devoted to making one enterprise a success. There is not enough of it to divide and such action would only result in eventually crippling both fairs.

Everyone will hope that the fair at Goodridge on September 20 and 21 will be a success. Hundreds will go from this city and none will be more pleased to note the wonderful progress the section is making.

NO TIME TO GET SMART.

Editors of certain Republican newspapers in this state are doing something they may later on have cause to regret. In their jubilation over the fact that their ticket carried in the primaries they are taking the usual shots at the Democrats for good measure and referring derisively to the poor showing made by that party's candidates in the contest.

There is more than a possibility that these same Republicans will be calling for help before the final vote is cast in November, and it would not be the first time. Two years ago the Democrats patriotically abandoned an admirable candidate of their own to help elect Burnquist on a war service platform. There are any number of careful observers who maintain that had the party at that time stuck to their ticket Fred Wheaton instead of Burnquist might have been governor. It is certain that but for their aid the latter would have had hard sledding.

There is no war on this year but the republicans see, or profess to see, an even more serious situation confronting them. There is not a doubt but that Cyrus M. King of Deer River will be brought forth as a candidate with the Nonpartisan endorsement. If such should prove the case, the Republican regulars will be no better off than they were before the primaries. King is not without certain vote-getting qualities of his own. He speaks well, makes a striking appearance and has considerable ability. He may not be well known throughout the state at the present moment but there is still time to remedy this defect. To imagine that he can under no circumstances prove formidable is a mistake.

For this reason the Democrats may come handy again. Thousands of them voted for Preus in the primaries and it is quite easy to imagine circumstances under which they would do so again.

Republican editors should remember these things and apply the brakes whenever they feel an irresistible impulse to poke fun at their traditional enemies.

NEWS NOTES OF INTEREST FROM OUR EXCHANGES

Bad Accident at Orleans.

Middle River Pioneer: The good time at the Orleans picnic last Friday was spoiled by a bad accident that took place late in the afternoon when the aeroplane was going up for one of its flights.

While plenty of running ground had been provided for the plane to make its ascension the crowd wanted the bird man to run the plane out to the other end of the field and make his ascent over the crowd who were looking for thrills. He did not want to do it but being urged he started the engine and was off. By the time he was almost up on the crowd the plane was just leaving the ground and he noticed he would not clear and in order to prevent the killing and maiming of perhaps scores of people he turned sharply into some autos on the side. He hit Will Griffin's Ford and took the back seat clean off, one little girl was hit and her jaw bone broken and Mrs. Will and Emma Griffin, sisters-in-law of Leslie Jamieson of this place, were hit and knocked unconscious. Miss Griffin got a bad blow on her head and both were badly bruised. The little girl was most seriously hurt and there are doubts as to her recovery. The aviator paid Mr. Griffin $450 for his car on the place and promised to pay all hospital charges for the people who were hurt.

We understand that the parents of the little girl are contemplating suing for $5,000 damages.

Crop Outlook Good.

St. Hilaire Spectator: That this part of Pennington county will harvest an average good crop this year, is the concensus of opinion judging by conditions prevailing at the present time. While there has been some grain drowned out in low spots the balance is looking fine. In some places oats seems to have suffered some from too much water, but other grains more than make up for this loss. The hay crop which is an important one here due to an extensive dairying industry promises to be equally as good as last season's, and clover is looking better in many places. The Benson farm, east of town has some excellent clover which stands over three feet high now. Unless unfavorable weather conditions should set in and prevail for some time, everything indicates that this section will be blessed with an average crop.

Will Investigate Killing.

Bemidji Pioneer: A special grand jury has been ordered by Judge C. W. Stanton to convene at Bagley next Tuesday and investigate the alleged killing of Scott Porter, aged 57, by his son, Jesse Porter, 27, a few days ago near Ebro. The accused is here in the county jail having been brought here to escape possible mob violence. It was first thought the crime was committed on the White Earth reservation, making it a Federal case, but later this was disproved.

Oak Ridge Congregation Will Celebrate Fourth

Among the interesting Fourth of July celebrations to be held in this neighborhood is that under the auspices of Oak Ridge Lutheran church. The event will take place at the former Cornelius Syverson farm, one-half mile west and one mile north of the new school in Norden township.

The usual services will be held in the forenoon and an appropriate program presented in the afternoon. A choir will sing on both occasions. Dinner and refreshments will be served by the ladies and young men of the congregation, the proceeds going to the church building fund.

I AM GLAD TO ENDORSE PE-RU-NA

Glad to Try Anything

"Three years ago my system was in a terribly run down condition and I was broken out all over my body. I began to be worried about my condition and I was glad to try anything which would relieve me. Peruna was recommended to me as a fine blood remedy and tonic, and I soon found that it was worthy of praise. A few bottles changed my condition materially and in a short time I was all over my trouble. I owe my restoration to health and strength to Peruna. I am glad to endorse it."

COMMERCIAL CLUB NOTES

Conditions in Europe.

The Inter-Racial Council of New York City in a letter to the club secretary attempts to point out the danger which besets many people who are planning on returning to Europe to make that country their home again as in former years. Many are going there under the mistaken impression that prices are lower and living conditions better there than in America, states the clipping of the Council, one of which is given herewith:

"A recent letter from Norway contains the following passage: 'There is only one advice to you who are thinking of visiting Norway; 'Don't leave your work in the United States if it appears to be somewhat steady, unless you secure beforehand a position and a roof over your head in the old country. The possibility is that you, as the undersigned, otherwise will be bitterly disappointed.'

"At a meeting of the Trade Unionists, it was stated that a workman's family now required 4,601 kroner per annum in order to maintain the standard of living for which in 1914, 1,528 kroner were sufficient.

"According to the latest report of the various labor organizations throut the country, there are between 3,000 and 4,000 more persons seeking employment than vacant situations available."

Farm Labor Situation.

The scarcity of farm labor is called to the attention of the Commercial club members of this city, in common with like institutions throughout the country, in a letter just received by Scott Laird, local secretary, from the United States Department of Agriculture. All cities, along with the federal and state agencies, are admonished to do what they can to alleviate the conditions. City people are advised to enjoy their summer vacations on the farms assisting the owners thereof in harvesting a bountiful crop of cereals and garden truck.

Interesting Reading.

Literature on eastern automobile tours has been received and may be found on the reading tables which also are being quite well supplied with matter during the past few weeks. The cool breeze which is generally prevalent evenings in the club rooms has been enjoyed of late by quite a number of members.

The annual meeting held in February will take place in Crookston.

Premium List of Pennington County Fair

PROSPECTUS FOR 1920.

For the nineteenth time we present the premium list of the Pennington County Agricultural Society.

The reconstruction period having readjusted conditions so as to permit normal exhibits during the 1920 season special effort will be made to enlarge and encourage the Boys' and Girls' Industrial Department and the board realizing that encouragement of the young people to remain on the farm is one of the most important of their endeavors will make every effort to make this department attractive and will launch a campaign with the end in view of building an exclusive building for that department and many features have been added to this department and additions have been made to the prizes.

The work of the Farm Clubs has been developing rapidly and great strides towards perfection in that division will be made this season and the purses have been made larger and it is expected that efforts along these lines will surpass everything accomplished heretofore.

There has been an entire revision of the poultry department placing that branch of the fair under the same rules and operating under the same conditions as the Poultry Association and it is hoped that the changes will be accepted by the exhibitors in the spirit in which they have been made, namely for a better and bigger Poultry Department.

The work of the society is done almost entirely by volunteer workers, and it is expected that little mistakes will occur from time to time. Remember, the officers will be pleased to rectify the same when they are called to their attention.

The Boys' and Girls' Judging Contest last season was one of the features of the Fair and should command special interest this year and the young judges should look eagerly forward to the possibility of a trip to St. Paul and Chicago with all expenses paid.

The amusement features will be given the greatest of attention possible this year and only the most meritorious attractions booked and the board can safely guarantee that the program of 1920 will surpass that of last year and that no feature on the grounds will be such that anyone will object to its operation or conduct and the board has reserved the right to remove any attraction or concession from the grounds upon complaint of the patrons.

The securing of Siegfried, the World's Champion Ski Jumper, as the feature attraction has met with favorable comment from all sources and many who were familiar in the past with that form of amusement have expressed their appreciation of a chance of seeing a revival of their former favorite sport even though not under natural conditions.

The board desires to thank its patrons of the past for the loyal support it has received and the assistance rendered from all sources and again your assistance and cooperation is urged, and any suggestions that you may have for a better and bigger Fair will be appreciated.

THE OFFICERS AND DIRECTORS OF THE PENNINGTON COUNTY AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.

RULES AND REGULATIONS

1. All entries of live stock shall be made on first day of fair, and all other articles by noon of the second day.
2. Entries should be made on written forms.
3. Only one entry will be allowed to an exhibitor in one section of any class other than stock, provided, however, that no animal shall be entered in more than one class except to make up herds or team.

N. B.—No purse will be awarded where there is no competition, unless specially recommended by the judges, and no unworthy animal will be awarded a prize.

4. Each exhibitor of live stock must purchase an exhibitor's ticket at the time of making entry. Fee for exhibitor's ticket is $1.00 and admits entryman each day of fair.
5. Where postal facilities will permit, these cards will be mailed to intending exhibitors. Those who do not thus receive them can obtain them at the secretary's office up to the day of opening.
6. No exhibits shall be removed from the grounds until after 5 o'clock p. m., on the last day of exhibition, and no ticket shall be removed from the article until that hour. Exhibitors acting in defiance of this rule, will forfeit all prizes awarded them. In scoring any class, emphasis should be laid on the importance of the varieties or articles. For instance, in vegetables, large red tomatoes are more important than yellow ones; carrots and beets are more important than gourds and parsley. In fruits, the varieties recommended by the State Horticultural Society take preference over others.

Some judges score collections of fruit, vegetables, corn, grain and potatoes as follows: Count number of important ones of each. On the basis of 100, 40 per cent is given to variety, and the rest, 60 per cent to quality. Under this scheme, a collection having six important varieties of good quality would score more than ten varieties of less importance, although of equal quality.

In staging an exhibit, use care in the selection of colors for trimming. Do not use gaudy colors. Exhibits are of little value, unless they can be seen by the visitors, so it is best not to have the booths too deep and dark. Let the exhibit consist of the common and important things suited to the locality.

BJORNARAA IS AGAIN SATESDAL'S PRESIDENT

Successful Two-Day Meeting Closed in This City Last Thursday Evening.

B. J. Bjornaraa of Wanke was elected to succeed himself as president of Satesdalslaget at the close of a two-day meeting in this city last Thursday. Other officers were elected as follows: Vice president for Minnesota, Olaf Neset, Thief River Falls; vice president for North Dakota, Ivind Aakhus, Grand Forks; secretary, John Johnson, Kloten, N. D.; treasurer, Arne Grundeson, Fisher; directors, T. K. Rynestad, Thief River Falls; Sam Bjerkeland, McIntosh; Ole Ose, Fisher; Knute Branke, Buxton, N. D.

While not the largest meeting the organization has held, there were between 300 and 400 outside visitors in attendance. They had a most enjoyable time, Wednesday evening being the feature occasion. Folk dances famous in the section of Norway from which these people hail, were shown and there was a contest of violinists. The proceedings were all in the Norwegian language.

The place for holding the 1921 meeting will not be decided until later.

RETURN ENGAGEMENT OF GREAT COMEDIAN

"Olle i Skratthult" the famous Swedish comedian and his popular company of eight people, back from their successful eastern tour where they played to packed houses and turn-away business in the greater cities, will by request, come back to the Thief River Falls Auditorium on Tuesday, July 13, at 8 p. m. Reserved tickets on sale at Lambert's drug store. Buy your tickets early to get a seat. Big dance after program, starts at 10:30 p. m. Exceptionally good music by accordion artists and pianist with the company. See the advertisement elsewhere in this paper and on bills and posters.

What other papers think of "Olle": "Olle i Skratthult" attracted a great throng of people to the M. W. A. hall Saturday evening. Two performances were given and the hall was completely filled on each occasion. "Olle" himself brought down the house. The songs were most pleasingly rendered and the accordion music was simply great. The Swedish National Dancers, too, were well received and the entire performance made a decided hit with the hundreds in attendance."—Isanti Weekly News.

Note—This is the last opportunity to see and hear this great company.

PRICE OF POTATOES WILL REMAIN HIGH

Dealers Say Spuds Will Continue Luxury During Fall and Winter.

Potatoes will continue high thruout the summer and will be a luxury again next fall and winter, wholesalers and retail grocers say. Prevailing opinion among former potato growers contends that because of the labor situation and high price of seed potatoes it does not pay to raise them for market use. Many potato growers in the state are growing potatoes for home use only.

For two days potatoes dropped last week on the city market from $4.25 a bushel to $3.25. The reason for this was that ten commission men rounded up all the remaining old potatoes from farmers within a radius of fifty miles of the twin cities and sold them on the city market.

Farmers objected, declaring that the potatoes were sold at a loss to them, since they had been forced to pay exorbitant prices for seed potatoes this spring, but they were obliged to get the potatoes off their hands before rotting.

New potatoes coming in from California, Texas and Florida, slowly are ten and eleven cents a pound, retailing at from $1.00 to $1.50 a peck, according to grade.

HOG MARKET JUMPY; CATTLE PRICES FAIR

Best Light Porkers Bring $14.80 at South St. Paul Market.

Union Stock Yards, South St. Paul. It was another week of fluctuations on the hog market, with best light hogs closing at $14.80, a gain of 20c over the close of last week. Range, $14.50 to $14.80 with bulk of sales at $14.75 to $14.80. Pigs have been in active demand at from $8 to $14, with boars $5 to $9. Dealers feel that there will soon be a wider spread between choice light hogs and the heavier less desirable kinds. Receipts were 42,500.

Trade on the cattle market in good to choice dry fed steers steady to strong most of the week, but under the influence of increased receipts prices declined somewhat at the close. Best steers were selling at $15 to $15.50 with a few at $16. Other grades of butcher steers sold from $6 to $11.50. Bulk of butcher cows and heifers were selling from $6 to $9, with best kinds up as high as $11.50. Canners and cutters brought $3.25 to $5.50 with bulls steady at $6 to $8. Veal calves have declined to $12.50 top. Trade in the stocker and feeder division was slow all week with most of steers going at $8 to $10.50 and cows and heifers $4.50 to $6. Receipts for week were about 21,000.

Lamb and sheep prices suffered a sharp decline at the beginning of the week, but regained practically all of the loss so that they are now practically on the same basis as a week ago. Best spring lambs are selling around $15.50 with others from $11 to $12. The commoner kinds are down to $6. Ewes bring $2 to $7 with wethers from $4 to $8 and yearlings $8 to $11. Receipts were about 4500.

ANOTHER LAST-INNING VICTORY FOR LOCALS

Defeated Grygla in Good Game on Grounds Here Last Sunday.

Some mighty good baseball games are being played in these parts just now, although our fans do not seem to be aware of the fact. The Thief River Falls team is putting up an excellent article in the way of a ball game and deserves better support than has been forthcoming to date. It is not very encouraging for a team to realize that something in the line of entertainment is being furnished that is just a little better than anything of its kind available for years and then have the people fail to take any interest in it.

Another good game was played here Sunday when the locals defeated Grygla by a score of 5 to 4. Lately it has seemed as if the Thief River Falls team is bound to look like a loser until the end of the session and then finish up strong. This is vastly better than going to pieces at the tail end and gives the spectators something to look forward to. It was so in Sunday's game. Grygla took the lead in the third and kept it until the fifth when the score was evened up and stayed that way. Grygla failed to score in the ninth while Thief River Falls forced two across. According to the strike-out and hit record of the two teams the visitors should not have been given a look-in, but somehow they managed to keep close all through the session. Following was the lineup:

T. R. Falls		Grygla
Graden	c	Becker
B. George	ss	Brown
L. George	p	Seamen
Prugh	1b	Sheldren
Lambert	cf	Hallbrook
Lawrence	2b	McBrian
Brazil	lf	Nelson
Herron	3b	Duessley
Anderson	rf	Sanders

Following is the score by innings:

T. R. F.	2 0 0 0 1 0 0 0 2	5
Grygla	0 0 3 0 0 0 0 0 1	0—4

Next Saturday afternoon the locals play the Park River, N. D., team at Warren, this being the last day of the Marshall county fair. The game will be called at 6 o'clock. The North Dakota outfit is regarded as one of the best in the state and the Thief River Falls boys will have to put forth the best there is in them. It is expected that quite a number of people will go from here, the fair being well patronized every year.

Canning Fruit Without Sugar is Now Practical

It is now certain that there will be an abundance of wild fruits to be gathered this year. Under ordinary circumstances this news would be hailed with delight by the frugal housewife but the sugar situation is such that she will fear advantage cannot be taken of the easily procured supply.

In order to show how all this food may be saved the Thief River Grocery company is this week inserting an advertisement in The Times telling how to pack fruits for future use without sugar. It shows that the sugar may be added later without in any manner injuring the product. It will be worth anyone's time to read the instructions over carefully.

Air Lift Plan Abandoned; Operation Cost Too Heavy

While the city council some time ago abandoned the idea of trying to secure a water supply for the city by means of the air lift process, the matter is not yet quite ended. Druer & Smith, the contracting firm proposing to make the experiment, want $75 for the preparatory work alleged to have been done before this decision was reached and the council does not see where there is any justification for paying the bill.

Mr. Druer came to this city of his own accord for the purpose of laying the matter before the aldermen and they gave his proposition favorable consideration. Before entering into a contract, however, they wished to find out more about the plan and appointed a committee to learn what had been the experience of other municipalities with this particular kind of service. The committee visited other cities and found that the cost of pumping water by compressed air was much greater than that at present paid by the city and that the service could not be guaranteed to prove satisfactory. For this reason it was decided to go no farther with the project.

City Attorney H. O. Chommie was instructed to explain this matter to the contractors and to inform them that according to majority opinion of the council members there was nothing coming in the way of remuneration.

STATE OF MINNESOTA
Department of Education.
St. Paul, May 10, 1920.

To Teachers:

The law provides that an applicant for a first-class certificate, who has taught in the public schools less than eighteen months prior to 1915, must show a given amount of Professional Training to receive such first-class certificate or one of higher rank.

All professional courses required for completion or renewal of first class certificates will be offered only in State Normal Schools. A full professional course in the Normal Schools required for the completion of first-class certificates, will consist of six (6) credits, four including Reading and Primary Methods chosen from Group II; and two (2) including Rural School Methods and Administration chosen from Group III.

A half course in Professional Training requires six weeks' attendance at a State Normal School, and the completion of three credits. It is suggested that two credits be chosen from Group II, and one from Group III.

Group 1. (Academic subjects.)

GROUP II.

- Arithmetic Methods.
- Composition and Language Methods
- Grammar Methods.
- Primary Methods.
- Reading Methods.

GROUP III.

- Music Methods.
- Drawing Methods.
- Primary Handwork.
- Foods and Cookery.
- Garment Making.
- Hygiene and Sanitation Methods.
- Playground Methods.
- Rural School Methods and Administration.

Special First Class Certificates.

Applicant who lacks a half credit in any first grade academic subject, or who lacks a half of the full professional training course, but who has met all other requirements for a first-class, may be issued a special first-class certificate for one year.

The completion of a special first-class certificate based on the half course in Professional Training will require the earning of three additional professional credits at a State Normal School. These credits may be obtained at a six weeks' summer session.

The renewal of a regular five-year first-class common school certificate requires eighteen months' teaching on certificate, four acceptable Reading Circle credits, attendance at a State Normal Summer School for a term of six weeks, and the completion of such subjects as are recommended by the Normal School and constituting a full summer term's work.

Very truly yours,
JAMES M. McCONNELL,
Commissioner of Education.

LIEBERMAN BROTHERS - - THIEF RIVER FALLS, MINN.

Cost is Small if Compared With Benefit

Such is Committee's Report on Red Lake Flood Control Project.

Full Knowledge of Importance of This Matter is Indicated.

Bill Among Those Schedules to be Taken Up at an Early Date.

While it is to be regretted that the Red Lake Flood Control and Conservancy bill could not be reached in time for action before the adjournment of congress, nevertheless it is a cause for much satisfaction to know that the measure will no doubt be among those taken up early in the short session which convenes in December. The bill has been favorably reported by the committee on flood control, the text of the report and recommendations being as follows:

The Committee on Flood Control, having had under consideration H. R. 14311, "To authorize the improvement of Red Lake and Red Lake River, in the State of Minnesota, for navigation, drainage, and flood-control purposes," report the same back with the recommendation that the bill do pass.

Red Lake, situated in northern Minnesota, has an area of 441 square miles, with a watershed of 1,950 square miles. Its outlet is the Red Lake River, which flows in a westerly course to where it joins the Red River of the North at Grand Forks, N. Dak., which river has a watershed of 3,180 square miles, making a total watershed of 5,130 square miles.

The Red Lake Indian Reservation, containing an area, exclusive of water, of 850 square miles, or 24 townships, completely surrounds the lake, except a small part of the northeast corner. The outlet of the lake is in the southwestern part, and the river flows through the reservation for a distance of 15 miles before it reaches the settled country to the west. The Indians live mostly in the timbered country surrounding the lake, and the lands are still unallotted. The river, from its outlet to Highlanding, a distance of about 25 miles, has a fall of only about 5 or 6 inches to the mile, and the banks are so low that in seasons of considerable rainfall the surrounding lands are overflowed and rendered unfit for agriculture. The river is navigable from Thief River Falls to the lake, a distance of about 40 miles, for small steamers and gasoline launches in ordinary high water. Below Highlanding the banks are high and the fall considerable, and there are already six developed water powers and five undeveloped waterpower sites susceptible of improvement.

The river and harbor act of 1916 authorized a survey of this drainage and flood-control project with a view to devising plans for regulating works whereby the level of said lake and the flow of said stream may be controlled in the interest of navigation, and in making such examination and survey any proposition by local interest for participation in the expense of said project was to be taken into consideration. The survey was made, and the report of the Chief of Engineers, War Department (H. Doc. No. 61, 66th Cong., 1st sess.) pronounced the project feasible and suggested that it should be carried out by a local drainage district who should finance the project in cooperation with the power and municipal interests and the Indian Bureau under supervision of the War Department. Obviously the carrying out of this project is feasible only through the cooperation of the State authorities having authority to exercise the right of eminent domain and taxation, but these authorities alone can not carry out the improvement, because it involves the erection of controlling works at the outlet of the lake to control the level and the outflow, and the straightening and deepening of the river, not only for the 15 miles within the reservation but for 10 miles farther to the west beyond the reservation line.

Section 1 of the bill, therefore, confers upon the Red Lake Conservancy District of the State of Minnesota, a municipal corporation duly created and organized under the laws of the State of Minnesota, authority to deepen and straighten the river and to regulate the height of the water in Red Lake and control the same, as outlined in said document, provided that the work on the Red Lake Indian Reservation shall be in accordance with plans submitted to and approved by the Secretary of the Interior, and that compensation shall be made to the Indians for any land that may be required (lines 13 to 21, page 2 of the bill), and that an agreement with the Secretary of the Interior shall be made as to the maximum and minimum levels which the waters in the lake shall be permitted to fluctuate.

Section 2 authorizes the Secretary of the Interior to make contract arrangements with regard to the work to be done within the reservation lines, and the assessment of the proportionate share of the cost to the lands benefited must be agreed to by him. The War Department estimated the cost of the improvement at $779,000 and recommended the following apportionment of the cost: Water power, $240,000; Indian lands, $236,800; lands outside Indian reservation, $248,000; municipal water supply, $39,000; and the Federal Government for navigation, $15,000. The section provides that the lands in the reservation shall be assessed in the same manner and proportion as other lands, and that the maximum cost shall not exceed $2.50 per acre. An appropriation is authorized to pay the share apportioned to the Indian lands, reimbursable to the United States, however, from the lands assessed.

A similar bill (H. R. 12380) was introduced and referred to the committee on February 6 last, and extended hearings were held thereon, representing the different interest affected. It was shown that about 290,800 acres of the reservation which are now swampy and periodically overflowed and useless for agriculture, would by construction of this improvement and suitable laterals be made the richest lands in the State, and 248,500 acres outside of the reservation, some of which is already drained, would be protected from floods. Red Lake appears to be an ideal reservoir for controlling the water, and the erection of this improvement would tend to diminish the disastrous floods in the Red River of the North itself below Grand Forks, N. D. The expense, compared with the ultimate benefits, is insignificant.

WHISKEY SMUGGLERS CAUGHT AT BAUDETTE

Shots Are Fired at Runners But Two Make Their Escape.

Phil Godin of Rainy River is in the Baudette jail and two hundred and forty quarts of Canadian and Scotch whiskey were taken in a raid on the American side of the Rainy River near the Fritz Klingbiel farm Tuesday night, says the Baudette Region.

Information that the liquor had been cached the previous night was given to Prohibition Officer J. F. Alberts of Duluth by J. A. Kennedy, local customs officer. A watch was placed on it and near midnight Tuesday a canoe with three men in it came from the Canadian side. Alberts commanded the men to throw up their hands, but two of them jumped into the water and escaped, although Alberts fired several shots from a revolver at them, one of the bullets grazing an ear of one of the men.

Godin made no attempt to escape and was brought to Baudette, where he was lodged in jail. He appeared before Morris Willett, U. S. Commissioner, and his bonds were placed at $1500, which was furnished.

Aim to Secure Complete List of War Service Men

The Minnesota department of The American Legion has commenced a state wide effort to obtain a complete list of Minnesota service men who gave their lives for their country.

The Minnesota Historical society is anxious to preserve the record. Every post in the state has been urged to make a complete report for its district and to offer supplementary information.

"We have only heard from a fraction of the posts in Minnesota," says G. Whitmore, department adjutant. "When every post has reported the hero dead from its district we will feel quite confident that our list is close to completion. It is unnecessary to say that Minnesota Historical society is preparing to give the list a leading place in its memorials."

HEROES OF '60 OUT WITH FACTS

Want Public to Know How Much Good Tanlac Has Done at Old Soldier's Home.

So many of the old "Vets" out at the Soldier's Home in Leavenworth have been benefited by Tanlac lately that they decided the fact ought to be made public.

The call for volunteers to report the matter was quickly answered by J. F. Johnson and C. H. Ostrander, each seventy-four years of age, and David M. Cain, who is now in his eightieth year.

Their statements, which were received at the Tanlac offices a few days ago, all seem to have been signed with a steady hand and tell in no uncertain terms of the remarkable results these old heroes of the "Sixties" have obtained from the Master Medicine.

David M. Cain, Corporal of Company "I," Ward 1, the older of the trio, says: "I have lived a long time and have had lots of experience with medicines, but I have never come across the equal of Tanlac. It has not only rid me of a case of nervous indigestion of eight years standing, but I have actually gained sixteen pounds in weight by taking it. Before taking Tanlac I had no appetite and what little I did eat would sour on my stomach and I would swell up with gas until I could hardly breathe. My heart would palpitate at a terrible rate and I also had raging headaches, and often got so dizzy I could scarcely stand on my feet. I had pains all through my body and was so weak it was difficult for me to get around at all.

"But Tanlac has done away with all my miserable feelings and put me in better shape than I have been for eight or ten years. I can eat just anything I want and my appetite is a caution. And sleep, why, I just sleep like a log every night, feel good and strong, and have more energy than I have had in years. I have recommended Tanlac to many of my comrades, who have also taken it with fine results. It certainly is the right medicine for old folks."

"At the time I began taking Tanlac," said J. F. Johnson, "I couldn't eat or sleep to do much good and just felt miserable all the time. I suffered from indigestion, dizziness, pains in my back, and about all my strength had left me. I had just about come to the conclusion that I would never be well again, but I am now in better physical shape than I have been for a long time. In fact, I don't think I ever felt much better, even when I was a young man, than I do since taking Tanlac."

C. H. Ostrander says: "I believe I had about all the miserable feelings anybody with indigestion can have, and I was so weak and nervous I could hardly drag around. I had been battling with this condition for three years and was ready to give up the fight. But by the help of Tanlac I am now feeling fine.

Tanlac is sold in Thief River Falls at Lambert's Drug Store, and at Oklee by John Gassman.—adv.

Getting along without the proper buildings for taking care of one's family, stock or crops is the poorest kind of economy. Canning Fruit Without Sugar

It has been proven by practical experience that sugar is not needed for the actual preservng of fruts and when used only adds flavor. There is no trouble in packing fruits for home canning without the use of sugar, provided the product is perfectly sterilized and packed in AIR-TIGHT Jars. In canning without sugar use the same rules as for canning when sugar is used and fill the cans with boiling water in place of hot syrup.

Add Sugar Later

It will be found that the desired flavor may be obtained by adding the sugar in the form of syrup when the fruit is served.

Sugar will no doubt be cheaper when the new crop of Beet Sugar comes on the market in September and new Cane Sugar in December and the supply will be more plentiful. Thus fruits canned now can be sweetened later with sugar, cheaper and more generously.

Factory Canned Fruits packed with sugar will be very high and SCARCE, due to the advanced prices of fruits and high priced sugar, and the enterprising, economical housewife will this year put up her fruits without sugar and insure having a supply for winter use at satisfactory cost.

Grub-Staking Society

MORE power is required to plow the fields of America than is used in all its factories.

In view of the decrease of man-power on the farms, the importance of motor-power is demonstrated easily. With hand-labor the time required to produce a bushel of wheat was a little over three hours. With improved machinery this has been reduced to ten minutes. Power machinery has multiplied the power of man eighteen times.

It looks as though it is up to gasoline to grub-stake society.

For years hand-labor has been leaving the farms and motor-power has been taking its place.

Long ago the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) realized that if America was to maintain its bounteous crop production there must be close cooperation between the Company and the farmer; therefore, the Company proceeded to build up through the farm districts of the Middle West the most complete system of distribution of oil products in the world.

This delivery system with its 3,780 bulk stations, its 7,000 motor trucks and tank wagons, its 1,300 Service Stations, and its personnel of 10,000 trained men, could not be built up in a month or in a year. It is the result of long and patient effort.

This immense system for the production and distribution of gasoline and other petroleum products is complete, installed and in full operation now, when it is needed as never before.

Picnic a Big Success.

Plummer Pioneer: The Cloverland Farmers club held their annual picnic last Saturday at the Gilbertson farm. The day was an ideal one for a picnic, and there was a crowd of at least 500 or 600 people there. A program of speeches was started after dinner was served. Marius Waldal acted as chairman and called upon A. J. Hemstad, Claude Townley, Halvor Steenerson, and N. E. Thormodson, for addresses. The speeches lasted until about 4:30 p. m., when the ball game between Cloverland and Plummer was called. The game was an interesting one all the way through and resulted in a score of 9 to 3 in favor of Plummer. Following was the line-up: Cloverland—M. Waldal, lf; Perusse, ss; B. Froiland, 3rd; Gilbertson, 2nd; H. Connors, 1st; E. Lafayette, p; O. Lafayette, c; H. Hoflus, rf; E. Malwitz, cf. Sold Bonds Locally.

Warren Sheaf: With the Argyle village bonds in the sum of $30,000 placed, nothing now stands in the way to prevent the project of securing electric current from Crookston being carried out. The financial conditions of the country are such at the present time that the village was unable to place its bonds with a bonding company. The matter of financing the project was taken up by the business men of the town and in a very short time last Saturday considerably more than the required $30,000 was pledged to be taken in village bonds by the enterprising business men of the town who are always at the front with financial aid and push to keep up Argyle's reputation as one of the most progressive towns in the Red River Valley. Bids for the contract of extending the line from Crookston to Argyle will be opened next Monday, and with the financial end taken care of there is nothing now to hinder the contract being made.

Polk's Big Bond Sale.

Crookston Times: County Auditor Henry J. Welte was instructed by the county commissioners in adjourned session at the Polk county court house Friday to advertise for the sale of county bonds amounting to $310,000 at 6 per cent. One hundred thousand dollars of these bonds would go toward roads while $210,000 would be used in ditch work.

The county board recently advertised the sale of $460,000 bonds at 5½ per cent but bond buyers would not accept them at that rate of interest.

A. F. Turner of Grand Forks was awarded the contract for grading the county road north from Section 8, Northland to the county line at 50 cents a yard for excavation. The road extends for a distance of 6½ miles.

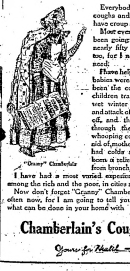
I Am "Granny" Chamberlain



"Granny" Chamberlain

Everybody's friend when they have coughs and colds and their children have croup and whooping cough.

Most everyone knows me. I have been going from home to home for nearly fifty years—always welcome, too, for I never fail in their hour of need.

I have helped young mothers whose babies were choking with croup, and been the comfort of parents whose children tramp to school through the wet winter weather. Many a cold and attack of bronchitis I have warded off, and thousands I have helped through the anxious moments of whooping cough. I have come to the aid of mothers and fathers when they had colds and influenza, and have been a relief to old folks suffering from bronchitis and asthma.

I have had a most varied experience; I go everywhere—among the rich and the poor, in cities and the country.

Now don't forget "Granny" Chamberlain! You will see me often now, for I am going to tell you of my experience and what can be done in your home with

Markets Needed By the Farmers

(Copyright.)

Residents of towns and cities everywhere are beginning to realize more acutely the fact that, except under very unusual conditions their communities will prosper and develop only in proportion to the prosperity and development that comes to the farming sections which surround them. Realizing this fact, commercial clubs and chambers of commerce have in recent years been devoting as much of their attention to developing the country districts as they have to securing new industries and attracting new residents. They know that as the country about the towns becomes more thickly settled and as the farmers become more prosperous the more money will be spent in the towns and the faster these towns will grow. It is largely for this reason that the residents of the towns and cities have been doing more and more to aid the farmers in growing bigger crops and in improving marketing conditions. The towns and cities have contributed more and more liberally toward the building of good roads in the country districts and have paid a large part of the expense of maintaining agricultural experts to assist the farmers in growing bigger crops and getting more money out of their crops when they are placed on the market.

Not One-Sided Proposition.

But this is not a one-sided proposition. If the city is dependent upon the country, so is the country dependent upon the city. What the farmer raises is worth absolutely nothing to him unless he can sell it at a price that will pay him a fair return on the money and time invested in its production. The farmer, without markets, would be in the same fix as a storekeeper without customers. In almost every case the farmer is dependent upon the near-by town or city for a market for at least his perishable products.

In the language of the street, it is a fifty-fifty proposition. The town needs the country and the country needs the town. The farmer needs the assistance of the storekeepers of the town in securing a market for his products. He needs the assistance of the storekeepers of the town in getting good roads over which he may haul his products without losing more time than the products are worth. He often needs the assistance of the storekeepers in helping him over a period of financial stringency.

Storekeeper Needs Farmer's Trade.

On the other hand the storekeeper needs the business of the farmer. He does not ask the farmer to sell him his products on credit even though at the time he may be hard pushed for cash and may need more credit badly. He does not ask the farmer to help him build a sidewalk in front of his store. He does not ask for the business of the farmer the goods he needs at as low a price as he can secure them for elsewhere.

But does he always get the farmer's business? Ask the mail order man in the big city or ask the postmaster or the express agent in an town, or city in the country. They could, if they would, tell of thousands of dollars sent away to the big cities to pay for goods that could be purchased just as cheaply and much more conveniently in the nearest town or city. These thousands of dollars, when sent to the mail order houses in the big cities, never come back. They do not help to build good roads past the farmers' houses. When the next crops are harvested, the mail order man won't buy any of the farmer's products. The potatoes, the tomatoes, the melons and other things that the farmer raises may lie and rot upon the ground so far as the mail order man is concerned.

No Credit From Mail Order Man.

The mail order man won't sell the farmer 2 cents' worth of goods on one day's credit no matter how badly the farmer may need the goods or how little ready cash he has to pay for them. If the farmer's house burns down, the mail order man is not going to sell him any lumber on credit so that he may build another home. He will take what cash he can get the farmer to send him and there his interest in the farmer ends. If the farmer has no money to pay for what he needs, the mail order man will find others to help swell the stream of dollars which is building up his great fortune and helping build up the great city in which he lives. Let the home merchant help the farmer when he needs it. And the local merchant does help the farmer as long as he can, but there comes a time when he cannot. He cannot make money without customers. Without the legitimate profit that he makes from his sales he cannot "carry" the farmer over the rough spots, he cannot contribute to the good roads funds, he cannot pay the farmer cash for his products.

THIEF RIVER FALLS MAN WRITES OF EXPERIENCES IN FAR SIBERIA

(By Lyman R. Hyatt)

Formerly Instructor in Agriculture at Lincoln High School.

(The following is the first of a series of articles by Mr. Hyatt. He left Thief River Falls with Dr. F. H. Gambell in September, 1918, to engage in Siberian rehabilitation work under the auspices of the American Red Cross. Mr. Hyatt's descriptions of the people, their habits and manners, as well as the country in general, will be found particularly interesting at this time when things Siberian are so prominently discussed in every section of the world.—Editor Times)

SECTION 1.

Enroute Western Siberia, December 4, 1919. Trying to get out of the country before the Bolsheviki overtake us.

After commuting up and down the Great Trans-Siberian railroad between Vladivostock and Tomsk for a half year and exposing myself as best I could to Russian life, the supposition would be that I would have made some observations. This letter will be a little account of some of these observations, which I offer to you, not claiming for them any special significance or value, but presuming that you will be interested in them to some small extent at least.

The average American's idea of Siberia at the present time is wrapped up, I suppose, in three words: Cold, Exiles and Bolsheviks. A typical average American, one of my advisors, told me, when I suggested that I might be going to Siberia, that he had looked up in his Encyclopaedia the description of Siberia, and found it to contain only political criminals and cold weather.

Now, as a matter of actual record, it does become cold in Siberia. But ordinarily, the cold weather is less of a problem than it is in Missouri. The houses are built for warmth and where in Missouri the walls are three or four inches thick, in Siberia they are three or four feet thick, if built of stone or brick, or one or two feet thick if of wood. Windows are double thickness. Stoves are immense and there is a limitless supply of wood and coal.

Being almost wholly an agricultural country there is a great abundance of meat and bread, which in normal times, is literally given away when compared with prices in the States. Three or four kopecks (one to two cents) for a funt (about a pound) of meat, compared to twenty-five to forty cents for a like amount in St. Louis. Pork, beef, mutton, fowl, eggs, butter and lard are found in great abundance. In summer numerous gardens furnish the same range of vegetables as are produced in the garden of the up-to-date Missouri or New York farmer—cabbage, sweet corn, potatoes, tomatoes, radishes, lettuce, beets, carrots, and all the rest.

And when it comes to clothes, even beggars, now after five years of the most cruel and devastating war and revolution are wearing furlined leather great-coats and warm head and foot wear. Everyone, from the baby up to the babushka (grandmother) has fur clothing—great-coat, cap, mittens, fur pieces and sometimes furlined boots. Valenkies, a felt boot without overshoes or leather or rubber soles, are worn universally, and are absolutely impervious to cold. A Russian would be as lonesome in Siberia without valenkies in winter as a sinner would be in hell in the summertime with no ice-cream cones available.

It now looks as though the old regime governmental artists had a wrong steer when it came to exiling undesirables to Siberia, for it is a rich and beautiful country, filled with almost unbelievable charm and potential wealth. Siberia is chock full of beauty. You may travel thousands of miles through prairies, sometimes level, sometimes rolling, stretching away as far as the eye can see. Where the soil has been turned up it frequently exhibits a granular texture, very black in color, and is covered with a heavy growth of varied vegetation, indicating great fertility.

Here and there creeks, ravines and hills break up the monotony of the prairies. Everywhere are trees, largely birch, spruce and pines. The country is well drained with rivers, such as the Ob, Tom, Om, Irtish, Yenesee, Lena and Amur.

In the center of Siberia lies Lake Baikal, the largest, deepest and clearest inland lake in the world. The railroad skirts the southern and southeastern edge of Lake Baikal for some two hundred versts and gives the traveller in summer such an avalanche of beauty as can be excelled with difficulty anywhere else.

Brilliantly colored wild flowers of infinite variety and color; forests rich in color and grandeur; mountains and rocks, some covered with forests, some precipitous and bare and some vine-covered; intoxicatingly fascinating odors; a continuous succession of curves and bends, each with its new and increasingly delightful vistas; and the most exquisitely charming tints and hues on the surface of the lake, particularly at sunset.

Paved streets, with electric lighting, street cars, moving picture houses, theatres, churches, railroad station, harbor, museum, newsboys wiht daily papers on the streets; first-class restaurants and hotels, large schools, university, technological and commercial schools, library—all these modern improvements you find in Vladivostock, the "New York of Russia" and excepting the street railway system, in Irkutsk, Krasnyarsk, Novo-Nikolievsk, Tomsk, Tobolsk and Omsk.

At Vladivostock there are excellent beaches for bathing and here every day in summer there may be seen a slice of the entire population, not excluding the babies and the old men and women. The young women particularly, are expert in diving and swimming.

Some of the exiles' private homes have been most disappointing to me as an untutored American. Rooms twice or three times as large as those in the Missouri citizen's home, with very high ceilings and hand decorated walls; copies of standard art works, or perhaps original paintings; grand piano, electric lights, bath, push-bell with servants attached, oriental rugs and upholstered, hand-carved furniture. I do not wish to give the impression that all exiles live in such homes, but many of them who were the flower, intellectually of Old Russia and whose punishment consisted merely in banishment to Siberia, have become rich and influential members of the Siberian community.

Every village of any size and all the towns and cities have entertainment houses which are known locally as sobrienayas. A sobrienaya is a semi-public house containing an auditorium with stage fixtures and orchestra equipment, with a floor that can be cleared for gymnastic exercises, dancing, shows or exhibits. It contains also a large dining-room and bar, corresponding, except the bar, to the facilities of a hotel in the States. There is a smoking room, or more than one, perhaps extra rooms for conferences, rest-rooms and the like.

In the auditorium are held local theatricals, as well as shows by travelling companies and movies. The sobrienaya is a place of comfort, entertainment and rest, to which the citizen may come and eat, rest, smoke, dance or go to a show. In the cities are commodious theatres. In these as well as in the larger sobrienaya are held concerts, operas, comedies, tragedies, benefit performances and the like, where for reasonable prices may be seen fairly competent artists in the standard stage compositions.

Whenever a citizen of a Siberian town wakes up in the morning and by the calendar, finds he is facing a scheduled holiday, he turns over in his bed and takes an extra nap, later has an extra cup of tea and then dresses up in his best clothes, including a hand-embroidered shirt which buttons up on the side of his neck—and goes for a walk.

He does not wish to have his excellent appearance wasted, of course, so he goes to the city public parade grounds, which takes the form of a large and elaborate park. The fact that the shrubs and trees of Siberia are of great variety and beauty has been taken advantage of in the construction of large and well-planned parks, with fine gravel walks winding about through the trees, rustic bridges, and formal flower plots filled with brilliantly colored flowers in grandiose planting designs. On Sunday afternoons and evenings, as well as on holidays (bolshot prozneeks) band concerts are given in the parks, supplemented perhaps with folk dances in native costume or local "spektakles" given by home-grown artists.

In default of furnishing bail, he was taken to the county jail for safe-keeping.

Lead of Preus Cut to 8,499; Halvor's 843

Regulars Win Out in Every Instance But Margins Are Not Large.

Frank Jeffers is Democratic Candidate For Congress in Ninth.

O. J. Kvale Nominated in Seventh Over Volstead by 2210 Votes.

J. A. O. Preus received the Republican gubernatorial nomination in last Monday's primary by a plurality of 8,499 votes over Dr. Henrik Shipstead the Nonpartisan league candidate, official returns compiled in the office of the Secretary of State today showed.

Preus polled a total of 133,586 votes, according to the tabulation made by Secretary of State Julius A. Schmahl, as against the 125,087 garnered by Shipstead. Other candidates for the gubernatorial nomination received this vote: Ellsworth, 7,731; Frankson, 27,353; Iverson, 7,362; Keefe, 5,047.

The total Republican vote was much lighter than expected, being less than was cast two years ago in the state election as well as in the general election four years ago.

The entire ticket headed by Mr. Preus was successful, the hardest fight being on attorney general. For this office the present incumbent, Clifford L. Hilton, won over Thomas Sullivan by 1,622 votes. For the offices below governor the following figures are official:

State Treasurer—Charles A. Lund, 136,249; Henry Rines, 152,881.

Attorney General—Clifford L. Hilton, 118,683; John C. Larson, 29,354; Elmer C. Patterson, 12,829; Steele S. Smith, 17,281; Thomas V. Sullivan, 117,061.

Steenerson's Narrow Escape.

Congressman Halvor Steenerson made the grade in the Ninth but the margin is the narrowest of his long career. Early returns indicated that his lead over N. E. Thormodson would be in the neighborhood of 2,300 votes but as the outlying districts began coming in it was evident that this would be cut heavily. The official count gives Steenerson 15,827, Thormodson 14,984, a majority for the former of 843.

O. J. Kvale, for a short period pastor of Trinity Lutheran church in this city, was nominated for congress in the Seventh, defeating Andrew J. Volstead by 2310 votes. There is talk in that section of running M. J. Dowling as an independent against the Nonpartisan nominee.

Jeffers Also Winner.

The Democratic vote in the Ninth was very light. Frank Jeffers of Red Lake Falls received the nomination for congress, his vote being 526. Other candidates for the place fared as follows: Charles H. Kelson, 239; William A. McClennon, 189; Axel Ringborg, 191.

NEW VICTORY MEDAL FOR WORLD WAR MEN

Emblems Will Signify Nature of Service For Which They Are Awarded.

Every man in Pennington county who served under the American flag during the World war is entitled to one of the Victory medals, 4,000,000 of which will be distributed by the army within the next three months. All men who were in the 151st field artillery throughout the war and many other men who were in the Rainbow division or other organizations which saw foreign service are entitled to five clasps indicating service in that number of major operations of defensive sectors, according to word received here. Each medal carries one clasp for each major operation in which the recipient of the medal participated.

Distribution will begin from the office of the Depot Quartermaster, Philadelphia. The award covers all officers, enlisted men, army field clerks and members of the army nurse corps. The operations for which clasps will be awarded are: Cambrai, Somme defensive, Lyse-Aisne, Montdidier-Noyon, Champagne-Marne, Aisne, Marne, Somme offensive, Oise-Aisne, Ypres-Lyse, St. Mihiel, Meuse-Argonne and Vittorio-Veneto. Foreign service, as distinguished from Major operations entitling men to clasps, includes defensive sectors in France, Italy, Siberia, Russia and England. A great many men who served in the Rainbow division are entitled to clasps for service in the Champagne-Marne defensive, Aisne-Marne offensive, St. Mihiel offensive, Meuse Argonne offensive and in the defensive sector in Lorraine.

The system decided upon for distributing the medals is for men to make application at the nearest recruiting station with their discharge papers. The recruiting officer will then fill out the proper form and forward it to Philadelphia and the medal will be sent direct.

POPULATION OF U. S. FIGURED 105,000,000

Growth Drops, Compared With Previous Decades, Estimate Shows.

The population of continental United States is estimated at 105,000,000 by J. A. Kill, chief statistician of the census bureau. His calculation is based on the combined population of 1,406 cities and towns for which statistics have been announced.

The increase over 1910 is placed at about 13,000,000, showing the growth of the country has not kept pace with previous decades. Almost complete cessation of immigration during the war is the chief reason assigned, besides two influenza epidemics, returns of aliens to their native lands and deaths of soldiers.

The aggregate population on which the estimate was made is 41,029,354. This is an average gain of 26 per cent compared with 25 per cent in the previous decade.

Help Fair by Auto Trip to Near Towns

Cavalcade Will Leave on Morning of 27 on Trip to Warroad.

Stop at All Points on G. N. Going Up; Follow Soo Line Back.

Figured That 25 Autos Will be in Line With 100 Passengers.

If you were a member of the booster bunch which went to Baudette for the purpose of advertising the Pennington county fair last year you will be interested in the statement that another such expedition will be undertaken soon. This time, however, Warroad will be the terminating point of the journey. There are those who would like to continue on to Baudette again—and some doubtless will do so—but it is the turn of Warroad to entertain the Thief River Falls bunch and no partiality will be shown.

The start will be made as early as possible on the morning of Tuesday, July 27 and the entire run will be under direction of officers of the Pennington County Automobile association. President G. C. Streeter called a meeting of the association for last evening at which time it was expected that all arrangements would be made, including a definite fixing of the dates. It is thought that most of our people will find Tuesday and Wednesday the most convenient time to be away from their business, although in this matter the wishes of the majority will be deferred to.

Stops Along the Line.

The tentative program is to follow last year's itinerary on the trip north, stopping at all towns along the Great Northern—Holt, Middle River, Strathcona, Badger and Roseau. On the return trip, which would be made on the following day, the line of travel would be laid out to include the towns on the Soo line, perhaps going as far west as Lancaster and visiting Halma, Bronson, Karlstad, Newfolden and intermediate points. This makes an ideal route and takes in practically every trading point tributary to Thief River Falls.

Take Band Along.

A band would be carried for the purpose of furnishing music at all stops along the line. Speakers would also be on hand to invite the crowds to attend the greatest of all northern Minnesota fairs.

Similar trips have been taken during the past two years and have proved the great outing events of the season. That a larger number of our people would join the excursion now than ever before is certain.

OFFERS $50 FOR BEST CALF RAISED BY CLUB

First National Bank Will Also Give Banquet to Club Members.

The officers of the First National bank have decided to take a hand in the encouragement of stock raising by members of the Pennington County Boys' and Girls' club and will give $50 to the member raising the best dairy calf during the present season. President C. L. Hansen, who attended a recent meeting of the club, explained the value of such organizations and pointed out why Pennington county should have one of the strongest and best clubs in the state. He also stated that at the end of the season he would be pleased to act as host for the club members at a banquet.

Much interest in this contest is being displayed by the youngsters and 18 have to date registered at the farm bureau office. Their calves are receiving the very best of attention and will present a fine appearance when exhibited in the fall.

Any boy or girl who wishes to enter this contest should send their names to Mr. Hansen or J. J. McCann, county agent.

WIN AT WARREN AND LOSE TO ST. HILAIRE

Ball Team Has Varied Luck While Away From Home During Week.

A ball team can't always win, of course, but there are times when there seems to be no good excuse for losing. The Thief River Falls boys have had experience in both directions during the past week.

One of the best ball games of the season so far as close scores and equally good playing is concerned was that between Thief River Falls and the Park River, N. D., team at Warren last Saturday. At the end of the eighth inning the score was a tie—8 and 8. In the ninth the defense of the North Dakota boys went to pieces while the Pennington county stars found their collective batting eye and proceeded to hammer 'em out all over the lot. Eight runs crossed the plate in their half of the final session making the tally 16 to 8. The box score indicates that the game was good ball playing in spite of the erratic figures. Brazil, box artist for Thief River Falls, had the best of the argument, striking out seven men and giving four bases on balls, as compared with six strikeouts and seven passes by Bode, the opposition hurler. Following is the score by innings:

Pk. Riv. ………1 2 1 0 0 0 3 1 0— 8

The Fourth of July game played at St. Hilaire on Sunday did not turn out so satisfactorily, the boys scoring the first complete goose egg of the season. The result was to a large extent caused by hard luck, but that is poor satisfaction. The St. Hilaire boys crossed the plate five times during the matinee, which indicates that not only were the county seat lads lame on hitting the ball but that their defense was also very weak.

Radium comes here for a game next Sunday and there will be something doing. It is understood that this is a salaried outfit and that it has a great record. This will be a good opportunity for our people to turn out and see just what the home team can accomplish when pitted against a bunch with a reputation.

NO CANDIDATES FILE FOR SCHOOL BOARD POSITIONS

At the school election to be held on July 17 there will be no regularly nominated ticket, no candidates having filed for the place up to 5 o'clock last evening, which was the last hour for making declaration of candidacies under the law.

This means that voters will have to write in the names of those for whom they wish to cast their ballots unless stickers are used or tickets provided through private channels.

Two members of the board are to be elected at this time in place of H. S. Dahlen and F. F. Haynes, both of whom refuse again to be candidates.

MILLION DOLLAR BAND PLAYS HERE JULY 21

Great interest has been attached to the announcement that Harold Bachman and his Million Dollar Band is to play in Thief River Falls this month. Perhaps there has never been a musical organization which became so widely and favorably known in as short a time as has this organization which is scheduled to appear on Wednesday evening, July 21st under the auspices of the American Legion.

Practically unheard of three years ago, Mr. Bachman, through his splendid work in the army and because of the fine impression made by his band on its eight month tour of the central states last season, has become recognized as one of the leading bandmasters and his band as one of the really fine bands of the United States. This is testified to by the splendid list of engagements which the Million Dollar Band will play during the 1920 season. This includes: The North Dakota State Fair, The Wisconsin State Fair, The Minnesota State Fair, Tennessee State Fair, Cotton Exposition at Waco, Texas and other large expositions.

BACHMAN, LEADER OF MILLION DOLLAR BAND.

Among the well known members of the band who have been connected with it from its beginning, Mr. Bachman announces Robert Bruce, the Indian Cornetist and James E. Son, the March writer as special features. Earling Sodahl of Duluth will be featured as a violin soloist and Graydon Lower of Minier, Illinois as baritone soloist and the band will also carry a soprano soloist this year.

The concert will be played at Squaw Point providing the weather permits, otherwise the program will be carried out in the Auditorium. The admission to this concert is 50c for adults, and 25c for children.

Pennington Guernsey Breeders Will Display Stock at Nearby Points.

Entire Carload, Representing Many Herds, to Make Complete Circuit.

Reach Crookston Today After Having Been Exhibited at Ada and Fertile.

The members of the Pennington County Guernsey Breeders association are determined that the world at large shall know something of the class of cattle raised in this neighborhood and have, at their own expense, fitted out an exhibition car containing individuals from a number of the best herds in the county. This car will make the northwestern fair circuit, the first stop being at Ada where the Norman county fair was held on July 1, 2 and 3. From there the show stock was shipped to Fertile and shown on the 5th, 6th and 7th, and will be taken to Crookston for exhibition at the fair there during the remainder of this week. July 12 to 17 the car will be at the Fargo fair, finishing up at Grand Forks from the 19th to the 24th. After making this circuit the car will return to Thief River Falls in time for the Pennington county fair on August 4, 5 and 6.

Great care has been taken to display the animals to the best advantage and the enterprise will give the county a boost as a livestock center such as no other plan could accomplish. Each animal will be labeled with the name of the owner and the tag will contain briefly such other information as stock fanciers are interested in. One large sign has been attached to the car advertising Pennington county as the Guernsey center of the northwest and as the locality which contains more accredited herds than any other in the United States.

The show stock is being taken care of by Roman Paulson and Eber Conklin of Thief River Falls. These boys have been working hard to prepare the animals for the show ring and will bring their charges through the circuit in fine condition as well as with much favorable recognition and many prize ribbons.

EASTSIDERS PROVIDE GREAT CELEBRATION

Get Together and Make Excellent Showing on Very Short Notice.

For reasons sufficiently well understood the people of Thief River Falls did not go into a Fourth of July celebration very heavily this year. Large numbers of our citizens went to nearby towns where exercises appropriate to the occasion were scheduled and all had a good time.

Residents of the East Side, however, apparently did not consider the occasion sufficiently well impressed upon our people through this visiting around and proceeded to provide a show of their own. Quite a sizable sum of money was collected by popular subscription, fireworks were bought and ice cream provided. Children from any section of the city were made welcome but it was for those residing on the East Side that the display was particularly staged.

The fireworks were beautiful and could be seen for long distances. The pieces were set off on the bank and the rockets and other aerial messengers allowed to fall into the river where no damage could result. The display closed with the touching off of a set piece of many-colored light effects through which could be plainly spelled out the sentence, "Be an American." It was a most fitting climax to an evening given over to the furthering of patriotic impulses and the entire affair reflects much credit on the forethought and good judgment of its sponsors.

Already there is heard the demand that something of a similar nature be provided for next year, but that it should embrace the entire city.

RED LAKE HAS GREAT FARM BUREAU PICNIC

Nearly 3600 People Attend Annual Outing at Terrebonne Last Thursday.

The third annual picnic of the Red Lake County Farm Bureau association at Terrebonne Dam, Thursday, was a big success and was attended by more than 3,000 people. There were over 600 automobiles counted at the grounds besides which there were many horse drawn vehicles and lots of people came on foot. It was the largest picnic ever held in the county, and the program went off as per schedule in spite of threatening weather. The program was opened by the Rev. Sam Bouchard, pastor of St. Anthony's Catholic church of Terrebonne who gave the address of welcome.

President August Burk of Brooks, of the Farm Bureau association, responded and gave a brief talk on the aims and purposes of the bureau. Prof. W. A. McKerrow of the Livestock department, University Farm, talked on the advantages of the farmers of the county forming a wool pool in order to market their wool to better advantage. The bureau decided then and there to form a pool and Idaige Baril of Red Lake Falls was chosen as manager.

The ladies of St. Anthony's church served dinner to those who did not bring a picnic dinner. After the noon recess, V. E. Patnaude, state boiler inspector, gave a brief talk on the Babcock Amendment and gave reasons why it should be passed. Professor McKerrow gave an interesting demonstration of dairy cattle, and Joe Montgomery, also of University Farm gave one on beef cattle. J. A. Duffy, Ferment Derosier and Albert Paradis, furnished the cattle for the demonstrations.

A thirteen inning ball game was one of the attractions of the day, Plummer and Emardville teams fighting desperately for inning after inning. Plummer finally nosed out a victory by a score of 12 to 11. The farm bureau picnic was under the direct management of County Agent Chas. C. Lake, and in the opinion of disinterested observers it was one of the biggest and most successful events ever held in this part of the state.

League Men Win Again in N. Dakota

All State Offices But One Fall to Candidates of Nonpartisans.

Senator A. J. Gronna's Defeat by Dr. E. F. Ladd Now Certain.

Congressman Baer, Leaguer, Beaten by Burtness, Ind. Representative.

With 1,412 precints out of 2,064 heard from, Thomas Hall, Independent Republican, had a lead of 6,270 votes over his Nonpartisan opponent, J. I. Cahill, for the nomination for secretary of state in last Wednesday's primary election in North Dakota.

Returns thus far received indicate that the entire league state ticket with the possible exception of Cahill, has been nominated. Cahill is running far behind Governor Frazier, who has been nominated, and Hall is running ahead of the vote polled by the leader of his ticket. The vote on secretary of state is Hall 43,241 and Cahill 35,971.

Senator Gronna Defeated.

Dr. E. F. Ladd, Nonpartisan, has received the nomination for United States senator on the face of returns from all but 233 precincts in the state, the standing being Ladd 48,509; Gronna 46,446. The absent precincts are in what is generally considered strong league territory and are expected to increase Dr. Ladd's majority.

Burtness Successful.

League candidates were beaten in two of the three congressional districts in the state, Baer losing to Burtness in the first district and Pendray meeting defeat in the second at the hands of Young. Unofficial tabulations from all counties in the second district with but ten precincts unaccounted for give Young a majority of 2,693 over his league opponent.

Frazier's lead over William Langer now is 5,000, but is expected to be nearer 6,000 when the 54 missing precincts have reported. Frazier's vote is 57,995 and Langer's, 52,994.

NONPARTY TICKET TO BE PRESENTED AGAIN

Entire Primary Slate Endorsed at Meeting in St. Paul Yesterday.

Nearly 1,000 Nonpartisan leaders, representing every county in the state, at a meeting in the Auditorium, presided over by A. C. Townley, decided late today that every Nonpartisan candidate for state office, from Dr. Henrik Shipstead down, defeated at the primaries in June, are to be candidates again in November for the same offices.

The decision was arrived at after Townley had given a talk that lasted for 45 minutes. He explained how the move could be accomplished by petition, the names of the defeated candidates to replace those now on the Farmer-Labor ticket, who are to withdraw their names, Townley said.

Wild cheers greeted the name of Dr. Henrik Shipstead every time it was mentioned.

After the decision had been reached, the members devoted the time to discussing ways and means for the financing the full campaign.

H. J. Rustad of Thief River Falls, was the delegate to the meeting from Pennington county.

Peter Nelson Secures Verdict For $300 Against Smiley Township.

Giller Divorce Case is Set For Hearing Next Monday Morning.

District court adjourned for the day last evening after the attorneys had made their pleas in the case of Nels Fountain and Eugene LaCoe against the city of Thief River Falls. Plaintiffs are suing the municipality for $200 damages for the loss of a horse alleged to have fallen into water works excavation on Second street last winter and so severely injured that it had to be killed. The complaint alleges that the trench was not properly refilled and that no effort was made to prevent accidents to vehicles or horses. This case took up about a day and a half.

A jury on Saturday evening awarded Peter and Edwin Nelson a verdict of $300 against the township of Smiley. Plaintiffs maintained that they were entitled to damages by reason of a road having been laid out across their land, thus cutting their farm in two as well as depriving them of the returns from crops that might be produced on the strip so employed.

In the case of Joseph F. Koseth against Rose Morin, in which a controversy arose over the renting of a farm, the defendant was given a verdict of $79.30.

In an action brought by H. N. Hager against Jack Paul and Jack Daus the jury decided in favor of the plaintiff, awarding him $243.53.

A verdict for plaintiff in the sum of $25 was returned in the case of Fred and Violet Lorentson against William Novak.

Charles Fiterman of this city won out in the case brought by the Fefferman & Moris company in which it was alleged that he failed to deliver a carload of scrap iron contracted for. It was proven that owing to the transportation situation it was impossible for Fiterman to live up to the agreement.

Quite a number of civil cases were dismissed and others will be heard by the court when the jury actions are out of the way.

Action For Divorce.

The first divorce action brought in this county for some time is set for trial on Monday. Mrs. Beatrice Anna Giller sues for separation from her husband, Maurice Giller, who is at present serving an indeterminate sentence for arson in Stillwater. Both parties are well known here, having resided in the city for many years. Mrs. Giller is at present living in St. Paul.

J. A. O. PREUS SPENDS SHORT TIME IN CITY

Was Enroute to Greenbush to Deliver Fourth of July Oration.

J. A. O. Preus, Republican candidate for governor of Minnesota, was in Thief River Falls for a few hours last Saturday morning. He came up on the Soo night flyer, going later to Greenbush where he delivered the Fourth of July oration. A delegation of Greenbush citizens came down in automobiles and escorted their guest to the village. While in this city Mr. Preus was shown around by Dr. O. F. Mellby, H. S. Dahlen and other old acquaintances. He had little to say concerning politics at this time, simply stating that he found the sentiment toward his candidacy very favorable wherever he had been. Later in the campaign he hoped to be able to come to Thief River Falls for the purpose of delivering an address to the voters.

Mr. Preus is a very pleasant gentleman to meet and there is no question but that personal contact with the voters will greatly help him when it comes to making their decision in November.

RED LAKE DRAINAGE PROJECT IS EXPLORED

Members of the Red Lake Drainage and Conservancy District board, accompanied by Drainage Engineer George W. Walker, Thief River Falls, are making a trip up the Clearwater and Red Lake rivers where extensive drainage improvements are contemplated.

The trip is being made with automobiles up to Red Lake where the outlet into Red river will be viewed. Petitions have been approved by the drainage board for deepening, widening and straightening both Red Lake and Clearwater rivers. Upon the issuance of an order by Judge Andrew Grindeland of the district court for preliminary funds for expenses, the work of making a survey will proceed.

A great deal of interest is being taken in the work because hundreds of thousands of acres of land needing better drainage will be benefited when the proposed improvements are completed.

The plan contemplated provides for Red lake being made into a huge reservoir to store the surplus water during flood periods until the rivers are able to carry it off. Added water power will result from this plan.

The members of the board making the trip of inspection are C. G. Selvig, Crookston, president; Andrew Johnson, Gonvick; Axel Nelson, Holt; William Paskewitz, Grygla; Ed. Aubol, St. Hilaire, and the attorney for the board, C. E. Boughton of Red Lake Falls. It is expected that three days will be consumed in going over the territory to be drained.

LARGE CLASS GIVEN ENCAMPMENT DEGREE

Thirty-six Admitted to the Purple, Detroit Team Doing Work.

One of the largest classes ever taken into an Odd Fellows Encampment in this section was accepted as purple degree members of Riverside Encampment No. 22 last Wednesday evening. There were 36 candidates in the class, all hailing from Thief River Falls or the immediate neighborhood. The work was in charge of Grand Patriarch J. V. Dexter of Detroit, who was accompanied by the following members of the degree team in that city: Jesse Nunn, Wilbur Lillicoe, Herman Farber, Henry Gilbert, William Bonner, Jacob Beck, Dr. O. W. Whitenberg, I. H. Berg, Al Gridley. These were assisted by the following officers of the local lodge: E. P. Burstad, C. P.; A. P. Robinson, S. W.; B. F. Umland, H. P.; Walter Spencer, J. W.; F. C. Dablow, district deputy grand master. There were also two visiting patriarchs present from the lodge at Grand Forks.

The ritualistic work was beautifully exemplified by the Detroit team and the entire proceeding one long to be remembered by those who took part. An elaborate lunch was served at midnight but because of the unusual size of the class it was two hours after that time before the meeting closed.

Want Best Thrift Display In State at County Fair

The Woman's club of Thief River Falls displayed a thrift exhibit at Warren during the district federation in May and it was so favorably commented on that the club was asked to send it to headquarters in Minneapolis. The exhibit has gone on record as one of the most interesting evidences of thrift ever displayed in the state. The Woman's club is anxious to have a larger and a better exhibit at the Pennington County Fair and asks for the hearty cooperation of club members and all the women in the county. Let the women make Pennington county notable for its thrift.

SEMI-ANNUAL BOARD MEETING ON MONDAY

Budget Will be Presented and Other Important Matters Considered.

The semi-annual meeting of the Pennington county board of commissioners will be held next Monday. This is an important event of the business year and many matters of interest are certain to be brought up.

The budget of expense for the county during the next twelve months will be presented. This is prepared before the meeting by the commissioners and County Auditor T. P. Anderson and is a subject most carefully considered. Last year the levy was $68,600 and Mr. Anderson believes that it can be kept within this sum for the ensuing twelve months. Only one item in the schedule is likely to call for a larger outlay than last year, this being the Tri-County Sanitarium. The construction of a home for nurses has been decided upon and it is probable that the amount voted for the institution will have to be increased on this account. The belief is, however, that cuts can be made in other directions sufficient to keep the total down to last year's figure.

Hurt in Runaway.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Brude were badly shaken up when a horse driven by the former became frightened and ran away last evening. The rig was overturned at the courthouse corner and the occupants thrown out. Both were stunned and it was feared that they were severely injured. Examination at the Physicians hospital, however, disclosed that nothing serious in the way of damage had resulted.

Cox is Named For President by Democrats

Nominated on Forty-Fourth Ballot, With McAdoo as Leading Contender.

Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York Named For Vice President.

The Democratic candidates are: James M. Cox of Ohio for president; Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York, for vice president.

After being in session for practically one solid week the Democratic national convention finished its labors on Tuesday morning. Only two conventions in the history of the country have required a greater number of ballots. In 1852 it required 49 roll calls to place Franklin Pierce in nomination, while eight years ago Woodrow Wilson was named on the 46th ballot at Baltimore.

The ballot which resulted in the nomination of Gov. Cox was taken at 1:40 a. m., on Tuesday morning after a motion to adjourn had been voted down, 637 to 407.

McAdoo's Good Start.

William G. McAdoo, son-in-law of President Wilson and former secretary of the treasury, was the leader in the opening ballots of the convention. Attorney General Palmer was next and Governor Cox third. There were a dozen other names presented, each receiving a very respectable number of votes at the start, but by Monday night the contest had narrowed down to the three leaders. These were not very far apart and it was apparent that no choice could be made if the alignment held approximately as it stood at the time of adjournment on Monday. During the evening session and at the close of the thirty-fifth ballot Attorney General Palmer released his delegates, in order, as stated by his spokes-man, "that the convention might proceed to nominate the next president of the United States."

On the fortieth ballot the count stood: McAdoo, 467; Cox, 490; others, 143. The forty-second resulted in 427 for McAdoo and 540 for Cox. On the forty-third this changed to 412 for the former cabinet member and 568 for the Ohio governor. A motion to make the nomination of Cox unanimous was enthusiastically carried.

On the nominating ballot Minnesota's 24 votes were divided as follows: McAdoo, 15; Cox, 8; absent 1.

Points of Platform.

Following are some of the main points of the platform adopted:

Lauds the record of the administration and condemns the inaction of the Republican Congress.

The platform does not mention prohibition.

Advocates immediate ratification of the peace treaty without reservations which would impair its integrity.

Attributes present quiet on Mexican border to past policy of the administration and urges recognition of the new government of Mexico when it becomes stable.

Expresses "active sympathy" with new nations, "deep and earnest sympathy" for the unfortunate people of Armenia, and "sympathy for the aspirations of Ireland."

Points to Federal Reserve system as indispensable in winning the war and the hope and inspiration of business.

Condemns failure of Congress to revise present tax laws.

Blames H. C. L. on Republican Congress.

Pledges party to economy and the budget system.

Indorses tariff for revenue only.

Promises to promote growth of merchant marine, port facilities, interior waterways, flood control and reclamation of arid lands.

Proposes Federal supervision of live stock markets.

Indorses collective bargaining, pledges the party to contrive methods of composing industrial differences.

Opposes compulsory arbitration of disputes in private industry.

Favors collective bargaining by farmers and co-operative handling and marketing of the products of workshop and farm.

Immigration Heads Forced Out; Too Much Politics

Fred D. Sherman of Grey Eagle, state immigration commissioner, and A. M. Opsahl of Brainerd, assistant commissioner, were dismissed from office today by the state board of immigration. James S. Arneson of St. Paul and Charles T. Kelley, publisher of The Journal at Menahga were appointed to the respective vacancies. The changes are effective July 15.

"Too much politics and friction in the department," was given by a board member as the reason for the dismissal.

Who Owns This Bicycle?

Chief of Police E. O. Erickson last week found a bicycle partly concealed by weeds and rubbish in an alley in the city. He is of the opinion that it may have been stolen and that the thieves were frightened away before it could be securely hidden. Anyone missing their wheel had better notify the chief and describe their property.

Society

Sandum-Holte.

Simple but very impressive was the marriage Wednesday evening, June 30, of Miss Gertrude Sandum, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Sandum, 609 Horace avenue north and Clarence Holte, which occurred, at 7:30 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents. Rev. I. T. Aastad officiated. The bride appeared in a gown of ivory satin and silver lace and wore a veil made in cap effect with a wreath of myrtle and pearls. Her bouquet was ophelia roses and maiden-hair ferns. The assembly was tastefully decorated. The bridal party entered to the sonorous strains of Mendelsohn's Midsummer's Dream, played by Miss Edna Larson and took their places under the bridal arch which was of constructed lattice work of pink and white with a large white bell in the center. Howard Sandum acted as best man and Valborg Sandum as maid of honor. Misses Lavina Nelson and Beatrice Sandum were the bridesmaids. Only immediate relatives and friends witnessed the ceremony.

Immediately afterward a three-course wedding supper was served. Covers were laid for thirty. The out-of-town guests present were: Miss Lavina Nelson of Minneapolis, a cousin of the bride, Howard Sandum of Austin, a brother; Mrs. C. Holte of Northwood, mother of the groom; Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Holte and family, also of Northwood; Bennie Gestee of Bricelyn, a cousin of the bride; N. Norman Charboneau of Bisbee, N. D., the bride's brother, acted as best man. Immediately following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Charboneau, 726 E. Eighth street. In the evening a reception was held for the newlyweds in the Evelyn hotel dining room. About sixty guests were present to extend congratulations. Beautiful decorations were in evidence and dancing formed the chief entertainment for the evening. Mr. and Mrs. Provencher are well and favorably known in this city having lived here with their parents practically all of their lives. They will reside in this city where the groom is employed as chef at the Evelyn hotel, of which his father, Julien Provencher, is proprietor.

The bridesmaid, Miss Una Nelson, wore a dress of old rose organdie and carried pink roses. The groom wore the conventional black and was attended by Monroe Wahlgrin and John Brumund. Following the ceremony a 1 o'clock dinner was served in the dining room of the Hotel Brumund to immediate relatives and friends. Covers were laid for twenty. Mr. and Mrs. Wahlgrin left the same afternoon via the Great Northern for Minneapolis where they will reside. The bride is a graduate of the local high school, later completing a business course at the Grand Forks Commercial college. The best wishes of a host of friends go with her to her new home.

The ladies were taken about six miles up the river in the "Rover" piloted by Mr. Draper. The boat had been appropriately decorated in the National colors and a clever arrangement of flags formed the centerpiece on the serving table. Conversation and music formed the diversion. At the specified distance the boat was anchored while the guests enjoyed a delicious lunch. The guests were: Mesdames A. S. Sapero, H. A. Booren, L. F. Fisher, W. H. Akre, L. H. Lawrence, H. W. An Invitation to Talking-Machine Manufacturers

"We are informed that the representatives of one or more talking-machine manufacturers have stated, on several occasions, that they are able to distinguish between a singer's voice, or instrumentalist's performance, and the New Edison's RE-CREATION of such voice or performance."

"We hereby invite responsible representatives of any reputable talking-machine manufacturer to permit themselves to be blindfolded, and to listen to such a comparison, in the presence of judges of their own choosing, indicating to the judges when they think they are listening to the artist, and when to the New Edison. There is only one condition attached, and that is—that the representatives of the talking-machine company, and the judges selected by them, shall sign a written statement, setting forth, in full detail, the results of the test."

"The test will be made with an Official Laboratory Model, taken from stock, such as can be bought in any Edison dealer's store."

We have it in our store—the Official Laboratory Model specified in the challenge.

The NEW EDISON
"The Phonograph with a Soul"

The Official Laboratory Model has proved its Realism in 4000 Comparison Tests, made before 3,500,000 people all over the United States and Canada. For instance, in Los Angeles recently, an audience of 1,500 people was unable to tell the difference between the living voice of Miss Marie Morrisey, world-famous contralto, and its RE-CREATION by the New Edison.

There's a way for you to test the wonderful Realism claimed for the Official Laboratory Model in this sweeping challenge. We give Mr. Edison's Realism Test. Come in and let us give it to you.

The price of the new Edison has advanced less than 15% since August 1, 1914. Mr. Edison has absorbed the bulk of the increased cost of material, skilled labor, and taxes. Croup

"I don't think there is a more anxious time for parents than when their children have croup. Without they are prepared with Chamberlain's Cough Remedy they must wait for the doctor and listen to the choking, metallic cough and watch their little one gasping for breath.

You know the great danger of croup is the formation of a false membrane in the larynx, and until this is expelled relief cannot be obtained, and the spasmodic choking continues. Give Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in frequent doses. It will loosen this membrane and cause the child to expel it by vomiting.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy

is an absolutely safe and certain remedy for croup, and if given as soon as the child becomes hoarse, or even after the croupy cough appears, it will prevent the attack."

FACING THE FACTS.

While it is true that the Nonpartisan league candidates were defeated in the Minnesota primaries, yet the showing made by the organization was such as to cause leaders in the older parties decided concern. This is not the view of friends of the league alone, careful observers who have thus far been unable to see anything good in the movement admitting freely that it has apparently assumed the importance of a force to be reckoned with very seriously.

Vance Chapman, who writes under the name of The County Chairman and furnishes free copy for newspapers of the Republican persuasion—providing they will use it—says that the time has come when the old parties must either eradicate or absorb this new political factor in the state.

Chapman's comment on the lessons of the late primary is interesting to say the least. For years he has been writing for Minnesota newspapers, giving his articles invariably a Republican bias. He would hardly be expected to find anything to commend in the Nonpartisan movement and yet he is evidently sincere in his conviction that it cannot either be ignored or frightened away. In his article dealing with the primary result Chapman says:

"While the tendency is to gloat over the defeat of the Townley crowd the showing made by his creation, the Nonpartisan League, compels attention. A. C. Townley, its chief inspiration, undoubtedly received a body blow and one that is due to cost him the League leadership, but his dream goes marching on and it will have to be reckoned with in days to come. In the way of information it might be interesting to know that the League candidate for governor carried fifty-five counties, that the League swept the Seventh and Ninth Congressional districts clean, that it prevailed in the Third and Sixth districts, and even broke into the First, Second, Eighth and Tenth districts. All that saved the convention nominees were the population centers and Southern Minnesota. The country districts as a rule were League in their following. A study of the primary figures shows without any chance of contradiction that the League bug has fastened itself on the rural section of the state and the problem that now confronts the two leading parties is how to meet it. The whole thing has either to be eradicated or absorbed, and the sooner the party leaders get together on the problem the better."

THE CAMPAIGN IS ON.

It took one entire week for the Democratic convention at San Francisco to finish its work and 44 ballots were required before the candidate for president was decided on. James M. Cox, at present serving ~~his~~ third term as governor of Ohio, is the party choice. He is a newspaper publisher. His opponent on the Republican ticket, Warren G. Harding, also is from Ohio and is a newspaper publisher.

Governor Cox has made quite a record as chief executive of the Buckeye state and there is no question raised as to his ability to fill the high office to which he aspires.

Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York, assistant secretary of the navy, was nominated for vice president.

As is usually the case, the result is highly satisfactory to Democrats and Republicans alike. The former believe that with this ticket and the platform declarations of their party Democracy's chances in the coming election are fully as good as those of the opposition. This was not the case a few weeks ago. It then looked as if nothing could prevent a Republican landslide. Such outcome is yet possible, of course, but is by no means as certain.

From now on the fight will rage with ever-increasing fury until the ballots are cast on the first Tuesday in November. It will be the old story over again with no prospects of anything new being sprung to add interest.

There is no danger of this republic going onto the rocks, no matter which one of these Ohio gentlemen are elected. Both are men of ability and experience and either will no doubt prove an acceptable administrator. Indications favor Harding, but many things can happen to upset the dope before the final decision is reached.

Catfish Destroy Crops.

Red Lake Falls Gazette: While we in Minnesota think that a mosquito or potato bug bothers us now and then, we should bear in mind that other sections of this old world are having troubles also. The fish are eating the cotton crop in Louisiana. This week Mrs. V. M. Higinbotham received a copy of the Jena (Louisiana) Times of June 5 and among the many interesting items from that section was the following:

"The river at this point is at a stand and, with a continuation of the good weather, a fall is anticipated at an early date. If this should take place a good cotton crop could still be made, and this section needs both a good corn and cotton crop.

"Report reaches here that a good many of our farmers are having a lot of trouble with the cat fish and gars breaking into the fields and eating up the cotton. In many places the fish have destroyed the stand entirely and the cotton will have to be planted over."

(By Lyman R. Hyatt)

Formerly Instructor in Agriculture at Lincoln High School.

(Second Installment.)

Practically every village, and all the towns and cities, have one or more churches. The church, carrying aloft the Greek cross, is the most commanding structure in the village, just as the cathedral overshadows all the other buildings in the city. The churches are filled with worshippers whenever services are held. The people use the church when they are born, named, sick, in trouble, married, during celebrations and holidays, and in death. Inside the churches are religious symbolisms of rich and varied character ritual, pictures, statues, crosses, candles, incense, singing, sermon—every known source of religious emotional inspiration is utilized.

Has One Great Railroad.

The Trans-Siberian railroad stands as a vital national institution in Siberia. It binds Western Civilization with the Orient. It is the lifeblood of the nation as perhaps no other railroad or river is, for it is the sole means of transportation between Europe and Siberia overland. As an engineering feat it holds high place. With an unparalleled roadbed, a guage six inches wider than our standard guage, and an almost unbelievable number of cars and engines at the outset, it has had carried over its rails, men and materials for two great wars, one lesser one, and a revolution and is now engaged in evacuating the Czech, Polish, Roumanian and other Allied contingents, besides hundreds of thousands of civilian refugees, eastward. Given anything like normal conditions it would again resume traffic conditions comparable to those found anywhere under similar conditions in the world.

Outside the seven cities of Siberia, in which live about 3,000,000 people, the remaining 18,000,000 inhabitants live in villages, ranging in size from a few hundred to many thousands of people. The number of people who live alone on the land in separate houses, is negligible.

Bathing in Family Groups.

I suppose it is a sign of dishonesty that every village and city street is shut off from the yards surrounding the houses by walls. Almost all the houses are grouped around a courtyard, the whole surrounded by a walled stockade, entrance being effected through heavy, pad-locked doors. In one of these compounds may be frequently found a complete community, with shoemakers, carpenters, grocers, bakers, and all the other necessary artisans. Every village has a bath house, where everybody takes his weekly bath. Usually, I understand, this is done by families at a time.

Some of the smaller villages have no schools, church, or public meeting place, and just now have no supplies of candles, kerosene, or electricity, and these present a most disconsolate appearance. The villages of a few hundred or more inhabitants, however, have their church, school, sobrienaya, bath-house, park, hospital, shops of various kinds, and have the possibilities for a well-rounded life.

Livestock Well Protected.

Before the war it was possible to buy land, the loam black and fertile, fifty versts from a railroad station in quantities up to about 80 acres, for 50 kopecks (25 cents) a desitina 2½ acres.) Close to a city or a station the price of land ranged greatly, but it was very cheap, compared to our way of thinking. There are millions of acres unoccupied, save for roving herds of cattle, sheep, horses, and camels—land capable of producing good crops of wheat, buckwheat hay, rye, oats, beans, millet, broom corn, flax, tobacco and Indian corn, to say nothing of the vegetable crops common to the United States.

The livestock grow a heavy coat of fur, and, relatively speaking, require much less shelter than livestock in Minnesota, or even Missouri. Vast herds of cattle, sheep, horses and camels in Manchuria and Southern Siberia are wintered through with no thought of any barn or artificial shelter—nothing but the hills and trees. Natives tell me that livestock require little in winter, and that they keep in quite prime condition when left to shift for themselves.

Raise Little For Market.

I saw no clover growing under cultivation, but saw both sweet and red clover growing wild along the railroad tracks. I saw hundreds of valleys and prarie fields on which only patches of native, poor quality hays were harvested, which, so far as my knowledge of agriculture goes, could with proper development grow superior quality roughages in great quantities.

Agriculture on a commercial scale, such as we know it in America, is not much practiced in Siberia. A peasant produces enough of crops to take care of his establishment, and sells what little is left over, if he can, to people in the large villages and towns. As far as the matter of making the land give a reasonable account of itself, that has not been even touched.

A rather strange aspect of agriculture is carried on in Siberia in that large quantities of honey are produced, and honey is as common a product as butter and eggs. At Tousk, the farthest north railroad station in Siberia, there are large and successful apiaries. The use of wax candles in the churches furnishes a strong motive for beekeeping, and doubtless this was the original motive, but if honey is a by-product, it is an acceptable one.

Prohibition Agents Arrested.

Spooner News: Last night two prohibition agents attempting to hold up the Tom Clauson sedan car just west of Baudette, shot the rear end of the car all full of dents.

The occupants of the car claim that they had no notice of anyone trying to stop them, had driven out the state road about a mile west of Baudette where they turned and headed back to town. When well on their way back, someone came up in the rear and began shooting at them, and they, believing that someone was trying a hold up stunt, hit the high spots for town. Tom Clauson, who was at the wheel, claims he didn't know his car had that much speed.

As a result of the affair, warrants were issued by Judge Soderstrom at Baudette, for Edwin A. Olson and Herman Miller, the prohibition agents. They were arrested and their hearing set for July 31st. John A. Kennedy and Franz Schmidt of the customs office furnished bonds for their appearance in the sum of one thousand dollars each.

There is a general feeling of unrest all over this section, over the action of the enforcement agents.

Numerous cars of reputable citizens have been held up at the point of a gun, seemingly without authority.

Among those held up last night was Attorney Chilgren, who was stopped on his way home from court, by two men, purporting to be prohibition agents, who stepped out from behind the piles of cedar poles, just as he was driving into his home town of Williams.

The William Spence place in Old Baudette was searched twice during the week by these legacies of the Volstead act.

Train Strikes Boy.

Warren Register: Johnny, the eleven-year-old son of Fred Gehris, living near March siding, lies in the Warren hospital, hovering between life and death, as the result of an accident Saturday afternoon. About three o'clock he left home to go for the family mail, a distance of a mile or less. His failure to return soon was thought nothing of, as he sometimes, when going for the mail, stopped to play with a neighbor boy. When the evening shadows began to fall and he still failed to put in an appearance, the family became alarmed and searching parties went out to look for him.

It was about four o'clock Monday morning when he was discovered near the Soo track, about a mile west of March siding. The little fellow was terribly injured and unconscious and it was evident that he had been struck by a Soo freight, which passed that point about 3 o'clock the previous afternoon, and dragged some distance over the ties before finally landing in the grass a few feet away. One shoulder was broken, also an arm and one leg, the big toe of one foot was cut off and he sustained internal injuries. Lying there without aid for thirteen hours, it is a wonder that the boy did not bleed to death.

Pays $2500 For Bull.

Warren Sheaf: Andrew I. Hanson, one of the progressive farmers living north of Warren, purchased the fine yearling Shorthorn bull, Gipsy King 859107, from D. W. Aylor, of Grandin, N. D., at a Shorthorn sale held near Fargo on Monday, for the sum of $2500. The animal is of roan color and is an exceptionally fine individual of good breeding and will make an excellent head for Mr. Hanson's excellent herd of Shorthorns. Gipsy King won first in his class at the Shorthorn Congress held at Chicago this year. Mr. Hanson expects the arrival of this valuable animal at Warren in time for exhibition at the Marshall County Fair this week. This may seem like a high price to pay for a single animal, but when the fact that the sire is one-half the herd is taken into consideration, it can readily been seen that it pays to place the very best of blood lines and breeding at the head of the herd.

"DOES THE WORK" STATES R. R. MAN

Says He Knows What Tanlac Will Do and is Not Surprised That Others Praise It.

"There was a time," said John Furstenfelder, a car repairer living at 1322 Sixth street, North, Minneapolis, Minn., "when I had my doubts about Tanlac, but since trying it myself I believe anything good I read or hear about it.

"When I began taking it," he explained, "my stomach had been in bad shape for three years. What little food I ate would sour and cause me to suffer for hours from gas and indigestion. I was also in a badly rundown condition, suffered from constipation and my nerves were so upset that I could not get sufficient sleep and rest.

"I tried everything, it seems to me, but nothing helped me one bit until I got Tanlac and now I feel just like a brand new man. Many of the things told me about Tanlac seemed unbelievable, but I had been taking it but a few days when I was convinced it would do the work just as they say it will.

"I can now eat just anything I want without having the least trouble from it. Tanlac has not only set my stomach right but it has put my entire system in the best condition. The first few doses of Tanlac helped me and by the time my first bottle was gone my appetite had returned in full force and I was eating like a wolf. I am no longer surprised that so many people are praising Tanlac, and I am glad of the opportunity to make a statement and tell what is has done for me, too, if it is likely to help others. My strength has returned so that my work is no longer a burden to me. In fact, for the first time in years I feel like a well man."

Tanlac is sold in Thief River Falls at Lambert's Drug Store, and at Oklee by John H. Gassman.—adv.

Pays For "Whipping."

Crookston Times: Twelve hundred dollars damages were awarded Thomas Egeland of Bygland township against Nere Anderson for a "whipping" administered by him on April 22, this year. Jury in district court brought in the verdict early last evening.

The first criminal actions to come before juries in district court since the opening of the district court early in June came today when the case of the state against Knute Thompson of East Grand Forks was tried. Thompson is alleged to have sold liquor. Up to a late hour this afternoon the jury on the case had reached no agreement. A similar charge against Ole Olson and Knute Thompson is next to be heard.

ROSEWOOD

A short speech was given by Rev. George Larson of Thief River Falls and a lengthy program including many selections of readings, solos, duets, recitations, etc., were very admirably rendered by the school pupils. Needed Money Badly But Returned Lost Wallet

If there is a man in the county who could very handily use $50 just now it is Halvor Williamson of Grygla. A short time ago he was mistaken for a bear and shot at by a neighbor with the result that he has been under the care of doctors here for about three weeks. While leaving the court room on Monday after listening to the proceedings awhile, he picked up a wallet on the floor. The pocketbook contained $50 in greenbacks and there was nothing to prevent him from retaining the money with every assurance that nothing would ever be known of the matter. Instead he turned it over to Sheriff W. J. LaBree who in turn easily discovered the owner, P. J. Keating.

Wants Boys and Girls to Get Fair Exhibits Ready

Miss Ida Tandberg, in charge of the boys' and girls' exhibit at the county fair, writes from Moorhead asking The Times to remind the young folks of the necessity for beginning the preparation of their exhibits at once. It is particularly desired that the children's display be the best ever shown at a county fair in this section as it will be shown at the auditorium under the most favorable circumstances. This department has always been one of the most interesting at the fair and it is hoped that every boy and girl will make an effort to have it even better for this year's great fair.

Absence of Snow Fails to Check Great Ski-Jumper

Ben E. Bothun, formerly on the reportorial staff of The Times and now city editor of the Chippewa Daily Herald, sends the following clipping from his paper with reference to the Great Siegfried, the summer ski jumper who is to appear at the Pennington county fair on August 4, 5 and 6:

"It may be of interest to the many ski sport followers in Chippewa Falls to know that Sig Stienwall, who was among the noted ski riders who participated in the National tournament in this city last January at which time Anders Haugen won the American championship, is still in the game right in the middle of the summer. He didn't hang his skis up when the snow went away and is now riding down greased scaffolds at county fairs and landing in a net."

Chief Issues Warning to Those Bathing Near Bridge

Bathers are warned to stay on the north side of First street bridge when swimming in the river, otherwise there is liable to be a serious accident one of these days. People watching the bathers rush across the bridge in order to keep track of those whose habit it is to float under the structure and lately some have just missed being run down by automobiles. Stay on the portion of the bridge provided for foot passengers and do not get in the way of traffic. This is the advice given by Chief of Police E. O. Erickson in a notice published in another part of The Times this week.

NEW HAY ALREADY BEING SHIPPED FROM COUNTY

Nick Bundhund, the Goodridge banker, informs The Times that the hay shipping season has already opened in the eastern end of the county. One carload has been sent to Montana parties by Andrew Aasen and more will follow in the near future. The crop is one of the best of late years and the demand is such as to make a good price practically certain. There has been an excellent market developed for Pennington county hay, both tame and wild, in Montana, that state taking practically all that our farmers do not need for their own use.

Railroad Men Will Examine Record of Both Candidates

Records of Senator Warren G. Harding, the republican nominee for president, and of the nominee of the democratic convention, Governor Cox, will be sent to the members of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen, who will be asked to form their own opinions and vote accordingly.

President W. G. Lee of the Brotherhood announced this is the policy to be followed by the organization in the November election. The records will be mailed out from the Washington office of the brotherhood as soon as they are prepared, Mr. Lee said.

"Records of the candidates will be placed side by side and sent to the men," Mr. Lee declared. "With the facts before them our members are sufficiently intelligent to form their own opinions."

Public Reception at Music Store.

The formal opening of the Thief River Music company was held on Saturday evening in their new quarters, 215 E. Third street. Every detail which would tend to make it a success was carefully attended to. The musical numbers consisted of vocal, violin and piano by Mrs. Irma Hallory Fisher, Ausilga Sorenson and Doris Halvorson, respectively, all of whom are artists, were especially well received. Miss Sorenson came up from Grand Forks that same day for the express purpose of entertaining the public at this opening. Each visitor was presented with a souvenir. Flowers were given to the ladies while the gentlemen received cigars.

Splendid Concert.

A musical attraction which delighted a large audience was that given by the Concert Company from Gustavus Adolphus college under the auspices of the Swedish Lutheran church last Sunday evening in the Trinity Lutheran church. Every number, which consisted of selections for voice, violin, cello and piano, was liberally applauded. Everyone who attended considered the concert one of the best of its kind ever given in this city. The Swedish Lutheran church is to be complimented in being able to secure an entertainment of such high standing.

Paying What's Fair

THE average American is fair-minded. He prefers to pay his way and ask no favors.

The right price for gasoline is based first, on the cost of crude oil; second, on the cost of refining; and third, on the cost of distributing the refined product.

During the war prices were fixed by Governmental demand rather than by natural law.

The very low prices obtaining in 1915 were due to two causes—first, to ultra-conservatism due to uncertainty; second, to the spectacular production of oil in the Cushing fields, a production which dwindled almost as magically as it increased.

Since the Armistice the cost of every item entering into the production, refining, and distribution of petroleum products, has increased to an unprecedented degree. The production of crude petroleum has not kept pace with the demand. This has caused fierce competition for such crude oil as is obtainable. This competition has forced the price of crude up until it is costing the Standard Oil Company (Indiana), f. o. b. Whiting, $4.30 a barrel, as against $2.92 on Nov. 11, 1918—an increase of 47 percent.

Yet in the same period gasoline advanced in price but 24 percent.

Only through the efficiency of large scale refinery practice and through advanced scientific processes of extracting an ever increasing percentage of gasoline from the crude oil, has the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) been able to hold gasoline prices down to present levels, and still yield a fair return to its 4799 stockholders.

It is generally conceded in the petroleum industry that the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is operating on the closest margin possible.

COURT VACATES PROCEEDINGS IN PAVING MATTER

Restraining Order Set Aside and City May Proceed With Program.

City May Issue Its Certificates For Share of Costs in the Undertaking.

Complainants Fail to State a Cause For Action, Says Judge Grindeland.

Judge Andrew Grindeland in chambers at Warren on Tuesday denied the application of a citizens committee of Thief River Falls requesting that a permanent injunction be granted to prevent the city council going ahead with the local paving program.

A temporary restraining order was issued by the court on May 25, and this order is vacated and set aside by the recent ruling. The temporary order was issued pending a decision of the state supreme court in a case which had been appealed to it for an opinion. This ruling was found to have aplication only in cities operating under home rule charters, and therefore the status of the Thief River Falls case was not altered through these proceedings.

The Court's Opinion.

Judge Grindeland, in refusing to grant a permanent injunction, rendered the following opinion:

"Under said Chapter 65 the city has the power to issue certificates for the payment of the 'whole or part of said improvement' and section nine thereof provides that the 'amount of any such certificates at any time outstanding shall not be included in determining any such municipality's net indebtedness under the provisions of any applicable law.'

"From a fair and reasonable construction of said Chapter 65, Laws 1919, the court is of the opinion that the city can issue the certificates in payment of the city's proportionate share of the cost of the improvement as well as that which is to be borne by special assessment against abutting property. Hence the city can raise by such certificates a sufficient amount to pay the entire cost of the improvement and pay the contract price complained of. The said Chapter 65 further provides that the city shall provide funds to meet the certificates as they become due. The court can see no valid reason presented by the pleadings whereby the city cannot appropriate from the general revenue fund of said city each year a certificate falls due a sufficient amount, plus the amounts received by the city for special assessments, to meet the certificates as they fall due, and this may cover a period of 20 years, if the city so desires, and there is nothing in the pleadings which would indicate to the court that the city will be unable to meet the certificates as they fall due.

"The court is of the opinion that the complaint fails to state a cause of action and the application for an injunction is therefore denied and the restraining order vacated and set aside."

MUCH INTEREST IN BIG BAND CONCERT

Soloists a Particular Feature of Bachman's Million Dollar Organization.

Graydon Lower, euphonium soloist with Harold Bachman's "Million Dollar Band" will appear in Thief River Falls on the 21st of July, on his second season with that organization. During the war Mr. Lower was leader of a cavalry band which achieved considerable reputation. He was recognized as one of the finest euphonium players in the army service. Mr. Lower was one of the hits of the season with the "Million Dollar Band" last season and comes back to the organization this summer after a successful season in Illinois and Iowa as a director of a 12-piece concert orchestra under his own name. In addition to his work with the brass sextette and quartette that Mr. Bachman is featuring this summer, Mr. Lower will be heard on this sweetest toned of all band instruments in several of the standard solos for the euphonium.

As a special attraction with his Million Dollar Band, Mr. Bachman is presenting a very talented violin soloist, Mr. Ering Sodahl, of Duluth. Mr. Sodahl has studied with the finest teachers in the northwest and comes to the Bachman band from Duluth with the highest recommendations from the press and critics of that city. Sodahl's repertoire consists of the more popular of the violin classics. Some of his accompaniments are played by Walter F. Klingman, of Louisville, Ky., at the piano and some are played by the band. Mr. Bachman says that the most difficult thing his band has to do is to play accompaniments for the violin solos and it is this class of work that the real art of his organization is best displayed.

Mr. Sodahl is also a splendid pianist and a saxaphone soloist. He was featured in special saxaphone numbers with the "Million Dollar Band" at the Palace Music Halls in Chicago last year.

GREATEST FAIR GETTING READY FOR EXHIBITION

Every Department Will This Year be More Interesting Than Ever Before.

Amusement Features of High Order Secured For Three Days of Exhibition.

Great Interest Centers in Auditorium, Where Several Exhibits Will be Placed.

As the time approaches for the opening of Pennington county's fair, August 4, 5 and 6, it is becoming more and more evident that it will far surpass anything of the kind ever before attempted in this section of the state. Not only will the amusement features be in a class by themselves, but the exhibits also promise to excel those of previous fairs both in number and quality. Barring a season of extremely inclement weather—which the fair management neither hopes for nor expects—the attendance this year undoubtedly will be much greater than last year. The success of previous fairs held here and the rapidly increasing interest of local people in such exhibits portend a record-breaking attendance during all three days of the Pennington county fair this year.

Amusement Features.

Nothing has been left undone to make the amusement features of the fair everything to be desired. Besides the many special attractions which will be free to all those securing admission to the fair grounds, Secretary Smith announces that he has secured the famous Little Giant shows in order to make this part of the program all that can be desired. While this aggregation may be placed in the class of "carnival companies," it is not of the kind which proved objectionable to local people some two or three years ago.

The Little Giant shows are engaged with the explicit understanding that any attraction complained of by fair patrons may immediately and without further argument be closed by the fair management. Among the amusement devices carried by this company may be mentioned a Ferris wheel, merry-go-round, airplane carousal and a number of high class vaudeville and other tent shows. The Little Giant people are now filling a series of engagements on the Grain Belt circuit in North Dakota and nothing but words of commendation have been heard concerning them.

Exposition at Auditorium.

About twenty local merchants, wholesalers and manufacturers have engaged quarters at the auditorium for industrial exhibits and demonstrations during the fair. While this part of the exhibition has not yet been completed in detail, assurance is given that it will be very interesting and well worth going to see. Among other things, Dr. Milan will show a number of samples of basket work done by patients at the sanitarium. It is also expected that a number of [illegible] will have excellent exhibits placed in this section.

Free Program Twice Daily.

A full program of free attractions will be given in front of the grand stand each afternoon and evening of the fair. There will be no increase in admission over previous years, despite the fact that this year's numbers cost the management about twice what ordinarily has been spent for these features.

A drive for the sale of season tickets for the fair is to be carried on by the Woman's club and the Girls' Community club. Season tickets will be sold at $2 and there admit the holder or any member of his family to any performance. This is done for the purpose of relieving the congestion at the gates which results when all tickets are purchased at the grounds. The following prices of admission will prevail at the grounds: Day prices, adults 50 cents; children 25 cents; automobiles 25 cents and grandstand 25 cents. After 6 p. m. adults will be admitted to the grounds for 25 cents and children for 10 cents.

GUERNSEYS WIN ALL PRIZES AT OUTSIDE FAIRS

Cattle Display From Pennington County Makes Clean Sweep in Three Cities.

F. B. Conklin, Albert Johnson and H. C. Woolson Herds Are Represented.

Sweepstakes as Well as Individual Awards Fall to Local Breeders.

WIN CHAMPIONSHIPS, DAKOTA STATE FAIR

Word was received in the city yesterday announcing the winning by the Pennington county Guernsey display of the most important awards at the North Dakota State fair, Fargo. F. B. Conklin's cow, "Ciss," and H. C. Woolson's bull "Robert Boy Minnesota," took the grand championship prizes in their respective divisions against very strong competition. Three famous herds were pitted against the Pennington county cattle. One of these was shown at the National Show last year and is now on its way to be again exhibited there.

Added triumphs have this week been scored by Pennington county cattle. In this immediate neighborhood it has for some time been recognized that the dairy stock raised here was equal to any and superior to most of that produced in this section, but it remained for the Pennington County Guernsey Breeders' association to prove to outsiders that this was no mere local boast.

Just as a starter 22 head from three of the foremost Guernsey herds in the county were selected for the purpose of exhibition at nearby fairs. The exhibit has captured everything in the way of prizes for which it has thus far been entered and it looks as if the entire trip would be one triumphal journey.

Win Three to Date.

The first stop was at Ada where the Norman county fair was in progress. Here the Pennington county exhibit was awarded the blue ribbon in each of the classes in which it was entered. The fair rules at Ada do not permit of outsiders competing for the money prizes but this was a matter of small importance. The main thing so far as the owners were concerned was the knowledge that the judges acknowledged their exhibits to be the best on the grounds.

At Fertile three days later the same thing was repeated. The Pennington county exhibit secured all the blue ribbons in the Guernsey division in competition with some of the best herds in that section.

Clean Up at Crookston.

A report of the livestock entries at the Crookston fair last week states that in the Guernsey class, F. B. Conklin of Thief River Falls, was the chief exhibitor. His prize ribbons include: first on senior yearling bull, aged cow and also grand champion, two year old heifer, senior heifer calf, senior bull calf, junior heifer calf, second on senior yearling heifer and third on senior yearling heifer.

H. C. Woolson of Thief River Falls, won first prize on aged bull and also sweepstakes in this class, first on yearling heifer and junior bull calf; second on aged cow, two year old heifer, senior bull calf, heifer calf; third on two year old heifer.

At Fargo This Week.

During the remainder of this week this exhibit will be found at the Cass county fair at Fargo where it is expected that the success attending its previous appearances will be repeated. In fact Prof. W. A. McKerrow of the University of Minnesota, who judged these animals at the Crookston fair, stated that they would without question be strong contenders at the Minnesota state fair.

Next week the tour will come to an end after the stock has been shown at the North Dakota state fair, G[illegible] it will be brought back in time for the Pennington county fair in this city on Aug. 4, 5 and 6.

$25,000 ADDITIONAL FOR FLOOD VICTIMS

Total Now Has Reached $200,000 Out of Appropriation of Half a Million.

The state board of relief at a special meeting Monday in the governor's office at St. Paul appropriated an additional $25,000 to cover the feed and seed relief granted during the winter and spring by Appraiser Scott Laird to flood sufferers in this part of the state. This makes a total of $200,000 set aside for flood relief out of the half million dollar appropriation by the special session of the state legislature a year ago following the disastrous July floods. However, a considerable part of this sum will revert to the state next fall when the seed grain notes are paid by the borrowers.

Mr. Laird expects shortly to make a tour of the flooded areas before closing up his work for the summer. The relief was granted for the purpose of getting settlers to remain on their land this spring and start over again and not to recompense those who suffered loss. In this way much good was accomplished for in many instances people would have been forced to abandon their farms which quite often were so heavily encumbered that they would probably have been sold under mortgage foreclosure.

Bound Over to Grand Jury on Liquor Selling Charge

Godfrey Carlson of Thief River Falls was yesterday placed under $600 bonds to insure his appearance before the next grand jury to answer to the charge of bootlegging. The complaint was sworn to by Solomon Blue, an Indian, who claims he purchased three pints of alcohol and one quart of whiskey from the defendant on July 10. The case was tried yesterday in municipal court and the evidence was sufficiently convincing to cause the accused man to be bound over.

The necessary bonds have been secured and the defendant is now at liberty.

Two Places on Board to be Filled But No Candidates Seek Positions.

The annual school elections in District No. 18 will be held next Saturday evening, at which time two directors are to be chosen to fill the places of H. S. Dahlen and F. F. Haynes, whose terms have expired. These gentlemen have decided, for business reasons, not to seek re-election at this time. They have given efficient service in the past but feel they can no longer afford to devote the time which close attention to school matters, board meetings and other school business necessitates.

No candidates filed for the positions previous to the expiration of the time limit for such filings, and therefore it is hard to conjecture whom the voters will decide upon as successors of the two retired board members. There is a general feeling, however, that two women should be chosen for the place, making four men and two women on the board, and the names of Mrs. L. G. Larsen and Mrs. J. J. Richtel have been prominently mentioned. These ladies are fully qualified to handle the work incident to these positions, both being public spirited and each enjoying a record of much public work well performed.

THIRD CHILD'S CLINIC SATURDAY, JULY 24

Dr. Pearson of State Board of Health Will be Examining Physician.

The third children's clinic to be held in this city has been announced for Saturday, July 24 at the auditorium. Dr. Pearce of the state board of health will be the examining physician.

The two previous clinics held here were among the most successful in the state, the number of children examined being large and the general interest keen. Our people were highly complimented by state health officials for the knowledge they showed concerning the importance of this move for better babies on the part of the board of health and their action quoted as an example for other communities to follow.

Dr. Pearce will examine all children brought to him and give advice as to their care. He will also diagnose all cases where disease is suspected and prescribe a course of treatment.

Parents generally are invited to take advantage of this opportunity to have their children examined by an expert.

Local Young Men Freed of Highway Robbery Charge

A case involving an alleged holdup came up in municipal court for hearing yesterday, but was dismissed on motion of County Attorney Theo. Quale for lack of evidence.

The complaint was sworn out by Gussie Shoemaker, transient, who said she and Solomon Blue, while passengers in a taxi driven by Godfrey Carlson, were relieved of $40, a watch and handbag, by a thug who held them up just outside the city limits. The complaint charged Joe Jetland with the holdup and Carlson with being an accomplice, alleging that the driver was not molested by the highwayman.

Owing to the somewhat shady character of the complaining witnesses their testimony was not given much credence, and the case was dismissed.

Red Lake county's two members on the sanatorium board have not yet been chosen, but it is expected that they will be when the board meets.

STOCK KILLED AND BUILDINGS RAZED BY WIND

Country to North of Thief River River Falls Visited by Tornado Last Sunday.

Lars Erickson, Residing Near Gatzke, is One of the Heaviest Losers.

No Crop Damage Here and Reported But Slight in Other Localities.

A wind storm, which at times gained the violence of a tornado, visited the country to the north and west of Thief River Falls last Sunday. Considerable rain fell in Pennington county and there was some wind but no damage worth mentioning has been reported either to crops or other property. Other sections did not fare so well.

Lars Erickson's farm, two and one-half miles southeast of Gatzke, received the full force of the blow. His large frame barn was literally torn to pieces and scattered over forty acres of ground. The barn contained five horses, two of which were killed. His well house, machine shed and other smaller buildings also went. The residence, being of logs, set up endwise, stood the strain and did not fall, though it was somewhat wrenched, the walls in places being torn away from the floor for a space of six inches. The kitchen part is a one-story log addition on the east end of the house and at one instant the northeast corner of this addition raised up a foot from the ground. Mr. Erickson and the women folks of his household expected the house to go over, but it settled back and the danger was past. Mr. Erickson and his family stayed near the south door and did not leave the building. Even the plastering did not fall.

Fine Grove Destroyed.

A fine grove of large poplar trees nearly surrounded the Erickson buildings and this is a complete wreck, few of the trees remaining undamaged, most of them being broken over and the broken tops twisted into snarls. Trees a foot in diameter were broken up the same as the smaller ones.

Mr. Erickson's neighbors came on Monday and gathered up and stacked what they could find of the 25 or 30 tons of new tame hay that had recently been put in the barn.

The Lundsetter place a mile west of Erickson's was damaged somewhat, a threshing machine being demolished and parts of it were picked up in the Erickson grove a mile away.

Church Skidded Along.

The Presbyterian church about three miles west of Erickson's and a mile northwest of Rollis, was also destroyed. It stood on the C. E. Williams farm and the wreckage is scattered over probably forty acres of his land. The marks on the ground show that the building was first lifted off its foundation and skidded on the ground right side up for about fifty feet before going over. The cupola, under which the bell hung, was driven into the ground about 100 feet from the former site of the building. The stove, a good sized round upright heater, was standing right side up in the field about 500 feet from the foundation, unbroken except that the doors and legs were gone from it. Pieces of the organ, chairs and other furniture and apparatus were scattered over a wide expanse of territory.

Is Heaviest Loser.

But the hardest hit man in all the storm-swept area is George Curtiss, who lived in the town of Whiteford, about five miles west of the Rollis church. His house, barn, machine shed and all other smaller buildings, excepting the chicken house, were demolished, household goods, machinery and all being broken and scattered. Mr. and Mrs. Curtiss and the smaller children were visiting at the W. J. Evans home, half a mile north at the time, but three of the older children were in the house and miraculously escaped unhurt, the oldest girl of the three pulling the younger two out from under the wreckage after the storm had passed.

A mare and a couple of colts were tied in the barn but were unhurt, being found nearby tied to the two by four which had formed part of the manger.

The tamarac grove near the Curtiss buildings was badly torn up by the wind, though it does not appear to have been as hard hit as was the Erickson grove.

Mr. Erickson fortunately carried $1500 in storm insurance, which will help out some in making good his loss, but Mr. Curtiss, carrying no insurance, and losing his house and household goods as well as his outbuildings, is left in a bad situation. It comes particularly hard on him as he is still feeling the effects of being completely drowned out in last year's flood.

Along with the wind there was hail that did some damage to crops in places, though this damage was not general. According to reports the hail was worse further north and east, hail stones as large as a man's fist being reported from the country around Salol in Roseau county. Some minor damage to buildings, trees and outstanding property was done in the Hanson neighborhood ten miles northeast of Middle River.

Comes From Far South.

John A. Carlson, for many years bridge foreman for the Soo railroad in this section with headquarters in this city, is back on a visit to old friends. For the past three years Mr. Carlson has been residing at Dyar, Alabama, and has practically ceased from active labor. At the time of his retirement he was one of the oldest men in point of service employed by the Soo and is now on the pension roll. He has a wide circle of friends here who were greatly pleased to find him looking so hale and hearty in spite of the fact that he has passed man's alloted three score and ten. Mr. Carlson is not certain that he will stay at his present location, although he likes Alabama well enough. He is at present considering going to California for the purpose of making that state his home in the future.

Hay Shipments Begin.

KENORA MAY BE TOURISTS' GOAL ON ANNUAL RUN

Plans Being Considered Which Will Include Visit to Canadian City.

Would Mean Practically a Two-Day Voyage on Beautiful Lake of Woods.

Arrangements Nearly Complete and Indications Are For 100 Excursion Members.

Local automobile bugs are patching up their Lizzies and plugging up the leaks in their spare tires. Every little detail which might add to comfort or reduce hazard in a long road run is carefully being looked after. And it is very likely the weather man is receiving numerous supplications for a period of dry weather the latter part of this month. The aforesaid bugs can hardly be blamed for this unusual activity when it is remembered that on the morning of the 27th they expect to start out more than a hundred strong on a boosting tour which is expected to put all previous efforts along this line in a total eclipse.

To Boost County Fair.

The primary object of this run is, of course, to spread propaganda concerning the Pennington county fair among Thief River Falls' neighbors to the north. With their destination as Warroad, the boosters plan to stop at every town on the Great Northern enroute, and upon their return will accord similar treatment to the towns along the Soo. Two full days will be occupied in this manner, and there will not be a minute to spare if it is to be done up right. A band will accompany the pilgrimage to liven up the proceedings with choice bits of music, and the wide-awake northenders will no doubt do their part in adding what little details are necessary to make the visits mutually pleasant.

May Go Farther.

Since the tour was announced last week it has been proposed that the tourists extend their trip to a boat ride on the beautiful Lake of the Woods, with Kenora, Canada, as their destination. It is more than likely that this boat excursion will be included in the program and in this case three or four days will probably elapse before the pilgrims return to Thief River Falls. At this time of the year nothing could be finer than a long voyage on the big boundary line lake and the idea is received with enthusiasm by all who contemplate joining the booster party.

President Streeter of the Automobile association is busy attending to details of the trip and if anything is lacking to make it a complete success it will not be his fault.

VOLSTEAD CONTESTS KVALE NOMINATION

Former Thief River Falls Pastor Accused of Violating Corrupt Practices Act.

Proceedings in the contest against Rev. O. J. Kvale, formerly pastor of a Thief River Falls church, and Nonpartisan league candidate nominated for congress in the seventh district republican primaries over Congressman A. J. Volstead, were to open in district court at Benson Monday.

Nomination of Rev. Kvale is being contested under the corrupt practice act on charges preferred by 25 voters of the district, alleging that he made false and slanderous statements regarding Mr. Volstead, and that the latter unjustly was attacked as an "atheist" in a pamphlet issued on behalf of Mr. Kvale shortly before election. The pamphlet also, it is said, made false statements regarding Mr. Volstead's record in congress. Should the contest be sustained, Mr. Kvale would be ousted as nominee and Mr. Volstead would be declared the republican candidate for congress in the seventh district.

BOOSTERS FROM MANY SECTIONS HEAD THIS WAY

Grand Forks Coming Tomorrow One Hundred Strong to Boom State Fair.

Will Arrive From Warren, Stay For Dinner and Continue to Crookston.

After having for some time been rather neglected when the itinery of trade excursions from the cities were being considered, Thief River Falls is promised its full share of visitors of this kind in the near future. Two booster parties will visit the city during the present month and there are prospects of more coming later on.

Grand Forks Leads Off.

Secretary H. Mayne Stanton of the Grand Forks Commercial club, has notified The Times to the effect that about 100 business and professional men from that city will be in Thief River Falls tomorrow, arriving in time for dinner. Their particular mission, outside of making a friendly call, is the boosting of the Grand Forks fair, which will be held in Grand Forks next week. The boosters will arrive by auto from Warren and will in all likelihood stage a parade, make some speeches and otherwise conduct themselves as high grade boosters should. They are making a tour of all the cities and towns in this section and the understanding is that they will go from here to Crookston.

St. Paul Wholesalers Next.

About one hundred of the leading wholesale merchants and manufacturers of St. Paul will visit Thief River Falls on Saturday, July 31, arriving at 7:45 a. m. and remaining for about two hours.

The trip will be conducted under the direction of the St. Paul Association of Public & Business Affairs, to which all the important jobbers and manufacturers of the city belong.

These excursions have become a regular feature of the work of the association's sub-division of jobbing and manufacturing and affords an opportunity for the business men of St. Paul to meet the business men of other cities of the Northwest.

Territory covered will be by special train over the lines of the Soo road, going from St. Paul to Glenwood; from Glenwood to Oakes; from Oakes to Valley City; from Valley City to Minot; from Minot to Kenmare and Portal; and from Thief River Falls to Detroit.

The trade tour will occupy the entire week of July 26, being made by special train of eleven cars including sleeping and dining cars so that the entire party can live on the train during the week.

Carry Great Band.

The Minnesota State band of twenty-five pieces will accompany the party and concerts will be given in each town in which the train stops. The feature of the visit will be the parade of the entire party through the main streets of the city immediately upon their arrival. Numerous souvenirs will be distributed to the children.

The object of these trips is that the wholesalers and manufacturers may have an opportunity to personally meet their friends and customers in the towns visited, see their places of business and acquaint themselves with business conditions.

The special train schedule has been approved by the operating departments of the various railroads and it is expected that schedule will be maintained.

EASY WINNERS IN RAGGED BALL GAME

Radium Team Outplayed in Every Department by Thief River Falls on Sunday.

The poorest and most ragged ball game of the season was played on the diamond here last Sunday when the locals won over the much-advertised Radium team of salaried players. There was nothing to it from the start, the Thief River Falls bunch having it on the visitors at every turn. The final result stood 16 to 4 in favor of the locals. There was a very light attendance.

Next Sunday the fast Grygla team comes for a return game. This team was defeated by Thief River Falls by a narrow margin on the Grygla grounds and the boys from up there will come determined to even things up. These same teams will also be pitted against each other in the elimination contest at the county fair and Sunday's game will give something of a line on what to expect at that time.

Outside of the game last Sunday those played in this city up to date have been excellent base ball exhibitions and should have drawn larger crowds. Unless a little more interest is taken in the sport the boys can hardly feel justified in keeping up an organization. It means work and expense for them and if the people of the city do not care to even turn out to see the games all attempts to keep the club going will be abandoned.

BOOST THE COUNTY FAIR.

In three weeks the Pennington county fair will have been held and its success or failure recorded. There is no likelihood of its being a failure, but each and every man and woman in the county can do something to make it a winner than will be the case if they take its success for granted and let it go at that.

The Pennington county fair is the greatest in Northwestern Minnesota. This does not mean that others are not worth attending, because such is not the case. It does mean, however, that the Pennington County Agricultural society makes a greater effort to have the event one of outstanding importance than is the case in other communities. During the past few years the attendance has been the greatest and the features the most varied of any county in this section. This is admitted.

Every department is this year going to be bigger and better than ever before and it is up to our people to let the world know about it. There is something every one of us can do to help boost this big show. Talking about it under any and all circumstances will keep interest alive for one thing. Secure something in the nature of advertising matter for the fair and include it in your correspondence, particularly that part of it reaching nearby territory. Make the fair your fair and its success a matter of personal concern. The undertaking is big enough to warrant your doing this without afterward being called to account.

Another thing you can do is to become a member of the boosting party visiting towns to the north of Thief River Falls on July 27 and 28. This will be a most enjoyable outing on its own account and particularly important because of the good it will do the fair. A couple of days' vacation will benefit us all anyway, and if the program now under contemplation by the tour committee of the automobile association is carried out, those who fail to join the party will have occasion to regret it long and sincerely.

THE NORTH DAKOTA RESULT.

The politics, nationality, location or business association of a candidate evidently makes no difference to the voters of North Dakota. They follow no rules in their voting and it is just a little difficult to see just what they are trying to do.

Frazier was renominated as the Republican candidate for governor but Baer, the Nonpartisan congressman, was defeated in the Grand Forks district. Senator Gronna was defeated by Ladd, the latter having the Nonpartisan endorsement. The variation in the vote for the different candidates shows that neither the Nonpartisans nor the opposition made any pretense of voting their ticket straight.

This may prove that the people of North Dakota vote for the man instead of the party, which is perhaps a good sign. At any rate it leaves the result rather hard to analyze.

One can never tell much about North Dakota, anyway. With an overwhelming Republican population of Scandinavian descent, the state on three different occasions elected John Burke, Democrat, to the office of governor. It is very evident that the people over there refuse to be tied to any political party or dictated to by any particular leader. For this reason the outcome in November can only be guessed at, although it is certain that all factions opposed to the Nonpartisans will get behind O'Connor, Democrat, for governor.

AGAIN OUR CATTLE WIN.

Pennington county livestock has again scored, this time in a manner that cannot help but attract wide attention.

The Guernsey breeders of the county have steadily and intelligently been breeding toward a better type of dairy cow. Every year has noted a great improvement, and while the same is true of those who fancy cattle of other breeds, the Guernsey men have taken the lead in working toward thoroughbred herds. They have not been noisy or assertive about it, being satisfied to plug along steadily with approximate perfection as their ultimate goal.

The good results of their efforts have during the past week been made manifest in a most unmistakable manner. These breeders got togther a carload of stock of this class for the purpose of display at nearby fairs. Thus far everything in the way of awards has gone to this Pennington county exhibit. Ada was the first point at which the animals were entered and every prize ribbon at the disposal of the judges fell to their lot. Norman county fair rules do not permit cattle from outside to compete for the money prizes, but this is a matter of no particular importance. The main thing as far as the owners are concerned is that their stock was the best at the fair. At the Fertile and Crookston fairs the result was the same. This week the display will be exhibited at Fargo, and during three days of next week it will be found at the North Dakota state fair, Grand Forks.

The Guernsey breeders are entitled to a lot of credit for their enterprise in thus advertising to the world the fact that Pennington county is producing stock of surpassing quality. They are bearing the expense of the undertaking themselves but the benefit will extend to every part of the county. Another year it is more than likely that the Holstein and Shorthorn men will also get into the game. Their stock would be certain to attract as much favorable attention as have the Guernseys.

FODDER GOING TO WASTE.

Last year the hay growing wild on thousands of acres in the eastern part of Pennington county proved the means whereby the herds of many a Montana and western North Dakota stockman were saved. Because of the shortage of the hay crop in those localities this wild hay was cut, baled and shipped to the points where it was needed and brought a good price.

Up to date three carloads of this fodder has been shipped this year and there should be a thousand more. The demand seems to be unlimited and the price sufficiently high to insure a good return for the man who proves enterprising and far-sighted enough to take advantage of the opportunity offered. The hay shipped this year brought $23 per ton in St. Paul, which sum should leave a good margin over the cost of production and the transportation charges.

Here is a crop that may be had practically for the taking. It has cost nothing for breaking, harrowing, seeding or seed. The supply is unlimited and the market at hand. It is probable that a farmer could make more actual money by devoting his time to the gathering of hay of this kind than by farming on a more diverisfied scale—at least while the price remains where it is.

There are a number of men in the county so fixed that they could take advantage of this situation if they so desired. Some have the means to go into an enterprise of this kind as a business proposition, while others have the necessary equipment. Getting together would mean that there would be solid returns from a product that will otherwise go to waste. This is almost as good as making two blades of grass grow where but one grew before.

Don't Buy Private Brand Roofing

When you buy an unknown private brand of roofing you give the dealer, if he is unscrupulous, a chance to double-cross you.

In the first place, how do you know what quality of roofing you are buying? He may say that it is first-grade, because even an expert cannot tell the grade by just looking at it. Our third-grade roofing looks as good as any.

The chances are that you will get a medium or poor grade of roofing and pay a first-grade price for it. At least, an unscrupulous dealer with an unknown private brand of roofing can work that on you if he wants to.

Don't Pay a Long Profit

In the second place, how much profit is the dealer taking on your transaction? There is nothing to stop his taking a good, long one if you'll buy. That's why some dealers would rather sell private brands than Certain-teed.

Any responsible dealer can sell Certain-teed if he plays the game squarely. He gets a fair profit, but he cannot stretch it because so many dealers handle it and everybody knows the price.

Of course, you know what to expect from Certain-teed. It is highest quality, guaranteed for 5, 10 or 15 years, according to weight, and completely shelters your property. That's a real buy.

Any reliable dealer can get Certain-teed for you quickly from a nearby Certain-teed warehouse or jobber. He gets it when he wants it and he gets what he wants. He can afford to sell you at a fair price.

Certain-teed

Beware of the dealer who tells you he has Certain-teed, but tries to sell you a private brand. He probably wants a bigger profit.

HAROLD BACHMAN, Conductor.

Harold Bachman, Director of the Million Dollar Band, which is to play in Thief River Falls on Wednesday evening, July 21, has had a career which fits him admirably for the position he now holds as director of a big concert band. After graduating from college, where he specialized in music for a period of eight years, he played for several seasons on the road with different concert organizations, among which was the famous Bohumir Kryl Concert Band of Chicago.

Between seasons he studied his chosen instrument, the cornet, with H. A. Vandercook of Chicago, and Mr. Vandercook counts Director Bachman as one of his most successful pupils, using his name on all his advertisements for his cornet school.

With this experience Mr. Bachman was well qualified to make a name for himself as director of an army band, in which capacity he served for about two years before taking his own band on the road to enter into the commercial band business.

The Duluth Herald has the following compliment to pay to the ability of Director Harold Bachman: Those who have heard the Million Dollar Band at the Rex feel sure that they have seen one who is to become one of the foremost band leaders of the country. Conductor Bachman fairly dripped music from his finger tips and it is small wonder that his company of musicians did so well under his competent direction.

"Look Out Sousa," was the heading of an article in the Milwaukee News on the work of Mr. Bachman, who played to record-breaking audiences in the Miller Theatre of that city during the week of the 12th of October last season.

Mr. Bachman says that his band this year will be much better than ever before.

Milwaukee News: "Look Out Sousa! The Million Dollar Band is a whirlwind."

Minneapolis Tribune: "Conductor Bachman's Band has proved its right to be reckoned among the foremost bands of the country."

FARMERS SPLIT TICKET TO FAVOR STEENERSON

(Warroad Pioneer.)

The returns show that over 4,000 of those who voted the league ticket made an exception for Halvor Steenerson. And nearly all of those were in the country precincts, among the [illegible] no personal objection to his opponent, Mr. Thormodson, any more than to any other candidate on the ticket. It was a vote for Steenerson, not against someone else. The farmers have watched his fight for a square deal in grain grading and in getting fairer markets, they have seen some results gained, some progress made; have seen that he is capable of holding his own with any of the best of them, and they want him to continue his efforts, in co-operation with any and all other forces that may be lined up in behalf of the farmers. And the result of this great vote of confidence will no doubt be to give him renewed determination and courage—qualities with which he has always been well supplied—to carry on the battle for a square deal for the producers in the grain markets, and to help carry it on to a successful conclusion.

The victim was injured Sunday and died the following day. MANY PERSONS APPARENTLY DROWNED MAY BE SAVED

At this time of year when swimming and bathing are so greatly enjoyed by everyone there is always present the element of danger from drowining. It may be of value, therefore to know just what to do in case of such accidents.

If the discovery by Dr. H. K. Whitford of Elgin, Ill., proves to be what he predicts, hundreds of lives will be saved every year. He declares he is able to revive human life after it has been submerged in water up to six hours.

The theory advanced by Dr. Whitford and deemed not illogical by physicians, is an entirely new one. In speaking of his method he says:

"It is impossible for a drop of water to enter the lungs of a person who enters the water alive. This is a contradiction to the timehonored belief that the lungs of a drowned person are filled with water.

"The water striking the larynx causes a spasm which closes the lungs and prevents the entrance of water for a period of nine days, until relaxation commences. Drowning, so called, is merely suspended animation and yet not death.

"To restore animation I proceed first to thoroughly warm the body chilled by long submersion. This is accomplished with hot water in which the subject is immersed for 20 minutes or longer. Following this the old ordinary methods of restoration are resorted to."

This process, he says, makes possible the saving of lives of persons who have been submerged for a time not exceeding six hours. Dr. Whitford claims never to have failed in this method of resuscitation and believes that it will be adopted universally.

Made Me a Well Man

Mr. Louis Young, 1652 Clifford St., Rochester, N. Y., writes:

"I suffered for thirty years with chronic bowel trouble, stomach trouble and hemorrhages of the bowels.

We bought a bottle of Peruna and I took it faithfully, and I began to feel better.

My wife persuaded me to continue, and I took it for some time as directed. Now I am a well man."

Suffered thirty years with stomach trouble and hemorrhages of the bowels.

There's more good, lasting taste in a little of the Real Tobacco Chew than you get out of the ordinary kind.

You don't need a fresh chew nearly so often—that's why it costs you less to chew this class of tobacco.

COULDN'T RAISE HER HAND TO HEAD

Mrs. Theresia Schneider Gets Rid of All Her Troubles by Taking Tanlac.

"Tanlac has done me so much good and I am so thankful for it that it is a real pleasure for me to tell others about it," said Mrs. Theresia Schneider, 1038 Edmond Ave., St. Paul, Minn.

"Before I began taking Tanlac I was in a badly run-down, weakened condition. My appetite was extremely poor, and after meals I suffered terribly from the formation of gas. At times I had awful dizzy spells, and when one came on me I had to sit right down to keep from falling. I also suffered with intense pains in my back and shoulders, the pain in my shoulders being so bad I could not raise my hand to my head. I had no energy and just felt so tired and worn-out all the time I could hardly manage to do my housework. I could not sleep well and got up every morning with a headache which grew worse during the day until I could hardly stand it.

"I had noticed several statements from friends of mine praising Tanlac and decided I would try it myself and while I have taken only three bottles so far I am glad to say I am just about rid of all my troubles. I have a splendid appetite and can eat anything I want in such quantity as I desire without ever having a sign of gas afterwards. The headaches I had every morning are entirely gone and I never get dizzy any more. The pains in my back and shoulders left me soon after I started taking Tanlac and I can use my arms and hands as freely as I ever could. That tired, worn-out feeling is all gone and I can do my housework with the greatest ease. I am glad of this opportunity to tell what a grand medicine I think Tanlac is."

ROSEWOOD

New Family Honored.

About a dozen Rosewood families motored out to the Alberts farm three miles west of town last Saturday evening to tender Mr. and Mrs. Thompson, a new family who recently purchased land two miles south of town and intend to make their future home in this community, a welcoming surprise. The evening was delightfully spent in conversation and dancing, and a dainty luncheon brought by the ladies was served at midnight. A massive solid oak rocker was left with Mr. and Mrs. Thompson as a memento of the event. As there are no buildings on Mr. Thompson's land he is renting the Alberts residence until he has the opportunity of erecting a suitable home. The community is glad to welcome all new settlers and especially young and enterprising folks like the Thompsons. What we need is more people on the farms, with a co-operative spirit prevailing. We are glad to welcome Mr. and Mrs. Thompson and trust their stay will be pleasant and of long duration.

REMEMBER the time the first automobile parade was organized? Even the good old torchlight procession had to give way before the advance of progress.

II

Tires are often sold the same way politics are.

The last people to wake up to what they are getting are the people who pay the bills.

The bills are getting too big these days in both cases. And the man who is feeling it most with respect to tires is the man who owns a moderate-price car.

III

The idea that the small car owner doesn't need a good tire is rapidly going the way of all mistaken ideas.

He needs it more than anyone else. It's part of our job, as we view it, to see that he gets it.

Our tire service starts with good tires—U. S. Tires. All sizes made to a single standard of quality—none graded down to the price of the car they will go on.

U. S. perfected the first straight side automobile tire—the first pneumatic truck tire.

IV

When we recommend and sell U. S. Tires we do so in the interest of greater tire economy. It is our experience that that is the best way to build up a sound and sizable business.

Select your tires according to the roads they have to travel:

In sandy or hilly country, wherever the going is apt to be heavy—The U. S. Nobby.

For ordinary country roads—The U. S. Chain or Usco.

For front wheels—The U. S. Plain.

Playing No Favorites

THE crude petroleum market plays no favorites. All refiners come to it on equal terms.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is no exception to this rule. It buys the crude oil it needs in the open market and pays the market price.

Only an infinitesimal part of the crude oil used by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) comes from wells in which it has even an indirect interest.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) concentrates its attention upon the highly specialized business of refining crude oil. It sticks to its knitting.

In the past four years the demand for the refined products of petroleum has more than doubled, while the increase in the production of crude has been only about 25 percent.

This growing demand, plus the increased cost of drilling and equipping wells, has caused the price of crude petroleum to advance.

The market price of crude oil is a dominant factor in the price which the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) charges for gasoline. Wherever possible the Company anticipates the trend of the market in making its contracts for crude petroleum. Whatever benefits it derives accrues to the public in lower gasoline prices.

The price charged by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) for gasoline has advanced, but not to the extent warranted by the advance in the cost of crude oil.

The cost of this commodity to the consumer would be very much higher were it not for the fact that the Standard Oil Company (Indiana), through more efficient refining methods, is able to utilize and make into useful products all portions of the crude petroleum.

The extreme economy and efficiency of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) refining and distributing methods have acted as a deterrent upon the upward trend of gasoline prices.

This Company gives its customers in the 11 Middle Western states which it serves the benefits derived from any savings which it effects in the refining of gasoline and other petroleum products.

COUNTY BUDGET SET AT SLIGHT INCREASE

Total Required For Next Year Not Much Greater Than For Last.

At the semi-annual meeting of the commissioners held last week, the expenses of conducting the county for next year were estimated and County Auditor T. P. Anderson was instructed to place to the credit of each fund the amount decided upon.

While the allowances for some funds are in excess of last year, the increases are slight. The county revenue fund is provided with an increase of $3,000, while the sinking fund comes in for an additional $2,500. A new fund created for court house construction purposes makes another $3,000 which was not included in the budget last year. The entire budget requires $76,500, as compared to $68,000 last year. That county affairs have been economically conducted is indicated by the fact that every fund had a credit balance at the end of the fiscal year which came to a close July 1.

County revenue	$28,000
Road and bridge	30,000
Bond and interest	3,000
Sinking	6,500
Court house construction	3,000
Sanitarium construction	3,000
Sanitarium maintenance	3,000
Total	$76,500

Murder and Suicide.

John Tysdal, a farmer who lived for several years in Anthony town, near Ada, committed suicide with a Winchester rifle, after having killed his wife, evidently in a fit of insanity. The bodies of the two were found by Sheriff Nygaard, who was summoned to the farm home by neighbors. Tysdal's body was found in the position that he evidently was in when he ended his life, kneeling, with the muzzle of the gun against his chest and the butt against the wall.

It had been known for some time that Tysdal was not mentally right. He was arranging for an auction sale and insisted on having it on a holiday, July 5. It was also known that he walked 15 miles to town in the night not long ago.

Articles of furniture in the house were found to be smashed with a hammer, and Mrs. Tysdal had been killed with a hammer, so it is thought that the man in a fit of insanity had begun to smash the furniture when his wife interfered. It is believed that he struck her before he could control himself, and then realizing what he had done, ended his own life.

CROP OUTLOOK NEVER BETTER AT THIS TIME

Indications Are That Yield Will More Than Double That of 1919.

Wheat Conditions Reported Excellent With No Rust in Evidence.

The 1920 Northwest wheat crop crop will be 250,000,000 bushels, more than double the yield of last year, according to statements issued by E. G. Quamme, president of the St. Paul Federal Land bank, and based on a survey of crop conditions made by the bank.

In the four states of Minnesota, North and South Dakota and Montana the total wheat crop last year was 122,905,000 bushels, while the crop in North Dakota alone this year at the present outlook, Mr. Quamme said, will be more than 100,000,000 bushels.

Montana is expected to produce 30,000,000 bushels, and both Minnesota and South Dakota will show an increase of about 100 per cent, according to Mr. Quamme. While the acreage of wheat this year is smaller than that of last year, the yield will be tremendous, it is asserted.

"This weather following the rains, with plenty of sun and wind, and yet cool, is made to order for wheat, and there is little or no danger of rust setting in, which would have been the case had we had real hot weather after the rains," Mr. Quamme said.

"We have not yet had a report of black rust. There have been isolated spots where corn has rotted, but on the whole the corn, oats, barley, flax, rye and pasture crops are very, very good."

Must Provide Cars.

That the Northwest should have cars to move the crop is imperative, Mr. Quamme asserted. He said that the railroads were making every effort to provide them.

"If the crops are to be moved, we must get coal into this territory at once," Mr. Quamme said.

NOTHING CAN TAKE PLACE OF BUTTER IN FOOD VALUE (W. A. McKerrow.)

Butter production is one of the most important industries of Minnesota and is vital to the welfare of a healthy people. One pound of butter gives as much energy food as four pounds of beef or mutton or four dozen eggs and the only edible fat which contributes the unknown substance which experiment has proven to be absolutely necessary to properly nourish the human system.

Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, answering an inquiry in "Good Housekeeping" magazine, says: "As far as I am concerned I would never give my children oleomargarine, nut-margarine or any other substitute for butter. Butter contains a vital principle which none of its substitutes possess."

Butter is especially valuable for children. It supplies the necessary food element, milk fat, in its most patable and easily digested form. Why not use this great food in every home? It builds body and mind, the community and the agriculture of the entire country.

STREET PAVING WITHOUT DELAY; SIGN CONTRACT

Material and Machinery Arriving; Actual Work to Begin Early Next Week.

Recent Court Order Dissolving Injunction Clears Away Last Obstacle.

Contractors Expect to Complete Entire Job Before Cold Weather Sets In.

The work of paving 22 blocks in the business district of Thief River Falls will in all probability be begun early next week. The council on Tuesday evening signed a contract with the Bitulithic Contracting company of Winnipeg, representatives of the concern leaving immediately for the purpose of beginning the shipment of machinery and material.

A. D. Hanson, H. R. Boyle and R. R. Collard, the latter the concern's general superintendent, represented the contractor at the meeting. They stated that the result of court actions in the state had been closely followed and that they were ready to go ahead without further delay upon the signing of the contract and its acceptance by the bonding company.

Legal Matters Cleared Up.

The decision last week by Judge Grindeland refusing to grant an injunction on the score that the city could not legally proceed under the law of 1919 to dispose of its certificates of indebtedness without being authorized to do so by a vote of the people cleared the way so far as cities operating under charters similar to that of Thief River Falls was concerned. The decision of the supreme court to the effect that the law itself was constitutional removed any further objection and both the council and paving company considered themselves justified in proceeding without further delay.

No Danger of Caveins.

One objection urged by the applicants for the restraining order was that the streets were in no condition for paving at the present time because of the excavations that were recently made for sewer and water connections. R. E. Borrowman of the Bradley Engineering company of St. Cloud, in charge of the preliminary work for the city, stated that this contention was not sound. The paving company's engineers agreed with him, assuring the council that there would be no danger of the depressions because of these trenches. In order to protect the city, however, the council exacted a bond from the contractors holding the latter responsible in case defects should develop inside of five years. This agreement the company gladly entered into, experience having proven that nothing of the kind was likely to develop. This guarantee bond is for 25 per cent of the contract price of the work.

No Objectors Present.

The fact that the matter of finally disposing of this contract had been widely circulated. The Northwestern Trust company and the Capital Trust company of St. Paul, with whom arrangements had previously been made for furnishing the needed money, were notified of the proceedings but failed to have a representative at the meeting. This is taken to mean that there will be no objection interposed from this source.

Prices Have Gone Up.

Representatives of the Bitulithic company stated that in case they were called upon to make a bid for this work at the present time the cost would be considerably higher, both labor and material having advanced sharply since the contract was let. Were it not for the fact that they have at the present time considerable stocks of the needed supplies at their Winnipeg headquarters it would be impossible for them to carry out their end of the agreement without incurring heavy loss. As matters stand, however, they are in a position to go ahead with the work at once. They left at once for Winnipeg for the purpose of beginning the loading of machinery and have secured a warehouse building on the Soo tracks for storing the same upon arrival.

Will Work Two Shifts.

Superintendent Collard stated while in the city that in spite of the lateness of the season the company would aim to complyete the contract before cold weather sets in. When things get going in good shape it is the intention to work two shifts, he said, it being feasible to lay paving during the night as well as in day time.

People Urged to Spread Tidings of Baby Clinic

Township directors of the Pennington County Public Health association, and others interested in health work, are requested to do all in their power to spread news concerning the baby clinic to be held at the auditorium, Thief River Falls, on Saturday, July 24. Many mothers living at a distance from Thief River Falls would undoubtedly be glad to take their babies to the clinic providing they knew about it in time to make the necessary arrangements.

The time is short and immediate action is necessary in order to make the clinic of benefit to people residing in all parts of the county.

McFarland Buys Farm.

M. T. McFarland of the McFarland Auto company last week closed a deal for the purchase of the Robert Olson farm three miles east of Thief River Falls. After making several extensive improvements on the tract, Mr. McFarland expects to make the place his home. The new owner intends to engage extensively in the raising of pure bred cattle, conducting the entire farm along strictly modern lines.

Special Train to Grand Forks Fair on Tuesday

A special train was run over the Great Northern on Tuesday for accommodation of those who wished to attend Minnesota day at the Grand Forks fair. The train left Thief River Falls at 7 o'clock in the morning and returned a little after midnight the same day. Scarcely more than half a dozen tickets were sold at this point, and it is understood that very few boarded the train at other stations between here and Crookston. In these days of automobile travel a special train is not the drawing card of former days.

KVALE CANDIDACY BARRED BY COURT

League Congressional Candidate in Seventh Disqualified For Law Violation.

Rev. O. J. Kvale of Benson is disqualified as the Republican candidate for congress in the Seventh Minnesota district in a decision filed on Tuesday by District Judge Albert Johnson, who heard the suit contesting Kvale's nomination.

Congressman A. J. Volstead of Granite Falls, who was defeated by Rev. Kvale in the primaries June 21, was declared in the decision to be the "duly nominated candidate of the Republican party for congress in the Seventh district."

Rev. Kvale was endorsed by the Nonpartisan league. Action contesting Rev. Kvale's nomination was brought by 25 voters in the district, who charged violation of the state corrupt practices act. Hearing of the suit was held last week. Judge Johnson's decision asserts the actions of Mr. Kvale "constitute a deliberate, serious and material violation of the laws of the state relating to nominations and elections and there is no justification or excuse therefore."

Basis for the suit included charges printed and circulated by Rev. Kvale referring to Volstead as an atheist and opposed to the bible, and that he made sneering illusions to Rev. Kvale's preaching on the miracle of the five loaves and two small fishes. Counsel for Kvale indicated that an opinion adverse to their client would result in an appeal to the state supreme court.

CITY ELECTRICIANS SEEK WAGE RAISE

Twenty Per Cent Increase Asked in Petition to Council. No Action Taken.

The electrical workers employed by the city of Thief River Falls have presented a petition to the council asking for a twenty per cent increase in pay. At last week's meeting of the council the matter was laid on the table, further consideration being deemed advisable by the council members before making a decision. The demand of the electrical workers will probably come up for hearing at the next regular meeting of the council, which takes place Tuesday evening.

Since July the electrical workers have operated as union men, having formed a local and affiliated with the International Brotherhood of electrical workers. The Thief River Falls local has been designated as No. 1088, and includes every electrical worker in the city.

The contract submitted to the council contains an overtime provision, which it is understood will be withdrawn providing the wage increases are granted.

Local Banker Enjoys Two Weeks of Fun and Travel

C. W. Vorachek, assisant cashier of the Citizens State bank, returned last Saturday from Duluth, where he had been in attendance at the convention of Minnesota bankers held July 7 and 8. Mr. Voracheck had been absent from the city for two weeks and traveled quite extensively during that time. Among other pleasure jaunts he made a boat trip from Duluth to Chicago, occupying four days on the voyage.

At Chicago the Minnesota bankers were royally entertained by the bankers of the Windy City. The Minnesota delegation made the return trip from Chicago to the twin cities on a special train. Mr. Vorachek reports a very enjoyable trip, and says the banking interests of the state are very optimistic over future prospects, believing the country will return to normal conditions without serious trouble.

Open New Garage.

Fred D. Haug and Hugh McDaniel have opened a new garage in the building opposite the Winton-Nichols Lumber company's office and are prepared to look after all work in their line. Mr. Haug was in the garage business in this city for many years before joining the army and is in hopes that his old friends will give the new concern a share of their business.

INCREASED PAY GRANTED TO ALL RAIL EMPLOYES

United States Railway Labor Board Grants Increase of 21 Per Cent.

About Three Hundred Thief River Falls Rail Men Affected By Decision.

Wage Awards Made Retroactive to May 1—Threatened Strike Considered Improbable.

Six hundred million dollars was added to the pay envelope of the nation's 2,000,000 railroad workers on Tuesday in the first award handed down by the new United States Railway Labor board.

Rejecting the demands of organized rail unions for increases totaling approximately $1,000,000,000, the board decided approximately 60 per cent of that sum would be a just increase to meet present living conditions.

Twenty-one Per Cent Increase.

The award adds approximately 21 per cent to the present pay schedules. An 18 per cent increase in freight rates will be necessary to meet the 21 per cent wage award granted railroad employes, E. T. Whiter, representative of the roads in the hearings before the railway labor board, announced. Railroad officials plan, it is said, to file new tariffs with the interstate commerce commission as soon as they can be prepared.

The railroads, Mr. Whiter announced after a conference with the Western Managers' association, will accept the board's award and apply its terms immediately.

General Strike Doubtful.

Whether the award as given will stave off the threat of a general railroad strike remains to be seen. The leaders of virtually every one of the sixteen big railroad unions, were present when Judge R. M. Barton, chairman of the board, handed down the decision. They left immediately to present the award to 1,000 general chairmen, who had gathered there to pass on its acceptability.

The board's decision is retroactive to May 1. As the maximum increase granted any class was 18c an hour, or $36.72 per month, the biggest pay check due when the back pay settlement is made August 1 will be for $110.16. Engineers, firemen and helpers in the yard service will receive this amount.

The board provides that the back pay checks shall be made out separately so that each man will know the amount he receives from the source.

Arbitration Provided For.

In addition to the sixteen recognized brotherhoods two other unions, the International Association of Railroad Supervisors of Mechanics and the American Train Dispatchers' Association, are made a party to the decision. More than 400 railroads are specifically named as parties.

The decision provides that in case of a dispute as to the interpretation of the decision the question shall be referred to the board for decision. The law does not require, however, that either side must accept the award.

The decision provides that the daily increase shall be computed as eight times the hourly rate and the monthly increase as 204 times the hourly schedule.

300 Local Men Affected.

Approximately 300 railroad men in Thief River Falls are directly affected by the award of the labor board. This includes trainmen, yardmen, clerks, round house employes of all kinds, freight handlers, and other workers in the freight and passenger depots.

It is understood the action of the labor board meets with general approval among the railroad men here. While some feel the increase should have been greater, the great majority are of the opinion that the award is a just one.

OPEN AIR CONCERT DRAWS BIG CROWD

Bachman's Million Dollar Band in Varied Program at Fair Grounds.

The largest crowd ever seen at a band concert in this city turned out last evening to greet Bachman's Million Dollar band, which appeared at the fair grounds under the auspices of the American Legion. The program was varied and included everything from light popular numbers to classic compositions such as are attempted only by the highest class musical organizations in the country.

The solo numbers were particularly appreciated, a violin selection played by Erling Sodahl being exceptionally well rendered. The cornet solo by Robert Bruce was another feature that met with great approval.

After the concert a dance was given at the auditorium at which an orchestra selected from among the band members furnished the music. There was a large crowd in attendance and the evening was greatly enjoyed.

Visiting Eastern Markets.

A. S. Sapero leaves the last of the week for a trip of a month among the large cities of the East. He will be joined at Duluth by his brother from Hibbing and the two will make the there they will go to Cleveland, Philadelphia and New York for the purpose of making fall purchases for the four Sapero stores. Experience has shown Mr. Sapero that a merchant can deal more satisfacorily with the manufacturers and wholesalers when directly on the ground as this gives an opportunity for personal inspection. He will have something of interest to report to the ladies of this section upon his return.

Looking After His Farm.

D. P. O'Neill, member of the state board of grain appeals, who now makes Minneapolis his home, arrived in the city yesterday morning for the purpose of looking after the crops on his farm. Mr. O'Neill says that the region looks pretty good to him but doubts if we will have the bumper crop expected. Central Minnesota, he says, seems to be particularly favored this year, with the northwest next in point of excellence.

According to Mr. O'Neill, it is possible that the state will have a grain exhibit at the Pennington county fair this year as an educational feature. He also stated that Chairman Holmberg of the State Bureau of Agriculture might be secured to make an address at the fair ground on one of the days of the fair.

EVERY DETAIL OF BOOSTER TRIP IS GIVEN FINAL O. K.

Roads Reported in Fine Condition Over Entire Course For Tourists.

Warroad Makes Extensive Plans to Entertain Visitors From Thief River Falls.

Steamer Trip to Kenora Made Optional But Many Expect to Make the Voyage.

Next Tuesday morning will witness a mighty exodus from Thief River Falls providing all signs do not fail. At 7:30 o'clock sharp the fair boosters who expect to take part in the northern tour will be on hand to make the trip, with Warroad as their destination. According to President G. C. Streeter of the automobile association, it is expected that about thirty cars will make the trip—and every one of them no doubt will be loaded to capacity with enthusiastic fair boosters.

Mr. Streeter and George Loken drove to Warroad on Sunday and found the roads in first class condition. A number of interested citizens of that city held a meeting Sunday afternoon and formulated an excellent program for the entertainment of the Thief River Falls folks during their stay.

Among other things a fish dinner will be furnished at the picnic grounds upon the arrival of the visitors, and boat rides will be provided for all who care to enjoy them. A big bowery dance is to be staged if the weather permits, but in case of rain the hall will be utilized for this purpose. Badges are to be provided for all visitors in order to avoid confusion and as an assurance that they will not be neglected by the entertainment committee. Plenty of fine band music also has been secured to help enliven the occasion.

Lake Excursion Optional.

Those of the visitors who can spare the time will avail themselves of the opportunity of visiting Kenora, Canada. A steamer bound for that place leaves Warroad Wednesday morning, returning the following day, and a real outing is promised those who make the trip over the Lake of the Woods to the Canadian city.

An expert mechanic has been provided for the tour in order that any car trouble developing on the road may promptly be taken care of.

The entire trip has been planned and will be carried out under the supervision of the Thief River Falls Merchants association, Commercial club, Fair association and Automobile association. With the backing of these organizations there is little doubt but what the tour will be an unqualified success from every point of view.

Must Register All Cars.

All those desiring to make the trip are requested to register their cars at once with H. C. Johnson, phone 110, or S. C. Coumbe, phone 74. This tour is not to be regarded in any sense as a speed event, and is intended solely as a sociability run. The schedule as prepared provides for an average speed of 17 miles per hour, and with the roads favorable it is not likely that much trouble will be experienced in maintaining this average.

An average running schedule of 17 miles an hour will be maintained which will get the party to Warroad about 5:30 in the evening. The stopping period for each point visited will be given to the excursionists at the time of starting from this city as it has been thought best not to set a definite schedule.

To Explain Grain Grading.

The fair management has written to the state department of grain inspection for the purpose of securing a demonstration of grain grading during the fair. This demonstration is for the purpose of showing the difference between the present state system and the old federal system. Positive announcement will be made next week regarding this demonstration, and in case it can be secured it will be placed in the agricultural building during all three days of the fair.

INTEREST GROWS AS FAIR OPENING DAY COMES NEAR

All Indications Point to Record-Breaking Attendance During the Three Days.

Free Amusements Galore Both Afternoon and Evening at the Fair Grounds.

Just one week from next Wednesday the Pennington county fair will open its gates to the public. From now until that time everybody connected with the big exhibition will be doing some tall hustling to get everything ready and in smooth running order for the opening date. And evidence is not lacking to prove that things will be in tip-top shape on the morning of Aug. 4.

Fair grounds and fair buildings have been gone over and all necessary repairs and alterations made. Accommodations have been provided for a larger number of exhibits than ever before—and indications are that these accommodations will all be needed.

Industrial Exhibit.

Much interest is taken in the industrial exhibit to be staged at the auditorium during the three days of the fair. About 20 business men and manufacturers have contracted for space in this department and it promises to be very interesting. These exhibits will be free to all and the auditorium will be open all day and evening. This exhibit, together with the women's department which also will be housed in the auditorium this year, will no doubt draw large crowds to the auditorium during the fair.

Attractions at Grounds.

No effort has been spared to make the free program at the fair grounds the best ever. Art Williams, the peerless aviator, has been secured to give hair-raising performances daily for the amusement and edification of fair patrons. Visitors at the recent Elks' convention at Chicago, where Mr. Williams did some of his fancy flying, are unanimous in the opinion that he is one of the best flyers in the game today.

On Thursday, Aug. 5, there will be still more excitement in the air, for on that day the Minneapolis Daily News Flying Circus will perform its part of the program. This company is said to be a whole show in itself and much entertainment is promised for those who witness the performance.

Some Real Ski Jumping.

Sigfried, the man who jumps and runs on skis in the summer time, is on the program for several thrilling stunts each day of the fair. It is said that the only other man who ever attempted ski jumping on anything but snow came out of the experience with a broken leg, which proves the game to be anything but mild.

A complete program of free attractions will be given twice daily at the fair grounds, afternoon and evening. These attractions, in addition to those furnished by the Little Giant Shows, should be sufficient to satisfy the most exacting amusement seeker.

RYE CUTTING WILL BEGIN NEXT WEEK

Wheat May Crowd Farmers Before Earlier Grain is Out of the Way.

The tame hay crop is pretty well gathered so far as Pennington county is concerned and farmers are preparing to get into their rye fields the first of the week. The stand is in most places very good but is hardly expected to break records on an average over the county.

Harvest work will hit in about fair time this year but no good farmer will allow this fact to prevent his seeing the big show. The rye is not so far advanced that it will be in any manner injured by waiting for a day but other grains may be ready for cutting before the work is well out of the way. Wheat is coming along at a bounding rate and promises to yield well. It is too early to predict anything as to the quality but men of experience say that it will be far ahead of last year. It is certain that the yield will be greater than at any time since 1915 and because of the larger acreage the county total may exceed that banner year.

The hay crop is the best in years and ideal weather has been the rule during the cutting. There is no question but that this crop is the best ever raised in the county.

Corn and sugar beets are promising well and the general outlook could not very well be improved upon.

No Injunction Against Letting Ditch Contract

The county commissioners have been expecting to face injunction proceedings in the matter of awarding a contract for the repairing of Ditches Nos. 39, 45 and 59 in Kratka township. This job was let last month in the face of considerable objection, but the demand that the work be done was so much more insistent than the request for a postponement that it was considered best to proceed with the work. Injunction proceedings were instituted and heard in chambers at Warren but the commissioners found when meeting on Tuesday that no notice of the granting of any injunction had been filed with Clerk of Court Eklund. This disposes of the matter so far as the objectors are concerned.

Wool Growers to Hold Meeting Friday, July 23

The wool growers in the western part of the county will hold a meeting in the Farm Bureau office in Thief River Falls at 7:30 p. m. Friday, July 23.

The purpose of this meeting is to decide the advisability of pooling the wool with the National Wool Warehouse in Chicago. Prices are very low at the present time and according to the opinion of W. A. McKerrow of the University Farm it is more advisable for all wool growers to pool their wool for a few months until prices raise.

NEW SCHOOL BOARD MEMBERS ELECTED

Mrs. L. G. Larsen and E. O. Mogensen Choice of Voters at Annual Meeting.

Mrs. L. G. Larsen and E. O. Mogensen were on Saturday evening named by the voters of school district No. 18 as members of the board for a term of three years, to take the places of H. S. Dahlen and F. F. Haynes, whose terms expired and who had not filed for re-election. No candidates had filed for the positions, and the new board members were chosen by having their names written on the ballots. Mrs. Larsen received 44 votes and Mr. Mogensen 23, while Mrs. J. J. Richter ran a close third with 19 votes to her credit. There were several scattering votes, no other person receiving more than four.

At the annual meeting $104,000 was voted as the sum required to conduct the schools in district No. 18 for next year. This is an increase of $30,000 over last year, but greater costs generally and necessary increases in salaries of teachers easily account for the larger requirements.

Annual reports for the district were read at the meeting, all of which were accepted and filed without change or criticism.

MANAGER BRUMUND GETS BIG PICTURE

"Birth of a Nation" to Be Attraction at Lyceum For Two Evenings Next Week.

"The Birth of a Nation" is coming back. Manager Brumund has secured the famous picture for two days, Thursday and Friday, July 29 and 30, and it will be shown at the Lyceum theatre. In addition to the twelve reels of this wonderful production, added inducement to the theatregoing public is furnished by a large symphony orchestra which accompanies the picture throughout and adds wonderfully to the effects.

In this glorious spectacle one is actually witnessing in a single sitting the condensed action of a lifetime in the annals of the nation. War, romance and sociology play immense parts, but the entire gauntlet of human emotions is played upon as they never were before and as it is doubtful if they ever will be again.

"The Birth of a Nation" has come to be regarded as a classic in motion pictures. It is the most stupendous and most marvelous thing ever attempted and has remained in a class by itself ever since its production. Every graduation of happiness, of sorrow, of pain and joy, are shown. Life and death, human relations, hatred and friendship, are there too, and in the depiction of friendship one of the prettiest scenes of the whole twelve reels is displayed.

Patrons of the Lyceum are elated over this opportunity to witness once more the greatest motion picture in the world, and the theatre will no doubt be packed to capacity during the two performances.

New Party Comes to Life at Chicago Convention

Harley P. Christensen of Salt Lake City, member of the Committee of 48 and permanent chairman of the convention recently held at Chicago, has been named as candidate for president by the farmer-labor party, an organization which resulted from the fusion of several elements represented at the convention. Despite urgent requests Senator LaFollette refused to become the standard bearer of the new party, and the choice settled upon Christensen.

After his nomination, Mr. Christensen made a brief statement to the meeting, saying: "You wanted LaFollette and if there is still any way of getting him I will not stand in the way. I must remain true to the loyal group of working men and women who nominated me, but I tell you I hope we can all get together after all."

Yeomen Rally at Baudette.

Everybody is extended a real welcome to the big Yeomen rally at Spooner-Baudette on July 25. J. A. O. Preus, Mike Holm and others are to give addresses. Sports, etc., are going to take place and the Yeomen up there want to see their brothers and their friends present.

DETROIT IS HOST TO HUNDREDS OF WATERWAY MEN

C. L. Hansen of Thief River Falls Chairman of Minnesota Delegation.

Proposed Plan Would Prove of Vast Benefit to Farmers of Northwest.

C. L. Hansen, president of the First National bank of Thief River Falls, is this week in attendance at the meeting of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Tidewater Congress, to be held at Detroit, Mich., July 22, 23 and 24. Mr. Hansen is the delegate from northern Minnesota to the congress and also has received the distinct honor of being named chairman of the Minnesota delegation. The other delegates include C. H. Draper, Wells; J. W. Barton, Minneapolis; L. C. Simon, St. Paul, and J. W. Snyder, Duluth. A large attendance at the congress is expected and many interested people other than the delegates will be present.

A National Undertaking.

After years of discussion and study, it has become a national issue to determine whether the waterways which lose themselves in the Atlantic, shall become connected for navigation purposes and form an outlet for the products and materals produced by the states west of the Allegheny Mountains. Practical men and theorists have studied and figured and the last of the evidence is being compiled, preparatory to final action.

Action is to be forthcoming as the result of the congress to be held at Detroit, when all the authorities and supporters and students of the Great Lakes to the Sea movement will assemble. Out of the sessions, which will consider every angle of this enterprise, there will come a policy, workable and reasonable, to put this project through.

Many Noted Speakers.

The congress will hold its sessions in the auditorium of the Detroit Board of Commerce, which organization is acting as host for the delegates and visitors. Among the speakers scheduled to discuss this project are: Herbert Hoover, war-time food administrator; Chas. E. Townsend, United States Senator from Michigan, father of the Lakes-to-Ocean movement; Medill McCormick, United States Senator from Illinois; Senator Miles Poindexter, of Washington; Major General Lansing H. Beach, chief of engineers, U. S. A.; Julius H. Barnes, former president United States Grain Corporation; Gardner S. Williams, American Institute of Consulting Engineers, Ann Arbor; Congressman A. P. Nelson, Wisconsin; Senator Atlee Pomerene, Ohio; Charles Evans Fowler, New York, American Society of Civil Engineers; J. W. Shorthill, former vice-president, American Grain Exporters Association, Omaha; Charles K. Anderson of New York, vice president, American Manufacturers' Export Association; W. L. Ross, president, Clover Leaf Railroad, H. Merrick, president, Mississippi Valley Association.

Canada Endorses Plan.

The Great-Lakes-St. Lawrence Tidewater Association represents a union of fourteen states, as follows: Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Indiana, Ohio, Iowa, North and South Dakota, Montana, Idaho, Wyoming, Colorado and Nebraska. Enthusiastic co-operation has been forthcoming since the beginning of this movement from the Dominion of Canada which will be ably represented at the meeting. Advance advices indicate that the congress will be attended by more than 1,500 delegates from all over the United States.

It is planned to cover the waterway project from every standpoint involved, financial, engineering, political, international, economic, as to the power it will develop for other uses, how it will affect other mediums of transportation commodities and time required.

The results and findings, it is planned, will be submitted to congress in the United States and the Parliment in Canada, who will be responsible for the completion of the waterway.

There May Be Delay In Moving Your Telephone

If you order your telephone moved next week you may be told to expect a delay in getting it done.

Nearly half a million other telephone users in the United States will move their telephones this month, too. And for all of them many carloads of wire and other materials will be needed.

A general shortage of materials, as well as a lack of sufficient transportation facilities, is holding back factory output and the telephone companies can't get enough supplies.

In this emergency it will be greatly appreciated if you will order the least possible changes in your telephone equipment. And when you need to have something done please let us know as far in advance as possible.

Mill Company Meeting.

Goodridge Banner: The stockholders of the Farmers Elevator and Milling company held their annual meeting Tuesday at the school house. Many of the stockholders had brought their friends and there was a big attendance. The best of feeling prevailed throughout and the stockholders were well pleased with the showing made of 20% profit from the first years business—this notwithstanding the adverse conditions; delay on the part of the railroad in getting the machinery here for the mill, general poor crops and consequent shortage of wheat. The mill when completed cost more than $5,000 more than had been expected. It was voted to raise the price of shares from $100 to $120. There are 22 shares yet unsold.

The following officers were elected: Stuart McLeod, president; M. Vaughin, vice president; A. B. Mandt, secretary-treasurer. Theodore Gilbertson and Emil Grans, directors. These officers were all re-elected from last year.

PAVING AT LAST IN SIGHT.

The city council, upon the advice of some of the foremost attorneys in this section, has decided to go ahead with the paving program and it is probable that dirt will be flying before the end of next week. The contractors intend to push the work with a view to completing the contract during the present summer, being prepared to employ double shifts as soon as things get going in good shape.

So many unexpected factors have threatened to delay the paving for at least another year that this sudden termination of all controversies comes as a surprise. To practically everybody in the city the final decision will bring a feeling of relief.

The citizens who attempted by injunction proceedings to prevent the work from being undertaken are not yet reconciled, it seems. According to the best legal advice obtainable there is not much they can do, however, and it is to be hoped that they will now see the uselessness of attempting to block the city's progress any further.

One thing in connection with this paving matter seems to be generally overlooked. Should anything now happen that would prevent the work from going forward it would mean a costly delay for the city. The streets certainly could not be left in their present condition over another year and the leveling necessary because of the many excavations would in itself represent a considerable outlay. But more important than this is the certainty that no such favorable contract as the city now has could be secured at any time in the near future. The contractors themselves state that their figure for this work would be very much higher if they were to do the bidding at this time, the price of both labor and material having advanced since their offer was accepted. In fact it would be impossible for them to undertake the job at the present figure were it not that they have a large supply of the required material already on hand at Winnipeg.

The arguments advanced by the objecters for postponing the paving matter do not loom up as very sound when fully considered. The principal reason given for their opposition is that the streets are not at present in a condition for paving. The engineers employed by the city as well as those of the paving contractors say there is absolutely nothing to this assertion. The contractors put up with the city a surety bond covering 25 per cent of the total cost of the job for the purpose of guaranteeing it for five years. Anything going wrong with the work within that time will have to be made good by them. It is certain that they would not go ahead and put in something that would fail to hold up for that length of time, while it is admitted that if the pavement stands for five years without caving it will stand for the full life of such pavement generally.

It is to be hoped that there will be no further attempt to prevent the carrying out of this contract. Every argument advanced by those who demand a postponement has been met and they no longer have a point in their favor. The courts have held that every preliminary move is strictly according to law and that there seems to be no good reason for preventing the decision of the council, backed by the will of a majority of the people, from being carried out.

WHAT THE PRIMARY PROVED.

A study of the primary election figures reveals some interesting things, not to mention considerable food for thought. J. A. O. Preus led his chief rival for the republican nomination for governor, Dr. Henrik Shipstead, by 8,499 votes. He carried the First congressional district, the Second, the Fourth, the Fifth and the Eighth, but he lost the other five districts. In the First district Mr. Preus prevailed by 5,051, in the Second by 2943, in the Fourth by 2,658, in the Fifth by 8,594 and in the Eighth by 5,215. In these five districts were located the principal population centers and the regular republican nominees prevailed in nearly all of them. Dr. Shipstead, the League candidate carried the Third district by only 35 votes, the Sixth by 112 votes, the Seventh by 6,416, the Ninth by 7,444 votes and the Tenth by 29 votes. Mr. Preus prevailed in 32 counties and Dr. Shipstead in 54. There was a total of 319,860 Republican ballots cast of which Preus received 133,586 and Shipstead 125,087. The other four Republican gubernatorial candidates, which included Franklin F. Ellsworth, Tom Frankson, S. G. Iverson and Thos. Keefe, polled a combined total of 47,493 votes. The total number of democratic votes cast and counted was 27,288. At the primaries two years ago, with only two Republican candidates contesting for the gubernatorial honor, the regular republican candidate prevailed in 56 counties and the League candidate in only 30 counties. The total Republican vote case was 369,098 and Democratic vote 32,649. In the two League strongholds, the Seventh and Ninth districts, Lindberg, the League candidate of that period, only led by 1,065 in the Seventh and by 5,619 in the Ninth. The banner republican district was the Fifth which gave the regular candidate a majority of nearly 15,000.

INEXCUSABLE LAXNESS.

A total of 50 votes cast at a school election in a district containing a population of at least 6,000 does not speak very well for the interest taken in school matters. And at that the vote on Saturday evening was larger than at most similar elections in recent years.

When the meeting opened at 7:30 o'clock there were barely enough citizens present to constitute a quorum. The report of the past year was read and the budget for the coming twelve months adopted. This budget provides for an expenditure of $104,000. The greater part of this money comes out of the pockets of taxpayers. It is certain that were it proposed to expend a like sum for any other purpose every man who pays taxes in District No. 18 would be around to find out just what it was going to be used for. He would want to know the reason for a larger levy at this time than was necessary a year ago. In fact he would want to know all about what was going on.

And his attitude would then be the right one. Disregarding our plain duty go under the supposition that everything is all right is highly flattering to the school officials, but they would rather the public turn out and help share the responsibility. No one questions the figures presented by the board and there is not a hint to indicate that our schools should get along with a smaller sum. The people have absolute confidence in the ability and judgment of the board members—and it is fully deserved.

But that is not the idea. These officials would greatly prefer that the people assist them in a matter of such importance as, for instance, the voting of the budget. Our schools represent the largest item of expenditure to be met by the taxpayers during the year and yet it receives the smallest amount of attention. The success of our schools is perhaps regarded as the most important thing among all undertakings of a public nature, yet the people are willing that six board members shall carry the responsibility without a single helpful suggestion from those most interested. It is not a very satisfactory way to operate a business of such magnitude.

The newly elected members—Mrs. L. G. Larsen and E. O. Mogensen—will prove officials of a very high order and help to maintain the excellent record held by the board for years. Giving the women representation on the board is something that should have been thought of a long time ago. Mrs. Larsen is perhaps as well qualified for this position as any who could have been selected. She has followed the teaching profession herself, has always taken a deep interest in the work of the schools and looks at things from a mother's viewpoint. Mr. Mogensen is a business man of sound practices and good judgment. He will apply both in assisting to administer the affairs of the district.

The board as a whole could not be improved on. But this does not excuse the apparent unconcern of our people.

NEIGHBORHOOD VISITS.

Every person in Thief River Falls who can possibly do so should join the sociability run to Warroad next Tuesday morning. If there is a period during the year when there is a slight lull in business in this section it is just before harvest. In a short time everybody will be so busy that taking a couple of days off will be out of the question.

The main idea of the run is to boost the Pennington county fair. This idea of making personal visits to neighboring communities in order to call attention to the big event of the year at each county seat has of late become general and no better plan could be devised. It brings all the neighbors into personal touch with one another and promotes good feeling generally.

The people of Warroad showed themselves excellent hosts on a previous occasion of this kind and are prepared this year to break their own record. To a committee sent to their town to find out whether or not our people would be welcome assurances were given that nothing would be left undone to give the tourists the time of their lives. Lake trips, dancing, and band concerts are among the things provided, besides one of those sturgeon dinners for which the region is famous. The trip will help stave off old age and show the neighbors to the north that Thief River Falls cares enough about them to occasionally pay a visit.

Another Baby Clinic to Be Held on Second Day of Fair

ROSEWOOD

Grand Forks Commercial Club Visits Town.

Twenty six auto loads of people from Grand Forks comprising members of the commercial club and of the Grand Forks state band paid us a pleasant visit last Friday at noon, to advertise the Grand Forks fair and to become better acquainted. The tournament arrived here shortly before dinner and stopped for a while in town, where the band boys played several selections and representatives of various advertising firms called briefly upon the main business houses in town, leaving a large amount of advertisements both for the fair and for various local business interests of Grand Forks. A representative was in town a few days before announcing their arrival and the time, and most of the town people as well as some farmers had turned out to see the affair. The party, who was making a day's tour of this section in the interests named above, went from here to Thief River Falls where a stop was made for dinner and where considerable advertising was done.

At the annual school meeting held at Rosebank last Saturday evening Alex Hellquist was elected as clerk for the coming year and Joel E. Shoberg, treasurer. There will be seven months teaching next term and the sum of $1500 was voted in to defray the expenses. Through vote it was decided that the school building shall be open for all business and public meetings of a peaceful nature and in the interests of the people of the district for everything except school purposes, and annulling last year's closing order when the school house was closed.

The Swedish Young Peoples society held their monthly meeting at the Congregational church in town last Saturday evening with a fair attendance. Rev. Drotts of Viking was in charge. Meetings were also conducted twice on Sunday at that church and a Christening service was held at the home of Carl Mellem at 5 p. m.

Mrs. J. Hanson, in company with several children from Grygla, are visiting this week with Mr. and Mrs. John Rafteseth.

Miss Tena Weatby, who has been employed at Adams, N. D., for several months, came home for a vacation to visit with her parents last Saturday.

A Newspaper Man Asks Information About Gasoline Prices

"WHAT are the reasons for the advance in gasoline prices?" was asked by the President of a large daily newspaper.

Continuing, the gentleman said: "I can conceive how the cost of a manufactured article might increase as much as 50 to 100 percent because of the increased cost of raw materials, labor, etc.; but it has always seemed to me that the price of a product taken from the ground at a comparatively low cost should not be affected to any marked degree."

This constitutes a fair question, and we are glad of an opportunity to answer it frankly.

Gasoline is refined from crude petroleum by a lengthy and expensive process, and is, in the truest sense, a manufactured article. Time, labor, and heavy investments enter into the manufacture of gasoline from the crude, and each of these necessarily affect the price.

The cost of crude is a dominant factor in fixing the price of gasoline.

The extraordinary demand for petroleum products, plus the abnormal increases in the cost of labor, machinery, and money necessary for drilling and equipping oil wells, have combined to force upwards the price of crude oil f. o. b. Whiting from $1.54 to $4.30 per barrel in four years, nearly 180 percent.

For the same period the selling price of gasoline has increased but 44 percent.

Since the Armistice was signed, the production of automobiles, tractors, trucks, and other power using machinery, has created a demand for gasoline far in excess of normal. Gasoline reserves have been reduced to an alarming extent, and the bidding for crude-oil on the part of refiners generally, has forced prices upward.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) having practically no wells of its own is obliged to go into the open market and compete with other refiners for the crude oil it requires.

Because of its acknowledged superior efficiency in manufacturing, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) despite these conditions has been able to exert a marked deterrent pressure upon the upward sweep of the gasoline market.

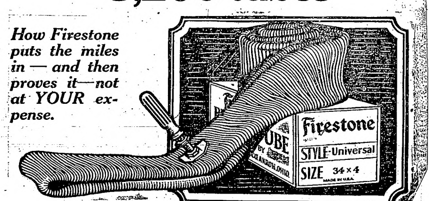
A big-scale road test on 3,200 tubes

How Firestone puts the miles in — and then proves it—not at YOUR expense.



No other tubes in the world are road tested on so big a scale as Firestones. The Yellow Cab Company of Chicago uses Firestone Tubes exclusively on its 800 taxi cabs. The service of these tubes is checked constantly—improvements and developments are arrived at.

By close watching of a large number of tubes in service—not confined to isolated instances, the conclusions are accurate and definite.

Firestone puts the best in materials into tubes by establishing purchasing experts at Singapore, center of the world's rubber market. Firestone puts the best in workmanship into tubes by organizing the crack manufacturing organization of the industry on a profit-sharing basis.

And then subjects the finished product to this big-scale road test—in order to get you more for your tube money and more miles out of your tires. And yet Firestone Tubes cost no more than the ordinary kind.

Whooping Cough

"The disease I most dread is Whooping Cough, for children are often permanently injured by the awful straining of the cough. You should never neglect it, and treatment should be started at the first symptom. You cannot mistake the symptoms: protracted coughing, worse at night; peculiar whoop; labored expectoration of mucus; apparent suffocation after coughing.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy

is a positive remedy for this disease—repeat the dose frequently, for if given freely it liquifies the tough mucus, makes it easy to expectorate and counteracts any tendency toward pneumonia. There is no danger whatever from Whooping Cough when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is freely given."

IF YOU TRADE OUT OF TOWN AND I TRADE OUT OF TOWN, WHAT WILL BECOME OF OUR TOWN?

The Times "TRADE-AT-HOME" Campaign

Read these articles with care. They may present something you hadn't thought of before. Patronize the people who's ads. are here. They are your neighbors and will treat you right. The money you spend with them stays in circulation in Thief River Falls.

Golden Rule Has Place In Trade

(Copyright.)

Some cynical persons have remarked that the Golden Rule has no place in business. They have taken the position that instead of doing unto others as you would have them do unto you, the only safe and sane plan is to do others before they have a chance to do you.

Fortunately for business and for the world at large, however, these persons are few and far between. The great majority of people are honest.

It has been proven repeatedly that even in business it pays to practice the Golden Rule, just as it has been proven repeatedly that "honesty is the best policy." It not only makes a man feel better down in his heart when he employs the principle of the Golden Rule, but he finds that it is good business. This applies not only to the man who stands behind the counter and gives a full pound of sugar to the man who asks for a pound, but also to the man who stands on the other side of the counter and pays his money for the pound of sugar.

Does Consumer Do His Part.

The consumer expects the merchant to be honest and square and give him his money's worth for every penny that he spends with him, but how often does the consumer stop and ask himself the question, "Am I being as fair and honest with the merchant as he is being with me?" The consumer not only expects the merchant to give him honest weight and full measure at the lowest possible price, but he expects a world of other things at the same time. Nine times out of ten he expects the merchant to give him credit, and nine times out of ten the merchant does it. Many times he expects the merchant to "carry" him for three or four months before he pays for what he buys, and as many times the merchant does it. He expects the merchant to pay for advertising space in the church program which he is getting up, and the merchant does it. He expects the merchant to "kick in" most liberally when he is raising a fund for the benefit of the town band, and the merchant does it.

He expects the merchant to provide the bonus which is to be paid to obtain a new factory which will benefit the working man, the clerk and everybody else in the town, and the merchant does it. He expects the merchant to "come across" with a donation to help the poor family which otherwise would become a charge upon the common funds of the community, and the merchant does.

Another Side to Picture.

Now, look on the other side of the picture. Mr. Consumer decides that he needs a new suit of clothes, or Mrs. Consumer decides that she wants a new kitchen range, or some of the little Consumers express a desire for a train of cars or a bobsled. Mr. Consumer picks up the big mail-order catalogue which the mail-order house has printed with his money or that of others like him, and he looks it over until he finds a picture that strikes his eye. It's a picture of a "nifty" looking suit of clothes. Of course, he can't feel the picture to see whether the cloth is as good as it looks; he can't look the mail-order man in the eye and ask him whether he will guarantee it to wear for at least a month or six weeks; he can't tell the mail-order man that he will drop in the first of the month and settle for it; he can't tell the mail-order man that he would like to have a little of his business or a chance to do a little carpenter work or painting or plumbing work for him as long as he is buying his goods from him, for the mail-order man hasn't any business or any work to give him. But the picture is a pretty one, so Mr. Consumer digs out his hard-earned cash, goes down to the postoffice, buys a money-order and sends it to the mail-order man.

After a week or ten days, or probably two weeks, the suit arrives. It may be nothing like the picture. The cloth may be of poor quality. The chances are that it doesn't fit at all. But there is nothing for Mr. Consumer to do but put the suit on and wear it. He can't get his money back. He might send the suit back and the mail-order man might send another in its place, but the chances are that it wouldn't be any better than the first and Mr. Consumer would only be out the additional express charges.

Found Golden Rule Pays.

Mr. Consumer found that it pays to remember the Golden Rule in business. If he had done unto the merchant as he would like the merchant to do unto him, he would have got more for his money and he would have aided in making it possible for the merchant to help him and his town when they needed help.

The world has discovered that the Golden Rule is not for use only on Sundays, but that it is value on every day of the week.

Short Stops Also to be Made in Neighboring Villages on Soo.

The Times is advised by the St. Paul Association of Public and Business Affairs that the annual trade tour which visits Thief River Falls on Saturday, July 31, from 7:45 a. m. until 9:30 a. m., bids fair to have the largest delegation ever sent out on any trade tour by St. Paul's wholesalers.

The trip is over the Soo line to Portal, and return via Detroit. The train will consist of five standard sleepers, two dining cars, observation car, two tourists sleepers for the band and train employes, and two baggage cars. The fact that the train travels at night and also very often at meal time makes it necessary to include sleeping car and dining car facilities on the train.

Music Provided For.

The party will be accompanied by the Minnesota State Band of 25 pieces which has the reputation all over the Northwest of being a very fine concert band, and a high grade line of entertainment is assured the people present upon the visitors' arrival.

The party will have a community singer and everybody will be given an opportunity to do a little singing. Song sheets will be distributed to school children and others. There also will be a good variety of souvenirs for distribution by representatives of the various houses participating in the trip.

Parade Leading Feature.

Immediately upon the arrival of the special train there will be a parade, headed by the band, through the business section of the city. Following the parade the band will play a concert on the street at the bank corners while the St. Paul business men are calling upon their friends and customers.

The train schedule has been approved by the operating officials of the railroads, and barring accidents or unusual conditions of some kind the train will arrive on schedule.

Other Palces on Schedule.

The special will arrive in Thief River Falls from Kenmare, traveling all night without a stop. From here the tourists leave over the main line of the Soo for St. Paul and will make numerous stops along the way. They will be at Hazel from 9:40 to 9:55, and at Plummer from 10:15 to 10:35.

MADE NO MISTAKE SAYS THIS FARMER

Says Tanlac Came Up to Every Expectation—Feels Like A New Man Now.

"I have just been waiting for this opportunity to tell the public what Tanlac has done for me," said Mathias Thomas, a prominent farmer of Little Canada, Minn., while in St. Paul, the other day. "I consider it my duty to suffering humanity to tell everybody I can about this medicine.

"Six years ago my stomach began troubling me," continued Mr. Thomas. "My apptetite went back on me and my stomach got in such a bad fix hardly anything agreed with me. Often what little I did eat would sour and bloat me up with gas till I felt like I was smothering and could hardly stand it. I was always constipated, seldom got a good night's sleep and was losing weight all the time.

"I had read so much about Tanlac I decided to try it. My appetite picked up right from the start and by the time I had finished the second bottle I felt like a different person. My stomach trouble stopped and I was no longer constipated. I could sleep better and had gotten back some of my lost weight, and now my appetite is so big I can hardly eat enough to satisfy it. I can eat fat meats, potatoes, just anything my appetite calls for, which I haven't been able to do before in years. When I say Tanlac is the best medicine made I am speaking from experience, for I have tried about all of them in my day. After what it has done for me I feel sure it will help anyone who gives it a fair trial."

Tanlac is sold in Thief River Falls at Lambert's Drug Store, and at Oklee by John H. Gassman.—Adv.

SONS OF NORWAY IN ANNUAL MEET

A Very Successful Convention Held at Madison, Wis. Large Attendance.

Bernhard Knudsen of Thief River Falls returned last week from Madison, Wis., where he had been in attendance at the Grand Lodge meeting of the Sons of Norway. Mr. Knudsen attended the meeting as a delegate from Snore lodge.

Questions of organization work and insurance, election of officers and selection of a place for next year's program occupied most of the time during the first day of the convention. A program of music and addresses was carried out in the evening. Prof. R. B. Anderson spoke on the purpose of the order, which he said was to contribute the best in Norse culture to the greatness of America. The program opened with the singing of America and the Norwegian anthem.

The meeting was largely attended, delegates being present from all parts of the country. It was a most successful meeting and those present were royally treated by the people of Madison.

LOCALS TAKE OLD ENEMIES INTO CAMP

Defeat Grygla Sunday 13 to 3 in Fine Exhibition of National Pastime.

Grygla's fast baseball aggregation met defeat on its home grounds last Sunday at the hands of the sluggers from Thief River Falls. When the smoke of battle had cleared away sufficiently for the scorekeeper to get the tally sheet straightened out it was found that the visitors had piled up 13 scores to Grygla's three.

It was a hard fought battle all the way through, and the local boys showed up to excellent advantage. The heavy score piled up by Thief River Falls was due entirely to hard hitting and very few of the tallies were chargeable to errors of the opposition.

Judging from the quality of ball the locals have been putting up recently, they have found their gait and from now on will be mighty hard to beat.

Your Threshing and the Threshing Bill

Today is the day of great progress and great inventions. And one of the great advances in threshing methods is the small individual Threshing Separator. And we are pleased to announce that we now have in stock a sample of the NEW Yellow Baby AVERY GRAIN SEPARATOR. With this machine you can thresh up to 80 bushels of grain and over per hour, and it can be operated with any small tractor that developes 15 H. P. on the belt. This machine is fully equipped with self feeder, wind stacker and grain loader.

The price on this machine is right and with a couple of years thresh bill saved it will pay for machine, besides the convenience of having the machine on hand when you are ready to thresh.

Come to our office and let us show you this little macheine. It is just the thing that you are looking for. And we know that when you see the machine and learn the price you will be more than INTERESTED.

GRAND FORKS MEN PAY SHORT VISIT

Delegation of Boosters From Dakota City Entertained at Thief River Falls.

A large delegation of Grand Forks business and professional men were guests of Thief River Falls last Friday. The visitors came for the purpose of advertising the forthcoming Grand Forks Fair, making a tour of this section of the state in automobiles. Arriving from Warren, where they had spent most of the morning, the visitors reached Thief River Falls in time for dinner. After dinner, headed by the Grand Forks municipal band they headed for the commercial club rooms, where a short program was given.

President E. M. Stanton of the club welcomed the visitors and T. B. Elton of Grand Forks gave an excellent address in response. Several excellent musical selections were rendered by the Grand Forks band, which were greatly enjoyed. From here the tourists left for Plummer, Terrebonne and Red Lake Falls on their return trip to Grand Forks.

The Grand Forks party was made up of the following members: Chas. Allen, H. H. Anker, Stan Brown, Geo. A. Benson, M. G. Bacheller, N. G. Bennor, M. W. Day, Geo. Dixon, Chas. S. ATMOSPHERE IN PAVING MATTER GROWING CLEAR

Prospects Grow Brighter Daily For Paving to Be Begun in Near Future.

City Council Sends Delegation to St. Paul to Interview Bonding Companies.

Legal Authorities Agree That Supreme Court Will Not Reverse Judge's Order.

The status of the paving proposition in Thief River Falls has not changed greatly during the past week. Whether prospects for immediate action are bright or gloomy depends a good deal upon the viewpoint, and also to a certain extent upon whether a man is an optimist or a pessimist. Optimists feel that nothing serious stands in the way of getting paving started at once, while the pessimists fear that something may happen to delay the program indefinitely.

One by one the obstacles in the way of paving have been removed by the city council and other boosters for the program, until now the only thing remaining is the sale of city certificates to cover the cost of the work.

A contract has been entered into by the city council with the Northwestern Trust company and the Capital Trust company at St. Paul, providing for the sale of sufficient bonds to cover the cost of the improvement, but owing to the unsettled condition of affairs, chief among which is the appeal from the recent vacating order issued by Judge Grindeland, these financial concerns are naturally a little careful in performing their part of the contract.

To Get Action Soon.

The council Tuesday evening appointed City Attorney H. O. Chommie and H. A. Brumund, president of the council, as a committee to go to St. Paul to see what could be done to get immediate action in the matter of the bonds. The council wants to know what the bonding companies propose to do, and the purpose of sending these representatives to St. Paul is to get an immediate showdown in the matter.

According to the best legal advice obtainable in this section of the state, including Chas. A. Loring of Crookston, there is not one chance in a thousand that the supreme court will reverse Judge Grindeland in the matter of the vacating order. The contractors evidently feel the same way about it, being all ready to begin operations as soon as satisfactory arrangements can be made with the bonding companies to furnish the city with the necessary funds.

Opposition Dwindling.

Aside from the few who have led the fight on paving from the very start, opposition to the project has rapidly dwindled during the past week or two. Most of the objectors have come to realize that the city stands to lose thousands of dollars unless the project is taken up at the present time and under the present contracts.

In the first place, prices on all materials entering into work of this character have advanced during recent weeks and will continue to advance, according to the best authorities. Add to this fact that railroads undoubtedly soon will be granted a substantial increase in freight rates, and it is obvious that any contract entered into in the future would necessarily be at a much higher figure.

GUERNSEYS CAPTURE GRAND FORKS PRIZES

Local Herds Receive Highest Awards in Face of Strongest Kind of Competition.

Just to make it unanimous and to dispel any doubt which might still remain in the minds of those skeptical regarding the quality of the Guernsey herds of Pennington county which have been on exhibition at a number of the best county and state fairs in the Northwest during the past two weeks, the Guernseys last week won highest honors at the Grand Forks fair. This comes as a fitting climax to a trip which has been one victory after another for the specimens from Pennington county's herds.

At the Grand Forks fair the local cattle carried away all ribbons in their classes, competing against herds which were on exhibition at the International Live Stock show last year.

The Guernseys also won grand sire and cow, which is an honor of no small importance when the number of animals on exhibition is taken into consideration. The success of the exhibition trip has been phenomenal and the owners of the prize winning animals have good reason to feel proud of their accomplishments.

Another Splendid Rain.

A nice shower of rain fell late Monday evening, and while it was not badly needed it served to freshen things up wonderfully. Conditions are very nearly ideal for all crops and with anything like a fair shake from now until harvest time this will prove to be a banner year for the farmers of Pennington county.

PENN[illegible] HOG RAISERS G[illegible]

If by chance there should be a farmer in Pennington county who is imbued with the notion that he can raise fat hogs he will have a chance to prove it at the county fair next week. Joe Oski of Mavie recently converted into pork what he claims is the fattest hog ever reared within the county, and to prove his assertion will have a side of pork from the hog on exhibition at the fair. In order to add interest and to prove if possible that other farmers can raise hogs of the same corpulent qualities, the fair board has hung up a prize of $5 which will be paid to anyone who places on exhibition a side of pork which shows a greater proportion of fat. Here is a chance for local hog raisers to show what they can do.

MONEY NEEDED FOR SUPPORT OF BAND

Thief River's Musical Organization Soon to Receive Overdue Remuneration.

Thief River Falls has for some time prided itself in having a band which ranked high among musical organizations throughout the state. But it seems that, like similar bodies, the local band finds time and money very necessary adjuncts. Time has generously been given by the band boys, but they have not seen much of the money.

At the annual meeting of the commercial club held a year ago a special committee was appointed to "continue making arrangements for the maintenance of the Thief River Falls band." The committee at once began to collect sundry sums from various men and institutions of the city and also secured from the city council a neat sum, all of which went toward the support of the band.

There the matter rested. Recently a bill has been presented to the commercial club by the band for services rendered during 1919, and the special committee named a year ago has been asked by the directors of the club to proceed at once to collect the amount still due the band boys. Accordingly this committee will soon be calling on the merchants and other business men of the city for a donation to cover the amount necessary to take the band out of the creditor class.

MARSHALL COUNTY DIVISION IS SOUGHT

Rival Factions Argue Merits of Respective Petitions Before Governor Burnquist

A hearing was conducted last Saturday morning before Gov. J. A. A. Burnquist at the state capitol, to determine which of the two projects for the division of Marshall shall be submitted to the voters at the November election. One petition asks the creation of Liberty county, with Holt as the county seat, while the other asks the establishment of Park county, with Middle River as the county seat. Attorneys for both factions argued the matter before the governor, but no decision in the matter had been rendered up to last evening. It is promised, however, that the people of the area affected soon will know which of the two propositions they will have an opportunity of voting on this fall. No serious opposition has so far developed to the division of Marshall county, but a wide difference of opinion exists as to how the division should be made. Both the Holt and Middle River factions have large followings and a regular old-fashioned county seat fight is promised before the matter finally is settled.

Ditch Injunction Stands; County Cannot Proceed

According to H. O. Chommie, attorney for the objectors in the matter of repairing ditches Nos. 39, 45 and 59 in Kratka township, all proceedings have been stopped by a court order and the work cannot go forward unless the county commissioners take steps to reopen the case and have the restraining order set aside. Mr. Chommie states that no work is being done on these contracts and that none can be done under the present status of the case.

The cost of this proposed work, as set forth in the complaint of the petitioners, would be about 140 per cent of the original outlay for digging the ditches. The job is therefore not in the nature of repairs, say the parties interested, but constitutes a new undertaking entirely, at least for a considerable distance, and cannot be let as a repair job.

LaBree White Way to Be Extended to Fourth Street

Electroliers have been ordered for both sides of LaBree avenue between Third and Fourth streets, and the new lights will be installed as soon as they arrive.

The lights are of the single lamp system, a style which has recently come into favor. Experience has proved them to be preferable to cluster lamps, principally on account of having fewer globes to replace on account of breakage. It is probable the entire city will be equipped with this style of lights within a few years.

CROP PROSPECT BETTER THAN IN PREVIOUS YEARS

Timely Rains Have Done Wonders For Small Grains in Pennington County.

Rye Harvest Well Under Way and Wheat is Past All Danger From Rust.

Alfalfa, Sweet Clover and Other Hay Crops Give Best Yields in Years.

All small grains in Pennington county which were sown on well cultivated soil, give promise of producing an exceptionally good yield this year. The rye harvest is well under way and, to judge from present appearances, promises to make a record yield. The straw stands up well and in almost every case has a long, well-filled head.

The quality and yield of wheat already is far ahead of last year's crop. Many farmers predict yields of from 20 to 35 bushels per acre. Rust has made its appearance in a few fields, but the grain in most cases has reached the dough stage and cannot be greatly damaged even though unfavorable weather should prevail from now until harvest time.

In some parts of the county lack of moisture threatened to curtail the wheat crop, but opportune showers during the past week have done wonders to brighten prospects for a bumper crop of small grains.

Banner Hay Crops.

Alfalfa, sweet clover and all hay crops are the best in years. The good weather of the past few weeks has been used to advantage by farmers, and thousands of tons of fine hay have been stacked in the best of condition.

Approximately two thousand acres of clover have been grown in the immediate vicinity of Thief River Falls, and all of this is yielding above expectations.

Potatoes and sugar beets have been greatly benefited by the recent rains and both of these crops should easily yield above the average.

Weed Pest Decreases.

The sow thistle has decreased about 25 per cent on land which is cropped. Buckwheat, sweet clover, alfalfa and rye have successfully smothered it out in many places. It has thrived best on wheat land which was plowed shallow and sowed late. In some of the fields it will prove advisable to cut or plow under before the blossom goes to seed.

The state law requires that all noxious weeds should be cut where possible, especially on vacant lots whether in the city or country. All township chairmen in Pennington county have been notified and have expressed their willingness to co-operate in helping to eradicate the weed pest.

WOOL GROWERS TO TRY POOL SHIPPING

County Farmers Form Association and Will Make Shipments Aug. 9 and 10.

At a meeting of wool growers held here last Friday it was decided to pool the county wool with the National wool warehouse in Chicago. This is an organization of wool growers who will hold the wool from one to five months at a cost of three cents per pound, which covers the grading, storage, insurance and all other risks. W. A. McKerrow of University farm is handling all wool shipped from Minnesota at a cost not to exceed one-half cent a pound.

The committee in Pennington county decided to ship on August 9 and 10, and for this reason all wool should be brought to Thief River Falls or Goodridge on those days. Each sack should be labeled with the name of the grower, the address, number of sacks shipped by each man, and the weight of wool in each sack. This should be painted on with black paint or lamp black.

As this is a co-operative movement, no money is advanced until the wool is sold. It is the intention to hold it until prices raise. In many places where wool growers need the money, local banks are advancing a percentage on the value of the wool. This is the most effective way of forcing the large wool buyers to pay a reasonable price for wool, and if all wool growers enter the pool there is little doubt that prices will advance very soon.

Freight need not be paid on wool as it will be paid by the warehouse company and deducted from returns.

All But One of 16 Unions Accept Labor Board Award

Railway union executives left Chicago Friday following a three day conference at the conclusion of which it was decided all of the recognized 16 unions, except one, the Order of Railway Telegraphers, to accept under protest the railway labor board wage award, seven voting for a referendum for the individual unions. The telegraphers referred the award to their membership with a strike proposition. The other 15 unions intend renewing their cases before the board.

BOOSTER TRAIN FROM ST. PAUL HERE SATURDAY

Capital City Trade Tour This Year Includes Thief River Falls in Itinerary.

Special Train Carrying Business Men and Band Scheduled to Arrive at 7:45 A. M.

Parade, Community Singing and Band Concert Promised as Attractions By Visitors.

Interest in the St. Paul tour which visits Thief River Falls next Saturday morning, July 31, is rapidly increasing. Providing the weather is favorable it is likely a large crowd will be on hand to welcome the visitors when the special pulls in over the Wheatline at 7:45. It is desired that Thief River Falls make as good an impression as possible upon the visitors, and for this reason all who can do so are urged to be present upon the arrival of the distinguished visitors.

DAN E. WEIGLE
General Secretary, St. Paul Ass'n.

Plenty of Entertainment.

It is planned to have the train pull in on schedule time. There will be a parade from the depot to the main section of the city, and while the business men themselves are calling upon Thief River Falls business men, the band will give its concert. There will also be community singing, which will be conducted by Hal Geer, a well known baritone singer. A prize will be given to the boy or girl who sings the loudest and, in addition, there will be souvenirs for distribution among the children.

Visit Neighboring Towns.

The St. Paul Trade Tour leaves Thief River Falls over the main line of the Soo, making short stops at Hazel and Plummer to get acquainted with people in these towns. The last stop before reaching this city is Kenmare, N. D., where a part of Friday afternoon will be spent. No stops are scheduled between Kenmare and Thief River Falls and the trip between these points will be made during Friday night.

Any detailed information regarding the trip may be obtained from the agent of the Soo line, who, with other railway officials, is co-operating in making the trip a most successful one.

BOYS AND GIRLS TO JUDGE LIVE STOCK

Event of Special Interest to the Youngsters Takes Place on Second Day of Fair.

A feature of the county fair which promises to be of especial interest to the boys and girls is the dairy judging contest, which is scheduled for the second day, Thursday, Aug. 5, at 10 a. m. Any boy or girl between the ages of ten and 18 years may take part in the contest.

Liberal prizes are offered by the state live stock breeders and the Pennington county fair association, as well as a free trip to the live stock show at South St. Paul. These prizes and trip will be distributed to the three boys and girls making the highest scores.

All boys and girls who plan to enter the contest should leave their names at the farm bureau office not later than Aug. 2.

Grygla Ball Team Again Defeated By Local Lads

Grygla again met defeat last Sunday at the hands of the local base ball team in a clean game played at the fair grounds in this city. The score stood 3 to 2, with the visitors drawing the short end of the tally. Absence of errors featured the game and it was an excellent exhibition of the national pastime. Due to the fact that rooters for the Grygla team were conspicuous by their absence, the game was a very quiet affair and was minus much of the usual rooting and cheering from the bleechers. The Grygla boys put up a fine article of ball and kept the local sluggers busy at all stages of the game. Superior hitting and generalship, however, saved the day for the locals.

GYPSIES TRAVEL IN STYLE BUT GET COLD WELCOME

Bands of Gypsies operating in automobiles have become so numerous as to make of themselves a positive nuisance. Thief River Falls has come in for its share of these nomadic wanderers, and the matter finally came to such a pass that something had to be done to protect people from the insistent nagging and thieving proclivities of the various tribes. On Tuesday Chief of Police Erickson and Deputy Sheriff Frank McGinity drove out of its lair a tribe which had taken up temporary quarters at Lover's Lane, and another which had chosen desirable camping quarters near the Great Northern tracks west of the city. Both outfits were given until three o'clock to make their getaway, and both complied with orders.

LIGHTNING CAUSE OF SERIOUS FIRE

Northern Woodwork Company Suffers $10,000.00 Loss to Building and Contents.

Fire resulting from a bolt of lightning late Monday evening caused damage approximating $10,000 to the plant and building of the Northern Woodwork company, on Knight avenue south near the Great Northern tracks. It is understood the loss is poorly covered by insurance as but $6,000 was carried on the building, with none on the machinery and material which it contained.

The bolt struck in the southeast corner of the building and followed the wires to the interior, where the flames spread quickly. An alarm was immediately turned in by passersby who chanced to see the flames and the fire department was upon the scene within a few minutes. The fire lads did valiant work and deserve credit for being able to save the building from total destruction. The flames were confined to the interior of the main section of the building, several thousand feet of lumber in the dry kiln being entirely unharmed.

A large part of the east wall collapsed outward, due to an explosion or pressure from the heat inside, and every window glass in the place also was broken from the same cause. All the machines in the building were equipped with leather belting, the value of which has been estimated at nearly $1,000. All of this was entirely ruined by the flames.

The fire comes as a serious handicap to the company, as the plant had only recently been brought to a stage where it was running smoothly. An accident causing part of the east wall to collapse during the construction of the building last winter occasioned considerable delay, and this, together with trouble in securing machinery and other material, made it impossible for the company to get under way at full capacity until quite recently.

EMPLOYES OF CITY GET SALARY BOOST

General Increase All Along Line Granted By Council Tuesday Evening.

The city council Tuesday evening took action upon the petition of the electrical workers for a raise in salary of 20 per cent. After debating the question pro and con it was finally decided that a raise of 15 per cent at this time would be just about right and this increase was granted.

Other employes of the city also were included in the wage raise, those coming in for consideration being the driver of the fire department team, the superintendent of the incinerator, and deputy city clerk. A. H. Akre, city clerk, also come in for an additional $15.75 per month by virtue of his position as collector for the electric light department.

After allowing the usual batch of bills and briefly discussing the paving proposition the council adjourned to meet in special session next Tuesday, Aug. 3.

Distinguished Wisconsin Democrat Here For Visit

A. F. LaBudde, cashier of the Farmers State bank, is looking forward to an early visit from his father, Otto LaBudde of Milwaukee, Wis., who is expected to arrive in Gonvick sometime next week, says the Gonvick Banner. The senior LaBudde is state chairman of the Wisconsin Democratic committee and he himself holding a political post—that of collector of customs, a position having to do with state imports and federal property in the Badger state. That the position carriers some responsibility is evident by the fact that he has some 350 deputies, clerks and secretaries working under him.

Articles Solicited For Thrift Exhibit at Fair

Attention is called to the thrift exhibit which will be given under the auspices of the Woman's club at the auditorium during the county fair. Contributions to this exhibit are desired from all parts of the county, made-over clothing and similar articles being particularly acceptable. Articles intended for this exhibit may be left with Mrs. E. M. Stanton or Mrs. E. O. Mogensen, who will see to it that they are properly credited and displayed during the fair.

BANNER FAIR OF NORTHWESTERN MINNESOTA OPENS DOORS WIDE WEDNESDAY MORNING, AUGUST 4

Every Indication Points to Record-Breaking Attendance and Facilities Are Provided By Fair Management to Care For Huge Crowds.

Exhibits in All Departments Promise to Excel Both in Quality and Number Those of Previous Fairs Held in Pennington County.

Long List of Free Attractions Gives Assurance That All Visitors Will Be Furnished With an Abundance of Clean Amusement.

Just a few more days and the Pennington county fair will be on in full swing. Next Wednesday morning is the opening date of the greatest agricultural fair and industrial exhibition ever attempted in Northwestern Minnesota, and indications are that attendance will break all previous records.

The fair management and others responsible for preliminary arrangements have been hard at work for many weeks and everything, to the minutest detail, has received the most careful attention. With the unusually large list of entries in all departments and the exceptionally fine list of amusement attractions, nothing but a siege of extremely unfavorable weather can possibly keep the fair from being an unprecedented success.

Many Unusual Attractions.

On another page of The Times today will be found an advertisement giving in detail the list of attractions to be presented during the fair. A perusal of this advertisement should be sufficient to convince the most skeptical that the local county fair will this year be in a class by itself. There will be something doing every minute of the three days, the attractions being so varied and numerous that it is doubtful if visitors can make the rounds in a single day.

The free attractions alone will keep people busy all afternoon and in order to view the splendid exhibits and to investigate what the Little Giant Shows have to offer, it will be necessary to spend at least two days at the exhibition.

Grain Grading Demonstration.

The Minnesota grain inspection department has arranged to have an exhibit in the farm products building. All farmers and others interested in the present methods of grain grading are urgently invited to be on hand to see for themselves just how this important part of grain marketing is performed.

The principal reason for this demonstration is to show the difference between the present state system and the old federal system. Everything connected with this feature will be free, and should prove of much value to those interested in the matter of grain grading.

Holmberg to Speak.

N. J. Holmberg, commissioner of agriculture of the state of Minnesota, has promised to attend the fair on Thursday, Aug. 5. He has agreed to deliver an address relating to the operations of his department, which was created by the last legislature, and is an entirely new departure in the government of this state. Added interest in this department is felt by Pennington county people due to the fact that J. H. Hay, formerly of Thief River Falls, a year ago was appointed to the position of first assistant to Mr. Holmberg.

Attention, Cattle Breeders.

Holstein-Friesian breeders will be interested in knowing that the Minnesota association is offering $30 in prizes to be competed for at the Pennington county fair. An invitation also has been extended to Pennington county breeders to enter a herd at the Minnesota state fair for the large and attractive prize money offered for this class at the state exhibit.

This feature of the Pennington county fair is in addition to and separate from the regular cattle entries provided for in the premium list. It is a special invitation to breeders of Holstein-Friesians to exhibit the best to be found in the county, and also to make preliminary arrangements for a similar exhibit at the state fair.

Special Added Attraction.

Arrangements were made this week whereby a harness racing classic was added for the second and third days of the fair. The board has secured the stable of classy pacers owned by Mrs. H. M. Bryan and recently winners of large purses at the Grand Forks fair. These horses also have been booked for the Iowa state fair.

This added attraction will be put on in the form of a 2:15 pace during the afternoons of Aug. 5 and 6. The horses entered in these races are as follows: Lottie Russell, 2:11¼; Flying Pachen, 2:17½, Snider Bill, Green; Midnight, 2:24½. Mrs. H. M. Bryan, the only lady driver now appearing on the track, will drive one of the entries at each race.

Racing Officials Selected.

The following officials have been selected by the fair management to have charge of the horse races: Dr. G. A. Penney, superintendent and starter; Daniel Shaw and A. H. Akre, judges; Wilhelm Michelet and F. J. Stebbins, timers.

RAIN CUTS NUMBER OF FAIR BOOSTERS

Dozen Cars, Loaded to Capacity, Start For Warroad on Sociability Run.

Due to the rain of the night before, the fair boosters who started for Warroad Tuesday morning did not make a getaway until about nine o'clock. Instead of 25 or 30 cars making the trip as expected, only 12 were on hand when the start was made. The cars were well filled with excursionists, however, and it is estimated that about 60 people are making the trip.

Accompanying the boosters is the Thief River Falls band and short concerts were given at each stop along the way. On the way to Warroad the boosters visited Rosewood, Viking, Newfolden, Strandquist and Karlstad. After lunching at Karlstad the party proceeded to Greenbush, Badger, Roseau, Salol and Warroad.

On the return trip yesterday it was planned to visit Strathcona, Middle River and Holt. The sun came out bright and clear Tuesday morning, soon drying up the roads sufficiently to make travel conditions ideal. A boosting spirit pervaded the entire party when it left Thief River Falls and the trip, in addition to being a most enjoyable one for the tourists making it, will no doubt prove to be of great value in calling the attention of neighbors to the good qualities of the Pennington county fair.

New Addition Makes More Room For Music Company

Work was begun this week on the construction of a 30-foot addition to the rear of the building on Third street occupied by the Thief River Music company. The addition will be of brick, one story high, and is so constructed that another story may be added whenever it is found necessary. L. D. McAdams and crew of men are doing the work.

The music company found itself cramped for room to take care of its repair shop and picture framing department, and the new addition will furnish 750 square feet of badly needed floor space. This improvement makes it possible for the company to carry a heavier stock of musical goods and gives the boys a much greater opportunity for taking care of their repair work.

Improving Home.

The residence at 109 Main avenue south is undergoing marked improvements. The owner, F. E. Mousley, has moved the building back from the sidewalk and as soon as he can secure the necessary cement intends to provide it with a full basement and numerous other improvements.

WHOLESALE CANDY HOUSE OPEN SOON

St. Cloud Men to Locate in T. H. Smith Building on Main Avenue South.

A new wholesale candy firm is to be added to the business interests of Thief River Falls about Sept. 1. P. M. and Irving Carlson, brothers, for a number of years residents of St. Cloud, have leased the Smith building on Main avenue south and expect to be ready to embark in business within a few weeks.

The Carlson boys have for seven years been engaged in the retail candy business at St. Cloud, but felt that Thief River Falls held out an excellent opportunity in the wholesale field. It is planned to add a complete line of cigars and fountain supplies to the business in the near future. The firm will be known as the Thief River Candy company and will cover the entire northwestern section of the state. Thief River Falls is the logical distributing point for this territory and this, together with the encouragement offered the new concern by local business interests, hastened the decision of the brothers to locate here.

P. M. Carlson will be in active charge of the business and will devote his entire time to the city trade and office work. Irving Carlson has been assigned to the road and will have charge of sales outside the city. Nothing but the very highest quality goods are to be handled and the new firm faces a very bright business future.

CAR SHORTAGE FOR POTATOES LIKELY

State Officer Warns Local Growers and Urges Erection of Storage Facilities.

In a letter of warning from the department of agriculture of the University of Minnesota, potato growers are warned of the probable serious shortage of cars for the movement of potatoes this fall. A considerable portion of last year's grain crop is still unmoved owing to the shortage of cars and the movement of this together with the crop of this year will in all probability hinder the movement of potatoes this fall, the letter states. It is therefor probable that the potato growers will be unable to ship their potatoes before the winter sets in.

It is further urged by the state department that those raising potatoes find a way of storing their crops before the winter sets in, at their own farms or in local warehouses. Any necessary construction for storage purposes should be commenced immediately in order to have the needed facilities ready for the crop, the harvesting of which is less than 60 days away.

The warning was issued by Otto L. Bergh, superintendent of the North Central Experiment station of the department of agriculture of the University of Minnesota.

Farm Bureaus to Have Wool Agent in Chicago

The Minnesota Federation of farm bureaus is planning to secure a representative in Chicago to watch the weighing, grading and handling of wool shipped from this state, says F. L. French, secretary of the Federation. The expense for such service will be pro-rated against the sales for the individual consignors and will be in addition to the three cents per pound charged by the consignee. The expense for the service should cost from 1-6 to ½ cents per pound, depending upon the amount received and whether the wool is received at one time or in small shipments extending through several weeks or months.

Six conferences of officers of wool selling associations have recently been held in Minnesota—at Marshall, Mankato, Rochester, Crookston, Wadena and Duluth. The sentiment in general favored the consignment of the wool of the several associations as the best means of disposing of it this season.

Soldiers' Mail Unclaimed.

Postmaster Morgan is making an effort to locate three veterans of the late war in order to deliver mail which recently reached the Thief River Falls postoffice addressed to them. Albert M. Ekholm, Henry Olson and Julius A. Kramer are the three soldiers sought and any information regarding their whereabouts will be thankfully received by the postmaster.

AGAINST THEIR OWN INTERESTS

The well-meaning and very excellent citizens who have consistently opposed the paving of Thief River Falls streets have certainly been poorly advised. Not only are they attempting to block the carrying out of a necessary improvement but in so doing are actually laying themselves open to a heavier personal expense account than would otherwise be the case.

One point on which particular stress was laid in their application for a restraining order dealt with the inability of the city to obligate itself to pay for the paving of the intersections because of the fact that no money is now available with which to meet this charge.

In case this view should be upheld by the courts it will only mean that the cost of paving these interesections will have to be borne by the abutting property and will in no manner affect the legality of the paving enterprise as a whole. This is something that seems to have been overlooked when the particular fact referred to was made one of the main points in the request for an injunction.

The law does not make it incumbent upon the council to assess the costs of paving intersections against the city as a whole or even against all the property in the paving district. The work may be charged against the abutting property the same as is done the case of all other paving.

It is estimated that the paving of corners will cost about $30,000, or ten per cent of the total contemplated expenditure. The intention of the council has right along been that this part of the outlay should be charged against the city as a whole, thus easing up somewhat on the property abutting on the paved area. Such proceeding is strictly legal, the choice of methods lying with the council.

Such being the case, the objectors—most of whom are corner owners—are working to saddle a large expense onto themselves by opposing the present program, and particularly by questioning the city's right to go ahead because no money has been provided with which to pay for the intersections. In case the courts hold that the city must have the funds for this work on hand before the contract is let it will only mean that the system of charging will have to be changed and the property owners affected will be compelled to foot this $30,000 bill which it has been the intenton to charge against the entire city.

A number of those who have arrayed themselves in opposition to the paving program have during the past week gone over to the other side. They have applied directly to members of the council and had the entire matter explained with the result that their objections have vanished. There may be a few who are still holding out but the sentiment for paving is right now about as near unanimous as it is possible to get anything in a city the size of Thief River Falls.

There has been a great deal of misunderstanding concerning certain phases of this paving matter right along. Most of the objections have been explained away and there only remains the opposition of those who do not wish to see the streets paved under any circumstances. At no time has there been many of these and their number is growing smaller every day. They realize that anything done now to block the will of the majority will only result in added expense to themselves and will besides hurt their standing with the neighbors.

MADE A CLEAN SWEEP.

Pennington county cattle just naturally capture everything in the way of prizes wherever exhibited. In competition with contenders from four states the animals sent out to represent local herds by the Pennington County Guernsey Breeders association have well nigh swept the boards clean.

There has been nothing to it. The cattle from this county were so far ahead of anything else shown that there was never a doubt as to what the judges would do. While this result might have in a measure been expected at Ada, Fertile and Crookston it certainly took some faith to believe that the record would be duplicated at Fargo and Grand Forks. At the fairs in the latter cities the competition was keen and covered a considerable section of country. The best animals from the best herds in North and South Dakota were there of course, but Montana and other sections of Minnesota were also represented. To carry off grand championship awards in this kind of company is some achievement, particularly when it is noted that prize stock from the North Dakota college of agriculture formed part of the contending exhibit. A number of the Valley county stock associations were represented at all the shows, yet Pennington proved a comparatively easy winner.

This means something to the community as a whole, besides being a big boost for the owners of the cattle. A reputation for raising the finest stock in four states cannot be acquired in any other manner than by raising the stock. One must have the goods in order to get any recognition. It is safe to say that more people now know about Pennington county and the opportunities offered for stockraising here than ever heard of the place before. Farmers seeking a change of location will give a section capable of producing such stock careful consideration. They will at least believe it worth their while to investigate. That is all we ask. Not only will they find the Guernseys here of prize-winning quality but the fact that Shorthorns and Holsteins of the same class are just as numerous will be evident. Our stockmen are getting so they are not satisfied with anything short of the best, no matter what breed they may fancy, and that kind of thing is what builds a reputation for the community.

The Guernsey men have earned the gratitude of every citizen in the county by their enterprise. The value of the prizes they received is small in itself compared with the greater benefits accruing to the entire community.

YOUR BOY.

The lessons of the school year that has just closed will have been studied in vain if the graduates, about to enter upon their chosen careers, have failed to learn that thrift and saving in their proper sense are quite as important as anything in the curriculum over which they have thumbed and labored. Many graduates and, unfortunately, pupils of younger years are leaving the graded schools at this time and seeking employment. This period represents a crisis in their lives which leads them either to loose habits or to the habit of thrift and ultimate prosperity. The inexorable decree, that in the sweat of his brow shall man earn his bread, cannot be set aside. Education makes a better workman in every field, but no man can hope to enjoy the fruits of his toil unless he has acquired habits of thrift in his early life.

The world owes no able-bodied slacker a living. He must go out among his fellows and earn it. The character of that living depends solely upon the mental and physical equipment with which he has been endowed, aided and developed by his own unceasing efforts. The work slacker in peace times is as much a menace to his country as his prototype in times of war. He is costing his country millions every year and he it is who is pushing ever upward the cost of living through reduction of output and effort. More individual effort and more production will bring down the cost of living and thereby remove distress. Thrift is the lever through which this war-worn world is to be stabilized, for neither the nation nor the individual can get back to a rational basis so long as the desire to indulge in reckless spending controls it. "Work and save" should be the slogan of the rising generation, for upon the character of those now entering upon man's estate depends the future of this nation.

THE COUNTY FAIR.

The success of the fair is now up to the people of the county. The officials have done practically everything possible to make the event the greatest of its kind ever attempted in the Northwest and it will not be their fault if it in any manner falls short of this aim.

During the past five years the Pennington county fairs have attained a place among similar institutions in the state which is the envy of all neighbors. Excellence of exhibits alone are not responsible for this. It is doubtful if these have even been a major factor in the steady progress that has been made. Exhibits are necessary, of course, but of far greater importance is the attitude of the people themselves towards the fair as a whole. The unanimous desire to have the best and most attractive mid-summer exhibition in this section has had the effect of bringing here an array of products as well as a variety of amusements that other counties have found it impossible to support. This speaks well for the public spirited attitude of our people, both on the farms and in town.

The coming fair will be a hummer. So many new and novel exhibitions are promised that there will be something to please every taste. A lot of questionable performances have been denied the right of appearing on the grounds, even when this would have meant a larger income for the fair association. In this respect the fair will certainly be an improvement on some of its forerunners, although none of them have been particularly bad. Every act booked is clean and there will not be a hint of anything objectionable tolerated.

It takes work and money to arrange a fair of this kind at all times, and this is particularly true this year. An auxillary exhibition has been arranged to be held at the auditorium where local business men will have industrial displays. Demonstrators from wholesalers and manufacturers will be on hand to show how time and money can be saved by the employment of devises not yet in general use. Household conveniences and farming utensils will be shown in vast variety, but there will also be demonstrations of food products and lessons in household economics. This feature of the fair should prove very popular.

As The Times has before remarked, this is YOUR fair. It does not matter whether you are a farmer, a merchant or a working man—the fair will hold something of interest for you and touch at some point the products you contribute as your share toward the general development and progress. For this reason all should show the greatest and best of its kind take an equal interest in making the ever held.

Attend this great fair and work for its success. The object is worthy of engaging our best attention.

Where the Heart is Right.

Warroad Pioneer: Last Saturday the editor was present at a meeting of settlers in Beaver township.

The business at hand was to devise ways and means for completing a leveling contract that has been in default on account of war conditions.

The contractor is a farmer in the community. He took the job at prewar prices, before the war started, lost several hundred dollars on it and was up against a greater loss before it was completed.

Sixty of his neighbors were present, and unanimously decided that any further loss should be spread over the whole community.

It was a fair thing to do—but they did not have to do it. They might have insisted on the full pound of flesh.

But out there in the woods the hearts run true to justice and squareness rather than to the technical interpretations of law.

It is re-assuring and refreshing to meet with a bunch of people like that.

It strengthens a man's faith in his fellow men.

I Owe My Life to PE-RU-NA

Mr. McKinley's letter brings cheer to all who may be sufferers as he was. Read it:

"I can honestly say that I owe my life to Peruna. After some of the best doctors in the country gave me up and told me I could not live another month, Peruna saved me. Travelling from town to town, throughout the country and having to go into all kinds of badly heated stores and buildings, sometimes standing up for hours at a time while plying my trade as auctioneer, it is only natural that I had colds frequently; so when this would occur I paid little attention to it, until last December when I contracted a severe case, which, through neglect on my part settled on my lungs. When almost too late, I began doctoring, but, without avail, until I heard of Peruna. It cured me; so I cannot praise it too highly."

It Cured Me

HARDING SPEECH OF ACCEPTANCE A NEW KEYNOTE

Republican Nominee at Notification Ceremonies Discusses Problems Confronting Nation.

"HOLD HERITAGE AMERICAN NATIONALITY UNIMPAIRED"

Advocates Party Responsibility as Distinguished From Dictatorial and Personal Rule—Referring To League of Nations, Says We Do Not Mean To Shun A Single Responsibility of This Republic To World Civilization—Favors Protective Tariff, Merchant Marine, A Small Army, Woman Suffrage and National Budget.

Marion, Ohio—(Special), Warren G. Harding was officially notified here of his nomination as the Republican candidate for the presidency. His speech of acceptance is, in part, as follows:

Chairman Lodge, members of notification committee, members of National committee, ladies and gentlemen, the message which you have formally conveyed brings to me a realization of responsibility which is not underestimated. It is a supreme task to interpret the covenant of a great political party, the activities of which are so woven into the history of this republic and a very sacred and solemn undertaking to utter the faith and aspirations of the many millions who adhere to that party. The party platform has charted the way, yet, somehow, we have come to expect that interpretation which voices the faith of nominees who must assume specific tasks.

Let me be understood clearly from the very beginning. I believe in party sponsorship in government. I believe in party government as distinguished from personal government, individual, dictatorial, autocratic or what not.

No man is big enough to run this great republic. There never has been one, such domination was never intended. Tranquility, stability, dependability—all are assured in party sponsorship, and we mean to renew the assurances which were rended in the cataclysmal war.

Our first committal is the restoration of representative popular government, under the constitution, through the agency of the Republican party. Our vision includes more than a chief executive, we believe in a cabinet of highest capacity, equal to the responsibilities which our system contemplates, in whose councils the vice president, second official of the Republic, shall be asked to participate. The same vision includes a cordial understanding and co-ordinated activities with a House of Congress, fresh from the people, voicing the convictions which members bring from direct contact with the electorate, and cordial co-operation along with the restored functions of the Senate, fit to be the greatest deliberative body of the world.

It is not difficult, Chairman Lodge, to make ourselves clear on the question of international relationship. We Republicans of the Senate, conscious of our solemn oaths and mindful of our constitutional obligations, when we saw the structure of a world supergovernment taking visionary form joined in a becoming warning of our devotion to this Republic. If the torch of constitutionalism had not been dimmed, the delayed peace of the world and the tragedy of disappointment and Europe's misunderstanding of America easily might have been avoided. The Republicans of the Senate halted the barter of independent American eminence and influence, which it was proposed to exchange for an obscure and unequal place in the merged government of the world. Our party means to hold the heritage in American nationality unimpaired and unsurrendered.

The world will not misconstrue. We do not mean to hold aloof. We do not mean to shun a single responsibility of this Republic to world civilization. There is no hate in the American heart. We have no envy, no suspicion, no aversion for any people in the world. We hold to our rights and mean to defend, aye, we mean to sustain the rights of this nation and our citizens alike everywhere under the shining sun. Yet there is the concord of amity and sympathy and fraternity in every resolution. There is a genuine aspiration in every American breast for a tranquil friendship with all the world.

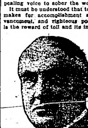
One may readily sense the conscience of our America. I am sure I understand the purpose of the dominant group of the Senate. We were not seeking to defeat a world aspiration, we were resolved to safeguard America. We were resolved then, even as we are today, and will be tomorrow to preserve this free and independent Republic.

In the call of the conscience of America is peace, peace that closes the gaping wound of world war, and silences the impassioned voices of international envy and distrust. Heeding this call and knowing as I do the disposition of the Congress, I promise you formal and effective peace so quickly as a Republican Congress can pass its declaration for a Republican executive to sign.

It is better to be the free and disinterested agent of international justice and advancing civilization, with the covenant of conscience, than be shackled by a written compact which surrenders our freedom of action and gives to a military alliance the right to proclaim America's duty to the world. No surrender of rights to a world council or its military alliance, no assumed mandatory however appealing, ever shall summon the sons of this Republic to war. Their supreme sacrifice shall only be asked for America and its call of honor. There is a sanctity in that right we will not delegate.

Disposed as we are, the way is very simple. Let the failure attending assumption, obstinacy, impracticability and delay be recognized, and let us find the big, practical, unselfish way to do our part, neither covetous because of ambition nor hesitant through fear, but ready to serve ourselves, humanity and God. With a Senate advising as the constitution contemplates, I would hopefully approach the nations of Europe and of the earth, proposing that understanding which makes us a willing participant in the consecration of nations to a new relationship, to commit the moral forces of the world, America included, to peace and international justice, still leaving America free, independent and selfreliant, but offering friendship to all the world. It is folly to close our eyes to outstanding facts. Humanity is restive, much of the world is in revolution, the agents of discord and destruction have wrought their tragedy in pathetic Russia, have lighted their torches among other peoples, and hope to see America as a part of the great red conflagration. Ours is the temple of liberty under the law, and it is ours to call the sons of opportunity to its defense. America must not only save herself, but ours must be the appealing voice to sober the world.

It must be understood that toil alone makes for accomplishment and advancement, and righteous possession is the reward of toil and its incentive.



There is no progress except in the stimulus of competition.

The chief trouble today is that the world war wrought the destruction of healthful competition, left our storehouses empty, and there is a minimum production when our need is maximum. Maximums not minimums is the call of America. It isn't a new story because war never fails to leave depleted storehouses and always impairs the efficiency of production. War also establishes its higher standards for wages and they abide. I wish the higher wage to abide, on one explicit condition—that the wage-earner will give full return for the wage received.

I want, somehow, to appeal to the sons and daughters of the republic, to every producer, to join hand and brain in production, more production, honest production, patriotic production because patriotic production is no less a defense of our best civilization than that of armed force. Profiteering is a crime of commission. Underproduction is a crime of omission. We must work our most and best else the destructive reaction will come.

The menacing tendency of the present day is not chargeable wholly to the unsettled and fevered conditions caused by the war. The manifest weakness in popular government lies in the temptation to appeal to grouped citizenship for political advantage.

It would be the blindness of folly to ignore the activities in our own country which are aimed to destroy our economic system, and to commit us to the colossal tragedy which has destroyed all freedom and made Russia impotent. This movement is not to be halted in throttled liberties. We must not abridge the freedom of speech, the freedom of press, or the freedom of assembly, because there is no promise in repression. These liberties are as sacred as the freedom of religious belief, as inviolable as the rights of life and the pursuit of happiness. We do hold to the right to crush sedition to stifle a menacing contempt for law, to stamp out a peril to the safety of the republic or its people, when emergency calls, because security and the majesty of the law are the first essentials of liberty. He who threatens destruction of the government by force or flaunts his contempt for lawful authority ceases to be a loyal citizen and forfeits his rights to the freedom of the republic. No party is indifferent to the welfare of the wage earner. To us his good fortune is of deep concern and we seek to make that good fortune permanent. We do not oppose but approve collective bargaining because that is an outstanding right, but we are unalterably insistent that its exercise must not destroy the equally sacred right of the individual in his necessary pursuit of livelihood. Any American has the right to quit his employment, so has every American the right to seek employment. The group must not endanger the individual, and we must discourage groups preying upon one another and none shall be allowed to forget that the government's obligations are alike to all the people.

We are so confident that much of the present day insufficiency and inefficiency of transportation are due to the withering hand of government operation that we emphasize anew our opposition to government ownership. We want to expediate the reparation and make sure the mistake is not repeated.

A state of inadequate transportation facilities, mainly chargeable to the failure of governmental experiment is losing millions to agriculture. It is hindering industry, it is menacing the American people with a fuel shortage little less than a peril. It emphasizes the present-day problem and suggests that spirit of encouragement and assistance which commits all America to relieve such an emergency.

Gross expansion of currency and credit have depreciated the dollar just as expansion and inflation have discredited the coins of the world. We inflated in haste, we must deflate in deliberation. We debased the dollar in reckless finance. We must restore in honesty. In all sincerity we promise the prevention of unreasonable profits, we challenge profiteering with all the moral force and the legal powers of government and people but it is fair, aye, it is timely, to give reminder that law is not the sole corrective of our economic ills.

Let us call to all the people for thrift and economy, for denial and sacrifice if need be, for a nation wide drive against extravagance and luxury, to a recommittal to simplicity of living, to that prudent and normal plan of life which is the health of the republic. New conditions which attend amazing growth and extraordinary industrial development call for a new and forward looking program. The American farmer had 120,000,000 to feed in the home market, and heard the cry of the world for food and answered it, though he faced an appalling task amid handicaps never encountered before. Contemplating the defenselessness of the individual farmer to meet the organized buyers of his products and the distributors of the things the farmer buys, I hold that farmers should not only be permitted but encouraged to join in cooperative associations to reap the just measure of reward merited by their arduous toil.

Our platform is an earnest pledge of renewed concern for this most essential and elemental industry and in both appreciation and interest we pledge effective expression in law and practice. We will hail that cooperation which again will make profitable and desirable the ownership and operation of comparatively small farms intensively cultivated, and which will facilitate the caring for the products of farm and orchard without the lamentable waste under present conditions.

America would look with anxiety on the discouragement of farming activity either through the governments neglect or its paralysis by socialistic practices. A Republican administration will be committed to renew regard for agriculture, and seek the participation of farmers in curing the ills justly complained of, and aim to place the American farm where it ought to be highly ranked in American activities and fully sharing the highest good fortunes of American life.

Becomingly associated with this subject are the policies of irrigation and reclamation, so essential to agricultural expansion, and the continued development of the great and wonderful west. It is our purpose to continue and enlarge federal aid, not in sectional partiality, but for the good of all America.

I believe the budget system will effect a necessary, helpful reformation, and reveal business methods to government business.

I believe federal departments should be made more business-like and send back to productive effort thousands of federal employees, who are either duplicating work or not essential at all.

I believe in reciprocative tariff policy and know we will be calling for its saving Americanism again.

I believe in a great merchant marine. I would have this Republic the leading maritime nation of the world.

I believe in a navy ample to protect it and able to assure us dependable defense.

I believe in a small army but the best in the world with a mindfulness for preparedness which will avoid the unutterable cost of our previous neglect.

I believe in our eminence in trade abroad, which the Government should aid in expanding both in revealing markets and speeding cargoes.

I believe in establishing standards for immigration which are concerned with the future citizenship of the Republic not with more man power in industry.

I believe that every man who dons the garb of American citizenship and walks in the light of American opportunity must become American in heart and soul. I believe in holding fast to every forward step in unshackling child labor and elevating condition of womans' unemployment.

I believe the federal government should stamp out lynching and remove that stain from the fair name of America.

I believe the federal government should give its effective aid in solving the problem of ample and becoming housing of its citizens.

I believe this government should make its liberty and victory bonds worth all that its patriotic citizens paid in purchasing them.

I believe the tax burdens imposed for the war emergency must be revised to the needs of peace and in the interest of equity in distribution of the burden.

I believe the negro citizens of America should be guaranteed the enjoyment of all their rights that they have earned the full measure of citizenship bestowed that their sacrifices in blood on the battlefields of the Republic have entitled them to all freedom and opportunity all of sympathy and aid that the American spirit of fairness and justice demands.

I believe there is an easy and open path to righteous relationship with Mexico. It has seemed to me that our undeveloped uncertain and infirm policy has made us a culpable party to the Governmental misfortunes in that land. Our relations ought to be both friendly and sympathetic; we would like to acclaim a stable government there and offer a neighborly hand in pointing the way to greater progress.

I believe in law enforcement. If elected I mean to be a constitutional president and it is impossible to ignore the constitution, unthinkable to evade the law when our every committal is to orderly government.

The four million defenders on land and sea were worthy of the best traditions of a people never war like in peace and never pacifist in war. They commanded our pride, they have our gratitude which must be genuine expression. It is not only a duty, it is a privilege to see that the sacrifices made shall be requited and that those still suffering from casualties and disabilities shall be abundantly aided and restored to the highest capabilities of citizenship and its enjoyment.

The womanhood of America, always its glory, its inspiration and the potent uplifting force in its social and spiritual development is about to be enfranchised. In-so-far as congress can go the fact is already accomplished. By party edict by my recorded vote by personal conviction I am committed to this measure of justice. It is my earnest hope my sincere desire that the one needed state vote be quickly recorded in the affirmation of the right of equal sufferage and that the vote of every citizen shall be cast and counted in the approaching election.

And to the great number of noble women who have opposed in conviction this tremendous change in the ancient relation of the sexes as applied by government I venture to plead that they will accept the full responsibility of enlarged citizenship and give to the best in the Republic their suffrage and support.

Ours is not only a fortunate people but a very common sensical people with vision high but their feet on the earth with belief in themselves and faith in God. Whether enemies threaten from without or menaces arise from within there is some indefinable voice says, "Have confidence in the Republic. America will go on."

SALIENT POINTS IN SPEECH OF ACCEPTANCE

"I pledge fidelity to our country and to God and accept the nomination of the Republican party for the presidency of the United States. The human element comes first, and I want the employers in industry to understand the aspirations, the convictions, the yearnings of millions of American wage earners."

"The constitution contemplates no class and recognizes no group. It broadly includes all the people, with specific recognition for none."

"We approve collective bargaining."

"Gross expansion of currency and credits has depreciated the dollar. We will attempt intelligent and courageous deflation."

"When competition—natural, fair impelling competition—is suppressed, whether by law, compact or conspiracy we halt the march of progress, silence the voice of aspiration and paralyze the will for achievement."

"I promise you formal and effective peace so quickly as a Republican congress can pass its declaration for a Republican executive to sign."

"I can hear the call of conscience an insistent voice for largely reduced armaments throughout the world."

"Our vision includes more than a chief executive. We believe in a cabinet of highest capacity, equal to the responsibilities which our system contemplates, in whose councils the vice-president, second official of the republic shall be asked to participate."

Farm Wages High.

What farmers are willing to pay for labor in Minnesota is being found out by F. L. French, secretary of the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation. Through the county agents Mr. French is gathering statements from farmers as to what they regard fair wages.

Reports from 32 counties widely distributed have been received. These show that for general work by the day farmers fix the wage on an average at $3.15; for work by the month for 8 months, $65.86; for work at haying by the day, $3.80; shocking, $4.30; threshing, $4.35; fall work, $3.35; corn picking, per bushel 8 cents; winter work per month, $44. To these wages room and board should be added.

Labor is going to be tempted to leave the city for the farm, thinks Mr. French, inasmuch as such wages with room and board added give the laborer more than he can earn, according to present scale in the cities.

Now is the time to subscribe for The Times. $2 a year, and worth it.

Several Kinds of Fools.

The angry man, who sets his own house on fire that he may burn his neighbor's.

The envious man, who cannot enjoy life because others do.

The robber, who for the consideration of a few pounds, gives the world liberty to hang him.

The jealous man, who poisons his own banquet, and then eats it.

Siberia Seen by American

(Lieut. L. R. Hyatt)

Camels Are Common.

The horses are generally "light chunks" and ponies who through long centuries of the survival of the fittest are now a race of extremely hardy, swift-footed, strong animals. Sheep are grown largely for their wool. Camels are used as beasts of burden, principally to draw wagons and sledges, but before the war Siberia exported 5,000,000 pounds of camel's wool.

Cattle are decidedly dual purpose animals, more "dual" than anything else. Recently, however, considerable attention has been given to improvement for milk production by creamery associations and the zemstvos, the latter being a local governmental agency which has interested itself in many phases of community development. A strictly beef type of cattle has not been attempted, so far as I can find out. The country has no packing houses, as we understand them, and this industry, together with livestock production in its largest sense, offers opportunities of remarkable development.

Are National Linguists.

"Sprekken-sie Deutche?" or "Parley-voo Fransooskie?" often are offered the foreigner who does not speak Russian, as straws at which he may grasp in his effort to hold conversation with the natives. Any Russian who has made any attempt at education, has a knowledge of one or more of the modern languages, French and German being more commonly known than English. The American who makes a sincere attempt to learn the Russian language soon thinks he understands why the Russian likes to use some other language besides his own.

All phases of modern education are represented in Siberia, from the kindergarten to the university. It is possible to obtain as good an education in Siberia as it is in Missouri. But it is not compulsory, and most people don't get it. No attempt has been made on the part of the government to make elementary education compulsory and universal, and even elementary education has been expensive and hard to get because the government has not shouldered the responsibility for it.

Few Attend University.

At Tousk there is a large, beautifully located university, housed in about twenty-five substantial, handsome, large, and well-equipped buildings, which offers standard courses in the law, medicine, philosophy, and in technological subjects. It is an institution that Missouri or Illinois or Wisconsin would be proud of. It has an enrollment of about 2,500 students from a population of 22,000,000. Allowing 2,500 students in attendance for the few other technical and commercial schools under state endowment, and you have one person in 5,000 going to an institution of higher learning, as opposed to about one in every 100 of the population in the United States.

An Emotional Race.

The Siberians are more emotional than the Americans. Consequently, the Siberian does more with life than we do. Or rather, life does more with him than it does with us. He is capable of the extremes of hope and depression. He loves music, songs, and dances. He likes to "have a good time," to tickle himself in any way that will affect his emotions, the same as we do in America, only more so.

I am told that there are 48 rather common folk dances in this country, some simple, but many intricate and complicated. I saw one Russian girl dancing some of these more difficult dances one evening at a little party, and when I asked her how she learned so many, she told me that she hadn't made any particular attempt to learn the dances, but that it was born in Russians to dance, that they did it naturally and unconsciously, and that they took a peculiar joy in it.

I do not blame them, for their dances are based upon the rythm, the gracefulness of motion, and the joy of artistry. In public exhibitions of dancing in the theatres, as well as in the ordinary entertainments where dancing is practiced, I have been impressed with the apparently absolute lack of suggestiveness or passion. Somehow or other, one does not sometimes gather the same impression from similar observations in our own country.

Affection of Siberian Women.

These girls and women, especially the younger ones, possess a degree of animation that is not common with us. Life seems to them to be crowded with wonder and interest. Seldom does a woman appear to be blase. Enthusiasm, sheer happiness, and lively curiosity are present, even when the women are laboring under exceedingly trying circumstances. They possess a very large measure of affection. I don't know as I would care to attempt to underwrite their universal constancy of affection, but then, that would not always be a safe risk anywhere in the world.

But this very quality of affection makes necessary, or at least prevalent, a liberality in love that has both its good and bad aspects. When a Siberian woman loves a man, she loves him with a tremendous, surging, overwhelming affection that must be exceedingly satisfying. There is a common saying, however, that a man is not considered by the women to be married if his wife happens to be at the time outside a radius of 200 miles.

Humour of the People.

No matter how dark the times or how difficult, the common people whose heads are not stuffed with theories, find some trite and poignant saying or witticism which helps to smooth over the difficult places and makes life more easy to live. The language of the peasant is filled to the brim with these homely, humorous saws. You may frequently see mature men wrestling and tumbling each other about in the snow in friendly good nature. I have seen peasant women wrestling, bundled up in enormous sheepskin coats and valenkies and after a while one would throw the other on her back, then proceed to sit upon her stomach, both women laughing and having a glorious time.

Singing Soldiers.

I have heard Russian soldiers by the thousands singing war songs, generally in unison but sometimes with parts, in that minor key characteristic of Slavic music, and it was beautiful. They do not have the ragtime ditties such as we have in our army; their songs are not so light-hearted and enemy-taunting as were ours; they are serious and heavy and mean business. The cadence is slow and the notes are long drawn out, and the effect, on a winter's evening at dusk is fascinating in the extreme.

The Soldier Philosophizes.

When the Siberian soldier began to philosophize he got into trouble—that is, he got his own army into difficulty. When he began to question his conditions he somehow or other came to the conclusion that the grass would be superior on the other side of the fence. Whereas for example, in the spring of 1919 he had made up one of an army of 500,000, by the fall of the same year he had associated in the ranks with him only those soldiers who had not been sent to the front and who had not had a chance to go over the top and to the other side.

Patience of the People.

No other but a patient, long-suffering people would have stood for the centuries of abuse and neglect that has characterized the treatment of the Siberians. "We'll do the best we can now, even though things are bad—perhaps conditions will be better later on," seems to characterize their way of looking at things. In domestic life, however, they are likely at times to be most impatient. A husband may treat his wife most unmercifully, but at the same time the wife will be patient with her husband and instead of "grabbing off" a divorce or going back to her mother, as our women would do, she applies poultices to her bruises and later, when the irate husband becomes ashamed of himself and wants to apologize, she is ready to receive him with kisses.

Tolerance of the People.

If a man commits a civil crime, his neighbors, including the judge, want to know why he did it. Jury and judge are frequently extremely lenient. These people will tolerate broken sidewalks, poor pavements, mudholes in the middle of the streets, flies and insanitation to a greater degree than any other people—excepting the Chinese—that I know of. This quality of tolerance makes possible a vast amount of bribery, dishonesty and crooked dealing. Why did a man take a bribe. He was short of money; he didn't make much of a salary; he was in some special difficulty—well, it was justified. Consequently, if you want anything moved on the Great Trans-Siberian railroad you must "grease the palm" of the "Nachalnech," or commandant, of the station, or if you want to send a telegram, bribe the telegraph operator—and so on down the line.

See Chassing.

"See Chass" in a Russian dictionary means "Immediately." In actual Russian life it means any time from the present to the vague future. You go into a restaurant. The girl sees you after a while and shouts to you "see chass." She brings you a menu-card, and says "see chass." Later she takes your order and when you ask her to hurry it she says "see chass." That all means that you will be served in about an hour and a half.

This is true in every phase of life. Ask a station agent when your train is going to leave. He will reply: "See Chass." This may mean within the next ten minutes or within the next ten days, and one guess is as good as the other. My first ride in Russia was a "see chass" ride. The train was to have left on a Monday afternoon at 4:30; it left the following Friday morning at 10:00 o'clock.

One accompaniment of "see chassing" is tea-drinking. Every Siberian must have his tea many times a day. In the middle of the morning's work, of course; in the middle of the afternoon, in the middle of the evening, before going to bed, and at such other times as guests or business visitors come in.

Shiftlessness Prevails.

A kind of exasperating shiftlessness prevails. Take the example of the 6,000 war prisoners that were sent on three barges on the Tom river from Tobolosk to Tomsk in the summer of 1919. They had five days' food furnished them and it took forty days to make the trip. Typhus and starvation killed five-sixths of them before the end of the journey.

There is a real delight in this "see-chassing" and tea-drinking, however, which may point a lesson to the nerve-wracked and ever-busy American, who hurries about from morning till night as though he had only one day in which to live a lifetime. Breaking up the long hours of the busy day with a little complete rest and a warming up of the stomach with some hot tea and the cockels of the heart with a little social gossip and gab is not a half-bad idea.

Russian dinners baffle description as they also baffle experiencing. A half-week after my first truly Russian dinner I felt like a poisoned frog. I had that strange feeling that follows a lull in the battle—just as though my mother-in-law had died or I had missed a big opportunity in life. Meat, cheeses, cabbage-pies, coffee, vodka, heavy cakes, greasy gravies, fed into the intake valve often and persistently for a period covering perhaps three hours, produces a condition unheard of in American circles—or in American stomachs.

Elaborate Funerals.

A good subject to touch upon following Russian dinners. The main features about the Russian funeral are: A corpse, who rides in a very fancy, elaborate, pagoda-like house set up on side poles, all white, and carried aloft by the shoulders of the pall-bearers or on a set of wheels; a coffin, the bottom part of which prevents the corpse from rolling around in the pagoda, and the top of which is carried ahead of the pagoda by other pallbearers. Ahead of the lid, a horse pulls a decorated cart, which contains the flowers of the occasion, and also bears the advertisement of the funeral director, with his address and telephone number. The priest, or priests, togged up in gold and green and purple and red, march on behind, carrying certain banners and placards, while the mourners march in military formation behind them.

Always Present Samovar.

Every Russian family has a samovar. It is as necessary as a bed or a table. A samovar is a clumsy percolator for the heating of water for tea, which is heated by burning charcoal. Every American buys a somovar to take home with him, usually buiyng a very large one which cannot be packed in even his largest trunk and which he must carry under his arm when he travels. When a visitor comes, out comes the samovar, tea is made and all gather about the samovar on the table and feast on tea and gossip. The future of Russia will probably not be settled in parliaments or soviets but around the family samovars.

The Russian loves his life and aims to get as much out of it as he can while he is living. He doesn't bother much about death. He doesn't know anything about it himself, so he does not worry about it.

He is polite, and the drunker he gets the more polite he is.

He takes an occasional bath, more for the pleasure he gets out of it than as a sanitary measure.

He doesn't bother about germs. He doesn't know about them, in fact, and he overcomes high mortality by a high birth-rate. This arrangement seems to please both the men and the women and the national increase in population compares favorably with those countries who are well acquainted with germs.

If a typhus epidemic comes along he worries about it a little in the abstract while it rages, but doesn't care to take any special precautions, and when it has run its course he forgets it.

Paying What's Fair

THE average American is fair-minded. He prefers to pay his way and ask no favors.

The right price for gasoline is based first, on the cost of crude oil; second, on the cost of refining; and third, on the cost of distributing the refined product.

The very low prices obtaining in 1915 were due to two causes—first, to ultra-conservatism due to uncertainty; second, to the spectacular production of oil in the Cushing fields, a production which dwindled almost as magically as it increased.

Since the Armistice the cost of every item entering into the production, refining, and distribution of petroleum products, has increased to an unprecedented degree. The production of crude petroleum has not kept pace with the demand. This has caused fierce competition for such crude oil as is obtainable. This competition has forced the price of crude up until it is costing the Standard Oil Company (Indiana), f. o. b. Whiting, $4.30 a barrel, as against $2.92 on Nov. 11, 1918—an increase of 47 percent.

Yet in the same period gasoline advanced in price but 24 percent.

Only through the efficiency of large scale refinery practice and through advanced scientific processes of extracting an ever increasing percentage of gasoline from the crude oil, has the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) been able to hold gasoline prices down to present levels, and still yield a fair return to its 4799 stockholders.

It is generally conceded in the petroleum industry that the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is operating on the closest margin possible.

educating them, and what do they do? First, they discard their quaint, attractive costumes for cheap, gaudy clothing from the factory towns; second, they drink themselves silly on vodka; and third, when they learn to read, they read only the cheapest, most vulgar novels."

"But the zemstvos? Are they not a hopeful sign in Russia?"

"The original idea was good, but now only Jews belong to the zemstvos and there is no hope from that source."

"I always understand that your women were very democratic," went on this young monarchist. "Why then, do so many of your society women marry Russian or foreign titles?"

"Probably for the same reason that Russian titles marry American girls for their money," I ventured in reply. "But about 99 and 199-200 per cent of our girls don't marry titles."

Vodka is a staple product, under government control, and sold in government shops. Siberians form "vodka lines" awaiting the opening hour of the vodka shop. It is not an infrequent sight to see a Siberian gloriously drunk. All the people probably use vodka more or less, principally more, when they can get it. Cigarettes are extremely popular. One of the few sentences the Russian boy along the railroad where English-speaking people had been, was: "Give me cigarette."

The president of the Siberian Temperance society was entertaining at dinner a Y. M. C. A. functionary. The Y. M. C. A. secretary claims that he was surprised when the president of the Siberian Temperance society served vodka along with the cabbage pie and other victuals.

The Newspaper Correspondent.

This is a type of character which has invaded Siberia in considerable numbers within the last two years. The correspondent usually writes most of his articles on the ship on the way over. He stops at Vladivostock, interviews some officers and takes the next boat back to the States. A few go up to Harbin, a city in China, a few hundred miles inland, and a very, very few travel as far into the country as the travel facilities then extent, will carry them.

But the greatest mass of them know nothing about the country, and write everything about it. I read an article in a reputable weekly journal in America by one of these "birds" concerning Vladivostock, and the correspondent pictured the doughboys sitting on the wharf in Vladivostock fishing, and pulling in long, heavy salmon just so fast that pulling them in became a bore. Well, I never saw a doughboy fishing on the wharf at all. There were some Russian, Chinese and Korean anglers there at intervals, but I never observed any pulling out salmon, and none appeared to tire of the activity, due to too fruitful results in their catch.

Cossacks and Doughboys.

When the doughboys first came to Verkne-Udinsk—where the 27th U. S. Inf. Regt. went to do guard duty—they went out to look the town over. Cossack officers, both with and without girls, they met on the sidewalk. The American doughboys were new to the Cossacks and felt inclined to allow them about half the sidewalk, but the Cossacks were also new to the doughboys and they thought they'd need at least two-thirds of the sidewalk. The matter of the etiquette of the sidewalk was decided satisfactorily, or at least expeditiously, after a few doughboys grabbed the long swords off the officers and took their girls away from them. Some officers had to be slapped across the face with their own swords, but after that all went lovely, and the doughboy got all the sidewalk if he thought he needed it.

Ataman (headman) Semenoff, chief general for the Eastern Siberian Cossacks, whose headquarters were at Chita, east of Verkne-Udinsk, decided at one time to send his armoured train through the stretch of railroad guarded by the Americans. Colonel Morrow, in charge of the American troops at Verkne-Udinsk, thought it unnecessary, and wired the Ataman to that effect.

Semenoff wired back that he deemed the matter urgent and that his armoured train would be forwarded west. To which Colonel Morrow again wired: "No." Semenoff wired: "If you don't let my train through, I'll send my troops against you with hostile intent." Morrow replied promptly that his own troops were ready to meet the Cossack hostile troops. The train was sent west, but never got farther than Verkne-Udinsk. In fact, Semenoff was given three days to get his train out of town. To make this request sound plausible the Americans placed their big guns, machine guns, and plenty of troops in a convenient position with reference to Semenoff's train, and at the end of the third day, the Japanese, our allies, gallantly relieved the embarrassment by taking the train into their custody for safe-keeping.

The next time Semenoff wired that he was sending on his armoured train, Morrow replied that he would blow it up if it came in sight—and it never came in sight.

I had occasion to witness some of the courageous acts of the Cossacks on the occasion of the great Chinese Eastern Railway strike last summer. Amongst the many gallant deeds of these Cossacks, who carry swords, knotted lashes, pistols and rifles, were: whipping railroad workmen; shooting unarmed strikers; and whipping defenceless women with knotted leather whips.

The American Red Cross relieved an enormous amount of suffering in Siberia and did a great deal toward cementing the already existing friendship between the real Russian people and the American people.

It is not for me to appraise the value of the organization in which I have been serving in Siberia, the Young Men's Christian association, but it strikes me that its work has been tremendously worth while, both in the accomplishment of the work it set out to do, and in the lessons and experiences it received, which will form a sound basis for future development of its work in Russia.

One of the great dramatic episodes of Siberia lately has been the Czech Army, in its organization from the prison camps of Russia; its 6,000 mile journey overland from Kiev to Vladivostock; its invaluable service in guarding and operating the railways, and its evacuation to the homeland. You already know the story in general, and there are too many of the interesting sidelights and incidents connected with this wonderful set of men and their life in Siberia to attempt in a short letter.

Admiral Kolchack, his rise to power, his strong bid for outside assistance and recognition, his efforts at the establishment of a so-called moderate, all-Russian government, the failure of this attempt; and his tragic death, supply interesting material for a volume in itself. My own opinion is, that Kolchak faced an impossible task. At any event, it seems that he himself played the game valiantly, and honestly attempted to bring about a great blessing to his people.

Now, I haven't begun to touch upon the story of Siberia and her great resources in raw materials and natural wealth, nor upon the life and experiences of the great people who inhabit the country. No one could describe adequately the tragedy, the sorrow, the broken homes, the epidemics of disease, and all the other terrible factors which have come in the trail of six years of war and revolution. The causes and results of the ignorance, the oppression, and the persecution of the people of Siberia, it would take volumes to tell about.

There seems to be the possibilities in Siberia of a nation as rich and as populous as the United States. The Russian people themselves appear to have within them the possibilities as a race, for creating a nation, as vigorous, as cultured, as modern and as permanent as any nation the sun ever shone on. To tell you why this seems to me to be possible would take still other volumes which I couldn't write even though I had a good stenographer and plenty of time.

The present peril of Siberia as represented by the swarming hordes of armed yellow Japanese, who under the cloak of pretending to help the Russian people, are apparently intending to steal great and rich territories from their Ally. This peril I should like to write to you about fully, but that also cannot be within the scope of such a short and inadequate letter.

I am preparing a supposedly semi-humorous, semi-fact, manuscript which it is intended will cover the leading characteristics of the people of Siberia and their country, and I shall send this MMS to Dr. H. J. Waters, Editor, Kansas City Weekly Star, Kansas City, Missouri. He may have it published in book form. If he gets it illustrated and published, I believe you will be interested in receiving a copy of it. If you wish to secure this volume, you may do so through Dr. Waters, if, as, and when it shall be available. Incidentally, any profits from this venture go to the development of the work of the Y. M. C. A. in Russia, so you needn't feel backward about contributing the price of the book.

Then, too, I have had the good fortune to secure 26 of the most common and best selections of Russian folk song and dance music. This is written for the piano, and was extracted from the original by one of my Czech musical artist friends. I have forwarded a copy of this music to Miss E. H. Burchenal, 2790 Broadway, New York City, who is a specialist on folk dances and folk songs and music, and she may have this collection published in folio form. If you wish to receive a copy of these wonderful selections, the status of this possible publication will be furnished by the above address.

Also an article "Trade Possibilities With Russia" may have appeared in the Kansas City Weekly Star under recent date, May, 1920, and by subscribing to this worthy paper, you may receive this article, if, as, and when it is published.

I trust you have enjoyed this little dissertation and that it has proved a satisfactory account of my observations in Siberia. If it is satisfactory to you, I shall be very much pleased, as it is in no sense to me an adequate, comprehensive, or thorough word picture of Siberia and her wealth, beauty and people.

Whooping Cough

"The disease I most dread is Whooping Cough, for children are often permanently injured by the awful straining of the cough. You should never neglect it, and treatment should be started at the first symptom. You cannot mistake the symptoms: protracted coughing, worse at night; peculiar whoop; labored expectoration of mucus; apparent suffocation after coughing.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy

is a positive remedy for this disease—repeat the dose frequently, for if given freely it liquifies the tough mucus, makes it easy to expectorate and counteracts any tendency toward pneumonia. There is no danger whatever from Whooping Cough when Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is freely given."

No Humbug For American People

(Copyright.)

It was a famous American showman who declared that the American people love to be humbugged. That saying is many years old now but sometimes it seems that there is about as much truth in it now as there was when it was first uttered.

People as arule do not like the idea of having "something put over" on them, but from the way in which the great mail order houses in the big cities flourish it seems that a great many people do not mind it a bit.

The business man who, when he gets a call for an article which he has not in stock, attempts to substitute some other article of a similar nature without telling the buyer of the substitution, is "putting something over" on his customer. Few retail merchants nowadays attempt to do a thing of that kind. The great majority of merchants do not do this for two reasons. One reason is that they would not do it if they could and the other is that they could not do it if they would. The man who buys an article over the counter and sees what he is buying before he pays for it, is pretty sure to get what he wants.

Ordered Shirt, Got Pajamas.

But there is another class of merchants, of which the same thing cannot be said. A man who has been closely connected with some of the big mail order houses is authority for the statement that the heads of the various merchandise departments of many mail order houses have standing orders to substitute with the nearest thing they have if the articles ordered are not in stock and available for delivery. It is related that in one instance as a result of these instructions, a man who ordered a dress shirt from a mail order house received a pair of pink pajamas instead.

It is easy for the mail order house to get away with this substitution of another article for the one that is ordered for the reason that to exchange an article received from a catalogue house is a costly undertaking.

Exchanges Are Costly.

If a mail order buyer is disappointed in his purchase, as he is very apt to be when he compares the article upon its arrival with the picture and flowery description which appeared in the catalogue, the wisest plan is to take what he gets and make the best of it for every time he sends an article back to be exchanged, he is pilling up the express or freight charges and even if the article is exchanged as requested, the buyer is not apt to fare much better on the second attempt.

The mail order houses are well aware of the fact that the majority of their customers will not go to the trouble and expense of returning an article if it does not come up to their expectations and as a result they can work the substitution game to their heart's content.

The home merchant, however, cannot do business in this way and, as has been said, the majority of them would not do it if they could. The home merchant, if he has not the article called for may offer another with the explanation that it is of the same quality as the one for which the customer asked. Good merchants nowadays even hesitate to offer something "just as good" to the customer especially when the article called for is one that has become well-known and popular through the advertising done by the manufacturer, but to attempt to make a substitute without the knowledge or consent of the customer. Well, it isn't being done by the local merchants today.

Substitution Made Easy.

Substitution is made easy for the mail order houses, also, by the fact that they do not sell much of what is known as "advertised" goods—that is, goods that have been thoroughly advertised by the manufacturers and have become nationally known through such advertising. A large part of the merchandise which the mail order houses sell purports to be manufactured by them—although in most cases little of it is made in their own plants. Much of this merchandise bears only the name of the mail order house and it is easy to substitute one article for another without the customer being any the wiser.

The methods of the home merchant naturally are different. With the great development of advertising in recent years much of the merchandise carried by the retail merchant is "advertised" goods. These goods are of familiar brand, the names of which have been made famous by the national advertising of the makers. This advertising is a distinct protection to the buyer for the latter knows when he goes into his local store and asks for an article of this kind that he will get just what he asks for if the merchant has it in stock and that he will be told if the article is not in stock. There is absolutely no opportunity for the merchant to "put one over" on him, even if the merchant had the inclination to do so.

NORTH DAKOTA TO RAISE LARGE CROP

Grain Prospects in Flickertail State Better Than For Many Years Past.

North Dakota's crop propects this year are better than they have been for several years at this time. Except in scattered sections in which there was insufficient moisture the crop situation is splendid, according to agriculturists.

A survey undertaken by newspapers containing statements from qualified crop observers throughout the state, shows that in the western counties, where for the last three years crops have been below normal, the agricultural outlook is unusually bright. Although the wheat acreage in this section is below the average, the condition is good.

A banker of Mott, in Hettinger county, asserted that "not since 1908 have conditions looked as good." Farmers in Towner county are paying more attention to wheat, flax and hay this year and their condition is declared to be first class.

Stutsman county reports that crop prospects are excellent. The Grand Forks farming district was greatly benefited by recent rains. Morton county is feeling a pinch for rain, and grasshoppers are menacing small grains, but with a fair amount of moisture and favorable weather, will turn out better crops than last year.

Ideal prospects with bumper crops were generally sent by observers in the majority of the remaining counties.

NOTED ENGINEER OUT WITH FACTS

Says the Results He Got From Tanlac Were Nothing Less Than Wonderful.

Captain Andy Ospring, engineer on the Pennsylvania railroad, pulling the fast train known as Keystone Express between Terre Haute and St. Louis, declares that the results he has received from Tanlac are nothing less than wonderful.

Captain Ospring has been engineer on the Pennsylvania railroad for the past forty years and is one of the best known and most popular men in the service of this road. His home address is 629 North Tenth street, East St. Louis. Relating his experience with Tanlac to friends in Terre Haute, a few days ago, Captain Ospring said:

"Tanlac will always get a good recommendation from me for the results I have received from it are nothing less than wonderful. Before taking this medicine I had suffered from weak stomach, loss of appetite, sluggish liver and a run-down condition for several years. I could never enjoy anything to eat, suffered with severe pains in my back and chest, and was continually losing weight. The pains in my back were so severe that I could hardly bend over, couldn't sit sit comfortably in my cab, and invariably finished my run feeling all tired out. I had gotten to where I dreaded to make my runs and had lost several trips on account of feeling so bad.

"I had taken lots of different kinds of medicines, but all failed until I found Tanlac. A friend of mine in Terre Haute put me on to Tanlac and that was the turning point with me. Three bottles of this medicine have fixed me up in fine shape and my weight has been increased eleven pounds. I have a fine appetite, don't have a pain of any kind, and feel all of fifteen years young. I make my trips regularly, never losing any time, and come in from my runs without feeling all tired out like I used to. A medicine that will do such things is certainly worth while and I will always say a good word for Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold in Thief River Falls at Lambert's Drug Store and at Oklee by John H. Gassman.—Adv.

Stephen Signs Up For Crookston Electric Juice

Stephen will be served with electricity from the Crookston power plants, it was announced on Monday. A contract has been closed between the Minnesota Electric Distributing company and Stephen for this service.

Farmers between Crookston and Argyle are showing much interest in the extension of the electric transmision lines as evidenced by the large number who are signing the service connection certificates. Electricity installed in farm homes means more comfort and convenience. By the contract with Stephen, farmers residing between that city and Argyle will have an opportunity to connect with the lines.

When the train came in back in 1910

TEN years ago you might have seen one or two automobiles waiting outside the station, when the weather was pleasant.

Today the square is crowded with them. And most of the cars you generally see there are moderate-price cars.

II

Anybody who tells you that owners of moderate-price cars are not interested in the quality of their tires has never met very many of them.

We come in contact with the small car owner every day and we have found that he is just as much interested as the big car owner.

III

There is one tire, at least, that makes no distinction between small cars and large cars so far as quality is concerned—the U. S. Tire.

Every U. S. Tire is just like every other in quality—the best its builders know how to build.

Whatever the size of your car, the service you get out of U. S. Tires is the same. It isn't the car, but the man who owns the car, that sets the standard to which U. S. tires are made.

IV

We feel the same way about it. That's why we represent U. S. Tires in this community.

Select your tires according to the roads they have to travel:

In sandy or hilly country, wherever the going is apt to be heavy—The U. S. Nobby.

For ordinary country roads—The U. S. Chain or Usco.

For front wheels—The U. S. Plain.

BUSINESS BOOMING AT LOCAL CREAMERY

Month of June Shows Satisfactory Increase Over Similar Period Last Year.

Secretary Engelstad of the Thief River Falls Co-operative association has submitted his report showing the business of the local creamery for the month of June. The statement shows a total business of approximately $47,000, which is an increase of 10 per cent over the corresponding period last year. Judging from receipts during the first weeks of July, Mr. Engelstad predicts that the present month will surpass the same period last year by about 30 per cent. Prices continue at the top level and are at present 62 cents per pound for sour cream and 64 cents for sweet.

—Trade at Home—

Cut the Weeds.

Warren Sheaf: It is the duty of all property owners, not only those who live in the country, but also those who reside in the towns, to cut and destroy all noxious weeds growing on their premises and along the sides of streets and roads adjoining their property. There is a state law requiring property owners to cut all noxious weeds, but apparently many are not aware of its existence as in many places weeds are allowed to grow unchecked, spreading their seed broadcast and multiplying rapidly. It should not be necessary to suggest the importance of complying with the state weed law, as civic pride should prompt each individual to keep his property clear of unsightly weeds. Not only do the weeds detract from the appearance of the community, but if left standing by the roadsides, cause snow to drift and blockade the roads during the winter months. Fight the weed now.

—Trade at Home—

Celebration Enjoyed.

Middle River Pioneer: In conversing with a prominent business man of Thief River Falls last week who was in attendance at Middle River's Fifth of July celebration we were told by him that he thoroughly enjoyed the day here and had never seen anything to equal either the program put on or the crowd in attendance at any small town celebration. Furthermore he told us of a Minneapolis man who came with him to Middle River that day who declared he had the best time he ever had in his life. This kind of advertising for our village is the best ever and will travel far and wide. It speaks well for the village and is only a starter of what can be done to put Middle River on the map if co-operation and team work is put into effect in everything.

Indians Make Big Money By Gathering Snake Root

The reservation Indians are here in force picking snake root, says the Middle River Pioneer. There are two separate bunches of them, twenty or more in each bunch including men, women and children. They are bringing some snake root too. Geo. Malmstrom informed us yesterday that he had bought $3,000 worth. The price paid is 40 cents per pound. Each individual Indian, including the boys and girls, bring in their own pickings and get the receipts from it, which as a rule they spend right in the stores before leaving town. They are a quiet, well behaved crowd, and in all their dealings here have never been caught in any stealing or other mischief, except that some of them if the opportunity offers will get boozy. But even then they do not make any trouble. Their trade is worth considerable and the business men are glad to see them come here.

Firestone

Sales of this tire have increased 96% the first six months of this year, proving the balanced tire, the Firestone 3½ has accomplished what Firestone sought for it, more mileage, greater economy, greater comfort, which has been passed on to the public at low cost—most miles per dollar.

Balanced! That means to you more than mere thickness of tread, greater air capacity, more plies of fabric, greater cushioning, or the gauge of the sidewall. It means that all component parts of the Firestone 3½ are scientifically balanced by specialists who have put years of study and practice into a single purpose—to meet your demand in a small car tire. You can now have all four tires on your car give uniform service if they are Firestone.

ROSEWOOD

Farewell Party at Vorseth Home.

Despite threatening, rainy and electrical weather last Thursday evening about 75 neighbors and friends of the community gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Vorseth to tender them a farewell surprise party. Mr. Vorseth, who has for the last eight years served as manager for the Hanson & Barzen interests at this place, has left in his resignation and will by August 1 leave by car for a months vacation with his boyhood acquaintances in and near Waterville, Iowa, and will latter take up his residence at Thief River Falls, his former home, where his daughter, Elsie, will have the opportunity of securing better school facilities, and which is one of the main factors which causes Mr. Vorseth to leave Rosewood. The Vorseth family will be accompanied on their vacation trip by Mrs. Jens Severson of Thief River Falls, a sister of Mr. Vorseth, and her son, Selmar, and expects to be back again by the commencement of school this fall. Thursday evening was delightfully spent; musical entertainment forming the chief diversion. Instrumental and vocal selections were rendered by Mrs. Rudolph Sagmoen of Anita. Violin music including old time Norwegian ballads by Steiner Johnson and piano music by the daughter of the house and Miss Gladys Swenson. A tasteful luncheon contributed by all the partaking ladies and arranged by Mrs. A. S. Holm, was served to all shortly before midnight. A valuable twenty piece silver table set was presented to the Vorseths in commemoration of the evening. The community regrets to bid Mr. and Mrs. Vorseth farewell. With them leaves strong community boosters, a people whose willing efforts to help elevate and strenghten society and co-operation has won for them a large number of warm friends, their congenial sociability and admirable straightforward business transactions has been appreciated by all, and the community as a whole joins in the best wishes for their welfare in the future.

Miss Elsie Vorseth gave a farewell party to sixteen of her girl friends last Tuesday afternoon in commemoration of her departure to Iowa next week. The afternoon was very pleasantly spent with in and outdoor games, music and singing, and Mrs. Vorseth gave a dainty four o'clock lunch. The visiting girls brought a very pretty white ivory brush and comb set which was given the hostess as remembrance from her school friends at Rosewood.

Miss Nettie Batten, who has been attending training school for teachers at Bemidji the past month, returned home on Saturday morning.

The Chas. Sagmoen, L. L. Furan and B. P. Sagmoen families motored to Middle River last Sunday to pick blueberries.

Miss Nina Westby, who has been employed near Thief River Falls this summer, came home for a visit with her parents this week.

Miss Carrie Nelson of Anita, is employed at the Carl Bloom home during Mrs. Bloom's illness.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Sweet, who has purchased the old Hartman farm and intends to make their future home here, arrived on Saturday morning from their former home in South Dakota, and will commence immediately to erect the necessary buildings for occupation.

Mrs. Olson left last week for her home near Wannaska after staying with her sister, Mrs. A. Axelson, for a week.

The Kraus family and Selmer Severson from Thief River Falls were Thursday afternoon visitors at the A. C. Vorseth home.

Ole Hall was in Warren between trains last Saturday to seek medical attention.

Anton Gullseth autoed to Dalton last week with his mother, who will visit there with a daughter, Mrs. Halvorson, for some time. On his return Mr. Gullseth stopped for a day at Fargo to attend the fair.

Perry Hanson, who has been employed at Angus this summer, is home again and will stay during haying with the P. Sorenson folks.

Steiner Johnson left last Saturday for Grand Forks and other North Dakota points where he will visit and possibly work for some time.

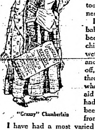
I Am "Granny" Chamberlain



"Granny" Chamberlain

Everybody's friend when they have coughs and colds and their children have croup and whooping cough.

Most everyone knows me. I have been going from home to home for nearly fifty years—always welcome, too, for I never fail in their hour of need.

I have helped young mothers whose babies were choking with croup, and been the comfort of parents whose children tramp to school through the wet winter weather. Many a cold and attack of bronchitis I have warded off, and thousands I have helped through the anxious moments of whooping cough. I have come to the aid of mothers and fathers when they had colds and influenza, and have been a relief to old folks suffering from bronchitis and asthma.

I have had a most varied experience; I go everywhere—among the rich and the poor, in cities and the country.

Now don't forget "Granny" Chamberlain! You will see me often now, for I am going to tell you of my experience and what can be done in your home with

DRAINAGE MATTER MAKING HEADWAY

A year ago on July 22 the initial step in providing sufficient outlets for Thief, Red Lake and Clearwater rivers was taken at a meeting held at Thief River Falls, resulting on January 29 in an order by Judges Grindeland and Stanton in the organization of the Red Lake Drainage district. By August 1 actual surveys will begin according to information given out by C. G. Selvig, Crookston, president of the board.

The fund necessary for the surveys that are about to be made and for all necessary expenses will be reimbursed from funds assessed against lands benefited the same as in any other drainage projects. Through the co-operation of State Drainage Commissioner E. V. Willard, the drainage board has secured for the use of its engineer, Geo. W. Walker, the war department survey of Red Lake river and an early survey of Clearwater river. This means a saving of thousands of dollars to the farmers of the district.

It can be authoritatively stated that the board will proceed with every precaution for economy and thoroughness. There are thousands of acres subject to overflow. Hundreds of farmers have joined in requesting these improvements. The board is proceeding carefully but energetically to get the survey and to ascertain the costs of work which will only be in small proportion to the benefits.

The Red Lake Indian reservation lands are included in the Red Lake and Clearwater projects. The war department is concerned with the dam to be built at the mouth of Red Lake river. Water powers and city water supply problems are involved. A tremendous task confronts the board and Judge Andrew Grindeland, in whose district the hearings will be conducted. Northwestern Minnesota will not be ready for all the settlers that can come until these improvements are made. Many farmers are now located where their land is not safe. It is not too much to say that next year when the drainage plans will be ready will be an important one in the development of this section of the state.

Marshall and Clearwater Census Figures Given Out

Reports of the census this week give the population of Marshall and Clearwater counties, according to the recent enumeration. Both counties have made a considerable gain during the past decade, Marshall being credited with a population of 19,443, which is an increase of 3,105 or 19 per cent. Clearwater county is credited with 8,569 inhabitants, which is 1,699 more than it had ten years ago. The gain in this instance is 27.4 per cent.

These figures show a consistent growth in population, and while the increase is not as great as had been predicted in some quarters, it is highly satisfactory and proves this section of the state to be making satisfactory progress both in the matter of population and industrial development.

Mrs. Aleta Knutson.

Mrs. Aleta Knutson, beloved wife of Ole Knutson of Grygla died at the Northwestern hospital in Minneapolis on July 23, following an operation for cancer of the stomach from which she had suffered for the past 12 years.

Mrs. Knutson was born in Norway and came to this country when but a young girl. For a number of years Mr. and Mrs. Knutson have resided on a farm in the vicinity of Grygla. Their married life has been blessed with four sons and one daughter. Their names are Alfred, Albert, Oscar, Charley and Clara, all of whom survive besides the husband. Mrs. Knutson was a good Christian woman and was an active worker in the church of which she was a member. She was a loving and devoted wife and mother and her greatest pleasure was to be of service to her family and to all others who needed assistance. The remains of the deceased were shipped to this city for interment in Greenwood cemetery.

The funeral services were held on Tuesday afternoon at the Trinity Lutheran church with Reverend Sabo of Grygla, conducting, assisted by the local pastor. A large number of friends, neighbors and relatives of the deceased attended the services and the beautiful floral tributes showed the love and esteem of those who had known the departed in life.

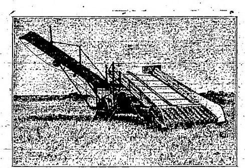
Of Interest to All Farmers and Threshermen



We have the greatest labor and grain saving device for the farmer which, of course, means a money-maker.

This machine may be a little too much for each of you to buy, but where some of you farmers have a co-operative threshing machine or where the Thresherman buys it himself, it will be a most wonderful money maker, as you must realize that this Shock Loader will pay for itself in less than a 20-day run.

You can use "The National" Shock Loader while threshing all sorts of small grain. You can use it while stacking and during haying; also for grinding feed and all belt-drive usages with the belt-drive attachment we furnish with each machine.

We could go on indefinitely telling you of the merits of "The National" Shock Loader, but as we will be at the Pennington County Fair, Aug. 4-6, we will endeavor to show you there what "The National" will do.

As it is a little early for threshing, if any of you are stacking or haying we would be pleased to assist you free of charge with "The National."

BOND CONCERNS CAUSE HALT IN PAVING MATTER

Refuse to Fulfil Contracts Until State Supreme Court Passes on Legal Phase.

Real Reason, However, Is Said to Be Desire For Higher Rate of Interest.

Court Likely to Act in Time to Compel Concerns to Abide By Contracts.

The bond companies under contract to furnish funds for paving in Thief River Falls have made positive refusal to live up to their agreement. As a reason for this action is given the fact that pending litigation makes it inadvisable for them to advance the money. It is surmised, however, that the real reason is the low rate of interest provided for in the contract entered into with the city of Thief River Falls.

This settles the matter so far as the bond companies are concerned until a decision affecting the case can be secured from the supreme court. As the court does not resume sessions until next month it is obvious that even under the most favorable circumstances very little actual work can be accomplished by the paving contractors this year.

Work is to be begun at once, however, on curbs and such other parts of the program as do not touch on the major contract.

Contract Not Void.

The contract held with the bond companies does not expire until Dec. 31, and it is more than likely that favorable action can be secured from the courts in sufficient time to compel the financial men to live up to their contract in detail. If this can be done it will mean a considerable saving as new contracts no doubt will command a higher rate of interest. It is made plain by the bond companies that they do not desire to evade the terms of the contract, simply being anxious to have the legal phase of the matter cleared up before advancing the money.

Delay Unfortunate.

This tangle in the legal phase of the paving program is extremely unfortunate. Opinion is general that Thief River Falls has secured contracts both for the money and for the work at figures far below any which can be secured at the present time or for some years to come. There is an excellent chance, however, that things may be settled in sufficient time to make enforcement of the present contracts possible, and in that case the only disagreeable feature is the unnecessary and unwarranted delay in getting the work started.

Officers Search Residence and Discover Much Booze

Armed with a search warrant, Sheriff W. J. LaBree and County Attorney Theo. Quale on Saturday afternoon took inventory of the rooms occupied by Fred Brendecke. A considerable quantity of liquor, including whiskey and alcohol, was discovered and confiscated by the officers. At present retail prices it is estimated the value of the confiscated booze is several thousand dollars.

Brendecke was arrested and given a hearing before Municipal Judge N. W. Tarrant the same day. He waived preliminary examination and was bound over to the grand jury under $1,000 bonds, which were furnished within a few minutes. Brendecke was not charged in the warrant with having sold liquor, but simply with having it in his possession contrary to law.

ST AUTO RACES LAST DAY OF FAIR

Motorcycles to Engage in Speed Contests Each Afternoon. Excitement Galore.

Just to make the last day of the Pennington county fair a hummer, and to leave nothing undone which might add to the enjoyment of visitors, the fair management has arranged for automobile races for Friday afternoon. This event is a free-for-all and the big purse offered no doubt will make the race sufficiently exciting to suit the most exacting lover of this sport.

Five racing cars are already entered for this event and it is likely several more will be on hand when the race is called. Two cars from Winnipeg, one from Grand Forks, one from Crookston and one from Bemidji already have signified their intention of taking part in the race, and as all of these cars are special racers with good records, Secretary Smith feels justified in promising the public some real thrillers.

In addition to the above unusual attraction, arrangements have been completed for a speedy motorcycle race during each afternoon of the fair. The track has been placed in good condition and it is anticipated that some good records will be hung up. Some of the wildest speed demons in the Northwest are entered for the motorcycle races and the public may rest assured there will be no dearth of thrills when the word is given for them to get a hump on themselves.

Meets Instant Death in Rail Yards at Fordville

John T. Schack of Chicago met instant death in the railroad yards at Fordville on Saturday when he was run over by a freight car. When picked up by members of the switching crew his head was found to be completely severed from his body. The dead man was accompanied by a friend, who stepped out of the way and escaped the approaching car. Little is known of the unfortunate man and the only relative so far located is a sister residing in Chicago. He was not seen by the switching crew until after the accident had occurred and no blame is attached to any of the rail boys for the accident.

FREIGHT RATES RAISED 35 PER CENT BY ORDER

Advance of 20 Per Cent in Passenger Rates Also Granted By Commission.

New Rates Likely to Go Into Effect Before September 1, General Opinion.

Railroads of Country Placed on Solid Financial Basis By Order's Provisions.

The railroads of the country were on Saturday granted substantial increases in freight and passenger rates by the interstate commerce commission in session at Washington. An advance of 40 per cent in freight rates in the East, 25 per cent in the South, 35 per cent in the West and 25 per cent in the mountain Pacific territory was granted by the commission. Passenger fares were increased 20 per cent, the amount asked by the railroads to help in absorbing the $600,000,000 wage increase granted by the railway labor board.

A surcharge of 50 per cent on rates for sleeping and parlor cars was granted, together with a 20 per cent increase in the rate on excess baggage and 20 per cent in the rate on milk.

In Force Soon.

The increase may become effective on five days' notice given by the carriers to the commission and the public, and they must be put into effect before January 1, 1921. Since the government guarantee to the roads expires Sept. 1 it is generally expected that the advances will be put into force before that date.

In arriving at the increase the commission placed the valuation of railway properties at $18,900,000,000 as against the $20,616,000,000 estimate of the railway executives.

The increases granted by the commission were estimated by it as sufficient to absorb the wage award of the railroad labor board, which the commission placed at $618,000,000, and will bring the net income of the carriers to 5½ per cent permitted under the transportation act. The commission authorized application of the general increases to the rates on commodities.

This Pennington County Farmer Fared Quite Well

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Zwer left yesterday for their former home at Mitchell, S. D., where they expect to reside in the future. For the past six years they have been engaged in farming a short distance west of Thief River Falls. Mr. Zwer and his wife have reached the age where they are entitled to take life a little easier and propose to enjoy a well-earned rest at their old home.

These people have a warm place in their hearts for Pennington county. Their son will continue to make his home here and is now farming by himself. Mr. Zwer states that when he arrived in Thief River Falls six years ago he had total resources amounting to $10,000. When he closed up his affairs here recently he was able to start his son out with a $5,000 nest egg and still had $20,000 left. When it is considered that Mr. Zwer has made his money in farming and not through speculation or other ventures, it is evident that farming in Pennington county is not altogether a losing game.

NEW PASTOR OF TRINITY CHURCH TO TAKE CHARGE

Rev. T. E. Sweger of Cooperstown, N. D., Accepts Call of Local Congregation.

Installation to Take Place on Sunday, Aug. 15—Impressive Exercises Planned.

Thief River Falls Chosen as Field Because of Greater Opportunities Offered.

Trinity Lutheran church, Thief River Falls, will be the scene of impressive services on Sunday, Aug. 15, when Rev. T. E. Sweger, formerly of Cooperstown, N. D., is to be installed as regular pastor of the congregation. The services will be in charge of Rev. I. T. Austad of Detroit, for many years pastor of the local church and now president of the Northern Minnesota district.

Rev. Sweger will deliver his opening sermon following the installation exercises, and the people of the congregation are anticipating a masterly effort. The large church no doubt will be packed to capacity at the services.

To Arrive Next Week.

Rev. Sweger and family are expected to arrive next week and will take up their home immediately in the parsonage at 214 Horace avenue north. For the past seven and one-half years Rev. and Mrs. Sweger have resided at Cooperstown, during all of which time Mr. Sweger has been pastor of the Cooperstown and Ringsaker Lutheran churches. Their work in the Dakota field has been eminently satisfactory and numerous friends inside and outside of church circles deeply regret their departure.

The Cooperstown Sentinel, in speaking of Rev. Sweger, uses the following highly complimentary language:

Real Community Workers.

"For seven and a half years he has faithfully served in this field, and both he and Mrs. Sweger have endeared themselves to the hearts of a multitude of our people. These are not by any means confined to Lutheran circles, for Pastor Sweger has never observed church lines in his doing of good work.

"In all worthy community undertakings—religious, educational, civic, patriotic—he has been identified as a helper. The going of the Swegers from Cooperstown will leave here a vacancy that will indeed be hard to fill."

Product of Northwest.

The new pastor was born at Westby, Wis., and received his education at St. Olaf college and at the United Church seminary, Minneapolis. He is a man endowed with exceptional ability as a speaker, and has proved himself an untiring worker in his chosen field.

The decision of Rev. and Mrs. Sweger to cast their lot with the people of Thief River Falls and Northwestern Minnesota will be welcome news to everyone connected with the Lutheran church. The local field is sufficiently large to give the new pastor an opportunity to do his best work, and The Times bespeaks for him pronounced success from the beginning.

FARMERS HARVEST GREAT GRAIN CROP

Fields Rapidly Ripening Under Favorable Conditions With Record Yield in Prospect.

Harvest is on in full blast on the farms of Pennington county and with favorable weather most of the grain will be safe in shock within a week or ten days. Practically all rye has been cut, while in some instances early wheat has been harvested. Oats and barley are maturing in fine shape and promise exceptional yields.

Wheat, while in some instances considerably affected by rust, gives promise of yielding far above the average. The fact that the crop was well advanced before the rust condition became pronounced accounts for the small damage from this source. With no storms to injure the wheat crop for the next few days, Pennington county bids fair to produce a banner wheat yield this year.

The only bad feature about harvest coming just at this time is that it keeps many farmers from being in attendance at the county fair. Many who had planned exhibits of live stock and other products find themselves unable to put their specimens on exhibition through lack of time.

Bird Man Giving Thrills To All Who Care to Ride

The Reincke Aircraft company of Fargo is furnishing one of the chief attractions during the county fair. These people have a passenger-carrying plane on the ground and are being kept busy giving rides to people who are anxious to view the scenery from above. The price charged for this pastime is $10 for a ten-minute ride and $15 for fifteen minutes. The plane is being conducted by an experienced and careful driver and many local people are taking advantage of the opportunity to enjoy a trip among the clouds.

WHERE ARE THE SOLDIERS?

Postmaster John Morgan has several pieces of soldiers' mail which he is making every effort to deliver but without success. There is one letter each for Julius A. Kramer, Albert M. Ekholm and Henry Olson, care of Frank Olson, while a package evidently containing citations for bravery in battle, is held for Oscar Haugen. Anyone knowing where these soldiers may be found will be conferring a favor both upon Mr. Morgan and the service men by imparting the information to the postmaster.

Automobile Tips Over But Passengers Escape Unhurt

George Christo, proprietor of the Minnesota Candy Kitchen, accompanied by three of his children and a young man, lost control of his car on Sunday while driving about two miles north of the city, and the machine stopped with all four wheels in the air. In crossing the tracks one front wheel caught between the rail and plank, throwing the car violently toward the deep ditch beside the road. While attempting to turn it back quickly into the road George lost control and the car turned over completely. The young man was pinned beneath the car and slightly hurt, while George and the children fortunately were thrown clear of the machine and escaped with only a slight shaking up. The car suffered only minor damages, among which was a broken wind shield.

CENSUS BUREAU GIVES FIGURES IN PENNINGTON

Population of County Shows Satisfactory Increase During Ten-Year Period.

Census Figures For Eastern Townships Reflect Rapid Development.

Only Three Divisions Indicate Decrease of Population For Past Ten Years.

A preliminary announcement of the population of Pennington county has been made by the census bureau, the count being unofficial and subject to correction. There is little chance for error, however, and the figures will undoubtedly stand as announced. The population of Thief River Falls was given some time ago as 4,685 and this figure has not been changed in the latest report.

County Shows Gain.

The total population of Pennington county, according to the announcement, is 12,091. This is a gain of 2,715 for the county during the past ten years. While not in any way sensational, Pennington's growth has been consistent and compares favorably with other counties in this section of the state. Only three subdivisions in the county show a decrease during the past decade, these being St. Hilaire village, Black River township and Numedal township.

Eastern Pennington county shows a marked growth in population, giving proof of the rapid development of that section. Goodridge village and Goodridge township show a combined population of 370 as compared to 63 for the same territory ten years ago. Star township has increased from 192 to 409 during the same period, while Hickory and Highlanding have nearly doubled in population.

Rocksbury Most Populous.

Rocksbury township no doubt is the most populous in the county, being credited with 600 people. North township shows up with 789, but if it is considered that seven additions to the city of Thief River Falls lie wholly within the civil division, it is obvious that Rocksbury is entitled to the banner.

The additions referred to are Fairgrounds, Fairfield, Fairfax, Smiley, Rustad, Bothun and Park. Due to the fact that these additions lie wholly outside the city limits of Thief River Falls their population is credited to North township.

FIRST AND PEOPLES STATE BANK ANNOUNCES OPENING OF PALATIAL NEW QUARTERS SATURDAY, AUG. 7

Memorable Day in Business Life of Strong Thief River Falls Financial Institution—New Building Long Needed as Home For Bank.

Visitors to Be Entertained From Morning Until Evening. Everyone Invited By Officials to Inspect Banking House and Equipment.

Next Saturday is to be a memorable day in the annals of the First and Peoples State bank of Thief River Falls. On that day the officers and employes of the institution will formally dedicate the handsome new bank building on Third street, and extend a cordial invitation to the public to help properly observe the important event. The doors will be open from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m., and the entire personnel of the bank will be there all day to welcome visitors and show them through the palatial new home of the institution.

There will be music for the visitors all day long. Mrs. Irma Mallory Fisher has kindly consented to render several vocal solos during the afternoon and evening, which will add greatly to the pleasure of the occasion. A large number of appropriate souvenirs have been provided for the visitors. Another feature will be the penny guessing contest, in which everyone is invited to register a guess.

The new home of the First and Peoples is at last complete, though long delayed through inability to secure material for its construction. It is a home to which the officers and directors of this institution may point with pride, and a monument to their tireless energy and straightforward methods of dealing with the public. The bank has enjoyed a steady growth since 1892, when the old First State bank was organized with a capital of $10,000. Then in 1906 the Peoples State bank, which on Dec. 17, 1917, was consolidated with the First State, began its business career with a capital of $30,000. At the time of the consolidation the combined capital and surplus of the new bank was $90,000. The total resources now are over $800,000.

New Quarters Necessary.

It soon became apparent that the former quarters of the Peoples State bank, which were taken over after the consolidation, were too small to accommodate the new institution. After considering several ways of obtaining a new home, the Scandia building was purchased and the east half of this transferred into the present palatial quarters of the bank.

Strictly Modern Home.

A good idea of the front of the bank may be gained from the cut accompanying this article. The massive stone pillars give it a very imposing appearance and from an architectural viewpoint it is ideal for a building of this character.

The woodwork, interior finish and all furniture is of solid mahogany, presenting a very harmonious and pleasing appearance. The base boards are of Lavanda marble, while the wainscoting is of a beautiful veined Alabama marble. A strip on the floors near the wall are of Domestic marble, and the remainder of the floors are constructed from slabs of Tennessee marble. The walls are finished in Tiffany Roman gold, creating a rich and beautiful effect.

Ample light is furnished by a number of large inverted electric lamps, with the assistance of numerous desk and other smaller lights.

Conveniently Arranged.

The interior arrangement of the bank is such as to facilitate business, avoid unnecessary confusion and add to the comfort and convenience of patrons. The lobby runs the full length of the room along one side, and at the end is found a room specially arranged for the use of customers. In this room the safety deposit boxes are stored so as to afford easy and private access to them for patrons of the bank.

From one side of the lobby extends the ladies' rest room, which is fitted with modern equipment for the convenience of the women. Special attention has been paid to this departure and ladies both from country and city are invited to make free use of it at all times.

Offices and Work Rooms.

The arrangement of the interior is compact and very convenient. First to the left of the entrance is the office of H. S. Dahlen, vice president. Next in order are the offices of R. M. Sheldon, cashier, and Theo. M. Thronson, assistant cashier. Following these offices is the general business office, which contains a special room for the adding machines. This reduces noise and confusion to a minimum in other parts of the bank. All employes are provided with private lockers in which to place wraps and other belongings.

A Massive Vault.

The vault is one of the most modern to be found anywhere and is fitted with all appliances which make for safety. Some idea of its strength may be gained from the fact that the door alone weighs over four thousand pounds. With its steel walls and burglar alarm system it should prove the acme of security.

Contractor C. M. Carlson of Thief River Falls had charge of the construction work throughout the building, and the job bears testimony to his thoroughness and efficiency. The Larson Furniture company furnished the desks and other office furniture.

MEETS DEATH IN FALL FROM HORSE

Dan Christensen Sustains Fatal Injury Near City Saturday Evening.

Dan Christensen, 22 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carsten Christensen, Norden township, died Sunday afternoon at the Physicians hospital from internal injuries received when he fell from a horse Saturday evening.

The young man was riding to town and when near the Great Northern crossing west of the city the horse stumbled and fell in such a way as to pin the rider underneath. The injured man was taken to the hospital at once, where an examination disclosed serious internal injuries besides several bruises and cuts about the body. A severe internal hemorrhage made it obvious to the attending physicians that nothing could be done to save the boy's life.

The sudden death of Dan is a severe shock to his family and friends. He was a stalwart young man who enjoyed the esteem and friendship of everyone.

Funeral services were conducted yesterday afternoon and interment made in Greenwood cemetery. The remains were accompanied to their last resting place by a large number of friends, the funeral procession being one of the largest seen here for some time.

Dr. G. A. Penney Resigns As Dental Examiner of District

Dr. G. A. Penney, who some time ago was appointed district dental examineer for Pennington county, has handed in his resignation. His successor has not yet been named.

The dental examiners are appointed through the United States Public Health Service, to provide free dental service for veterans of the world war. The service is entirely free to the soldiers, the government taking care of all expenses connected therewith. Dr. Penney found this extra work more than he could handle in connection with his regular practice and therefore thought it best to resign and allow the government to turn it over to someone who could handle it to better advantage.

St. Hilaire Eliminated in First Game of Series

The St. Hilaire base ball team was eliminated yesterday from the championship series of games to be played during the fair. Thief River Falls came back in true form after the defeat suffered at the hands of Gonvick on Sunday and defeated the down stream sluggers by a score of 11 to 1.

It was an off day for the St. Hilaire boys and things went badly with them from the start. The locals gained a comfortable lead in the early part of the game and had the visitors mercilessly beaten all the way through.

This afternoon Grygla and Red Lake Falls meet in battle to decide which of the two teams is to meet Thief River Falls tomorrow afternoon for the final game of the series. Both teams are determined to win and an exciting contest may be looked for.

GREATEST FAIR BREAKS RECORD FOR FIRST DAY

Three Times Usual Attendance Present Thursday Gives Great Promise.

Exhibits in All Departments Surpass Previous Standards. All Buildings Filled.

Free Attractions Presage an Abundance of Amusement For Two Last Days.

Pennington county's nineteenth annual fair is on in full swing, with every indication that it will surpass all previous records in attendance, number and quality of exhibits, and general excellence of free attractions.

Attendance on the first day set a new record, it being estimated at about three times that of the opening day last year. The weather was ideal yesterday and everything connected with the big exhibition went off without a hitch.

St. Hilaire's Day.

Wednesday was St. Hilaire day at the fair. At noon a procession of more than 50 automobiles, carrying St. Hilaire banners reached the city, and after parading the business streets proceeded to the grounds. Here the delegation circled the race track several times before parking its cars in the place reserved for this purpose by the fair management.

The St. Hilaire ball team accompanied the visitors, who were a live bunch of rooters for their home team. Although the St. Hilaire lads didn't win the game they may find consolation in the loyal attitude of their home folks during the struggle.

Magnificent Exhibits.

Exhibits this year in all departments are a revelation to visitors. Every building and booth is occupied, and in addition the auditorium has been pressed into service to house the women's department, industrial exhibits, and boys' and girls' educational exhibits.

The poultry section this year far surpasses any of its predecessors. Order and arrangement of building, quality and number of birds entered, together with an unusual interest displayed by the visitors, make the poultry building one of the leading attractions at the grounds.

The management deserves much credit for the high grade of free attractions furnished fair patrons this year. Though the chief air performance was cancelled at the last moment due to an airplane accident, an excellent substitute is furnished in the wing walker secured from the International Flying Circus. An attempt is being made to have this number give a performance on Friday afternoon also.

Following is the official program of events for this afternoon and tomorrow:

VICTIM OF FLAMES RESUMES BUSINESS

Repairs Ordered and Work Will Be Started at First Possible Moment.

Plans are being made by the Northern Woodwork company to resume operations at the old stand as soon as necessary repairs can be made to building and equipment. The damage caused by the fire of last week has not yet been appraised, but the arrival of an adjustor representing the insurance companies carrying the risk is momentarily expected.

New belting has been ordered to replace that destroyed by the flames, and it is expected all of the machinery may be placed in good condition through minor repairs and a general overhauling. The east end of the building, which collapsed during the fire, will be rebuilt and an entire new set of window glass will have to be placed in position.

Coming as it did when the company was just getting nicely started the fire caused a very expensive setback to the business of the concern. The owners propose, however, to get to work again in earnest, feeling that the future holds great possibilities. Manager Revdahl informs The Times he expects to have the establishment running full blast in the course of a few weeks.

FLYING CIRCUS NOT TO APPEAR AT FAIR

Smashup of Planes Makes Cancellation of Dates Necessary. Other Attractions Secured.

The Minneapolis Daily News Flying Circus, billed as one of the leading attractions at the Pennington county fair, is not coming. The fair board is in receipt of a wire from the circus management, stating that on account of a smashup of planes they will be unable to appear here as advertised.

New attractions are being secured to take the place of the flying circus and fair patrons will find the added features just as strong as the original. The fair board deeply regrets that the flying circus could not be presented as advertised, but has promised to do its best in securing desirable substitutes.

A wing walker has been secured to take the place of Art Williams and although he does not make a parachute drop, his work on the wings is said to be of the highest order and furnishes many thrills.

Another number of more than ordinary interest is Pat Houlet and company, a wild west attraction, where the specialists are bucking, roping, and trick riding, running races, free for all bucking contests, etc. Bulldogging Pat Houlet, holder of western championships for bulldogging, will put on an exhibition of that daring western sport where man contests with a steer, throwing the animal by sheer strength and holding the brute helpless. This is the greatest feature of all big western roundups.

TO RETURN BODIES OF SOLDIER DEAD

American Legion Active in Giving Information to Relatives of Departed Heroes.

The Minnesota department of The American Legion, through the efforts of State Commander Harrison Fuller, assisted by P. L. O'Toole, assistant adjutant, has obtained from the war department detailed advice regarding the transportation of soldier-dead from Europe or Asia to the place of interment. Financial assistance given by the government and the proper method to follow in obtaining it, also are touched upon.

Charles C. Pierce, major in the regular army and chief of the Cemeterial Division, in a letter to state headquarters, announced these fundamentals:

Expense of individuals "who desire to act as convoyers for remains of dead soldiers from Hoboken to destination" will be paid by the government.

"All expenses of the shipment of remains to the railroad station or home town designated by the legal next of kin will be borne by the war department. Expenses incident to the actual burial of the body will be reimbursed up to $100, by the Bureau of War Risk Insurance, Washington, D. C., upon presentation of an itemized statement of expenses or receipted bills.

"Requests of individuals to return to the United States, the bodies of their soldier dead under their personal direction, cannot be granted.

"Requests from the legal next of kin, that bodies remain in established French cemeteries will be granted when possible, providing the next of kin relieves the government from further care of the grave.

"The graves registration service is a branch of the Cemeterial division of the quartermaster general's office. Exact location of a grave is communicated whenever possible to the person whom the soldier previously registered as the proper one to be addressed in case of emergency. Many changes in grave location have been made this work reducing the number of burial places of American dead from 2,400 to 600.

"Regardless of whether or not their return has been requested, no bodies will be permanently left in Germany, Luxembourg, or North Russia."

Examine Red Lake Herds.

Red Lake Falls Gazette: "The six veterinarians of the Bureau of Animal Industry, United States Department of Agriculture found 98 reactors among the 1900 cattle tested for tuberculosis in Red Lake county the past three weeks. The veterinarians headed by Dr. J. N. Holzer, had tested more than 100 herds up to Saturday night. Dr. Holzer and two of his assistants returned to St. Paul Saturday, but three assistants remained to finish up the work. They will test about 17 herds comprising approximately 250 head of cattle.

ANOTHER TOMATO RECORD

August Carlson, residing at 408 Duluth avenue south, thinks he should have a little consideration when it comes to picking out winners in the early tomato contest. Mr. Carlson claims and asserts his statement may be proved by asking his neighbors—that he picked several over-ripe tomatoes from his garden this year on July 15. This is, so far as known, positively the 1920 record in Thief River Falls.

ST. PAUL BOOSTERS WELCOMED TO CITY

Visit of Capitol City Business Men Proves Enjoyable For All Concerned.

Thief River Falls had a little celebration all its own last Saturday morning when the St. Paul trade tourists paid the city a visit. The special train carrying the St. Paul boosters arrived over the Wheatline at 7:45 and the visitors immediately were given full possession of the city.

First on the program was a parade through the principal streets, in which all the visitors and a large number of local people took part, headed by the Minnesota State band. At the conclusion of the parade the band was stationed at the bank corners, where a delightful concert was rendered. The concert attracted a considerable crowd and was much enjoyed by all. Community singing, with local children taking a prominent part, also proved a very delightful part of the program.

Several of the visiting party gave short addresses, explaining the reasons for the tour, and these talks were received with hearty cheers by those who had gathered to greet the tourists. The local reception committee, headed by F. H. Herrick, placed a number of automobiles at the disposal of the visitors, many of whom were given an opportunity of viewing the city and the country immediately surrounding.

Local business men received social calls from representatives of St. Paul firms, and the friendship and closer relationship thus established was, of course, the principal object of the tour. The St. Paul men proved themselves good entertainers and Thief River Falls eagerly awaits another opportunity of acting as hosts to them.

ATTENDANCE GROWS AT AGGIE SCHOOL

Year Opening October 5 Promises to Be Greatest in History of Institution.

Although 26 additional dormitory rooms have been provided at the Northwest School by the new dining hall permitting vacating space formerly used for dining hall purposes, Superintendent Selvig is confronted with the situation of taking care of a highly over crowded enrollment when the school term opens on October 5. There are accommodations at the Northwest School now for 250 students. There will be 200 juniors and seniors returning which means that the total enrollment for the year including new students will go over 350. Those desiring dormitory rooms should put in application early as the rooms will be given out in order that reservation is made.

The Northwest School has enjoyed a very remarkable growth during the ten years of the present administration. The enrollment has increased in that period from 101 to 301. It will increase more rapidly in the future as there are larger numbers each year who are ambitious to secure a better education to prepare themselves for their life work.

Nominee Hodgson Says State Campaign Will Not Be of Defensive Nature.

Tonnage tax and relief for the farmers will be the issues of the Democratic campaign in Minnesota this fall, it was decided at a meeting of the executive committee yesterday at the St. Paul hotel.

Mayor L. C. Hodgson of St. Paul, Democratic candidate for governor, declared that the fall campaign will not be a defensive fight.

"Let the Republicans conduct their own campaign," he said. "We shall carry on our own fight. Fight, win or lose, I hope that we will build up a cohesive party that will stand for Democratic principles in Minnesota 12 months of the year."

The meeting was presided over by Senator James Carley of Plainview, chairman of the executive committee. Candidates who attended in addition to Mayor Hodgson were: J. P. McConnell for lieutenant governor, James C. Mitchell for Congress from the Seventh district and Senator James Millet for Congress from the Third district.

Louis Betz of St. Paul, will head the finance committee of five members. Howard Everett, James A. Nowell and Oliver J. Quane were named to arrange for state headquarters. Other committees are to be appointed by Senator James Carley.

HARVEST IN FULL SWING IN VALLEY

Rye, Barley and Oats Show Good Yields—Excellent Prospects For Wheat Crop.

Harvest is well under way in Polk county. Winter rye has practically all been cut and a start has been made in several localities upon barley and oats. A few cases are reported where wheat is being harvested but the work in the wheat fields will not be general until next week.

Although there are many reports of damage from black rust, and while there is no doubt there will be considerable loss to the later maturing grain from this source, it is not believed by those who have made a study of the situation that rust damage will be as serious as the first reports would indicate. The damage seems to be confined to spots and the rust spread is not as general as many people believe. Wheat that has matured to the point where it has begun to harden will be effected very little if any. In the more matured wheat there is considerable red rust but its effect upon the crop will be negligible.

From reports received from different parts of the valley the conclusion is reached that the crop as a whole will be above the average. Wheat is the only grain that seems to have suffered. Rye, barley and oats will produce above average crops while forage crops will be abundant. Corn is still an unsolved problem. It is just tasseling out in many fields and it will take several weeks of favorable weather to produce a matured crop.

for Highest Possible Quality at Lowest Possible Price

THERE was plenty of room at the top for a cigarette of tip-top quality at a rock-bottom price. That's where Spur comes in. And that's where Spur stays. For men who judge a cigarette by its looks, by its blend, by its taste—well, Spur was made for them. Spur's new blend of choicest Oriental and American tobaccos brings out to the full that good tobacco taste. Spur's satiny imported paper, crimped (not pasted) makes an easier-drawing, slower-burning cigarette. Spur's smart brown and silver packet, three-fold, preserves the Spur flavor and fragrance.

SPREADING THE INCREASE.

Freight and passenger rates are to be advanced within a short time by virtue of governmental edict through the interstate commerce commission. The raise is to be made in order to take care of the mounting expense of railroad operation, one item of which is 600 million dollars annually in wage increase for the employees. Practically simultaneously with the putting into effect of the new rates, Uncle Sam will withdraw his guarantee of returns to the companies. Hence it is now up to the companies to operate their lines with that strict adherence to good business principles which we have been told will restore to the people the kind of service they require.

Serious objection to the increase is not heard and is not likely to be heard until a fair trial has been given under it. The question as to whether or not the employees needed a wage increase already has been pretty thoroughly threshed out and decided in the affirmative. Also it was demonstrated, apparently to the satisfaction of the interstate commerce commission, that a greater revenue must flow into the company treasuries if the upkeep of the roads is to be maintained and the natural expansion taken care of. The people are disposed to be fair-minded about this thing. So then we enter upon the new era with everybody as happy as at a marriage feast.

* * *

Increase in freight rates necessarily will be followed by readjustments in prices. That fact calls for one or two observations. The highest advance is 40 per cent in the East, the lowest 25 per cent in the South and far West. The advance in the West here is 35 per cent. Good business practice dictates that the manufacturer, the jobber and the retailer shall pass this new item of production cost on to the ultimate consumer. That is all right. No one can very well object to it. But the point is here: A 35 per cent increase in freight rates does not mean that a 35 per cent increase in the price of a given commodity is justified. Remember that shipments are made in big lots—train loads, carloads, case lots. The larger the lot, the cheaper the classification, as a general thing. These, of course, take the increase; but by the time the increase is worked out for the single article, it amounts to a sum in some cases almost imperceptible. The profiteer probably sees in the rate advance another golden opportunity. It is up to the man and the woman who buy to say whether or not he is to get away with it.

CAPPER ON HARDING.

Senator Capper of Kansas is a man who thoroughly understands the farmer's problems. He demonstrates that every week in the publications which he issues from his Topeka office. His has been almost the only voice raised in the farmer's behalf in the United States senate. So far in his public career nobody has been able to bluff or to work Mr. Capper. These few facts are set down here because of the attitude the Kansas senator has taken with respect to the candidacy of Mr. Harding. He recently has been in conference with the republican nominee at Marion and he declares that Harding has a very good knowledge of agricultural matters and that he very well appreciates what the farmer is up against. That is encouraging. Furthermore, Senator Capper promises that Mr. Harding soon will express his ideas of what should be done for the farmer in a speech to be delivered probably at the Minnesota state fair. The approval of the Harding candidacy by Senator Capper in the circumstances gives every reason to anticipate that Mr. Harding intends to come out squarely in behalf of legislation that will be of benefit to the farmer—real, forward-looking, do-something legislation that is. The time has passed when a candidate can take a feather duster position as regards the needs of the American farmer. The gentleman behind the plow has his eyes too widely opened for that sort of thing to go any longer. The Times sincerely hopes that Mr. Harding lives up to the promises made for that speech by Senator Capper, and that when he reaches the white house he will not hesitate to advise senators and congressmen of the necessity of carrying out the pledges he is expected to make in it. The well known ability of Senator Capper to tell a pure-bred from a scrub or even from a grade gives us courage to feel that he has made no mistake in his size-up of Senator Harding.

THE FIGHT WITH RUST.

Complaints about rust, happily, are not very common this year in this vicinity. However the farmer is occasionally encountered who has seen his hopes of a good crop of wheat go glimmering after only two or three days of ravage on the part of this dread plant disease. Usually he expresses himself with undisguised disgust, not to say great emphasis, to the effect that he will never plant another kernel of wheat. If it happens to be the second or third time in a brief period of years that he has sustained a loss from rust there is not much one can say to him to encourage another try. However, it so happens that right at this moment a very successful experiment is being concluded at the state farm at Grand Rapids in rust resistance. Mr. Otto Bergh, in charge of that farm, has been growing a wheat there that seems to be able to keep several good jumps ahead of the rust. The wheat is a good yielder and is possessed of the necessary milling and baking qualities. It should be mentioned, further, that the variety is a winter and not a spring wheat; this fact being one of the reasons why the wheat is too much for the rust. The Times is of the opinion that the success of this particular variety of wheat at Grand Rapids means a great deal to the farmers of Northern Minnesota who wish to raise the grain.

Candidate Cox has chosen Senator Hitchcock to speak for the league of nations in a debate soon to be held. Presumably Candidate Harding will counter by sending Senator Lodge or Senator Johnson to argue against the league. Seems to us the candidates are wholly without originality. The senators have debated the league now for something more than a year. It is inconceivable that a single new argument can originate in a senatorial brain. If the debate is to amount to anything why did they not choose the debators from some other class of citizens?

That pert paragrapher on the Minneapolis Journal who is forever referring to alfalfa as a filler for cheap cigars is in need of a more liberal education. If the gent knew that he was getting his alfalfa in the fine, yellow butter that he eats instead of in his two-fers, possibly he would treat the wonder plant with more respect.

A St. Paul woman attempted suicide because the temporary absence of her husband made life unbearable. There are women, you know, who are driven to suicide for quite the opposite reason. To them we commend the example of this wonderful St. Paul woman. She appreciates merit!

Progress Backward.

(Detroit Free Press.)

The bureau of statistics of the Department of Labor made the glad announcement a few days ago that retail food prices continue to "show a steady increase." There was an advance of 2 per cent between May 15 and June 15, and there has been a total increase of 9 per cent since the first of the year.

Two per cent a month, 24 per cent a year, is quite a percentage boost when the present general cost of things to eat is taken into account.

A consideration of all it implies revives interest in the mystery regarding what has been done with the money Congress gave Attorney General Palmer so that he could put the high cost of living out of business.

We find that an official statement by a department of the administration to which he belongs indicates that if the attorney-general has made any progress he has made it backward. The figures do not show any hurried flight of the wicked profiteers to gain cover.

When one considers in addition to the facts set forth in the department of labor reports the gaseous prices charged by some of the coal operators the plot becomes not only thick, but smoky.

Death Results From Accident.

Red Lake Falls Gazette: Pierre Derosier, one of the pioneer farmers of Gervais town, died at his home at 10 o'clock Wednesday evening of peritonitis resulting from a wound received from a hayfork ten days previously. Mr. Derosier was manipulating the hayfork in his barn when the rope broke and the heavy fork fell striking him in the side. He was knocked off the wagon and onto a cement floor.

Medicial assistance was summoned but peritonitis set in and it was impossible to save his life. Mr. Derosier was born in Quebec, Canada seventy years ago and removed from there to Michigan, coming to Red Lake county in 1884 where he had since resided.

Liquor Violators Sentenced.

Bemidji Sentinel: Frank Root, who was arrested near Nebish several weeks ago on charges of having mash in his possession, was brought to Bemidji Tuesday from Duluth, where he was sentenced last week to six months in the Beltrami county jail, also a fine of $500, by Judge Page Morris in federal court. Lee Sweet, who was arrested near Boy River some time ago by Indian Agent W. J. Johnson, was sentenced to 60 days in the Beltrami county jail and a fine of $100 for having liquor in his possession. A bench warrant was also issued by Judge Page Morris for his arrest when he completes his sentence, the charge being for having mash in his possession. Frank Woodward and Henry Parker were also brought back to Bemidji to serve sentences and 60 days and $100 fine each on charges of having liquor in their possession.

Two Tipovers.

Middle River Pioneer: Two Middle River Ford cars tipped over Sunday enroute to St. Hilaire. One of them was Erick Peterson's car driven by Walton Hagen and occupied by Walton and seven other young boys. The boys attempted to negotiate a sharp corner south of Thief River Falls at a swift speed and the light Ford went over. Luckily none of the boys were hurt. The car lost a hind wheel and sustained a broken wind shield and a badly mashed top. The other ill fated car was Godfred Anderson's Ford driven by Geo. O. Malmstrom, which through a defective tire jacknifed on him and went over on a straight road a couple of miles north of Holt. The car was occupied by Mrs. Malmstrom and baby, Ruta Sjoberg and her cousin, a little daughter of Pete Sjoberg, no one was seriously hurt, only some slight bruises being received. The wind shield and top of this car too were broken up, though Mr. Malmstrom drove the car home.

PUBLIC FORUM

More About Paving.

The following statement was handed to The Times on Tuesday afternoon by Olaf Ramstad and J. J. Aga, with the request that it be published:

Aroused by the misleading reports that have been circulated concerning them, the group of business men who have been urging delay of the city's paving project have made public their names to support their contention that the men opposed to expensive improvements at this time are by no means an insignificant minority of the city's population.

Failing last winter in their efforts to have the city council defer paving plans until a more auspicious time, the men who favored a delay decided to continue their efforts through other channels. Accordingly they organized a Property Owners' association. In the articles of association the purposes of the organization are set forth as follows:

"It shall be the purpose of this Association to assist and foster all conservative civic improvements, discouraging all extravagance in municipal expenditures, and to appoint a committee that shall represent the association in all matters affecting the interests of the property owners and the municipality."

The association is represented by an executive committee composed of W. W. Prichard, Sr., M. V. Evenson, Rasmus Oen, J. J. Aga and Olaf Ramstad.

The present members of the association are the following business men and property owners: W. W. Prichard, Sr., T. P. Hamre, C. M. Evenson, J. J. Aga, John O. Aos, Bernhard Knudsen, J. J. Vorachek, J. Borry, Olaf Ramstad, Fisher and Rocheleau, Jacob Aga, Jr., G. W. Eastman, P. J. Keating, H. K. Strand, Rasmus Oen, C. L. Hansen, M. V. Evenson, Edward H. Ness, Secretary Oen Merc. NO SUGAR NEEDED TO CAN PRESERVES

United States Department of Agriculture Tells How it May Be Done.

A simple method of canning, especially good for such soft, juicy fruits as berries, is as follows: Pack the washed fruit into the jar and, without adding any liquid of any kind, process the fruit in the customary way for the usual period, or perhaps four or five minutes longer. The processing draws the juice from the fruit and the canned product often has an even better flavor than when sirup is added.

Another way of canning fruit without sugar is to cook the ripest fruits over moderate heat until the juice is drawn from them, adding no water unless necessary and in any case only a very little. Drain the juice from the fruit through a jelly bag, bring this juice to the boil, and use it like boiling sirup to fill the jars into which the firmer fruit has been packed. Then process the jars of fruit in the usual way.

Still another method is to cook the fruit to a sauce of the desired consistency in an open kettle, and, without adding any sugar, pour it into jars scalded in the following way: Cover the jars, tops, and rubber with boiling water, remove them from the water one at a time as needed, being careful not to touch or wipe the jars inside, pour in the fruit while boiling hot, and seal each jar at once. This method is not so uniformly successful as when the fruit is cooked in the jar, because it is difficult to prevent bacteria and molds from getting into the fruit and the jar while they are being filled and sealed. Many housekeepers, however, can acid fruits and tomatoes in this way successfully year after year.

Is it possible to can fruits successfully without sugar and, if so, what is the best method, are questions asked nowadays by many housewives in view of the scarcity and high price of sugar. Sometimes fruits needed to make the diet more palatable and varied during the winter have gone to waste because sugar was not available for canning when they were ripe. Such waste can be prevented; for, according to the experts of the United States Department of Agriculture, apples somewhat under-ripe, also gooseberries, raspberries, blueberries, and other berries, and sweet varieties of plums and cherries may all be canned in their own juices without the addition of sugar. In fact, many housewives think that the flavor of many fruits canned without sugar and sweetened just before using is better and more like that of fresh fruit than when canned with large quantities of sugar or in a heavy sirup. If the fruits is very sour or is canned in large pieces, heating for a few minutes when adding the sugar before serving will make it penetrate the fruit more thoroughly and evenly.

Fruits may be canned in their own juices without the addition of any sweetening in at least three ways.

START SURVEY FOR CHECK OF FLOODS

Clearwater and Thief Rivers Now Being Investigated For Flood Control Purposes.

Work of conducting a survey of Clearwater and Thief rivers with a view to determining whether improvements should be made to prevent high water is now under way, according to C. G. Selvig of Crookston, who is president of the Red River Valley drainage board. According to Mr. Selvig, thousands of acres of Red River Valley land has been damaged by previous floods and it is the opinion of the board that widening and deepening the rivers would eliminate the flood stage.

George W. Walker, a Thief River Falls engineer, is in charge of the survey of Clearwater river which was started yesterday. His work is expected to be completed by fall. Engineer Joseph Baugh of Warren, who has been busy since early spring in the establishment and construction of judicial ditches in the Thief River vicinity, is conducting the survey of Thief river and is also expected to be able to make a report this fall.

Both engineers are expected by Mr. Selvig to recommend improvements in the two rivers. The recommendations will be presented to Judge Andrew Grindeland, who will order the improvements made if he believes conditions warrant them.

The drainage board, Mr. Selvig said, hopes for a favorable decision and a start on the deepening of the rivers in 1921. It is his opinion that with the completion of the work, thousands of acres of cheap land will be open in the valley for occupation.

RAIN LACK DELAYS PEAT EXPERIMENTS

Crops at Golden Valley Show Effects of Dry Weather—Visiting Day Soon.

Owing to the late spring and lack of rain during June and the first half of July, the crops on the experimental tract at Golden Valley will be much lighter this season than they were in 1918. Very little rain fell at Golden Valley between June 1 and July 23. While this was favorable for the crops on mineral soil, which had a good supply of moisture in the spring, it was very unfavorable to the crops on the drained peat of the experimental tract. This season shows quite clearly that in order to secure the best crop yields, drainage systems on peat soil should be under control so that the water level can be prevented from getting too low.

Many of the crops at the experimental tract have improved greatly since the rain of July 23, and prospects are promising for fair yields on many of the fertilized plots. It is the intention of the management to arrange for a visiting day this summer and as soon as the crops reach the proper stage notices will be sent to the papers in the territory and visitors will be shown over the plots by a member of the Division of Soil, University of Minnesota.

Dr. Alway, chief of the soils division of the university, will be in Thief River Falls on August 10, and a visiting day will probably be arranged for at that time.

Potato Crop Threatened.

The continued drought throughout Minnesota, North Dakota and Montana was declared to be threatening the potato crop by R. H. Adams, Minneapolis market master, yesterday. The dry spell, according to Mr. Adams if extended over a much longer period, will ruin the potato crop. Early potatoes are now selling for $1.00 to $1.75 a bushel in carload lots.

ROSEWOOD

Nicholaus Larson.

Nicholaus Larson, one of the pioneer settlers of the northern part of this town, died last Thursday at the home of Per Hagen, where he has made his residence since he sold his homestead some 15 years ago. Mr. Larson had reached his four score age, and had made this township his home for a great number of years. He was a single man with no kindred relations but has made a number of warm friends who will long remember the kind hearted man whose cheery smile and tender words made him an appreciated companion among his neighbors. During the last summer Mr. Larson had been gradually declining in health. Death came still and peaceful, well befitting the gentle nature of the gentleman. Funeral services were conducted from the Rindal church on Sunday afternoon, the local minister, Rev. Geo. Larson, officiating. The Larson auto hearse of Thief River Falls came out and escorted the remains to their resting place at the Rindal cemetery. A large number of friends and neighbors attended.
